THE WAR. BEPULSE OF A UNION FORCE AT THE GOLF.

THE MOVEMENT ON QUITMAN A RAID. Gen. Wise Obtains a Victory near Charleston.

DETAILS OF THE ESCAPE FROM LIBBY, ETC. THE ADVANCE ON MOBILE.

(From the Richmond Examiner, Feb. 19.1)

The news from the Southwest is important, Sherman continues uninterruptedly to advance upon Mobile by the line of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. An official despatch to the War Department, yesterday, announces that he has arrived at Quitman, a village on the Mobile and Ohio Rail-Quitman, a village on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, 100 miles from Mobile. Though the enemy has not yet met with opposition, we feel authorized in saying that he will not be permitted to take noassesion of Mobile without a desperate battle. This advance of the enemy is, beyond comparison, the boldest movement of the war. On the 12 in last. Sherman, with between 25,000 and 30.00 men, provided with 20 days' cooked rations, left Vicksburg, and took up the line of march eastward, tearing up the railroad and bridges in the rear. Clearly he meditates no step backword.

and bridges in the tear. Clearly he measures to step backward.

The meying spirit in this army is one J. B. Mo-Pherson, of Ohio, a very young officer, with the rank in the regular army of junior captata of the corps of engineers, and in the rank of the provisional army of , brigadier. This is the man who made Grant famous, and he is now to try what he can do for Sherman, who is himself a man of ability, and in every way the superior of Grant. Since the beginning of the war success has invariably attended the plans of McPherson. It was he who planued the bold and successful movement on Vicksburg. We hope his good tuck has bred in him a rashness that will be his ruin.

[From the Richmond Examiner. Feb. 18 1]

The War Department received yesterday an offi-

(From the Richmond Examiner, Feb. 181

The War Department received yesterday an official despatch that the enemy had made a demonstration with gunboats and a land force at Grant's Pass, about thirty five miles from Mobile. The demonstration was bloodless, as the fire of the enemy fell short. Grant's Pass is an artificial cut into Pasca; colla Bay, and there is no doubt the suscepting this approach to Mobile from Banks' lines and from the Mississippi river. Sherman's column is approaching by the Mobile and Onio Raifroad, and a third column, detached from Pensacola, is understood to be advancing on Pollard, which is about forty-five miles from Mobile by rail. The situation of Mobile is, undoubtedly, critical.

The situation of Mobile is, undoubtedly, critical.

THE ADVANCE OF THE ENEMY IN MISSISSIPFI.

From the Richmond Enquirer, Feb. 13. 1

The reported advance of the enemy in Mississippi, alluded to by us a few days see, has developed itself into an important and serious attempt of the enemy to bisect that State, and threaten intolic from the land side. The enemy are reported at Morton, which is forty miles east of Jackson; another column is reported as marching south from the direction of Cornth; Banks is said to be sending a column via Pascagoula; another from Pensacola is also reported; Farragut, with the navy, is to be in also, Quite a formidable army for the varyure of Mobile. The Morton column, under Sherman, has a pine barren of two hundred miles in extent to penetrate.

Where, of in what numbers the Confederate forces Where, or in what numbers the Confederate forces are, we are unable to say. But Mobile has not yet fallen. ENEMY REPULSED.

EFrom the Richmond Enquirer, Feb 18.1

A despatch was received at the War Department last night, announcing that the enemy had been repulsed, with great loss, at Grand Pass, about thirty-tive miles from Mobile. The attack was made by infantry, supported by gunboats, and took place on Targets. THE LATEST FROM MOBILE.

From the Richmond Examiner, Feb. 20.1
The following despatch was received at the War Department last night: Mobile, Feb. 19-2 P. M. Gen. S. Cooper, Sc.:

Farragut has not renewed his attack on Grant's Pass. His fiest lies off the pass in the cound. The weather is too bad for action. Sherman's cops is not advancing down the Mobile and Onio road. No not advancing down the Mobile and Onio road. No landing has yet been reported in the direction of Pacogodia. D. H. MAURY, Misjor General.
An efficial despatch was also received in the course of the day, which reduces the enemy's demonstration at Quiman to a very unimportant affair. Former despatches overrated the enemy's force. Gen. Maury reported yesterday that he had made a close reconnoissance of the enemy's force at that point, (which is about 100 miles from Mobile,) and that it did not number more than a thousand men. The whole affair was probably a raid on some treatiework of the Mobile and Onio Rallroad.

