GENTLEARN: I was very much surprised and gratified;
upou receiving your request to name a time and place;
where I might be the recipient of a testimonial at your hands. The very complimentary manner in which you, have been pleased to refer to my services under the several calls made by our common country, is far more flattering than I deserve or ever conceived. The soldier's highest ambition is in the approval of his fellow-citizens.
If have done aught to secure this, I am indeed thankful.
I would commend the 8th of January, deer to us all in the pack glories and history, and name the Musical Fund Hall as suitable for what you propose.

F Particular attiention is called to the article in The Press of 39th, 30th, and Sist instant, addressed to L. C. LILLIE, and signed "SVANS & WATSON," in which they DECLINE to test Safes by free, and, on their part, close the correspondence, having, I presume, come to the wise conclusion that "discretion is the better part of valor," (a great misfortune, I think, that they had not arrived at this sage conclusion before they made the first attack.)

Far be it from me to gloat or exult over a fallen enemy; an enemy who fights honorably and fairly (though he fails) is entitled to both sympathy and respect; but when he runs and then charges his antagonist falsely, he can bardly be entitled to either.

But "to err is human," and the enemy's mood when he penned the article was evidently sullem, and although he is petiteh, and, like the weaker boy in the quarrel, tuns round and looks daggers, and makes up all manner of wry faces at his opponent and the "rest of mankinds." I am quite disposed to overlook, forget, and forgive—to offer the heard of charity, and to treat him like the "Prodigal Son," if he will return and sin no more,

I next passelo a short review of the prominent points in this correspondence, that it may be more fully understocd."

The attack was first made by a notice to merchants and bankers that LILLIE'S BAFES could be drilled, were not drill proof or fire-proof. referring to the Great Fire at Troy to show it.

I answered this attack first, by challenging the attacking party to a test with the drill; also, to test the BURGLAR-PROOF QUALITIES OF LILLIES' SAFE with theirs, giving them one-third advantage, and with the drill one-half advantage; and to all these offers I have had NO RESPONSE, except the fire test.

As to this test, they first propose to take a safe in their possession that they allege had been in our fire, with the general terms for burning, all which I acceded to, except that I would select a safe of similar size to the one they selected, and that neither party should have possession of either age before the burning, to drug it, or fit it up for the occasion.

To this proposition my Opponents DECLINE, and LEAYE THE FIELD!

To all the charges and allegations I have made, as to the robberies and burning of their safes, they have not either denied or disproved them, therefore they stand admitted.

Totall the charges and allegations they have made as to the failures of Lillie's Eafe, I have, as I think, answered fairly and truthfully.

With these remarks, I close this correspondence, confidently believing the public will fully appreciate the position of each party, and the relative value of their Safes.
