SCENE AT THE UNION LEAGUE HOUSE.

SOENE AT THE UNION LEAGUE HOUSE. The Union League House, popularly known among Philadelphians as the Victory House, was gay with flags and ladies. The picture, to the ob-servant eye, was sublime. Beek's Band, engaged expressly for the occasion, was stationed in the front of the main entrance to the spacious building, and discoursed patriotic music as the parade passed by. Every window was filled with ladies, and the cool bretze imparted a freshness to their checks, and thus added a glow of flated brauty thereto. The waving of hundreds of handkerchlefs added a liveliness to the attractive display of patriotism.

arduous attention to the welfare of the school. THE PHILADELPHIA YACHT CLUE.--We fearn that the yacht club recently started in this city is fully organized. The club-room on Walnut street has been fitted up in the most costly style, with every. convenience incident to an institution of this. kind. There are about forty boats repre-sented in this organization, with a floating capi-fal of several hundred thousand dollars. The as-sociation numbers among its members some of the most prominent and influential citizens of Philadelphia, who are proverbial for their busi-ness character and energy and social qualifications. On some fine day, the residents of Philadelphia will have for their entertainment, in a public way, a ince panoramic scene on the Delaware, when its boscm will be studded with the white sails of the fiet do these asyle of princely magnificence, and maay a pleasant, happy hour will be enjoyed on in Philadelphia to make the subject interesting. A firesh, or more properly speaking, a new impetun has been given to the affair, and we may consider stile, and other paraphernalis connected with such a pleasant in stilution of our city. The signals and flags, and other paraphernalis connected with such a pleasant profession, are already made, and will, in the course of a few days, have a place in their club room.
