THE CITY. FIRE AT THE NAVY YARD. Narrow Escape of the Ship Houses. A STREAM OF LIQUID FIRE.

GREAT CONSTERNATION AMONG THE PEOPLE.

The upper part of the storehouses in the north-west corner of the navy yard was destroyed by fireat an early hour yesterday morning. There were many attending thrilling scenes during the progress of the flames, and it may be safely said that the escape from destruction of the ship houses, and the wessels being built therein, the two-turretted Tonawands, the sectional dock, other buildings, &c., may almost at once come under the head of miraculous. A small flickering light was observed in one of the windows in the western end of the build. ings towards Front street, as the two o'clock relief guard were going the rounds of the yard. The discoverer was the sentinel who was posted near the western end of the building. About the same time the sentinel at the gate had his attention attracted by the smell of smoke and a flash that convulsively flickered in the upper window. The corporal of the guard was at once called, and in turn the sergeant of the guard was summoned, and he ap-peared in a few moments, and proceeded at once to call the officer of the day. By this time the news was communicated to the quarters of the Captain and Commodore. In a very short time, Commodore Stribling, commandant of the yard, Captain C. H. Welley-Major Doughty, commandant of the yard, Capital C. H. Welley-Major Doughty, commandant of the marine guard, Lieutenant Haycock, officer of the day, and perhaps several other officers, occupying subordi-nate positions, made their appearance. Up to this time, it did not appear that the fire had made any progress: the light atill assement to be strugging to progress ; the light still seemed to be struggling to get vent, the smoke commenced to curl lazily from the window frames.

The Navy Yard alarm bell was rung, and the "long roll was beat" by the marines. The fire had made very little progress, even at this time. The ringing of the bell, and the sound of the long roll aroused all the inhabitants, and none of them knowing the cause, and not seeing any light, were seized with consternation, and a sort of panic ensued. Some thought the rebels were coming up the Dela-ware. The ringing of the bell brought as soon as possible all the operatives within sound of its well-known tones. Upon arriving there, the first thing they did was to bring into requisition the apparatus in the yard, consisting of two hand engines, several carriages of hose, and hooks and ladders. The Government fire apparatus was under the command of Thomas A. Delany, who has charge of this departient. As soon as the marines received orders from the proper officer, they and the watchmen of the yard went to work; but many of the operatives who had arrived and who belonged to this department, were refused admittance by the guard. It was evi-dent that the rules for the government of the yard, in case of fire, were entirely lost sight of during this emergency. About this time, a police officer on Front street, who had discovered the fire almost as soon as the sentinels inside, started for the Shiffle Hose Company, whose house is located on Reed Second, a distance of about three

THE SHIFFLER ARRIVES.