FLORIDA AND SOUTH CAROLINA. FLORIDA AND SOUTH CAROLINA.

THE PRISONERS. THE PRISONERS.

THE GREAT ESCAPADE BROM THE LIBBY.

[From the Bichmond Enquirer, Feb. 12.]

The escape of the Yankee officers from the Libby continued to be the liveliest topic of yesterday, and conjectures were rife as to the means of the escape other than those described in the published accounts. The sentinels, as usual, were enriched with laurels that their native modesty, if nothing elte, would cause them to decline. After all, however, this grand delivery does not exceed in glory or secrecy the escape of John Morgan from the Ohio Penitentiary, and yet neither the connivance nor carlessness of sentinels or others have received any credit from Morgan or his historians, Yankee Or Southern. It is most probable, in fact, that this distinguished General is, more than any body else, responsible for the success with which Streight and his chums made their exit from the Libby. The experience and example of the one was an admirable lesson for the other.

It appears that the tunnel under Twentieth street was dug entirely with an old hinge, and the loosened earth—a brittle, marly sand—removed with an old augar scoop stolen from the hospital quarters. As the tunnel progressed, the miner took with him, bealdes his tools, an old-fashioned knapsack, made upon a wooden frame, to which a cord was attached. When he filled this with earth, it was drawn out by an accomplice who remained in the cellar, the contents deposited safely out of the way, and it was then shoved back to the digger with a pole.

The basement itself in which this work was carried en, was kept constantly locked, acver used, and the widows being tightly nalied, it was as dark as THE GREAT ESCAPADE PROM THE LIBBY.

The basement itself in which this won was used, and the widows being tightly nailed, it was as dark as bitch. The principal in the tunneling operation was Captain J. N. Johnson, of the 6th Kentucky Cavaley, who is among the escaped. His accomplication was were different, as occasion or private arrangement were different, as occasion or private arrangement demanded.

On several occasions it had been observed that this Johnson was absent from roll-call, and now and then two or three others, a circumstance not very gratifying to the clerk having the roll to call, who, of course, would have it to go over again. A short time after he would appear and make his presence known, and would give as an exouse that it was only a little fun-"just deviling the clerk." On one occasion, when this thing had occurred ones too often, he was called up for punishment, when he plead very earneatly, with a broad, good natured grin, that he was "only loking, and was rolled up in his blanket when his name was called." He was exoused this time with a warning. He took good care to keep heter hours in quarters, while the work sontinued below to its completion.

Immediately after the escape was discovered and the first to go in pursuit, Mr. John Ligon, Assistant Olerk, with Orderly Hatcher, Warden R. R. Turner, and two policemen went off in the direction of the Peninsula, and up to yesterday evening had signalized their promptness and energy by the recapture of eight of the fugitives, whom they picked upon the roads. Fourteen others were brought in during Wednesday night and yesterday, by pickets on the Chiokahominy. Several were captured at Bottoms Bridge, some in Hanover, but the larger number only a few miles from the city. Intelligence was obtained that a number of them were trying to get through in the direction of Fredericksburg. Another batch, recaptured in that direction, is looked for today. We give below the list of those who had up to six o'clock last evening been returned to their old quarters at the Libby. The energy and solid-tude of Major Turner are subjects of deserved commendation.

One of the captures of Wednesday was made by item amendation.

One of the captures of Wednesday was made by "an American citizen of African descent." The dusky captor was engaged in a matutinal "dig" in his potato patch, when he observed the fugitive officer streaking it across the field. Seeing that he wore suspiciously blue garments, the darkey hailed him and asked him where he was "gwine." Something to the effect of "nowhere" being the reply, the darkey, with courage and patriotism worthy of immortality, brought his hoe to a "charge," and responded, "Yes you is, dough—you done broke out o' one o' dem prisons—oome along—you got to go wild me." He marched him to the house, handed him over to his master, and returned to his potato patch, solvered with glory. The Yankee arrived, under due guard, yesterday morning.

CAPTURED ON WEDNESDAY.—G. Starr, captain, overed with glory. The Yankee arrived, under due guard, yesterday morning.

