This is an application for an injunction to restrain the respondents from prosecuting the construction of an additional railroad track at a certain point in the Lehigh Valley, upon the plan proposed, along the line of complainants works, the allegation on the part of the latter being that by so doing they will materially obstruct and interfere with the traffic of the said complainants, now carried on by means of their canal, and to be enlarged and extended, by means of a contemplated line of railroad soon to be built. Complainants aver that the track of railroad now under construction by the respondents, and alleged to be the third built by them, will render, if not impossible, at least difficult and expensive, the building of the line of railroad proposed by them. They therefore pray an injunction to restrain respondents from infringing upon what they claim to be their rights.

The respondents, on the other hand, deny that they are constructing, or propose to construct, an additional track, but that they are merely building sidings, which are necessary to facilitate the operations of their business, and that they are not interfering with any legal rights of the complainants.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE LEGAL TENDER AUT

AFFIRMED. Henry P. Borie et al. vs. George Trott, Jr. This case was heard in December last upon a case stated. It arose in an action on a mortgage, a stipulation in which covenants for the payment of "the just sum of twelve thousand dollars lawful allver money of the United States of America, in one year from the date thereof, with interest half yearly, on the 6th days of February and August, in like money."

Upon the second of April, 1863, and before the issuing of a writ of soire facias in the case, the defendant offered in payment of the mortgage twelve thousand dollars in United States notes, made a legal-tender by the act of Congress of February 25th, 1862, for all debts, &c., and at the same time tendered the interest due, &c., which plaintiff refused to receive. Upon an agreed case, the matter was then submitted to the sourt, before whom the questions raised were argued at length by couusel on both sides, in December. On Saturday opinions were read by Judges Stroud and Hare, affirming the constitutionality of the set of February 25, 1862, and deciding that the notes of the United States teadered by defendant to plaintiffs, were a legal-tendered the mortgage. Judge Sharswood delivered a dissenting opinion.

All of the opinions were at great length, and discussed the question involved fully. NW by W. WNW... N W S by W.....SE...S by W INTERESTING SCENE ON A RAILBOAD CAR.—A somewhat amusing incident occurred on Saturday morning on the front platform of a pas-senger railroad car, at the corner of Third and Dock A genteelly-dressed man, two ladies, and a trunk, were on the curb-stone awating the passing of a car. Presently the light car came along. On the front platform, besides the driver, were a colored man and three colored women. The man belonged to the United States Colored Thoops; he wore the uniform, and was on his way to camp. He was pleasant in speech. His language evidently showed that he possessed some education. In fact, from all his actions, he might be called a colored gentleman. The white man becomed to the conductor to as aforesaid.

"Make room," said he, "for my trunk."

"Make room!" responded the colored soldier;

"why there is no room here!"

"Well, my trunk must go on there; so you'll have to get off," retorted the man in rather an un-Court of Common Pleas-Judges Thompson Court of Common Pleas—Judges Thompson and Allison.

A GROUND RENT NOT A DEET WITHIN THE MEANING OF THE LEGAL-TENDER AOT.

In a case argued before Judges Allison and Ludlow, some time ago, in which was raised the question as to the right of the holder of ground upon which there are ground-rent charges to pay off the same in United States legal-tender notes, they being payable in "lawful silver money," &c., Judge Allison, on Saturday, delivered the following opinion, all the judges concurring in the views therein expressed: have to get off," retorted the man in rather an unpleasant style.

"Are you not aware, sir," replied the son of Mars, that we have paid our money to ride here? This is the only place upon which our race are sllowed to ride; and must these colored ladies be pushed off to make room for your trunk, notwithstanding their passage is already paid?"

"I don't know anything about that," said the man with the trunk, who showed far less politeness than the colored soldier whom he was addressing, "I must put my trunk on."

