19, 20, 21, 22 01.

One drawback to the campaign has been the diffi-culty of carrying supplies to the front by teams over andy roads. Our men have had hard service, and been, a part of the time, on short rations. But the cars will be running in a day or so, and then the transportation of troops and supplies will be another matter. This campaign is to increase in magnitude, interest, and results as it advances. I shall be diaappointed if its effects upon the Confederacy are not as great as the capture of Port Royal, or Burnside's expedition to North Carolina. It may leave them both far in the shade, and culminate in a requiem over the grave of the rebellion. THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION. .It is regarded here as a matter of considerable importance that we hold Baldwin Station. At this place the only two railroads in Florids cross each other, and give us access by rail to Jacksonville, Tallahassee, Cedar Keys, and Fernandina. Within a month all these roads will be contributing to the success of the loyal arms, and Baldwin will to the success of the toyar anis, and Hallwill will become a central dépôt of much importance. The Federal occupation of Florida this time is to be permanent, and military authority succeeded by divil government. While President Lincoln's sword is pursuing armed rebels his proclamation is posted on trees, printed in large type, and as our army ad-vances it will be scattered far and wide through the country. Already a large business is done at the country. Already a large business is done at the provost marshal's office, between that official and the people returning to their allegiance. On the 12th, a squad of the Sth U. S. Colored Troops escorted fourteen deserters into Jacksonville, who had secured a discharge from the rebel service by coming into our lines. These men-pale, famished-lablase and was because a laborate and concerts the laborate looking, and woe-begone-were glad enough to take the ost, proclamation, and all, and return to their homes again. Most of the few left in the country are doing the same. But the women in this country outnumber the men more than "seven" to one, and the "widows," not of Asher but of Jackand the "whows," not of Asher but of Jack-sonville, point to Virginia as the graveyard of their husbands' comforts and hopes. Virginia, by these Southern people, is mentioned in about the same tone and spirit that I have heard Kentucky slaves speak of "New Orleans," or being "sold down the river." The chastening rod of afflictions and the waning of the fortunes of the Confederacy, have made room for the growth of a sincere and strong loyal feeling, among even those who have been thorough rebels.

BUSINESS REVIVAL-CONDITION AND CHARACTER OF THE FEOPLES. As far as possible, business should be revived in Florida at once. The beat live oak can now be obtained for shipping; the families who have been forced to leave their farms or business on account of their loyalty should return, and every encourage-ment should be given to such as are ready to take the oath of allegiance and enter upon their duties as General Gilmore has received an order from Washington to recruit, wherever he goes, as many colored regiments as possible. He will be able to do but little at this till his army advances as far as Tailahassee. There is no part of their property or population the rebels guard with such jealous care as their slaves, knowing the use we intend to make as their slaves, knowing the use we intend to make of them. I am not surprised at their conduct. The blacks form a war power which we can use to far better advantage than the rebels. As far as pos-sible, they are kept in the rear of their own army-Not an able-bodied man was found in Jacksonville, nor has one, for some months past, been permitted to stay within forty miles of here. Northern Florida and Southern Georgia are crowded with them. A few, however, within a few days patt have found their however, within a few days past, have found their way in from the extreme front. The rebels try to keep a knowledge of all our main movements from their slaves, as a general does the plan of a cam-paign from the enemy, as it is hoped that by plant-ing time all the abandoned and vaccant plantations on the St. John's and about Jacksonville will be cultivated by their former owners, or that colored cultivated by their former owners, or that colored families will be installed on them. Civil life, civil pursuits and habits, and a state of civil feeling and thinking, should be inaugurated at once. We need the clergyman and schoolmaster immediately. Here is a grand opening for European emigrants, and for all Northern people whose health or indi-nations require a mild climate. Here is a broad field for the display of generalship, statesmanship, and philanthropy. As the Roman empire extended its coroucate, its first business was to build cities its corquests, its first business was to build cities nics on the newly-acquired territory. and plant col Only in this way can our Government give to this nation a homogeneous population and an all-per-vading sympathy.

