PORTS AND PORTHY.—Rev. Dr. Cox's lecture, the accord of which was given in Concert Hall on Thursday evening, was a most interesting one. He gave a fine description of the origin and increase of learning, commencing with its starting point, Chaldea, and following it around the world, till it finally seemed to rest in England and America. The learned, of whom no small part of the audience were, must have been deeply interested in this description. Dr. C. said some had asked him why he had not given more prominence to Shakspeare. He said he was, undoubtedly, one of The greatest of poets. Spencer, Sydney, and Shakspeare all flourished in the days of Queen Elizabeth. Million's lamentation over the loss of his sight was well received, and the lecture added, 'No man has a right to make himself blind as Milton did." No small part of the lecture was upon Cowper. Dr. C. having visited Oiney, where Cowper resided, gave many valuable facts of him; explained several passages in Atheist, whose horse threw his master down the precipice, where he ought to have been dashed to pieces for his temerity. These lectures are a credit to our city, and while Dr. C., since his great popularity attending this course of lectures in New York, has been called to Troy, Boston, and other cities, he has preferred to come to Philadelphia. The next lecture will be in the hall of the University on Monaday evening next. A highly respected religious cotemporary of this city publishes an article this week from the pen of TUBSDAY. J.—
DESTRUCTION OF THE CAMDEN AND AMBOY RAULROAD DESCOT.—Yesterday morning, about 6 o'clock, a serious fire broke out in the "lamp room" of the depot belonging to the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company, at Camden, N. J. The flames soon spread over the entire building, involving a loss estimated variously from twenty thousand to fifty thousand dollars. In the room where the fire occurred there was stored a quantity of sperm oil, used by the company for lighting and lubricating purposes. The origin was accidental, having been the result of carelessness on the part of the keeps of the oil room, in not properly attending to the lamps. At the time of the occurrence there was a force of forty or fifty workmen engaged in or about the depot, and a locomotive stood fired up awaiting the arrival of the United States Rights steamer, with the passongers for the six o'clock train. The engine was attached to an entire train of cars, and the latter were drawn, almost entirely uninjured, out of the bining structure. The inen succeeded in running some other passenger cars and some freight cars out of the uspot, but the rapid epread of the flames soon compelled them to desiat from their efforts to save the portable property, and all that was left in the depot was consumed.

In ten minutes from the time of the breaking out of the fire the entire building and its contents were in flames. In the freight depot were five cars, loaded with bailed hay, and intended for Government use.

The Camden firemen were utterly unable to cope Ge., &c., "I from year to year undergo a great deal of work, and have for more than twenty-five years; and it has been predicted ever since I can remember, that I was on the point of breaking down under excessive work. And people have said, 'How can you endure so much labor?' I do it simply by economizing my strength, and knowing how to use it. With a good constitution to begin with, I had the blessing of a lather who told me something about my own body, and inspired me with surjosity to learn more; and I betock myself to the study of the structure of the bedily organs, and for twenty-five years the relation of thought, and food, and exercise, and rest, and sleep, to health, has been such a matter of daily care with me, that for me to observe the laws of nature in this regard has at last become an instinct. And to that I attribute my power to labor so long and so much. I have been able to put a fourth more work into my life on the simple ground that I knew the laws of my own body."

THE RICHMOND AND SCHUYLKILL PASSENGER

BAILWAY COMPANY.

Eckfeit et al. vs. J. Starr—In Equity.—This is a motion on behalf of Eckfeit and Imlay Trustees, under a certsin mortgage given by the Richmond and Schuylkill Passenger Railway Co., to secure bonds issued by that corporation, for an injunction to restrain the respondent a judgment creditor, and the Sheriff from proceeding to sell under a Fi-fa. from the District Court the equipments of the road, such as horses, cars, &c.

The argument of the motion for an injunction in the case was resumed yesterday morning, and took quite a wide range, but was fuelly brought down to quite a marrow compass. Mr. C. Guillou, for respondent, contended that the complainants had no remedy in equity, but should go into the District Court, and interplead in the ordinary way; that the mortgage did not cover the property levied upon, and gave no title thereto to the trustees. Mr Guillou made other points and cited various acts of Assembly in support of his views, and argued that the injunction should not issue.

Mr. vall, appointed sequestrator by the District Court, represented by Messrs. S. C. Perkins and J. B. Guest, asked permission to come in and be made a party of record to the proceeding, and desired that the injunction issue.

The argument was concluded by E. Spencer Miller, who contended that the remedy in equity in this form was a proper one; that the mortgage was a valid mortgage of the franchise, and did give title to the trustees sand that upon the faith of previous decisions in this very cause, acts had been done and bonds given, which, if those decisions were disregarded, weuld bring innocent parties into trouble, and perhaps involve them in serious loss.

Judge Thompson held the matter under advisement. bloder has the license required by law of Congress.

"I do not partake of the spirit wherein most criticisms on M. Renan's 'Life of Jesus' seem to have been conceived. I think that work calculated to quicken the zeal and confirm the faith of intelligent Christians. That the author's character of Jesus is an impossible one—that such a person as he presumer Jesus to have been is a solecism—a point-blank contradiction—that Jesus must either have been 'a teacher sent from God,' or a designing impostor—I think will be more manifest and certain to the readers of Renan than it ever was before. If there ever was a case of 'definition by exclusion,' I think it is demonstrated that Jesus could never have been the person whom Renan in general declares and proves him, unless he had been specially enlightened and guided from on high. And I think there are many Christians who will study their Bibles more, and with a livelier interest and newer affection, for having read his book."
