THE FENIAN BROTHERHOOD—THEIR REPLY TO THE LATE EPISCOPAL ANATHEMA.—Last evening the Fenian Brotherhood held a large meeting at the new hall, on Twelfth street, below What American and Irish ireignia. The flag of the Brotherhood was displayed above the rostrum, altorgatic a handsome egraving of Washington. Around the walls were displayed above the rostrum, altorgatic a handsome egraving of Washington. Around the walls were displayed portraits of celebrated Irish patriots. There were many ladies in the suclence, who listened to the exposition of the Fenian principles with no little interest.

The object of the meeting was to vindicate the organization from the recent charge of secrecy, put forth in a formal pasioral by the Catholic Bishop of Philadelphia. Captain P. F. Walsh, late of the Army of the Potomac, was appointed to address the meeting on the subject. Mr. James G'Brien, president, occupied the chair. The young orator was introduced by Mr. James Gibbons, who referred to Captain Walsh's gallentry on the battle-fields of the Union, and said that he was equally ready to sacrifice himself in behalf of a country no less dear to all Irishmen. The Fenian Brotherhood had resolved, come weal or wee, to do its best to lift up the dear a position to which she was entitled by her bravery, patriotism, and virtues, to occupy forever.

Capt. Walsh defined the meaning of the Word Forias. It was a the anolent name of the Knighthood of Ireland. That knighthood, like other orders of prosperous chivalry, was devoted to the maintenance of honor, virtue, and bravery among the people of the country. It was a noble order, and ought to be sustained as the embodiment of Irish patriotism and virtue. The present object of the brotherhood, as it exists in the United States, is twofold, viz: to create among Irishmen feelings of unity and interently, without regard to sect or condition, and to crush the jealouaise that exist among the Irish people; second, to declare boldly and emphatically that Ireland is a distinct nationality.

I can soarcely compute the service that has been rendered by Watts, and Oddridge, and Charles Wesley, and such men as they. Though they have died, their sweet and almost ubiquitous voice will never die. All the sounds will have died out of the sea before their hymns will cease their carols and their singings. Where there is a weary heart, the hymn will sing. Where there is a weary heart, the hymn will sing. Where there is an aspiring soul, it will be winged upward by these hymns. How great a gift it was—that gift which God conferred upon the world by the sweet singing of the Christian hymnists!"

"I can conceive," said one of them, "of a solid faith; I can conceive of a frank infidelity; but I cannot understand M. Renan's notion of a 'truly religious soul,' which shall reject all mysteries, and yet give room to the most wild and dreamy religious vagaries." Larroque asks M. Renan whether "words have changed their mening," that he calis Christ 'divine' and "half God." "If Christ is God, he is God; there are no degices in divinity." Nor does he relish the romance style of Renan's so-called history. He cannot breathe, he says, in an atmosphere so saturated with perfumes. "And if I must choose," he adds, "between the grand, though severe, character of Christ, as depicted by the Christian Church, and the charming and accommodating person whom Renan pairts, I frankly acknowledge my preference for the former." We will conclude with the following letter of Napoleon to the Bishop of Arras, complimenting him on his reply to Renan:

Sir: You have had the kindness to send me the work you have written in opposition to the recent production in which an attempt was made to raise doubts on one of the fundamental points of our religion. I have seen with pleasure the energetic part you have taken in the defence of the faith, and sincerely congratulate you for it."

Promiscuous Circulation of an Indecent Publication.

Desmond & Co., it is alleged, have issued a two-leaf publication, called the "Samaritan's Gift," which contains reading matter insulting to moral leelings. This document was promiscuously circulated yesterday on Chestnut street, by a man named James Fanning, residing in Rementer's alley. Fanning testified that he had a wife and four children, and that Thomas Desmond employed him at the rate of $1.25 per day to distribute the documents. He also said that in the distribution he did not give any to ladles, nor did he give them to any respectable-looking gentiemen.

A regular reporter of the newspaper press was called to the stand, and testified that Fanning was standing in front of the Age office distributing the objectionable publication to passers by—men, women, and even boys; in fact, he thrust one into the hands of the witness, who called the attention of High Constable Clark to the fact.

Mr. Clark proceeded to make an arrest. Fanning supposed him to be a military officer, and handed him one of the papers. The arrest was made.

Mr. O'Byrne, counsel for defence, admitted that his client had published the "Samaritan's Gift," and there was nothing more objectionable in it than was published in some of the newspapers. His client was prepared to take the consequences if there is anything wrong in the case.

Then, replied the alderman, he may enter bail in the sum of $500 to answer at court. [Before Mr. Alderman Beitler. Blankets, wool, army standard.

Sewing Women.

A number of women appeared yesterday before Police Magistrate White, and entered a complaint against an individual, a sub-contractor, who would not pay them for their labor.

The awindling individual, it seems, took out some Government work from a Market street firm, had it made up, returned the same, received his pay, but retained some of the money due the women. His excuse for not paying them was, that the Market-street firm had not paid him, but as soon as he received the money he would settle. Thus the women were treated for some time. A day or two since the awindling aub-contractor absoonded to Trenton, New Jersey, or some other parts unknown. It being impossible to arreat him, and it requiring five days before judgment can be rendered, the alderman addressed a note to the Market street firm to retain in their possession a certain balance due to the runaway swindler, so that the same may be appropriated to liquidate the claim of the women who did the work. It is likely the firm will yield, as the amount is light, but light as it is, the women cannot well afford to lose it. The probability is that the affair will be amicably settled, through the kindly interposition of the magistrate, and thus avoid any further publicity of the proceedings.

That Interesting Case.