THE SHIPPLER AREIVES. The Shifter arived in a few minutes and was ready to pass in the water from three plugs which they had already taken. But the members met with an impassible barrier and were thus for a time effectually impeded in their patriotic endeavors. The guard was drawn up before the main gate on Front street, and the firemen and the neighboring ditions endeavored to get in: itizens endeavored to get in : "Stand back," said the guard, "you can't come in without orders" "Don't you see the property burning?" shouted back representatives of the populace and the fire back representatives of the populace and the fire department. "Can't help it; you must stand back." Just at this moment the smouldering fire had burnt through the fourth story floor, and living coals were showered into the apartment below. The whole of the third story and part of the fourth was brilliantly illuminated, and the flames were pro-gressing rapidly to the roof, which was covered with late. The smoke now increased, and curled up from the eaves and windows. A full half hour had elapsed, and yet nobody was admitted. It was very evident that the building and valuable contents were doomed to inevitable destruction. "Let us in !! should the Shiffler. "Stand back ; you cannot pass without orders." The fames were now rapidly increasing, and the building presented all the appearance of a model the officers as "Copperheads," &c. The very de-nouncer intends to vote the Copperhead ticket at the coming election. All the idle and wild ru-mors of this kind about this man or that man, may do very well for a little exciting talk, but they can have effect upon the calm philosophy of reason. The origin of the fire is not exactly known. Fire Mar-shal Blackburn will sift the matter well. It has been ascertained that the fire broke out in the car-penters' cleaning room, where there were greasy rags and other waste. No fire was used in this apartment. The room was locked and tight. The great probability is that it originated from spontaneous combustion. The extent of the fire and the very narrow easape of the most of the property in the yard, may be attributed to the red tape of official dignity. The loss is vari-ously estimated from 50,000 dollars. The United States Goverment never gets any of its pro-perty insured. The fire having been subdued, the Weccase and Hope steamers were now put into re-quisition, and drew the water out of the cellar. About five o'clock their labors ceased. SHERIFF'S SALES. CHERIFF'S SALE .-- BY VIRTUE OF D a writ of Venditioni Exponar, to me directed, will be exposed to public sale or vendue, ou MONDAY Even-ing.  BASE BALL. — The Athletics returned from Altoona early on Sunday morning, highly gratified with the result of their visit. On Friday they played with the Mountsin Outh, and came off the vidors by a score of 73 to 22, the latter being the highest score any club has made against them this season. The Philadelphians were treated with unbounded hospitality, and they will long bear in remembrance their match with the Mountsineers of Altoons. On Thursday next the renowned Etreka Club of Newark, N. J., will visit Philadelphia for the pur-pose of playing with the Olympics, Athletics, and Keystones. We have not seen the programme, but we suppose the Eurekas will be the guests of the Olympics on Thursday, the Keystones on Friday, and Athletios on Saturday. No doubt these clubs will maintain the character of our city for good play and genuine hospitality. Delegates from the three clubs will meet the Eurekas at Trenton. Members of the Nassau Olub, of Princeton, will accompany the Eurekas to Philadelphia. The Eurekas will be followed by the noted Star Club, of Brooklyn, on the abac-ball featival. The Athletics meet to all played on the grounds of the Keystone Club, corner of Eleventh and Wharton streets. These contests will be ald insert of the Astron Stare Stare Stare of the Brooklyn, on the 24th inst. Two of the above games will be played on the grounds of the Keystone Club, corner of Eleventh and Wharton streets. diorama of the eruption of Mount Vesuvius. The smoke curled wildly though majestically through the upper stories. The red tongues of fire were lick. ing up coil upon coil of tarred cordage and other inflammable material., At this moment the Shiffler stormed the iron gates on Front street, but the guard drove them back at a charge bayonet. The firemen then put their hose under the gate, and told the ma rines to lead it to the fire. This they refused to do because they had not received orders. Marines are of course, perfect machines, and being strictly dis ciplined, do not often move unless ordered. They of course are not censurable. There was another and perhaps more thrilling scene going on at anothe part of the yard. It was the arrival of THE WECCACOE ENGINE.

Steamer, hose, and Hook and ladder, had already arrived at Prime and Church streets, north of the burning building and at the eastern end thereof. Here there was a break in the wall, to an extent of Here there was a break in the wall, to an extent of perhaps fifty feet, consequent upon improvement-going on. This aperture in the wall was enclosed with a board fence. The inside was guarded by a solitary sentinel. The Weccacoe members, aided by several of the Cooper-Shop Volunteer Refrestment Committee, stormed the wooden fence that barred them from the yaid. The temporary gate was forced open, and the solitary sentinel stood his ground, with his musket at a charge bayonet. "It is my orders to allow no one to pass here," zhouted he.

"It is my orders to allow no one to pass here," "Cant help it," replied the enthusiastic Weeca-coes as they ushed on; at the same moment two or three of them went head over heels into the cellar of the new improvements now going on. None of them were hurt. The sentinel was flanked right and left, and some one gave him to understand that, if he dare shoot, the growd would kill him. He was most emphati-cally a prisoner on his post. It was not his fault, certainly.

certainly. The next moment the Weccacoc had three streams on the firc-one on Prime street, another on the east end of the building, and the other on the south side, in the interior of the yard. The battle between fire and water now commenced in real earnest.

