This is intelligible enough when we consider the immense military labor he found confronting him on his ar-rival, and which might well have appalled an older soldier; now, however, all this is changed; one tri-umph after another has signalized his operations until it can with truth be affirmed that to day no se-mous exposition indeed no exposition worth of have made cuts about an inch deep. from guerilla disturbances: By the way, since I find the local papers have made rome mention of the fact, I may as well telle-you, what I otherwise might not have thought ne-cessary even to allude to, that in going up the river we were reported to have been fired into. It was on Friday, the 31st, about ten o'clock at night, a short distance above Natchez, and while passing Dick Taylor's plantation. There were such conflicting opinions about this little event, that, abhough on board myself, I real y know hardly anything about it. I was seated below with General Weitzel and Mr. Hills, the editor of the New Orleans Era, discussing the affairs of the nation and things in general, when somebody put his head at the gangway above us, and said: "The guerillas are firing at us !" But "old birds are not to be caught

The place, we believe, had not been occupied by any military force previous to its occupation by General Ransom, who captured ten thousand head of cattle and a large quantity of ammunition when he took possession. ...General Ransom's headquarters is at the residence of Mrs. W., a lady who had a rebel sewing society in her house the very day the Yankees arrived. The Giperral took as much of the house as he needed, leaving the balance to the lady, who had still an abundance of room; but we believe the sewing so-ciety has not met there since.

Let the Territories remain free from slavery whils Territories. This would satisfy Hterally the dogma on which Mr. Lincoln's election was based. When the Territories become States, let them then, or at any future time, have the privilege of intro-ducing slavery at their own election. Those regions whose climate and productions require it would in-evitably become slave States, and afford abundant room for the necessary expansion of your domestic institution.

both in the necessary expansion of your domestic maritution. The objection to this is the intrigues which Aboli-tonists would practice when a Territory has to be admitted a State. But the whole energy of the South, backed by the concervatism of the North, would counterast this. It would be troublesome and expensive, but not so much so as a civil war. These considerations may have already been pre-sented, but I have not seen them. Very sincerely yours, OHARLES W. HACKLEY.

BX-GOV. REYNOLDS, OF ILLINOIS.

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Dec. 28, 1660. DEAR FRIENDS: I write to you because I cannot rell avoid it. I am, in heart and soul, for the South, a they are right in the principles, and possess the lonstitution.

as they are right in the principles, and possess the Constitution.
If the public mind will bear it, the seat of Government, the Government itself, and the army and navy, ought to remain with the South and the Constitution. I have been promulgating the above sentiment, although it is rather revolutionary. A Provisional Government should be established at Washington to receive the power of the outgoing President, and for the President electto take the oath of office out of alave territory.
Now I come to the point. All the slave States must separate from the North and come together. The free States will not concede an atom, but are bent on the desiruction of slavery. Why, in God's name, cannot the Northern slave States see this fact, as clear as nonday before their eyes?
The general secession ought to be accomplished before the 4th of Miarch. Mir. Buchanan deserves immortal honor for keeping down bloodshed. In one hour, by telegraph, he could order Fort Moultrie to fire on Charleccon, and the war would rage over the Union. I am, in heart and soul, against war; but the best way to keep pase is to be able to defend yourelves.
If the slave States would unite and form a Convention, they might have the power to cocree the North into terms to assend the Constitution so as to protect alavery more efficiently.

I can well understand English statesmen and I can well understand. English statesmen and economists, when they say that a nominal con-nection is not worth the expenditures of blood and treasure, which a conflict with America must ne-cessarily impose on England. To answer that argu-ment, not by logic but by facts, not by argument but by action, we must make the nominal connection real. If we can show that through British America lies the shortest and securest British highway to Japan, China, India, and Australia-to Japan and China, aborter by 2,000 miles, to Australia by 900 miles, than any roude now existing : if the onion of estimeter for the day ought to be now in a position o give an authoritative official answer. I hope hey are in that position; if they are not, they must be forced into it by every possible constitutional measure.

Expland. Vigilance is thus raised to the foremost rank of political virtnes, while negligence is regarded and puniahed as the worst of crimes. Is our condi-tion in Canada really critical? Are our statesmen vigilant, and on their guard? On what have we to depend in case the avowed designs of the American Democracy against us should be prosecuted to ac-tual hostility? How do we stand "a thome?" Is England satisfied with our vicilance and prepared-neas? In other words, will England stand by us, should the worst come to the worst? These are questions to be asked and answered at Quebec, be-fore the Parliament called for Thursday next should be allowed to adjourn. Six, or seven, or eight months of negligence or indifference to the first duty jeopardize the connection, imperil our existence, and lay us prostrate at the feet of the Northern Ameri-sands, our neighbors have hurried to completion an immense new fortress-Fort Montgomery. The statesmen of Ganada ought to go to Quebee via Rouse's Point. They will see there a place of arms destined to play no freele part in the contemplated aubigation of their country. They will see, if they are permitted to enter, magazines capable of contain-ing supplies for a army of 100,000 me, and barrack accommodation for a permanent garrison of 5,000. I speak upon no newspaper authority, upon no doubtful information, when I say that the plan con-templated at Washington for the invasion of Canada is to march one hundred thousand men up the dis-triet of Montreal—"to out the connection between Upper and Lower Canads "- to abstain religiously 24 pounder gan, and then leaving it to wait for the enemy to show themselves, he sat down behind the parapet, and became engaged in conversation with some other officers. Suddenly he heard the report of his gun's discharge, and looking up with some, anger, called out to know who had fired that gun, supposing that his gunner had touched her off without waiting for orders. He saw, from the recoil of the gun, and from the smoke hovering over the vent, that the gun had been fired, and yet the alow match was quietly burning in its position and not a man was standing in the battery. Just then an officer of light artillery, who had observed the whole affair from a short distance, called out to Capt. Waller that the enemy had itred his gun. On examination it proved to be so. A Parrott shot or shell had come right over the gun and grazed it on the upper part of the breech, making a slight scratch. The friction which this produced had been sufficient to ignite the priming powder at the vent and had licknarged the piece. It now ap-peared that the projectile could not have been thrown truer than it was, making its way directly into the peared that the projectile could not have been thrown truer than it was, making its way directly into the battery from which the shot had come, and the Fe-deral gunners, probably supposing that we had got their exact range, and intended opening upon them, limbered up and speedily changed their locality.

EFFECTS_OF THE FIRMO. EFFECTS_OF THE FIRMO. Shot and shell flew through the enclosure of our works in every direction, coming from all sides. Trunks of trees were pierced through and through or shivered into splinters, their limbs lopped off and the leaves scattered over the ground; houses were ventilated in the most unexpected fashion, balls going in and out without the slightest excuse or even slight by our leave? the earth was ploughed up and the roads were raked, wagons were smashed, and beeves, horees, and mules were butchered while grazing in the fields or woods. The riot of destruc-tion raged throughout the whole place, and had there been any weak nerved people there they might have rearched in vain for an abiding place. Gen. Beall and Gen. Gardner's houses, being in sight of the Federal artillerists, soon became unte-nable, and Col. de Gournay's headquarters were re-duced almost to a pile of ruins. Gen. Gardner, while sitting outside of his house undergoing some tomorial operation by one of his colored servants, was covered with dirt by a shell, which struck near his fect, and fortunately made a lateral ricecohet, just escaping him. He jumped up, shock the dust off, and then reseating himself told the barber to continue, but the negro was so troubled with agi-tated nerves that he could not handle the scissors again. Every day shells and shot which passed over our EFFECTS OF THE FIRING.
