The Girard College.

Mr. Hrightly called up the veto of the Mayor to the bill providing for the admission of 130 additional pupils into Girard College.

He diagreed with the Mayor that the income of the Girard Estate was not sufficient to pay for the support of these additional pupils. The income of the estate is $154,000, which at the end of the year would leave a margin of $19,000, without taking into consideration the sum of $72,000 invested in real estate on Brown street. He was surprised that the Mayor should object to the passage of this bill, when many of these pupils, who are now claiming admission, are the orphans of soldiers who have died in the defence of the country. The views of Mr. McCornick, Superintendent of the Girard Estate, as conveyed to the Mayor, are these:

1st. Estimated income of the Residuary Fund for 1863.

All to be (14) fourteen hands and over in height. Yours respectfully,

Superintendent Girard Estate.

Mr. Wetherill said there is a heavy deficiency is that fund, and there is not the money to spare for that purpose. The Mayor knows this, and is perfectly right in what he says. We owe, of that income, $31,000 to the Delaware Improvement Fund, and by the misapplication of that fund we have lost $16,000 more. The entire deficiency is $56,300. There are other circumstances, besides, that cannot be overlooked. It is intended to introduce 130 more pupils, with feachers. To turn out the teachers from the college, and erect out-buildings for them, the express terms of the will would be directly violated. The thing looks as though there were much more anxiety to provide handsomely for the teachers than the introduction of more pupils.

The Mayor has quite as much sympathy for the orphan child of the soldier as the gentleman from the Twenty-second ward, but he must be just, and he cannot vote away money that does not exist. He would gladly receive into Girard College any number of children, but, as an honest legislator, he could not vote away money that was not to be had.

Mr. Davis took the same view as Mr. Wetherill. He said there are mandamuses to the smount of $16,000 hanging over the estate. There is a determi-A MERICAN FIRE INSURANCE FARM FOR SALE IN CHESTER

Charged with Arson.

A man who had been employed as stableman and coachman by Dr. Francis Sims was arraigned at the Central Station yesterday afternoon on the charge of arson, in setting fire to the Doctor's stable, on Barclay atreet, at a late hour on Monday night. Several witnesses were examined. It seems that the accused had been employed for some time by Dr. Sims, but owing to bad conduct, was discharged. He exhibited a sullen disposition, and when remonstrated with, because of his conduct, replied, "Pil do a d—d sight worse." The Doctor desired toknow whether he made that as a treat [Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.] PROPOSALS FOR STOVES, &c. Str. Belander Louisa, Adams, Washington, Schrauberlaub when remonstrated with, because of his conduct, replied, "I'll do a d—d sight worse." The Doctor desired to know whether he made that as a threat, to which the accused mumbled out something that he could not understand.

Several other witnesses were called. One of them, Richard Kelsh, a member of the Good Intent Hose, was early upon the ground. He found the fire in the rear part of the loft of the stable. The prisoner came in through the atable and asked where the horses were. He was told they were got out. He then passed into the yard, and Mr. Kelsh directed the stream of water to another part of the fire so that it kept the accused in the yard. There were a couple of matches found on the prisoner. These are all the main points elicited. The case went over for a further hearing.

Fire Marshal Blackburn did not contend that he had sufficient evidence, so far, to convict; but he would sift the mater still further; and if he could gain nothing additional, he would ask for the discharge of the defendant at the next hearing. The accused was held to ball.
