THE "NAME" OF THE WHEELER & WIL-THE "NAME" OF THE WHEELER & WIL-SON MACHINE. The name is accidental. A. B. WILSON was an inventor. NATHANEL WHEELER was a manufae-turer, and circumstances brought them together, and their joint productions were called the "Wheeler & Wilson Machines." In 1852 they turned out from a small shop in Watertown, Conn., eight or ten ma-chines per week, mostly hand-made, and coarse compared to those made for lees than half the cost in 1852. The number of machines made in succeed-ing years show an unparalled increase, until now the number manufactured annually, we believe, ex-ceeds fifty thousand machines. It is a remarkable fact thai, notwithstanding the loss of the boasted Southern trade, their manufacture and sales last year were vasily larger than they had ever been before. so thein an unusual average. Seams of a considerable length are ordinarily seewed, with the best machines, at the rate of a yard minute, and that, too, in a manner far superior to

of industry requiring sewing. Not only site the wants of housekeepers fully met, but the machine is found a mccessity for the seamstress, dress-maker, tailor, manufacturers of shirts, collars, cloaks, man-illas, clothing, hats, cape, corsets, ladies' boots, silk and linen goods, umbrellas, parasols, etc. Some of these branches of business have attained gigantic proportions, and it is not unusual to find from 100 to 400 zewing machines used in a single manufactory. This is not surprising when the efficiency of the ma-chine is considered. THE WHEELER & WILSON MACHINE IN THE FAMILY. By none has the Sewing Machine been more grate-fully welcomed than by lhe Housekeeper, who is no longer equal to the burdens imposed upon her by necessity, fashion, and taste. A comfortably pro-yided wardrobe for a family, consisting of husband, wife, sud five children, would be about as follows: For the husband—One dozen shirts, with bosoms and collars; four night shirts; two pairs of under-shirts and drawers; one dozen pocket and neek handkerobiefs; one dozen pair of stockings, one morning gown; one overcoat and two dress coats; three pairs of thick pantaloons and three thick vests, for whier; two coats, three pairs of pantaloons, three vests and one overcoat for spring and fall; and five vests. The wife would require one dozen dresses, of different materials; an equal number of skirts, and as many changes of under garments; one winter cloak and various other outer garments, according to fashion; one dozen pairs of hose and gloves, besides numerous cuffs, collars, under-sleeves, aprons, handkerohiefs, &c. Each of the five children would require more changes than either of the pa-very. because they soul them more readily. Wear fortune" rang in the ears of the young Yankee inventor. That was the origin of the sewing ma-chine. From that moment his mind never rested, though he had no idea how the machine was to be made, or fortune acquired. He had not much idea of the latter, even after he had accomplished the THE INFANCY OF SEWING MACHINES.

Important as the invention has proved, the public was slow to see it, and, like many others, it did not bring that "independent fortune" until after years of hope deferred. The infancy of sewing machines needed much nursing, and the invention came near perishing before it was appreciated.

After long toiling and experimenting, Mr. Hows contained a patent; but he had spent his last dollar, and no one was willing to lend or embark another in auch a Utopian enterprise as manufacturing sewing machines.

For a certainty, no one had the power of "second sight" to enable him to see the palatial sewing machine emporiums that attract the curious upon Broadway or Chestnut street; nor had any one a vision of such a mammoth establishment as that of the WHEELER & Wilson Company at Bridge-port, where four acres of ground are covered with buildings, with steam machinery sufficient to manufacture three hundred sewing machines every day. Very few persons have an idea of the magnitude which the manufacture of sewing machines has at-rolled up and his arms begrimed with oil and iron who was the representative of the town last year in tained in this country. The following persons and companies pay a royalty to Mr. Howe, who has recently obtained a renewal of his patent for seven years from September, 1861 : The WHEELER & WILSON Company, whose manu factory is at Bridgeport, Conn. (covering an area of four acres, and employing about a thousand of the most skilful workmen in the United States), and salesrooms in this city at No. 704 Chestnut street. I. M. Singer & Co., New York. Finkle & Lyon, New York. Vilson H. Smith, Birmingham, Conn. The Parker Sewing Machine Company, Madison Oharles W. Howland, Wilmington, Delaware, Miles Greenwood & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio. N. S. C. Perkins, Norwalk, Ohio. These firms manufactured and sold, last year, as nearly as we can ascertain, about 100,000 machines; the majority of which were made at the mammoth establishment of the WHEELER & WILSON Company at Bridgenort. There is, or was, a sewing machine manufactur ing company at Richmond, Va., but "owing to circumstances," we can get no returns of the number made at that establishment.

before. The WHEELER & WILSON Company is composed of a company of stockholders, which is managed by a President and Directors, and it is only an act of the most simple justice to the stockholders and the public to say that it is the opinion of the public who know him, that no company ever had a more efficient President than NATHANPT. A brother of Mr. Howe also manufactures a small number in New York, and of a style very much liked for some purposes. So much for the history of the invention; now let us see how the machines are made.

THE QUESTION OF "TENSION."

THE QUESTION OF "TENSION." Besides the feed and the machinery for making the stitch, the lension of the thread has commanded more attention than anything else. No matter what the stitch made, this difficulty has to be met. The trouble has been to so adjust the strain upon the two threads, that the point of interlocking shall be in the proper position. This is a matter of great difficulty when the thread is used from the original spool, on account of the irregularity with which these spools are made. In the WHENELER & WILSON machine this difficulty has been overcome in a most successful manner. The lower thread is reevound on a metal spool of such size as to hold about 50 or 60 yards of No. 80 cotton, so that a spool of 200 yards will fill the bobbin four times. Lets than a minute is requisite for rewinding a spool. Five minutes per day is more than would would Wey Mr.Minding all the thread a housekeeper is then paid to the lower thread, and the tensito of 'ft being automatic, the proper regulation of the upper thread is alone necessary. This thread is fed from the original spool without any rewinding, to a small bolistics, handleterbitefs, & . Each of the five children would require more changes than either of the pa-rentr, because they soil them more readily, wear them more rapidly, and also outgrow some. Bed-linen for five beds might consist of ten pairs of sheets and blankets, ten pairs of pillow cases and bolster covers, besides coverlets, comfortables, quilts, ticks, &c. Table and toilet innes might be set down at half a dozen table cloths, four dozen mapkins, and four dozen towels.