Col. Wm. S. Hawkins, Mounted Scouts, C. S. A., Prisoner of War, Camp Chase, O.:

Ool: Your note requesting my mediation or endorsement to your application for a parole is received. I take the greatest pleasure in saying to you that I have watched your course white in the acouting service, both in the vicinity of Lebanon and the Collins river, and in the region north of Duck river, and that I have seen nowhere else among the men of the Coofederate cause so much of chivatious humanity, honor, and such a regard for truth and justice as you have displayed

You utter avoidance of unmanly actions, and your own relentless waitare on noise thieves, and on the lawless plunderers and marauders of the people, commended my warmest approbation as a gentleman and a soldier.

I have known so many instances of your noble, gailant, and hoporable conduct, that if you give your word of honor that my Government shall suffer no detriment from it, I will most heartily endorse your application for parole.

(From the Richmond Examiner, Peb. 16.)

Information from an intelligent and reliable citizen of Bath county, states that the Yankee General Averill is preparing for another grand raid on some important point in this State. His force has been increased to 6,000 effective men, and the Onariottes-ville Chronicle says that the impression is that his aim is Lynchburg, via Millborough and Lexington.

THE BALL GIVEN BY THE 2D OORPS.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Headquarters Army of this Potomac, Tussday, Feb. 23, 1664.

The grand ball of the 2d Corps, which came off at Gen. Warren's headquarters last night, was stended by a large number of distinguished army officers and civilians, and surpassed, in point of elegrace, and attractiveness, anything of the kind ever held in the Army of the Potomac. Acong the distinguished civilians piesent were Vice President Hamilio; Sensior Sprague and wife; Secretary Usber, of the Luterior Department; Senstor Wilkinson, of Miunesota; the Hons. D. A. Ogden and Marvin, of New York; O. A. Bionson and Chancelor Walworth, E-qa.; the wives of Gov. Curtin and Senator Hale, accompanied by their daughters; the wife of Judge Milier, of the United States Supreme Court, and four members of the British legation.

Among the officers present were Major Generals
Meade, Warren, Sedswick. Pleasonton, and Humphreys; and among the brigadice generals, Kilipatrick, Davies, Webb, Hayes, Owen, Caldwell, Morris, and Wright. The weather was particularly auspicious, the decorations especially tasteful, the nucle excellent, the supper—under the supervision of Gautier, the celebrated Washington restaurateur—irreproachable, and nothing occurred to mat the feativities of the occasion. Nearly one hundred and fity ladies, many of whom came up from Washington by special train in the moroing, graced the ball with their presence.

THE CASE OF GENERAL NEGLEY. THE BALL GIVEN BY THE 2D CORPS.

THE CASE OF GENERAL NEGLEY. A brother of General Negley replies as follows in the Cincinnati Commercial to a defence of General Negley in the Pittsburg Chronicle, involving some Negley in the Pittsburg Chronicle, involving some strictures of the conduct of General Brannan:

It is not true that General Brannan has been guilty of the unofficer-like conduct of "indulging in free speeches" against his superior in rank, Major General Negley.

It is not true that he entertains, or has entertained "hostility," disguised or undisguised, to Major Gen. Negley. "hostility," disguised of undesguises, as a Negley.

It is not true that he has "employed others to write letters defaming Major General Negley."

It is not true that he "actually wrote letters himself, defamir g Major General Negley."

It is true, however, that the only foundation for this series of falsehoods may be discovered in the official report of General Brannan, of the operations of his division (the 3d) of the 14th Army Corps, in fficial report of General Brannan, of the operations of his division (the 3d) of the 14th Army Corps, in the battle of Uhickamauga. The allusion, in that report, to certain irregular and unmilitary acts of Major General Negley, (which imperiled the 3d division in that hard fought battle more than the assaults of the enemy), is now being examined into by the court of inquiry, at Louisville, and the result of the investigation may show no necessity for the over-zealous friends of Major General Negley to fortify his military reputation by unjust and groundless assaults upon the character of others, who turned not their backs to the foe, until the field was won, and the roar of the battle had ceased. B. F. B. CINCINNATI, February 20, 1864.

