NAMPLES OF THE CELEBRATED FLORENCE SEWING MACHINES No. 439 CHESTNUT STREET (second foor), shere all persons interested in serving masnines are in-rited to call and examine this wonderful Machine. It has been the object of the FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE COMPANY to supply a machine free from the objections attached to other first-class machines, and after the patient, untiring labor of years and a liberal spenditure of capity in securing the first mechanical stalent, their efforts have been crowned with success and hay are now offering to the public the MOST PERFECT SEWING MACEINE IN THE WORLD. Among its many advantages over all other machines, may be memioned: sany advantages over an order stitches on one and the lat. It makes four different stitches on one and the same machine, each stitch being perfect and alike on seaure and uniform, combining elasticity, strangth and beauty.

ith. It has the reversible feed motion, which enables the operator to run the work to either the right or left, or stay any part of the seam, or fasten the ends of seams without turning the fabric or stopping the machine. Sth. It is the most rapid sever in the world, making ive stitches to each revolution, and there is no other machine which will do so large a range of work as the FLORENCE.

Sh It does the heavetest or facet south with owned to. FIGHENCE.

5th. It does the heaviest or finest toork with equal falifty, without change of tension or breaking of thread,
th. It home 'fells, binds, gathers, braids, quilts, find sathers and sews on a ruffle at the same time.

8th. It's simplicity enables the most inexperienced to parate it. Its motions are all positive, and there are so five springs to get out of order, and it is adapted to ill kinds of cloth-work, from thick to thin, and is at-most noiseless. 6th. I, BLEABETH BRANSON, of Brandywine, Deil, formerly of Old Chester, Deil, do ceity that for one year and a half I suffered everything but death from that awful disease called Dyspepsia. My whole system was prostrated with weakness and nervous debility; I could not digest my food; if I ate even a cracker, or the smallest amount of food, it would return just as I swall dwed it; I became so costive in my bowels; that I would not have a passage in less than from four, and often eight days; under this immense suffering my mind seemed entirely to give way I had dreadful horror and evil forsbodings. I thought everybody hated me, and I hated everybody; I could not bear my husband nor my own children; everything appeared to be horror stricken to me. I had no ambition to do?anything; I lost all my love of family and home; I would ramble and wander from place to place, but could not be contented. I felt that I was doomed to hell, and that there was no heaven for me, and was often tempted to commit suicide, so near was my whole nervous system destroyed, and also my mind, from that awful complaint. I became averse to society, and disposed only to seclusion, and having tried the skill of a number of eminent physicians of various schools, finally came to tae conclusion that, for this disease, at my present age, 45 years, there was no cure in existence. But, through the interference of Divine Providence, to whom I devoutly offer my thanks, I at last found a sovereign remedy in your Dyspersia, Pills and Tar Cortled, which seem to have effectually removed almost the last trace of my long list of allments and bad feelings, and in their place I saith, pleasure, and contentment are my everyday companions.

I, Moses Tobin, of Cheltenham, Montgomery county. Pa., have suffered for more than one year everything but death itself, from that awful disease, called Dyspepsia. I employed in that time five of the most eminent physicians in Philadelphia. They did all they could for me, with medicines and capping, but still I was no better. I then went to the Pennsylvania University, in order to place myself in reach of the best medical talents in the country, but their medicines failed to do me any good, and ofttimes I wished for death to relieve me of any sufferings, and seeing Dr. Wishart's advertisement in the Philadelphia Bulletin, I determined to try once more but with littlefaith. I called on Dr. Wishart, and told him if foomd have died I would not have troubled him, and then related my sufferings to him. The Dr. assured me if he failed to cure me of Dyspepsia, it would be the first case in two years, so I put myself under bis treatment; and although I had been for months vomitting nearly everything I aic, my stomach swellen with wind, and filled with pain beyond description, I bought a box of his Dyspepsia. Pills, I used them as directed, and in ten days I could eat as hearty a meal as any person in the State of Pennsylvania, and in thirty days was a well man I invite any person suffering as I was to call and see me, and I would say to all Dyspeptics, everywhere, that Dr. Wishart is, I believe, the only person on the earth that can cure Dyspepsia with any degree of certainty.