The colored soldier appealed to the driver, and he in tun referred to the consuctor. The latter came, and the question being stated, he decided there was no room for the trunk on the front platform; that place had already been puishased for the trip by the passengers who occupied it. He had forgotten this at the moment he told the man to take the trunk to the front platform. There was no time to be lost; other cars were waiting. The two white ladies got out of the car, and, with the man and the trunk, resumed position on the sidewalk.

The passenger railroad companies could very well settle this distinction that seems to be made in regand to the colored race riding on the cars, and this, too, without exciting the prejudices of any person, which or black. One one of every three cars on all Expressed: In the Matter of the Petition of Robert Patterson, praying for an Order on James Henry Blight et al., Trustees, &c., for the Extinguishment of certain Ground Rents. tees, &c., for the Extinguishment of certain Ground Rents.

Allison, J.—The petitioner, Robert Patterson, being the owner of two separate lots of ground, each of which is subject to the payment of an annual ground rent, tendered to the respondents, who, as trustees, are the owners of the rents reserved out of said lots of ground, payment of the principal thereof, and he prays that the respondents may be required to make conveyance of the same to him, so that they shall merge and be forever extinguished. The tender was made in the paper currency of the United States, issued under the authority of the act of Congress of the 11th of July, 1862, which currency, by the terms of said act, is made a legal tender for all debts, public and private, except duties on imports and interest on the public debt.

The rents in question were, by the covenants congam to the colored less thank of the case, and can, too, without exciting the prejudices of any person, white or black. One out of every three cars on all the roads might have the following in large letters thereon, "Colored persons may ride in this car." This arrangement will have to be made, and it might as well be done now as at any other time. DEATH OF MR. GEO. A. COFFEY.—Mr. George A. Coffey, the U. S. District Attorney, died at his residence on Ninth street, near Walnut, at about one o'clock on Saturday, from an attack of paralysis. Mr. Coffey received a stroke of palsy many months since, from which he never fully received the use of his limbs. He was able, however, to attend his official cures. During the last eight or ten years he received a large share of public attention. In the political campaign of 1856 he was the principal editor of the Morning Times, a paper that ably supported John C. Fremont as a candidate for the Presidency. At a later period he was the editor of the Sunday Transcript. He lived in affairs of State far beyond the age in which he so actively moved, but he lived lorg enough to see the dawn of enlightemment bursting in triumph upon the dark long night of slavery. As a writer he was forcible, pleasing, and dignified. He possessed oratoriesi powers, and was continually on the "stump" for Lincoln, Hamilin and Curric, during the campaign of 1860.

Though palsied, he made a rour of the northern counties of Pennsylvania to the recent State campaign, and assisted in the triumph of Gov. Jurtin, it may be said that his death was looked for at almost any moment since the time he received the first paralytic str. ke, and thus in some measure the blow of affiction does not seem to fall so heavily. He possessed a genial heart; in his social relations was always a periect gentleman, and as a lawyer he had bus tew equals in his active time of life. His inneal will take place on Tuesday next. To proceed to Laurel Hill. ATTLEBOROUGH RAILROAD COMPANY.—
We see by the Bucks county papers that the Attleborough Railroad Company has recently organized, electing George H. Van Zaut, Edg., of this city, president; Jesse Comfort, of Attleborough, treasurer; and Samuel Lovett, M. D. of the same place, secretary. The road is to run from Philadelphia to Newtown, in Bucks county, a distance of from twenty to twenty five miles. It will supply the means by which those living at the termini, as well as along the route, can communicate with each other, and tend to develop one of the fluest and most fruitful sections of our State. As it will cross the Neshamony and Edge Hill, at a point two hundred and forty feet above the level of the ses, it is probable that in a few years the fruitful farms lying in that vicinity will be adorned by the beautiful villas of wealthy merchants of this city, who will fix upon that delightful and healthy section as a place of summer resort. From the energetic character of the officers, it is probable that before the warm weather of the coming summer shall have passed away the greater portion of the large population along the route, who have long enough wished for some other means of communicating with each other than the ordinary mail stage.