Gen. MCPHERSON, commanding the 17th Army Corps, which is participating in General Sherman's expedition, issued an address to his troops before leaving Vicksburg, in which he told them that the expedition would be a short one. A correspondent of the New York Herald, who accompanies Gen. McPherson's corps, says:

"There is not a tent in the entire command, not even for the officers. We consequently move rapidly. Headquarters are covered only by the canopy of heaven, and as I write these few lines of to day's operations, I look around me and see many of the staff already snugly colled up under their blankets, with a long line of feet facing a camp fire of similar length. Fortunately the weather has been all that could be wished, and, if it continues, this expedition will undoubtedly be one of the most successful and glorious of this winter's campaign."

Washington county is one of the largest and best wheat-growing counties in the State of Maryland, but since the breaking out of the rebellion the farmers have been such heavy losers by having their crops destroyed by the rebel army that many of them put out an unusually small crop of wheat last fall.—Wash. Cor. Tribune.

GRANT'S PASS is in the rear of Fort Morgan, which guards the main entrance to Mobile Bay, and it lets out from the west side of the bay toward the mouths of the Mississippi. It is a narrow channel, put down as having five feet of water at low tide. In that section of variable depths it may allow passage for larger vessels now; or, Admiral Farragut may have made a special selection of his lightest gunboats, determined to outsank the formidable preparations made for him at Fort Morgan, and force his way up to Mobile with such craft as he can. At the last advices (rebel, and therefore to be received with caution) the bad weather was frustrating his plans. We shall hear from him in due tension.

A Ouriostry.—The Boston Saturday Gazetle says: "A friends of ours was boasting the other day of the possession of several relies of the war, and among the rest a piece of a shell from Sumpter. By the way,"; said his friend, 'I have a shell I can give you, from Pulaski,' and going behind the counter he pulled the shell out from among some rubbish, when a mouse leaped from the hole and essaped. Somewhat surprised, he explored the interior with a stick, and found a nest of half a dozen young mice inside, and eleven dollars in postal currency, that he had at times missed from the drawer, the loss of which he had imputed to other agencies. The new currency was untouched, while the old was somewhat nibbled by the little marauder, who had found his way into the drawer by a small opening over the rear end of it."

Defeat of Navajos by Kit Carson.

[From the Santa Fe Gazette, Jan. 30.]

We are enabled to announce, upon good authority, that the campaign which Col. Kit Garson made to the famous and heretofore impenetrable Canon de Chelle, in the Navajo country, has been crowned with the most complete success. The result of the campaign has been 23 Navajos killed, 150 prioners, and the nest in the Canon completely broken. This, all things considered, is a most extraordinary exploit, and with have a most excellent effect in bringing the Indians to terms.

Col. Carson has done what none other has ever done when the Navajos were hostile. He has unveiled the great Navajon mystery, and marched his command through the stronghold which the savages thought would never be trod by the white man's foot. When about to start upon the expedition he said he would succeed or not come back alive. He success. The Navajos will serely feel the blow he has indicted upon them by his success, and in the loss of their strongest position.

The Canon, which was the scene of these recent exploits, is about itsenty-three miles long, from one thousand to one thousand five hundred yards wide, has high and almost perpendicular sides throughout its entire distance, and is one of the strongest military positions, for resistance, that is known in all this section of the country. Defeat of Navajos by Kit Carson.

THREE CENTS. NEW YORK CITY.

[Special Correspondence of The Press.]
NEW YORK, February 24, 1864. A POLITICAL THUNDERBOLT. The Pomercy-Chase manifesto fell most unexpectedly on the public mind, and the excitement inci. dent upon the surprise has given rise to endless de bates in political circles. One consequence of this manifesto has been the sudden showing of the pol hands of the Republican press. The Evening Post, while guarded, seems to negative the idea of Mr. Lincoln's re-election. The Tribune does the same, though in a tranker and less cautious manner. The Times looks upon the circular as Senator Pomeroy's private undertaking, and therefore, entitled to no great consideration. The general tone of all is, however, opposed to indiscreet canvassing by parameter of the circular and the consideration of the constant of the constant of the constant of the circular and the constant of the circular and circ ional friends, and the thrusting of probable candidates prematurely upon the stage, with the hopes of inducing a little premonitory admiration and applause before the curtain rolls up for the regular drama. This deprecatory feeling is shared by lead-ing Republicans, many of whom do not hesitate to stigmatice many of the unseasonable appeals, on behalf of prominent men, astricks of the Opposition, The truth is, that from present appearances the political world is somewhat chaotic. Many men are "on the fence," distracted by the hosts of candidates which are held up for their inspection and approval; yet the general leaning seems to be in favor of "Old Abe," as far as Republicans are co and despite the cold sheet which issued jointly from the offices of the Tribune and Post. Speculation upon such subjects must, of necessity, be vagrant and uncertain, but the general leaning among promi nent men of the party seems unmistakable. The senuineness of the Pomeroy manifesto is seriously questioned by some, and the explicit denial published in the Washington Republican is cited as evidence of the hoak. Be that as it may, however, the result has been attained, and the Republican press drawn into an expression of sentiment which it may be hard to recall.

