cedde, for very early in the session the following joint resolution was introduced in the Senate:

"Resolutof, That the Secretary of the Navy be directed not to receive and accept the title to League Island, near Philadelphia, unless Congress shall otherwise direct."

You may remember, Mr. Editor, that this resolution gave rice to one of the most lengthy and interesting debates of that session; the whole question was fully discussed; the claims of Pennsylvania most ably advocated by our Senators, Wilmot and Cowas; but what could be done while such a stumbling block as the professional opinions of the men heretoflore named lay in their way? The result was inevitable; the resolution was adopted, and the Secretary's hands thereby ited.

And now, sir, having fought the battle against League Island, and won the victory, too, will out friends of New London epter into the contest anew, with any serious apprehensions of the result? What has occurred during the interim to render the position of League Island, as against a foreign rival, any stronger than it was two years ago? And if the battle is to be fought over again, on the same ground, how can we nope for a different result?

Now, your isllew-citizens of Delaware county, true-hearted Pennsylvanians, propose to change true-hearted Pennsylvanians, propose to the navy are to propose to put down all foreign competition by adpropose to the navy yard can previously the interior Delaware, and within the borders of the particular spot with the leavest he loation of the particular spot with the leavest he loation of the particular spot with the leaves the loation of the particular spot with the leaves the loation of the particular spot with the leaves the loation of the particular spot with the leaves the loation of the particular spot with the leaves the loation of the particular spot with the leaves the loation of the particular spot with the leaves the loation of the particular spot with the leaves the loation of the particular spot with the leaves he load proposes of th ceoide, for very early in the session the following ney were made the committee, and granted leave to retire for consideration of the subject.

Whereas, This Conference, in 1861, did colour with the East Haltimore Conference in regairing the General Conference or 1864 to repeal the new chabler on alweryt and whereas since that time a wicked and formidable rebellion has broken out in several of the slaveholding States, which, in the providence of God, has resulted in the adoption of measures on the part of the General Government, and also in some of the loyal slaveholding States, looking to the entire abolition of the system of American and the States of the Union will spaedily a factor of the General Government and the States of this Union will spaedily a factor of the Conference, the four anti-slavery principles, do most heartly rejoice in the prospect of the Philadelphia Conference, the four anti-slavery principles, do most heartly rejoice in the prospect of the Speedy and entire abolition of slavery in the country.

Resolved, That we now withdraw our concurrence with the East Baltimore Conference in requesting the reject of the new chapter on slavery by the General Conference in 1864.

The resolutions were passed without a dissenting voice. After a lengthy dissussion on the passage of the preambles, a motion was made to strike them out.

The Age of Superstition.

On Friday complaint was entered at the Central Station of a swindling transaction, the nature of which may dauge the reader to wooder at the superstition as developed. The principal points were jotted down for future reference by Mr. J. H. Bulkiey, the veteran official of the station.

It seems that an individual of Teutonic origin was robbed in the summer of 1863 of the sum of $200. All his efforts to obtain any trace of the thief were made in vain. His grief, however, at losing the sum total of his earnings has haunted him ever since like a spasmodic nightmare.

A few days since he became acquainted with another German, who, in the course of conversation, was made acquainted with the fact of the robbery. He told the lower that the money could be recovered through art, the secret of which he possessed; but of course, as it was his profession, he would expect some remuneration for putting his profession into practice. This was assented to by the loser, whose hopes were brightened at the prospect of the recovery of the long-lost treasure, through the potency of a wondrous man, who was gifted with more than natural power. The "seventh son of a seventh son" was a fool in comparison with this very extraordinary representative from the regions of Germanny, SHERIFF'S SALE.—BY VIRTUE OF Sin: By opening your columns to the following remarks, in the hope they may reach the eyes of those in authority, you will gratify many deserving men now in the service of their country.

It is understood there is an effort being made to reduce the pay of officers of the army, on the assumption that it is larger than necessary; against such a proceeding, I, in the name of many, strongly protest, and am satisfied if the subject was properly understood, no demagogue would gain popularity by advocating it, and no statesman would entertain the idea. prancing. On I quickly move forward! the ambulance hasten! four human eyes—those of the loser and those of the counsellor.

The loser had no bandkerchief, but one was kindly loaned him by his great friend. Thus the charm worked, and it only remained to put the bundle under a barrel of flour to make it complete. The two men started away, and found a convenient barrel of flour, and beneath it was placed the handkerchief containing besides the paper the sum of $115, as the complainant said, all in "enempacks." The twenty-four hours finally rolled on, and made one more mark in the calendar of time that joined them to eternity. The losing Teuton hastened to the barrel of flour. He removed it; there was the handerchief; he picked it up, unfolded it, and in a moment all his brilliant expectations were clouded. a writt of Venditioni Exponas, to me directed, will be Alleged Attempt at Highway Robbery.
On Saturday morning a young man, who submitted to having his name publicly recorded as Edwin Harris, was arraigned at the Eighth-ward station-house, on the charge of attempted highway robbery. The examination developed the fact that William Garwood, while standing near Wainut and Duponeau street (late Blackberry alley), was knocked down by three men. Police officers in the vicinity hearing the noise, hastened to the scene, and the aggressors fied. One of them, as named above, was captured. He was committed, to answer at court.

JOHN SHALLGHOSS,

Attorney for Executors, Frankford. PROPOSALS FOR CAVALRY (Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.)

Alleged Larceny.

A man giving the name of Ben. W. Lacy was arrested in Gloucester county, N. J., by Sheriff Gill, and brought to this city and arraigned at the Central Station on Saturday afternoon, on the charge of the larceny of a horse and wagon, the property of John Davis, a resident in the northern section of the Twenty-third ward. It seems that on the night of the 19th uit. the horse and wagon disappeared, and were traced as far as Frankiord. It was subsequently ascertained that they were sold to-a person residing in Gloucester county, N. J.- Lacy was identified as the individual who made the saler. He was committed to answer.

House Robbers Arrested.

Yesterday afternoon the usually quiet neighborhood of Spruce and Twelith streets was thrown into great excitement, owing to several reports of pistols and the cry of "Stop thiel." It seems that three young men had feloniously entered a house in the vicinity named. They were observed by some citizens, who supposed them to be thieves, and acted accordingly. An impromptu footrace was the result. The citizens augmented pretty fast, everybody joined in the trial of specd, and finally pistols were discharged at the fugitives. Two of the despoilers were arrested; the other fellow escaped. The prisoners were taken to the station house by Lieut. Paulin, where they were searched. Seven hundred dollars in gold and some momey of another kind were found upon them. They will have a hearing at two o'clock this afternoon at the Central Station. The prisoners were recognized as Albert Wise and Charles White, against whom a true bill for felony was found some time since. They were recently in the custody of the police on the charge of robbing a store on South Ninth street, but there was not legal evidence enough adduced to warrant a conviction.
