PERSONAL.

-The London correspondent of the Tribune thus tites : Apropos of new publications, that apostle of "unchristian muscularity," the author of "Guy Livingstone," "Sword and Gown," and "Barren Honor "-in all of which books the devil of self-will is worshipped with as slavish and pitiful devotion as ever was paid by savage to his grim idol-has bliged us with his recent American experiences under the title of "Border and Bastile." A broken down fast man and literary celebrity, he crossed the Atlantic last winter, with the combined objects of making a campaign with the rebels, and then writing a book about them. He had intended to vounteer as an aid de-camp to "Stonewall" Jackson. After a prelude of lionizing in Baltimore, o delightful and high-bred ease, luxurious dinners cheerful supper parties, excellent wines, beautiful ladies," and other Confederate delicacies, Mr. Lawrence, got up in appropriate style, attempted to pass the frontier, when his horse was shot, himself wounded by a spent bullet from the rifle of a vulgar Union picket, and incontinently arrested. So end the "border" experience; that of the "Bastile" comprises the two months' imprisonment in Wash ington jail, consequent on his abortive attempt to join the rebels, from which he was released on the orderate condition that he should not re-enter the United States during the war. When "Guy Liv ingstone " first appeared in the United States. I remember that its authorship was generally attributed to Mr. Charles Astor Bristed. That gentleman will probably be amused at learning that there are per ons in England who believe that he is "Manhattan," the New York correspondent of the Standard. My informant told me that Mr. Thackeray communicated this to him as a fact.

- A Tribune correspondent with the Army of the Potomac condemns the imprisonment of Mrs. Major Jones, lately arrested and imprisoned as a spy, but who refuses liberty to leave the army on parole. The Major is tall, robust, comely, only "nineteen," of independent means, and a Yankee girl of Cambridge. She entered the army nominally as a vivandiese in a New York regiment. Once in the field, she hoarded at a farm house, applied herself to military study, and desired to obtain service as a spy or scout : "She determined to prove her value, and sought to reach the front of the army by an irregular Dass. From thence she trusted to enter the enemy's lines, and triumphantly return with information which would render her value unquestionable. The result was incarceration in a prison. One is reminded of the inventor of the steam engine, whom Richelieu enclosed in a cage for his importunacy in urging his ideas. She must not be employed, be-cause she is a woman, notwithstanding that the ready-witted Southerners have availed themselves of Belle Boyd, and others of her sex, with great effect in the same duty, and notwithstanding that in Europe both armies and governments find women among their most valuable aids in circumventing nemies."

with the fact that young Irishmen are so eager to embrace a military career in this country, that embrace a military career in the country, that "four of our most important military departments are commanded by Roman Oatholies—namely, South Carolina, by General Gilmore; North Caro-lina and Eastern Virginia, by General Foster; the Aimy of the Oumberland, by General Rosecrans, and the Army of the Potomac, by General Meade. These distinguished officers set an example in their personal habits, which we wish was more generally nitated. Before General Gilmore went to South Carolina he might have been seen regularly receiving the sacrament at the Roman Catholic church of St. Peters', Brooklyn; and one of the first acts of General Rosecrans after the success of his brilliant strategical operations in Tennessee was to have a high mass celebrated in Cincinnati in devout thankness for the favor accorded to his efforts by an allruling Providence." General Meade is, we be - A very able address, says a Richmond paper, has just been delivered before the cadets of the Vir-ginia Military Institute by Major General Francis H. Smith, its superintendent, on "The Life and Oharacter of Lieutenant General Thomas J. Jackson, late Professor of Natural and Experimental Philosophy? there. A perusal of it will well repay for the time spent, giving as it does many new facts in relation to the character of the great hero who has gone. It is an interesting fact that when the Board of Visitors of the Institute was looking for

POLITICAL. — The Union meeting to day, at Oxford, Chester county, will probably be one of the largest yet held under the anapices of the Cea-tral Committee. The meeting will be under the immediate superintendence of the Oxford, Penn, and New London Union Leagues. Major General Butter will positively be present. Geo. Junkin, D. D., LL.D., will also be one of the speakers. Dr. Junkin is the father-in-law of the late "Stonewall" Jackson, and Major Preston, of the rebel army. Henry Winter Davis, Judge Kelley, John Hickman, and others, are also announced. There will also be a mass meeting at Norristown, and Gor. Curtin will speak. There will be a large delegation present from this otty. There will also be a mass meeting at Norristown, and Gor. Curtin will speak. There will be a large telegation present from this otty. The Union State Central Committee are in re-ceipt of letters dally, from distinguished personages throughout the country, offering their services for the campaign. The Democratic State Central Committee en-counter many Obstacles, not the least of which is the scarcity of speakers for public meetings. C. G. Burr, of New Jersey, and a few radical "peace" men of New York, have voluntered, but it is understood they have not been accepted. It it is cer-tain they have been assigned to no position. Mr. Burr was on the platform during the late meeting in Independence Square, but was not permitted to make an address. The war and peace men in the Democratic party are at loggerheads, and the Cen-tral Committee find themselves much embarrassed in consequence. in consequence. ANOTHER FIRE IN THE NINETEENTH

ANOTHER FIRE IN THE NINETEENTII WARD.-Between 11 and 12 o'clock on Sunday night the saw and planing mill of Measts. Gillingham & Garretson, situate on Richmond street, below Nor-ris, was destroyed by fire. There was lumber to the extent of from thirty to forty thousand feet destroy-ed. Among the valued materials that were con-sumed was the timber for two monitors being built for the United States Government. There was also a considerable quantity of work being prepared for ships now undergoing repairs at the navy yard. The fire was not subdued until after daybreak yes-terday morning. A number of roofs of houses on Norris street took file from fiakes that were whirled there by a flerce northwest wind. The prompt ap-plication of buckets of water extinguished them as they fell. The loss is estimated at $16,000, of which about one-half is insured. The fire is a tributed to design. leaign. THE REBEL HOSPITAL AT CHESTER.-

M. THOMAS & SONS,

mitted to them the names of Generals McClellan Rosecrans, Reno, and Gustavus W. Smith, besides that of Jackson. The lecture room of the great pro-ferror is still draped in mourning for his death.