BEAUTIFUL SUITE OF COLORS FOR THE BEAUTIFUL SUITE OF COLORS FOR THE 7TH PENNSYLVANIA CAVALEY.—The ladies of Pottsville have just complimented the 7th Regiment Pennsylvania Cavalry with an elegant suite of colors, consisting of a splendid standard and twelve guidons. The standard has the United States arms on one side, and those of Pennsylvania on the reverse, surrounded by a scroll work, in which are inscribed the names of the following battles, in which the regiment bore a conspicuous part: Chaplin Hills, Ky., Lebanon. Stone River, Shelbyville, Franklin, Nashville, Rover, Unionville, and Sparta, Tenn., and Chickamauga, Ga. This regiment was in numerous other engagements, and is known in the Southwest as the "7th Regulars." Upon the staff is a silver plate, with the inscription, "Propented by the Ladies of Pottaville and St. Clair to the 7th Regiment Pennsylvania Cavalry." This stand of colors reflects great credit upon the committee of ladies having the matter in charge—Miss. E. Rickert and Miss. E. F. Vernon, of Pottsville—as also upon the firm to which the order was entrusted, Messas. Evans & Hassall, military furnishers, 413 Arch street. THE SANITARY FAIR.-Philadelphians THE SANITARY FAIR.—Philadelphians have been most liberal in their donations to the Lancaster-county Fair. In addition to large sums from private individuals, bandsome donations have been received from the following persons: From Stephen A. Whitman; from Hafleigh & Oo., two elegant articles in lace, valued at $50; Mr. Young, merchant, in North Fourth street, a handsome embroidered closk and other articles; George H. Stuart, Eiq.'s, firm, $300 worth of dry goods; Mr. Glenn, a lot of perfumery; Madame Wedekind, a handsome contribution of lampshades; Horstmann & Brothers, two very valuable contributions, consisting of a sword, belt, military trappings, and a lot of worsted work; George A. Miller & Co., a fine donation. donation.

We are glad to see this spirit among our citizens, and think their ciforts to assist a neighboring town bighly commendable. We hope others will take example by their liberality. THE WARDS.—The ward committees THE WARDS.—The ward committees should now be more active than ever in raising subscriptions, and everybody who lives within the peaceful atmosphere of Philadelphia ought to repond as liberally as he or she can. We have heard of some instances of persons who are exceedingly wealthy giving but very little money, and others none at all. The plea of excuse is a conscientious opposition to volunteering, but favorable to a draft as the proper way to recruit an army. The memorands on the committee books will form ample material for an attractive publication, the proceeds of the sale to be devoted to the benefit of the sick and wounded goldiers. RECAPTION SERVICES.—This evening, at 7½ o'dock, at the Church of the New Testament, Eleventh and Wood streets, Rev. Alexander Clark will be received as ignior pastor with Rev. T. H. Stockton, D. D. The occasion promises to be an interesting one. Severa! distinguished elergymen will be present to partie, nate in the exercises. Lieutenant Wm. Pittenger, one of the celebrated secret acouts of General Mitchell, and author of "Daring and Suffering," converted h. a robel prison, and now a minister, will also be present, and will speak to the congregation. The public are invited. UTTY TRRAEURY DEPARTMENT. — We learn from Col. Schaffer, the chief clerk of Mr. H. Honding at 8 October, the chief clerk of Mr. H. Brimm, City Treasurer, that ducing the last week, ending at 6 0°clock on Saturday evening, about 3300,000 had been paid as bounty to volunteers. The grand total of money paid by the City Treasurer, for bounty, foots up to one million seven hundred thousand thousand dollars. Each soldier receives $250 from the the city alone, in addition to all other bounties. The number of men who have received this bounty is 6 800.

THE POLICE. (Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.)

Stolen Handkerchief.