DR. WISHART—Sir. I is with much pleasure that I am now able to inform you that, by the use of your great American Dyspepsia Pills, I have been entirely cured of that most distressing complaint. Dyspepsia: I had been grievously afflicted for the last twenty-eight years, and for ten years of that time have not been free from its pain one week at a time. I have had it in its worst form, and have dragged on a most miserable existence—in pain day and nainth, Every kind of food that I ate filled me with wind and pain, it matered not how light, or how small the quantity; a continued belching was sure to follow. DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA!

I, Samuel D. Haven, have been a great sufferer with Chronic Dyspepsia and Inflammation of the Kidneys for three years. I cmployed three or four of the most eminent physicians of Philadelphia, also of Burlington county, N. J. They did all for me they could, but all to no purpose. I was constantly filled with awful pain and distress, and with const unt beleding of wind and sour acid. My tengue was covered with a white coating of mucus utill it cracked in large furrows, and was dreadfully sore. Oh! I oftines wished for death to reliave me of my sufferings, for I had lost all hope of ever being well again. I made it a subject of prayer to God that he would direct me to some physician or medicine that world cure me. I was told to read an advertisement of Dr. Wishart's, in the Philadelphia. Ledger, of a great cure made upon Mr. John Babcock, of No. 1083 Olive street, Philadelphia, by the great American Dyspepsia Pills. I want to the Doctor's Office, and placed myself under his treatment, and told him the failed booms me, it would be the last effort I would make. It has been six weeks since for meneral a day with comfort, and feel perfectly well. Dr. Wishart, I want you to publish my case, as I want every poor dyspeptic, suffering as I was, to call on me, and I will tell them of the great cure I have received from your invaluable madicine.

SPEECH OF HENRY WINTER DAVIS. The cause of freedom owes much to this eloque champion. In the course of his speech, he said: Our great questions now are, not whether we shall maintain the Republic by force of arms. No man now calling himself a Union man dares to moot that question. It is not now a matter of opman now calling himself a Union man dares to moot that question. It is not now a matter of opprobrium to say that we are for the Union unsonditionally. That now is the cry and watchword. Great applause.] The time has passed beyond those old landmarks. The peace men have no candidate in Maryland. ["That's true."] The traitors do not recognize the United States Government, and cannot cast a vote in Maryland. [Applause.] That the men of Maryland are resolved to abide by the Government of the United States, now no man doubts; for twice she has cast two thirds of her whole vote in favor of unconditionally maintaining the Union. [Great applause.]

Those things are of the past. We march forward to the future. Having secured the permanent consolidation of Maryland with the United States, we now go on to secure the consolidation of Maryland in principle, feeling, and institution with our great free sisters of the North. [Applauae.] We have opened resolutely the question of emancipation, and on the 4th of November twenty thousand majority will ratify in advance the opinion of the people of Maryland. [Applause.]

SPERGH OF HON. SALMON P. CHASE.

Mr. Chase was received with prolonged cheering and applauee. When quiet had been restored he spoke as follows:

I see, my countrymen, that you need no speech to night. I have some simply to express the profound sympathy I feel with the unconditional Union men of Maryland. To you the whole country looks for the ratification of what we did in Ohio on the 13th of this month. ["Good."] Twenty thousand majority promised in Maryland cannot, by Ohio men at least, be regarded as quite equal to one hundred thousand given in Ohio for the same cause. But twenty thousand majority in Maryland tells the whole country that the Union is safe beyond all peradventure. [Applauee.] I read here to night, "The Union," "Emmanipation," "Goldsborough," (referring to the motiocs on the rear of the platform.) The Union flast, "emmanipation as the sure means of perpetuating the Union and securing the triumph of the Union cause, and the election of your worthy candidate as the symbol which Maryland gives of her Mellity to the great cause. [Applauee.]

I thank my honorable friend (Mr. Davis) for the kind terms of his introduction. I wish I were worthy to be counted a leader of such a host as this; but, my countrymen, the time has come when the people lead the leaders, when the people have aroused to a consciousness of their own dignity and their own manbood and their own interest; and Union. [Applauee.] You are about to show your selves wire and pairiotic men by returning to his seat in Congress—two years occupied by a man of very widely different principles—the patrictic gallent, cloquent, fearless man who has borne the standard in this State. [Applause.] He did not shrink from the hazards of the contest. Men might pause, but Henry Winter Davis went straight on. [Applause.] Men might doubt, but Winter Davis nore the standard in this State. [Applause.] He did not shrink from the hazards of the contest. Men might pause, but Henry Winter Davis went straight on extending the might from nore your champion, that Mr. Chase was received with prolonged cheering and applause. am paying off the army. [Great applause, amidst which Mr. Chase retired.]

