Brief Notes on Judge Woodward's Speech in 1860.

To the Editor of The Press:

SIE: "Oh! that mine enemy would write a book," said the ancient prophet, and if it were alleged that he had in his eye especially the republication of this remarkable document, it might not be declared to be an utterly unworthy supposition; for, considered in its relation to the great strife now going on, the occasion might not improperly be regarded as "dignus vindice nodus." This speech has been re-published, in order to meet and refute the "gross misrepresentations" which it is said to have occa-sioned; but in fact it fully sustains all that Judge Woodward's opponents have charged against him, and even gees far beyond them in some respects. The Republican papers are charged by the commit-tee, who now publish it, with having refused to spread it hefore their readers, lest it might damage their cause, and therefore I propose to insert a few passages from it, in addition to those which have been aiready extensively quoted, with brief remarks upon them. emarkable document, it might not be declared to spread it before their readers, led it might damage their cause, and therefore 1 propose to insert a few been already extensively quoted, with brief remarks upon them. The opinion and statement ascribed to him, "that there must be a time when the slaveholders may plainly tailed, though it is qualified by the remark "if this conflict be irrepressible." And it is but right that he should have the benefit of this doubt or oundition. He says, also, that in his judgment "that the should have the benefit of this doubt or outdition. He says, also, that in his judgment "that time had not yet arrived." He question is would he still say "let the South go peaceably, if at all." The committee say, "that on the subject of the war, now that we are involved in it, the Judge's views will be found in the resolutions," of the optimizer of the Union." The thow all this is to be reconciled, it seems im-possible to say; for, if the original cause of the Ad-ministration and conduct of the war has been up-judge w, in particular, who will pretond that he has shown any sympathy with the present signative resolutions," of lunge w, in particular, who will pretond that he not play the profound silence for two years in prote the set of the divise to out the areas of oldine, unless he still held views which it would not be police to asy if the divise which it would not be police to asy of Wry should he rest under such as the Democratic party allege, how contra-tight and defending them to the last door! And as in start, however averse he may be to suilly the purity of the ermine by descarding into the areas of police, unless he still held views which it would not be police to avow! In fine, the engineers of the fortifications at Phila-delphia had no control over any expenditures ex-cepting those menicancd. They had no choice in the selection of the labor, and they controlled it to the best of their ability. They merely accepted the facilities that were offered by the city. Their sole reward has consisted in unsparing vituperation. Their defence now, for the first time, appears. I am, sir, your obcdient servant, Philadelphia, Sept. 22, 1863.

N by W....N...NW by N. N.....E by N.....E by S. STATE FAIR AT NORRISTOWN.—The pre-liminaries for the grand exhibition of the State Agricultural Society, which opens at Norriatown to-day, have all been arranged, and articles and ani-mais have, for several days past, been crowding into the relosure. The workmen have given place to exhibitors, who are buaily engaged in arranging their articles for exhibition. A stroll through the various buildings, tents, and sheds, yesterday, con-vinced us of the fost, that the exhibition will be a success, as far as contributions are concerned. Every department is well represented, and some of them unusually so. There will be a superior dis-play of horace of all grades, but more especially those entered for speed and beauty. The excellence of the track, which is one of the best in the State, has attracted alarge number of owners of fine horses, who will bring to the exhibition some animals re-markable for speed and bottom. The most distant portions of the State there are large entries of improved cattle, while the farmers of Montgomery and the adjoining countles will be fully represented in this department. We do not remember having seen a siner show of agioultural implements and machinery for many years, and as there are hourly accessions of wayon loads. Its extent will be largely increased to day. Floral Hall is beautifully arranged, and boasted, yesterday, an array of useful and ornamental plants which would do credit to any exhibition. The fruit, of which large quantities had already arrived, will be unpacked and arranged to day. The managers are in high spirits, their articipations having thus for fair and pleasant, there will 'doubtless be a large attradance of visitors. The axhibition was also be procured. The iter has been reduced to fifty cents for the excursion. Ad-mesis and locitors. The axhibition can be reached by the Norristown Railroad, at the office of which indekets of admission may also be procured. The iter has LOCALIX INTERESTING.—It was reported that among the sistn at the battle of Gettysburg was a gallant young soldier named George Simona, of the 114th Hegiment P. V. It was also stated that he was so badly mutilated that his remains could staterely be recognized. The father, mother, and sisters of young Simons were consequently thrown into deep gried. On Friday, however, they received a letter from him, dated College Green Barracks, Annapolis, Md. September 24th. Instead of being killed, 'he, with others, was taken iprisoner on tho 2d of July, reached Richmond on the 21st of that month, and was zent to Bell Tsland, where he re-mained a prisoner until the 21st of the present month. He says there is a mighty difference between Uncle Sam's feeding the soldiers and the Johnny rebs. During his imprisonment the prisoners received only two meals each day, ss follows: One ounce of meat and nine ounces of bread for breakfast, at nine o'clock in the morning; at half past three o'clock in the atternoon the prisoners received nine ounces of bread and a pint of soup-sometimes beans or rice. He says some of the prisoners got fat on such living, but many died on the Island. Three prisoners were shot by the rebels; one of them being a young man named Bradly, who belonged to the 91st Regiment Pennsylvanis Volunteers. turday's sales summing up alone to nearly a million. The courts were exceedingly dull and barren of in-terest yesterday, and but little was done. A Court of Nisi Prius was held, and naturalization granted to a number of applicants. The Court in Banc will not sit to deliver the epinion on the constitutionshipy of the conscription act, but it will be filed in the office of the prothenedary of the court. In the fourt of Common Pleas, Judges Thompson and Allaon, the Orphane' Court argument list was under consideration duling the day session. The Court of Oyer and Terminer and Gaarter Sassions. Judge Lodlow, was engaged most of the dry in the trial of an assault and battery case, in which the jury ron-dered a verdict of not grilty.