do is to do all we can, and then we will have a clear conscience, no matter what the world may say." Misjor Locke, ohief commissary of Georgia, wrote: "I pray you, Major, to put every agency in motion that you can to send cattle, without a moment's de-lay, towards the Georgia borders. The troops in Charleston are in great extremity. We look alone to you for cattle. Those in Georgia are ex-hausted." Major Guerin, chief commissary of South Caro-line, wrote:

lina, wrote: "We are almost entirely dependent on Florida, and it is of the last importance at this time that the troops here should be subsisted." neatly settled the other day by Daniel Drew, the great steamboat proprietor of Gotham. Daniel, sithough a man of immense wealth, is an old-fashfoned Methodist, and dresses very plainly at all times, and sometimes rather shabbily. Being on one troops here should be subsisted." Again, he says: "As it is, our situation is full of danger from want of mest, and extraordinary efforts are required to prevent disaster." Ard on October 9th, he says: "We have now 40,000 troops and laborers to sub-sist. The supply of bacon on hand in the sity is 20,000 pounds, and the cattle furnished by this State is not one-tenth of what is needed. My anxie: and apprehensions, as you may suppose, are greatly excited." Major Millen. of Sayannah, on October 19th, says:

Wood's proposition to investigate some of his (But ler's) doings:

ler's) doings:
I will rely on your friendship always to vote in favor of having any official act of mine investigated; such investigations will show mistakes, blunders, and failures of judgment innumerable, and for these I must suffer; but I fear nothing else. I should even be willing for them to be investigated by Fernando Wood, were it not for the maxim, set a thief to catch a thief.
John P. Putnam, a grandson of Gen. Putnam, and submit a suffer; is not one-tenth of what is needed. My anxieties and apprehensions, as you may suppose, are greatly excited." Msjor Millen, of Savannah, on October 19th, says: "I assure you, Major, that the stock of bacon and beef for the armies of the Confederate States is now exhausted, and we must depend entirely upon what we may gather weekly. Starration atsres the army in the face! The handwriting is on the wall "From the best information I have, the resources of food (meat) of both the Teanessee and Virginia armics are exhausted. This remark now applies with equal force to South Okrolina and Georgia, and the army must henceforth depend upon the ener-gies of the Purchasing Commissaries, through their daily or weekly collections. I have exhausted the beef cattle, and am now obliged to kill stock cattle." I have thought it my duty to address this confi-dential circular to the principal men in the various sections of the State, and invoke their aid and co-operation with the purchasing commissaries and Government agents in their districts in inaugu-rating and putting into operation some system by which our armise can be more properly supplied, and all of our resources, which are necessary, se-oured to the Government. The appeals to me are more and more urgent every day. The pressure upon our State is very great. Should she now re-spond to the call made upon her resourcers, as the has upon the bloodlest battle fields of the war, the measure of her giory will be full. But if we with-hold our supplies, we cripple our army, and render it impossible for them to advance, after achieving the most signal victories. The people at home must put themsers of the Government. Then, and not till ther, will the bright rays of peace break through the clouds of war which overhang us. P. W. WHITE, Major, and Ohtef Commissary. P. S.--You are especially requested not to allow this circular to go out of your possession, but to read it to such persons as you know to be true and prudent, and to begin the contemplated work imme-diately. has presented for exhibition, at the Albany Army Reliaf Bazaar, the pistols in which was burnt the first powder of the Revolution. It will be remem-bered that Major Pitcairn role toward the crowd drawn up in hostile array at Lexington, shouted "disperse ye rebels," and fired his pistols into their midst. His horse was shot under him, but he ma naged to escape. The pistols were found in the saddle, became the property of Gen. Putnam, and were worn by him during the Revolution. - Mrs. General Robert Eppes Lee (resently presented thirty seven pairs of gloves, made with her own hands, to a detail of men from the 53d North own hands, to a detail of men from the 533 North Osrolina (rebel) Regiment, engaged in rebuilding the plank road near Orange Court House, Va. It is very necessary that this distinguished lady should enjoy her regular evening drive, and very necessary that the plank road should be in good order therefor — Rev. George Gilfillan, of England, pleasantly remarks: "It is generally understood that the first shot, let it be fired where it may, will awaken all the gong on the continent, and that then shall be prudent, and to begin and distely. BRIGADIER GENERAL BENHAM. BRIGADIER GENERAL BENHAM. General Benham having, on August 7, 1662, been reduced from his rank of brigadier general of volun-teers, through a conception that he had broken posi-tive orders at James Island in attacking the rebel works at Secessionville, but no charges having been preferred against him, the President ordered his cass to be investigated by Judge Advocate Holt, who decided that he had not broken any orders, but in-stead obeyed them to the best of his ability. He was, therefore, restored to his rank, and placed in command of the Engineer Brigade of the Army of the Potomac. In justice to General Benham, the President has recently ordered Judge Holt's opinion to be published, in order to correct the impression that General Benham had not been re-stored to his position.