- Under the head of "Authors at Newport," Mr. Childs gives us, in the "Circular," some readable chat about Bancroft, "as full of freshness, fire, and enthusiasm, as when he began the mighty task,' and was just finishing the final volume of his "History of the United States ;" of Julia Ward Howe. "sedulously engaged on a new work, now nearly completed, and admirably calculated to tax her powers and resources;" of Tuckerman, the poet, so familiar a face for years at Newport, "de voting his leisure to the preparation of a uniform edition of all his works;" of Rev. Charles T. Brooks, the pastor and poet, "minister of the Unitarian narish of Newport for twenty-six years," and who has been engaged in translating into English the "Heaverus" of Richter, and other German works, some of which are even now ready for the publishe of Calvert (of Baltimore), author of "The Gentleman;" of James, of Green, of Kirkland," &c.

- Colonel Percy. Wyndham, of the New Jersey cavalry, has effectually contradicted the imputations of Mr. Percy S. Wyndham, member of Palia-ment. He proves his name by baptismal certificates, and defends himself successfully at every point of the allegation. Colonel Wyndham, we learn, derives his title of Knight from Victor Emanuel's military Order of Savoi. It was conferred for distinguished service at the battle of Capona. Colonel Wyndham has been a modest and sallant officer, and this vindication is not unexpected. - "We hope," says Prentice, "that our folks will soon get a thousand pounder upon Morris Island. Then, if they catch Humphrey Marshall, they can set fire to his big coat and breeches, and shoot him sylvania. into Charleston, so that the rebeis, who have such a horror of the fire of ancient Greece, may see whether they like the fire of modern grease any better."-"General Lee," he says, "is reported to be in Richmond, in consultation with Jeff Davis² and his Cabinet." Perhaps, if they protract their consultation a little while, General Bragg and Geneal Jo Johnston will join them.

- The Newburyport Herald says : " Rev. J. C. Fletcher, of this city, meets with another mishap. We related the other day how the steamer on which he was to sail for Rio put back for repairs and sailed again, leaving him behind with 'nothing to wear'-all his luggage going on. At once he started for Brazil, by way of England; and now, when he is half the seas over, hastening forward to get his dothes, papers, &c., at Rio, the steamer has re-turned a second time for repairs, so that when he eaches Rio he will be in the same plight as when he left New York."

- The Newark Advertiser says one of the clergynen of this city, an old friend and schoolmate of the distinguished cavalry officer, comments as follows upon the erroneous manner in which his name is spelled by the press generally. "The name of the distinguished cavalry officer who is accomplishing so much for his country, and winning such fame for himself, is Pleasonton, not Pleasanton. A man likes to be distinguished under his own name, even though that name be not so pleasant as a misnomer.'

-Sir Henry Holland, Bart., one among the esteemed foreign gentlemen widely known in our country, is at present on a visit to Washington, and is the guest of Secretary Seward.

- Sir James Hudson has lately presented to the composer, Verdi, a very fine copy of Titian's famous Venus. It is the work of Proussin, and has thus a double value.

sympathizers and the worst class of Copperneaus have been free in their visits and their adulation to their "unfortunate Southern brethren" at this place. Four hundred of the recovered rebel pri-soners took passage vesterialy for Oity Point, to be exchanged. They returned to Ohester, owing to an accident to the machinery of the boat. It is stated that some of the returning rebels were loaded down with letters for "Secessia," thus violating the postal according of the United States. regulations of the United States.

Philadelphia, Sheriff's Office. Sept 21, 1863. se22:3t CHERIFF'S SALE.—BY VIRTUE OF THIRD MARYLAND CAVALRY .-- About THIRD MARYLAND CAVALRY, — About four hundred rebel prisoners, who had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States Government, af Fort Delaware, arrived at Arch-street wharf yes-terday noon, and marched to the Baltimore dépôt, where they took cars. As the battalion marched through the streets, to the music of a fine band, they attracted more than ordinary attention. It is said quite a number of Mississippians are in the ranks. The whole party are seemingly anxious to have a brush with Moseby's guerillas. The men looked hearty, and were evidently delighted in the new position they found themselves.

FIFTY-CENT NOTES.-New counterfeit FIFTY-CENT NOTES.—New counterfeit fifty-cent notes have made their appearance within a day or two. They possess a much better appear-ance than the first batch of counterfeits. The paper of those we have seen is rather thin. Some of the counterfeits may be printed on thicker paper. They are a very dangerous counterfeit to the poorer classes in the community, as the loss by this trash will mostly fall upon them. To counterfeit the United States currency ought to be punishable with death, as was the case during the American Revolu-tion. CHERIFF'S SALE .- BY VIRTUE OF SHERIFF'S SALE.