THE ALARM IS SOUNDED.

and water now commenced in real carnest. THE ALARM IS SOUNDED. At 2 o'clock and 52 minutes the fire alarm was spring by the police. This would have been done before, but for the requests of the officers in the yard, who thought they could subdue the flames without any outside help. When the State House bell struck, the fire had been burning within eight minutes of an hour, that is, from the time of disco. very. The yard was now opened to the Fire Depart-ment. Company after company arrived in quick succession, ard soon immense volumes of water were thrown in upon the burning pile. The Shifler and the Hope had almost exclusive control of the weight in the first story were removed by the Navy Yard employees, the firemen and po-lice. Among these goods were cans of benzine, conal varnish, and barrels of spirits of turpentine. These, in being rolled out, were more or less damaged. Several spigots were broken from the cans, and a head or two was smashed out of barrels and a head or two was smashed out of barrels and cans of the same material. Pre-sently the roof of the burning filling fell in with a great crash, and while myriads of spirks and among barrels and cans of the same material. Pre-sently the roof of the burning timber fell to the ground. In an instant the benzine took fire, and the scene at this time was thrilling and sublime as it was flightful. Apprehensions were now enter-tained that the fire could not well be mastered. Chief Lyle telegraphed at halrpat two o'clock to the Central Station; to STRIKE A GENERAL ATARM, in response to which the whole Fire Department was speedily in motion. The benzine, vanish, and tur-

Chief Lyle telegraphed at half-past two o'clock to the Central Station, to STRIKE A GENERAL ALARM, In response to which the whole Fire Department was apeedly in motion. The benzine, vanish, and tur-pentine that had ignited as above stated was carried down the gutter in the torrent of water. This gut-ter was close to the south side of the big ship house, and emptied into the river in the immediate vicinity of a number of large frigates, steamers, transports, and gunbosts. In its wild course it set fire to a row of cramental trees that had just, been painted, the benzine in the paint accelerating the flames. The firemen turned five or six powerful streams of water upon it, but instead of checking the flames it posi-tively increased them. Presently a large pile of boxes or cases of shell and solid shot isnited, and the cry of "Look out for an ex-plosion "s farited the ears of the working crowd, and for a few moments even the hearts of the daring men who had fought many a battle of fire and water qualed, and there was a tendency to a panic among the busy men. A stream or two from steamers was constantly applied to the encased shell and shot. The panic, however, was momentary, for the fire-men were assured that none of the shells were loaded : there was no fixed ammunition in the yard. The liquid fire kept on its wild and apparently re-sistless course toward the "big ship" house. Every-body expected to see that immense pile of architec-tural framework speedily enwrapped in flames. Water was entirely useless as a remedial agent in this case. A large number of men with old tarpau-ins dammed up the gutter with them, while other operatives with spades and shovels threw dirt upon the stream, and thus the ship house was placed out of the imminent danger that it was in. There is no question flam, had the 'big ship'' bouse become wrapped in flames. In such a case no earthly power could have save dived suit with the new ships building in them. In such a case no earthly interment danger that it was in. There is no du use of twenty steamers. THE ORIGIN OF THE FIRE AND THE LOSS.

The order of first and the loss. The buildings on fire were substantially built of briek, four stories high, with heavily framed roofs, covered with slate. The cellar or basement was used as a storage for beef, pork, and other provisions. The first story was used by the naval store keeper, purser, and other attaches of the Navy Department. A porthon was also used for naval stores, of every description, required in fitting out a vessel of war. The books and papers attached to these depart-ments were saved.

THE POLICE. Further Respite.

Further Kespite. Farragen, now under sentence of death for the murder of Williamson, has been further respited by the Gover-nor, until Friday, 27th of October. Alleged Theft. A young man was arrested yesierday morning, at the navy yard fire, on the charge of stealing a rifle. It is said that he threw it out of a window, and then came out of the building and picked it up. As he was going away with it, he was seized by a police officer, who locked him up for a hearing. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you list-less, depressed, and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impre. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scroyula, or King's Evil, Tumors, Ucers, Sores, Erustions, Pimples, Blochez, Botis, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erysipelas, Titler, or Solt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Cancer, or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Pemale Diseases, such as Reten-tion.