GENERAL NEWS. YANKEE DOODLE, -- The Rev. Mr. Wiggin, now travelling in the East, met on an oriental steamer a German savant, who, with the boldness of his race, informed Mr. Wiggin that he was wrong in sup-posing "Yankce" a corruption of the Indian "Yengeese." He said that "Yankee" was Dutch for "little John," and that "Doodle" was Dutch for song ; and that our national name and national anthem were thus both given to us by our neighbors the early settlers of New York. Mr. Wiggin stated these criticisms in an interest-ing letter in the Christian Register, for what they were worth. We at once submitted them to the first authority in matters of history and criticism, relating to the brave Hollanders who created to us the Empire State. We receive from our friend the following re-ply, written at Albany, in the very centre of informa-tion, regaiding their history : ""Jan Khin" has but a far-off sound like Yankee, but 'little John.'I think, would be most commonly uttered 'Klein Jan,' which is not so near the sound. Our word for song, gezong, leideren, gives no clus to the other word." "I cannot see how your national air is Holland drivate. Indeed, it was unknown at Ghent (in the low countries) in 1815, for it was the whistling of Mir. Clay's servant which imparted it to the band-mester there, who was in search of materials for a serenade to our commissioners." We fail back, therefore, on the derivation Yen-seyse, which may be condicered as established. But Mir. Bartiett, in his Dictionary of Americanism, asys " the song is said to be identical with one sung by the agricultural laborers in the Netherlands." We must have readers in the Netherlands." Metarmine the value of that statement for us before Maron is over. Till we hear from them we shall hold by the suggestions of our Albany corre-spondent.-Boston Advertier. opinion to be published, in order to correct the impression that General Benham had not been re-stored to his position. In this report Col. Holt reviews all the circum-stances of the James Island affair, and draws these conclusions: "It thus appears that the principal ground on which Gen. Benham was dismissed from the volunteer service was a total misapprehension, and was completely swept away by the frank and emphasic testimony of Gen. Stevens. "General Hunter has preferred no charge against General Benham, because of this attack on the earthwork, though it appears, from a single ex-pression in one of his letters to the Secretary of War, that he regarded the movement as in violation of his order. It must be inferred that it was in op-position to some plan or purpose actually enter-taired by him, but that it was in violation of any purpose or wish disclosed by him in the order to General Benham, cannot be successfully main-taired. * 1 think I am justified in holding that the attack on the easthwork was not in fact, and certainly was not intended to be, a violation of or duty, which should have succeeded, and which failed from no fault of Gen. Beham, mange or "Over-aggressiveness has certainly not been so pervading a vice in the mintary service, during the sudden diminasi of this officer presents. Rashness and over eagerness to strike the enemy may car-tainly become ourpable, and be fraught with dis-sater, but the inaction of military men is often yet wore to be deplored." THE REFEL GENERAL CLEBURNE.

THE REBEL GENERAL OLEBURNE. The Mobile Advertiser and Register thus sketches General Cleburne, as he appeared on a recent ro-view of troops in Mobile: "The leader of the re-viewing party was a tall and rather slender officer, with creat form, but slightly bowed shoulders, a finel@shaped head, with features prominent and striking-ithe firmset lip, betokening resolution and will, graced by a black moustache, and the long chin bearing a goatee a la Empereur. The hair of the head was black, tinged with a spinkling of gray, and worn cut close to the head, in military style. The appearance of the here of the Ringgold Grap is striking and not easily forgotten. It may be a source of pleasure for Major General Oleburne to know that he was the consure of all observers." I not the roughly hard-mouthed, he hesitates, making but cautious approaches; starts forward, and back again with a wiffling grow!; stands off, with a pause to survey the prickly object, looking acute, with head on one side and one car erect; then paws him abit, and then rolls him over and over, to see where to find an assailable place, so as to get in a tooth without burt to the none. This, you well know, has been the precise attitude, the whole morals of our exemplary "forbearance;" and here, as it common-ly is with the dog, it seems finally to have been re-solved that it will be safest to make no bid, because the arms of the Union have lately appeared to us more likely to prevail, and, in case of their success, a continued provocation from our side might pro-duce another non-importation act, and a swarm of privateers like those of 1812.