Catharine Rowan was arraigned on Saturday Afternoon at the Central Station, by Detective Levy, who charged her with the larceny of a silk handkerchief, the property of Mr. B. Paul, of Strawberry atreet. It seems that during the coal-oil-store fire on Second street above Onestaut, the store of Mr. Paul was invaded by a thief, who broke open a deak and stole thereform a number of silk handkerchief, and stole thereform a number of silk handkerchief, and the likenesses of ex-President Fillmors, contained the likenesses of ex-President Fillmors, contained the likenesses of ex-President Fillmors, or the prisoner called at the pawnshop of Mr. Daily, at Fifth and South streets, where she pawned one of the stolen articles. This led to her arrest by Mr. Levy, to whom she told different stories. At one time she said that she found the handkerchief. At another time she stated that a man had given it to her. Mr. Levy said that a he asked the pawnbroker how much he would give for a couple dozen of the same kind. The accused protested against the accusation. She was committed to await a further hearing.

The prisoner is the same one who was recently committed by another alderman to answer the charge of the larceny of a piece of calico found in her possession, and which was identified as having been stolen.

Ninety Days. [Before Mr. Alderman Beitler. ] been stolen.

Ninety Days.

John Mills, a colored man, was committed for ninety days, on the charge of picking the pocket, or attempting to do so, of a woman at Second and South streets. He was arrested in the act of plying his profession. Some time since the same fellow was arrested in the upper part of the city for attempting to pick pockets, but was acquitted in the Court of Quarter Sessions because of the absence of the main witness, who could not be found. At that time he gave a fictitious name. To prevent a similar result, the magistrate wisely applied the ninety days law. The prisoner recently came from New York, and was slightly astonished to find that the revised penal code authorized such summary proceedings.

Shameful Robbery.

William Newall was arraigned on the charge of stealing a coat valued at $40, the property of the husband of Jane A. Ross. The prisoner was taken into custody by Officer Grimes, of the Harbor Police. The evicence developed the fact that about a week since the accused was homeless and penniless. Mrs. Ross gave him lodging and boarding until such time as he might obtain work, and he repaid her kindness by putting her husband's coat upon his back and walking away with it. Some of the neighbors saw him wearing the coat, since which time it has not been accusation. The weight of evidence was decidedly spains him; and probable cause being clearly shown; the alderman made out a free pass for a vanride to prison.

A Hetel Thief. ride to prison. A Hotel Thief. He was then arrested and taken to the Central Station.

We might state that shortly after his liberation from the Continental detective, Russell obtained some evidence that the fellow was a thief, and was on the qui vive for him. The leather travelling-bag of the prisoner was well filled with clothing. Among the articles a pair of pantalooms were found, belonging to W. S. Alkens, of Nashville, Tenn. This gentleman boarded at the La Pierre House, and his pantalooms disappeared very mysteriously. Three bunches of keys were found on the person of the assused. They were just the kind for the opening of closets, wardrobes, trunks, chests, valises, &c. After a patient investigation of the case the accused was committed in default of $2,000. We are informed that he subsequently said, "that if he was let off he would enlist." Of course the "vultures" will be after him, and it is more than likely the army will get another recruit. He would make a fine-looking solsubsequently said, "that it he was let off he would enlist." Of course the "vultures?" will be after him, and it is more than likely the army will get another secret. He would make a fine-looking soldier, and perhaps a good one.

In the rents in question were, by the covenants contained in the deeds by which they were created, made extinguishable, on the payment to the grantor, his heirs, and assigns, of a specified number of dollars, is liver money of the United States, "the present legal standard, fineness, and weight." The principal of these rents amounts to the sum of $25,000.

Upon this state of facts, it was shopposed by the counsel who argued the case before us that the chief question raised by the petition and answer was the constitutionality of the act of July 11th, 1862, idvolving, necessarily, the lawfulness and sufficiency of the charge of stealing a trunk belonging to a girl who "lives out at service." The prosecutrix stated that she had lived as a domestic in a family residing number of said ground rent.
