Wm. B. Mann, the District Attorney, Appeared for the Commonwealth. Mayor Henry was present. The portion allotted to the public was pretty well oranmed with people, many of whom were thieves, policy dealers, gamblers, and professional ball-goers. At two o'clock the police offisers brought in the first batch of prisoners, who gave the following mames, they being professional, of courses: James, They being professional, of courses: James, They being professional, of courses. John Carpenter, John Rapp, Chas. Makin, James Malon, Elijah Kelly, John Burk, John Dolan, Thos. Thompson, Jobn Gibson, Henry Palmer, James Lit-tie, Daniel Malby, Chas. Thaokara, Joseph Keyser, and Joseph Ahera. The prisoners being arraigned, Mr. Osborne, the turnkey of the lockup, was called to the stand. He knew nothing of the arrests, nor anything about the emetic that took place in the cell on the night before. Officer Crout was called. On being sworn, he testified that the prisoners were confined in one of the large cells in the Central Station; the cell was in good order when they were put into it; the voodwork, and made clubs of the latter : some one of the prisoners fired two or three shots from the cell ; here was not a glass that was not broken; the cell was dark, and the party were unroarious, calling us —, daring us to come in; the Chief came down, and ordered us to go in and quell the dis-turbance; we opened the door, and in a moment one of the officers received a severe cut over the eye from a dirk in the hands of one of the parties; they used the colls they had made out on pieces of wood-work; we finally took thom out one by one, and locked them in other cells; we found a dirk soabbard on the cell floor; we found a revolving pistol in the hole of the heater; we found a dirk soabbard on the cell floor; we found a neight before cell that was torri out.