Fellow citzens, if ever I had a right to speak I have lost it. I have no right to stand before you tonight. It is only because I want to see the faces of these men that I consent to stand out and look at the faces before me. It have said for the last two years that this is the time for work and not the time for the last that is the time for work and not the time for last. But I have not, since the 19th of last month, seen such a mass as this. It was my pleasure then to see the men who had the sharp, decided argument in their hands on the plains of Georgia, and I am glad to tell you that they were, like you tonight, all unconditional Union men. On the other side were our enemies, just as on the other side of the ballot box you will have your enemies. The 19th of last month was precisely what the test of next month will be to you—the same sharp, determined, unconditional test. And though there was blood, mutilation, and alaughter, yet, as the Union men stood in their bloody boots until night came around them, and as they won their great campaign, through much blood, you will win yours.

On the 13th of this month we had the pleasure of voting for John Brough—some voted in cartridge boxes, some in cigar boxes, but we all voted. You are in such a conteat as I never dreamed of seeing at this early day in the State of Maryland. That word, that talimanic word, which above the smoke and gore of battle—FREEDOM—is rearing her clear brow, and is shming out in the smoke of this context and we shall see her eye to eye. As I came through Tennessee, and stopped at her capital, I found a gathering like this, though not so large. They offered some resolutions which it would have done your hearts good to hear. The first resolution was: "We will support the Union at all hazards and forever;" and, secondly: "in order to do that most effectually, we will put down the last vestiges of slavery from our State; to put down most effectually, we will put blue coats SPEECH OF GENERAL GARFIELD.

THREE CENTS

FELLOW-CITIZENS OF MARYLAND: I joined the invading corps of Winter Davis and went into "Africa" the other day, and I found that I had quite as many darkies" to talk to as white people, and I had as pretty big meeting of them. (Laughter.) They seemed to be free to hear, to think, and to act; for a few of them were seen next day in Col. Birney's camp with blue jackets on. (Laughter.)

I look upon your German banners here before me, and I find that your German population here are true to their national instincts, and they brand slave ry as the shame spot of the nineteenth century, and challenge you on to the battle for freedom. Aye, freedom—that is JUDGE KELLEY'S SPERCH.

"For the laborer bread,
And a comely table spread
In a neat and happy home,
When from daily labor come."

It is clothes, and fire, and food for the trampled multitude. And you are going to see that every laboring man and woman in Maryland enjoys such freedom as that.

You have but one enemy to dread in Maryland, one General alone can defeat you, and that is General Apathy. So long as you keep enthusiasm alive your cause is safe, and you become the fuglemen, the leading people in the grandest revolution that will have marked modern history. Aye, the grandest revolution, for white it will confirm all that our fathers' valor and wisdom gave us, it will elevate in morals and intellect to the full stature of man and womanhood four millions of beings that have been denominated things and bought and sold as such. Four millious shall have personal freedom, while the eight years' war of the Revolution did but establish the political freedom of three millions and their posterity.

The Unconditional Union party, in whose name you meet to night, carries with it the hope, the greatness of the future; and, let me tell you, it has the wisdom, the patriotism, the principles of the oniginal Democratic party, that knew Jefferson and Madison as its leaders and its councillors. [Applause.] And its reign shall be in length like the duration of power given to that party. And so long set it adheres to the high cause it has now espoused, of universal freedom to man and Union between the States that have been and shall be organized between the lakes and the Gulf, the Atlantic and Pacific, it shall be the party of power. Why should he so long have been content to be a mere producer of raw material in an age when coal and iron are the muscles of civilization? Why should you degrade labor to make it do that which the steam engine is relieving the thews and shews of your Northern brethern from! With us it does the laborious

Canvassing in New Jersey. BRIDGETON, October 30, 1883. To the Editor of The Press: SIR: The Unionists of New Jersey are alive to the emergency. They are laboring and hoping to send glad tidings to the States which have already pronounced, at the polls, for the Constitution, the Union, and the enforcement of the laws—to Maine, Connecticut, Vermont, Kentucky, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Iowa. In our own town a large ind enthusiastic meeting was addressed last eve hour and a half he delighted his auditors by a straightforward, genial, eloquent, and persuasive speech.