THE FAIR.

A peculiar but valuable donation has been made to the Sanitary Commission by George Elliott, Erq., or London. It consists of a thousand tons of gas-coal and is delivered free at the point of shipment. The transaction is through Cyrus W. Field, Eeq., who is now in London. The cargo is to be sold for the benefit of the Metropolitan Fair, and will, it is said, bring fifteen thousand dollars. The Secretary of the Freatury has issued an order which allows all imouts for the Fair to pass free of duty. The raffling question is at length decided. The protesting clergy-men have carried their point, and raffling is forbidden. The letter which contains the information is, however, somewhat pungently bifter regarding the rough-shod way in which the question was original ly debated, and trusts that the Fair will not be im erilled financially by the abandonment of a project which was discovered to be altogether wrong in the veritable eleventh hour. The goods not sold at private sale will be disposed of at auction CHARGES AGAINST AN ASYLUM. A new and interesting debate, involving the repu-tation of the Asylum for the Blind, is pushing itself before the public. A number of the pupils have signed a protest which alleges neglect and undue acverity on the part of men in power, and refer to damp walls, etc., in proof of their assertions. To this the management reply that the complaints emanate from a few malcontents who are endeavoring to satisfy personal pique by false allegations. It is od that the matter is to be thoroughly investigated by a proper committee, and the truth o the charges brought to the test. A charity so noble and so beneficent should be vindicated from reproaches of this nature as speedily as possible, and no one is sorry to hear that such prompt means have been adopted having this end in view.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY. The reign of "shocking tragedies" does not abate. Murder runs a muck almost daily, and slashes on every side with true Maiayan vigor. The last new tragedy is genuinely romantic, and genuinely horrible. Eicheler, a German, aged 40, wooed a widow, and only awaited divorcement from a living wife in order to render a marriage with the widow valid. Before the divorce was secured, the woman married a man named Maen. Immediately after he placed a pistol near Maen's head, and fired. In the excitement his hand swayed, and the ball missed its in-tended object. Two days subsequent to these oo urrences, Eicheler was found dead in his own room, poisoned. Citizens of Halifax to President Lincoln. To His Excellency Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States of America: United States of America:

The memorial of the undersigned, citizens, workingmen, and others, inhabitants of Hailfax, Nova Scotia, and neighborhood, sheweth: That your memorialists, feeling themselves allied in race, language, literature, commerce, and civilization, as well as in geographical proximity, to the great American nation, over whose deathies a gracious Providence has called you to preside, regard themselves as vitally interested in the issue of the existing great conflict in your country, as one involving the extension or extinction of human and political freedom throughout the whole of the American nation. great conflict in your country, as one involving the extension or extinction of human and political freedom throughout the whole of the American nation. Your memorialists rejoice in the advent to power of the great Republican party, through whose anti-slavery policy these great and beneficial changes have been inaugurated; and they are fully convinced that the sympathies of all real lovers of liberty and humanity, whether in Great Britain or in the British Colonies, are due to that noble struggle on your part to maintain intact the Union, while determinedly resisting the infamous and insidious encroachments of the slaveholding faction in the rebel States. determinents of the slaveholding faction in the rebel States.