In the case of a United States detective, said to be employed in the secret service of the Government, the facts of which, so far as developed at the first hearing, were published yesterday, came up for further investigation last evening. The following evidence was elicited:

Henry Unger sworn.—I was engineer on board the steamer Cooper's Point, which was lost near Kent Island, in the Cheapeaske bay; I am one of the men who signed the affidavit to the notary respecting the loss of the vessel; I had some conversation with defendant; after I came home I saw defendant on business; I was somewhat acquainted with him before; was introduced to him most a year before; he was a detective, and went to see if he could give me a situation; he said he had important business on hand; this was about five weeks ago; I asked him what the business was, and he said that he had three Jews who would go in to the extent of $200,000 each; the business was to run the blockade; he said he had seen Captain Segebarth, and he was to go in; I was to go as engineer; I said to him, "Maybe you will inform on me if I go into the business;" he said no, he was like the Quaker who told his son to go out into the world and make all the money he could—honestly, if he could; he also said that he could get $2,000, if the polney of insurance on the steamer Cooper Point could be broken, and wanted me to assist him, and cffered me $600 at once if I would do so; I refused, and I think he finally said he would give me half the amount he was to get if I only assisted him; I told him that it was no use—that I had already sworn to the truth, and that the truth could not be undone; he said the insurance company had given him $250 to get this thing fixed—to investigate the affair; and, as he was about to get a position in the error. He would use this money in paying his expenses there; he said he would inveriere wi LIMITED PARTNERSHIP. MILITARY.—The number of recruits mustered into the United States service during this week, will no doubt be far greater than any previous week since the last call of the President. This is owing to the active exertions fof the ward committees, who are working hard for men to fill their respective quotas. The Ninth ward had mustered in and credited to it on Thursday nearly one hundred men, which nearly completes their quota. The other wards are also securing a number of men. An ordinance passed Councils at their last meeting, appropriating two million dollars more for the purpose of paying the bounty of two hundred and fifty dollars to each recruit accredited to the city. This makes the whole appropriation three million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which is sufficient for the payment of the bounty to thirteen thousand recruits. The quota of the city will be much less than this, but they thought it better to appropriate too much than tool title. Two companies of the 183d Regt. P. V., Col. McLean, were mustered into the service yesterday by Capt. Wm. B. Lane. These will make eight companies in that regiment, and the other two will be completed in a week or two. The eighth company of the 25th Regt. U. S. Colored Troops is nearly full. The second company of the Provost Guard Battalion of Philadelphia, commanded by Lieut. Col. Frink, was mustered in on Thursday by Capt. Lane. He also paid the advance Government bounty of sixty dollars to a company of the 183d Regt. P. V. The number of men recruited by Capt. The rise office on Chestnut street, average about twenty per day.

Sermons on the Mediation of Christ.—We understand that these sermons, by the Rev. T. H. Stockton, D. D., announced in The Press, some weeks ago, have been, so far, well attended by Christians and inquirers generally. Being delivered on Sunday afternoons (3½ o'clock), in a centrally located church (Eleventh and Wood streets), and the whole service limited to an hour and a quarter, the opportunity is favorable to Christian union in the encouragement of a common Christian interest. On last Sunday the Newly Discovered Scriptural Facts were opened, in part, and this exhibition will be continued through new to the Philadelphia public, they have been presented to large auditories in Cincinnati, Baltimore, and Washington, and it is hoped that suitable occasions will occur for their presentation in other places. If these "facts" are proved to be thoroughly trustworthy, they ought to find a permanent place in the presentation in the place. ment may require, and baymens with semant when any whole amount contracted for shall have been delivered and accepted.

First. The name of the firm under which said partne ship shall be conducted is WATSON & JANNEY. ness. These are the main points of interest. The witin other places. If these "facts" are proved to be thoroughly trustworthy, they ought to find a permanent place in the great body of evidences of the fruth and Divine authority of our holy religion.

THE CONGREGATION OF ST. MATTHEW'S, NEW STERET.—At a congregational meeting recently held, it was unanimously resolved, that it is expedient to select asite for the erection of a new church, and a committee was appointed for this purpose, which is now engaged in looking up a locality. The desire for a change of location arises from no lack of prosperity where they now are. The New-street Church is among the most efficient and prosperous churches in Philadelphia, of any denomination. Its membership is numbrous, active, and peaceful; its main Sunday school, of which Martin Buchler, Esq., has been superintendent for twenty-five years, is full to overflowing—not all children, but many actules also, who compose the Bible classes. Besides ship shall be conducted is WATSON & JANNEY.

Second. The general nature of the business intended to be transacted is the purchase and sale of Dry Goods: the place of business to be in the city of Philadelphia.

Third. The names of the General Partners are CHARLES WATSON. residence No. 452 North SIXTH Street, in the city of Philadelphia. The name of the Special Partner is JANNEY, residence No. 692 COATES Street, in the city of Philadelphia. The name of the Special Partner is WILLIAM S. STEWAET, residence CONTINENTAL HOTEL, in the city of Philadelphia, all said general and special partners reside in the city of Philadelphia, Fourth. The amount of spitial which the said Special Partner has contributed to the common stock is the sum of TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Fifth. Said partnership shall commence on the first day of January, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, and terminate on the thirty-first day of December, eighteen hundred and sixty-six.

CHARLES WATSON, These are the main points of interest. The witness underwent a long cross-examination, but no new facts were elicited. The next, and perhaps the final hearing will take place on next Wednesday. We may state here that the defendant was once appointed by Colonel Sherman as a detective, but now holds a commission purporting to have been issued by the Solicitor of the U. S. Treasury. It bears date December 14th, 1862.
