It will be noticed, by our account of the pro-ceedings on the lake at Frogmore yesterday, that the Princess of Wales was enabled to take part in the sports, and to witness the animated scene in which the Prince of Wales played so conspicuous a part, and did not return to the royal residence at Frogmore till a late period of the atternoon. The joyril intelligence was received in town late last might by telegram, when information of the event was conveyed to all the Ministers at present resi-dent in the metropolis." In a pargraph immediately subjoined, the Post Friday the Prince of Wales spent the afternoon on the ice at Virginia Water, his wife regarding his movements with great interest. The Post adds: "His Royal Highness proved himself a first-rate is tak as he was on his skates, and puzzled many of the most expert players. The Princes of Wales, who is an excellent skater, seemed much interested in the game, and was cocasionally driven about in a stedge. The Princes fit Virginia Water at four o'clock." teresting. The New Encland Historical and Genealogical Regis-ter, published quartery by J. Munsel, Albany, is the only class journal of its sort issued in America, and, we believe, has no fellow or rival in England. The first number of the 18th volume has reached us, and The New York Evening Post of to-day says: we find a great deal of valuable information in its we had a great deal of valuable information in its well-edited papers. We would especially mention a memoir of General David Cobb, one of Washing. ton's companions in arms, born in 174S, deceased in 1880; biography of Dr. Jonathan Potts, Director-General of the Hospitals in the War of the Revolu-tion, written by the Rev. Edward D. Neill, of Philadelphia; an Account of the Discovery of an Ancient Ship on the Eastern Shore of Cape Cod-supposed to have been lost in Potanumagut harbor, in 1626-7; and a just criticism upon Bunker Hill Monument, designed by Horatio Greenough, but not built upon his plan. We find in the minutes, here given, of the N. E. Hist, Geneal, Society, an account of three photographs presented by Mr. John A. McAllister, photographs presented by Mr. John A. McAllister, of Philadelphis, which image a relic lately disco-vered at Valley Forge. Mr. McA.'s account is: "A few weeks ago, workmen engaged in removing the foundations of an anoient building near Wash-ington's headquarters at Valley Forge, found what appeared to be a block of wood three inches square. It remained among the rubbish for several days, when one of the laborers turned it over and dis-covered it to be a box. This outer box appears to be of zome composition metal resembling copper, but somewhat corroded. On removing the outside box another was discovered plated with silver, and in this case, carefully packed to protect it from mois-ture, was a ministure beautifully painted and in ex-cellent preservation. The ministure represents a person in an embroidered coat, ruffled shirt, and powdered wig, and, from the costume, was evidently painted between 1730 and 1740. The painting is on enamel, and has on its edge near the right shoulder the letters HALL, which can be discovered in 5 said to have been built in 1770. The librariar, Mr. Shep-pard, suggested that HALL might be the name of the painter."

The most readable papers in Blackwood's Magazine (the American edition, of which W. B. Zieber is agent in this city) are a critique on Captain Speke's Journal, a letter from Poland, Manchester College and Commoners, and the fourth part of the lively Irish story, of which Tony Butler is the hero. The authorship of this last is a mystery, but we think it must be one of Lever's works, particularly as its Irish locale is in the neighborhood of Coleraine, Image: Constraint of the state in where Lever was born. The writer mentions a man "who had actually eaten terrapin, and believed it to be very exquisite yeal." As no one could make such a mistake, it is pratty clear that Mr. Lever, or wheever else the story-teller may be, knows nothing about terrapin.

The London Art Journal for January is univer-sally attractive. Its steel plates are Turner's Venice, from the Canal of the Guidecca; E. M. Ward's Alice Lisle, and A Vision, from a bas-relief by J. Edward P. Amory. The wood engravings are three from paintings by poor Gilbert gravings are three from paintings by pool chiefs Stuart Newton; a splendid whole page one repre-senting the Pholo-Madonna, said to have been painted by St. Luke; and old carricatures illustra-ting Mr. Wright's history of that branch of art. The literary matter also exhibits marked improve-The interior matter is given that, in all respects, the Arl Journal shall surpass, in 1864, all its previ-ous performances.

PRO-SLAVERY SORUPLES.—The pro-slavery men in Maryland insist now that no constitutional con-vention can be called in that State to abolish elavery before 1865. These are the same men who, in 1861, tried to force Governor Hicks to call an ex-tra session of the Legislature in order to get a con-stitutional convention together to drag the State into rebellion. They saw no constitutional ob-jection to a hurried call of a convention, while the country was in a blaze of excitement, to rush Mary-land into rebellion. They had no constitutional soruples then, and the arguments they used at that time ought to stop their mouths now.