Your memorialists desire earnestly to repudiate all sympathy with the treasonable attempt of the slaveholders to rend their country into two opposing sections, with the avowed aim and collect of holding in perpetual and hopeless bondage many millions of human beings. While farvently desiring the speedy termination of the vast and unprecedented tivil war which is desolating so large a portion of your country, your memorialists believe that the most effectual and practical way of attaining so desirable an end is by withholding all aid and sympathy from the rebels of the South, the authors of all these dire calamities, and lending all possible moral influence, and strengthening in every possible way the Executive Government at Washington, to whose proper province belongs the suppression of the rebellion and the restoration of peace and order to your distracted land. bellion and the restoration of peace and order to your distracted land.
Your memorialists, therefore, rejoice that her Majesty's Government in Britain have recently taken very decisive measures to prevent the further issue from the shores of that country of steam rams, and other vessels for the rebel Confederates; which vessels would be used for attacking the commerce of the great American nation, with which Great Britain is, and (we sincerely believe) desires Great Britain is, and (we sincerely believe) desires to remain at peace.

In conclusion, your memorialists wish to convey to your Excellency their deep sense of the zeal, integrity, humanity, and thorough good faith with which you discharge those very onerous and important duties devolving plon you, not only as the Chief Magistrate of the United States of America, but also as Commander-in-chief of the United States hut also as Commander-in-chief of the United States Army and Navy; and your memorialists pray that your Excellency may be appared and strengthened for still further efforts in the cause of freedom and humanity, as against slavery and rebellion, until the last vestiges of that inhuman and iniquitous system be forever swept away from American soil, and until the United States flag shall again wave triumphantly over a free people in every State and Territory in your highly favored land.

"CHARLESTON, February 11. Correspondence of the Cincinnati Times records an interview with Mrs. Polk at her beautiful residence in Nashville:

Much has been said of Mrs. Polk's secessionism. On this, and a hundred topics that constituted some of the themes of our converse, we shall have but little to say, as with this retiring and truly modest woman, to shun as much as possible the public gaze. We will, nevertheless, give here some portion of our talk on this theme.

I said to her: "Mrs. Polk, I have heard you accused, since I have been in Nashville, of being a bitter Secessionist; how is this?"

She quickly and warmly responded, in substance, as follows: "Mr. G.—, that is a wrongful accusation. I never was a Secessionist, and I don't think I ever will be one. I always said there was no excuse for the course taken by my misguided Southern friends. I said that Mr. Lincoln was constitutionally elected, and that that Lincoln was constitutionally elected, and that that election should be acquiesced in by every true patriot. I go, sir, for my Government—my whole Government."

"In other words, Mrs. Polk," we responded, "you go-for that United States of which your late honored husband was once the President?"

"Yes, sir," she responded, with marked emphasis, "I do. I know my name has been placed before the public—once at least—in a connection that may have engendered in some minds doubts of my loyalty; but was so placed against my wishes and remonstrances. But inasmuch as it was done for a humane and charitable purpose, I said nothing publicly about it. I do not deny," she added, "that my womanly sympathies are with the South, and that I often catch myself exulting over the success of the Confederate arms, but this is only when my reason is taken prisoner and my judgment temporarily suspended at the bidding of my sympathies, prejudices, and affections. I was born in the South. From inlancy to old age—for my days now, you know,

The opening of the Soldiers' Bazar, at Albany, was celebrated on the 22d, by a speech from Gov. Seymour, and a poem by Alfred B. Street. Some of the scenes are described by the Albany Journal:

At first everything was a blur, but little by little the chaotic mass of brilliance began to take shape. The eye began to individualize the forms and elements of beauty. The gally decorated booths, surmounted by the names and emblems of the various nationalities, arrested the attention. The trumph of at in their design and execution was remarkable. Masses of gauze lace were made to simulate Corinthian pillars so perfectly that the eye was deceived, and had to call the sense of touch to its aid to dispel the illusion. The general effect was imposing beyond the power of description. The idea of vastness was perpetually present. The great roof, buried in a sea of foliage, seemed to float, as it were, in midair.

W. F. HAZARD, 15018-1311. This victory, and that in Florida, are well-timed and important occurrences. It may be stated now that some days ago Gen. Beauregard had indicated the belief that the enemy was meditating an attack on our coast lines, from Uharleston to Florida; their design in the latter State extending to the capture of Tallahassee. General Wise commands a district, as does Finnegan in Florida, and in each case it must have been an affair of important numbers. JAMES, KENT, SANTEE, & CO., IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS OF GREAT DISCOVERY!
