RAILROAD ACCIDENTS .- Accidents on the to answer at court.

[Before Mr. Alderman White.]

Intemperance.

The most of the cases that were brought to the notice of the police magistrate of the Fifth ward during the past week were generally for drunksmess, possessing, of course, no great interest, except as so many good, sound, practical lectures on temperance. It is a most astonishing thing that, in these days of general intelligence and high prices of liquor, men and women will still continue to drink liquor to excess, and make beasts of themselves.

A well-dressed woman, so entirely drunk as to be unable to stand, was carried by the police along Fourth street to the Union-street atstion-house, on Monday afternoon, followed by a crowd of urchins whooping and hallooing at the top of their lungs. Decent females looked with shame and morbification upon the picture, and men passed by with contemptuous pity. While this was progressing an other woman was on the way from the parlieus of Bedford street. The poor, miserable, disgusting creature was in a "go-cart," and the seenes she enacted and the larguage she used might well crimson the check of modesty. A house of correction is sadly necded for the reclamation of such miserable wreaks of humanity.

Among the cases yesterday before Magistrate senger railroads seem to be on the increase of a Almost daily are the reporters called upon, in discharge of their official duties, to chronicis iste. Almost delly are the reporters called upon, in the disobarge of their official duties, to chronicie the fact of men, women, children being run over, and either killed or maimed for life. In case of death the coroner is summoned to hold an inquest. His examination is merely esparle. To some extent he is a committing magistrate, and not an arbiter to judge whether the conductor or criver of a single strength of the is a committing magistrate, and not an arbiter to judge whether the conductor or criver of a restent blame. The jury may or may not be composed of intelligent men, and though their verdict may exintelligent men, and though their verdict may exonerate conductors and drivers, yet the is no reason why such parties should not be bound over to answer at court. This is a tribunal appointed by well-digested laws. Jurges well learned in law; jurors selected with earc, form a court where all cases may selected with earc, form a court where all cases may selected with earc, form a court where all cases may human ideas, intelligence, integrity, and windom human ideas, intelligence, integrity, and windom human ideas, intelligence, integrity, and windom com make them, and to such a tribunal all cases of death from violence should be returned. It is an entirely mistaken notion that the verdict of a coroner's jury is final. We have known of parties being committed by exteners to a nawer the charge of wilful murder, but who were really guilty only of manelaughter, as court verdicts attest. Take a case in point: A partenger car is being driven along a railglaughter, as court vermines access to a point: A parsenger car is being driven along a rail-road track. The driver runs over a person, and that person anddenly finds himself in another world. An point: A parenger car is being driven along a ratiroad trade. The driver runs over a person, and that person suddenly finds himself in another world. An inquest is held. Witnesses are examined; all tearing to the fact; the jury renders a verdict exoneraing the driver from all blame; he is therefore discharged. Thus ends the affair, and it is specify forgotten in the busy world. A vacant chair is some household perhaps keeps the sad circumstance in gloomy remembrance. Blackstone defines homicide in all its phases. There is such a thing as involuntary manilaughter, to which shere is a penalty.
If a carpenier, on the roof of a house, should let a board drep, and said board should strike and kill a person, it is involuntary manilaughter. The same principle is involved in the case of a driver of a passenger car, of any other vehicle running over and killing an individual. We trust that our present corener, Dr. Tayler, who is, without exception, the best educated and most intelligent one that we have had in this city during the past twenty-five years, will return to court every driver and conductor of a car that tune over and kills at one or causes the death of any human being.
Cases of damages arising in suits are simply a branch of the same subject, which must be left tocivil courts and juries, and whenever an opportunity arises, the heaviest amount of damages should be awarded in accordance with the facts and the nature of the finulies received. It is only the whicky.
"What is your name?" said the magistrate. The magistrate smiled.
"How did you get that black eye?"
"How?" ly anses, the neaviest amount of damages should be awarded in accordance with the facts and the nature of the injuries received. It is only the calm application of atern justice and the law that will, to some extent, throw a afeguard around the people, and thus better protect them from violent deaths. THE GRAY RESERVE SOIREE.—The promenade concert and soirce, given by the Gray Raserves at the Academy of Music, on Tuesday evening, nettee hearly three thousand dollars to the treasury of the Sanitary Commission. The Academy never precented so brilliant a spectacle, and it bore a flattering testimony to the popularity of the crack regiment of our city. The ladies, in their most fascinating gargeousness and sweetest smiles, indicated in ostinted degree their admiration of the Reserves, themselves, and the Sanitary Commission. In the promensale concert they were admiring and admired, and when the hour came for the dance they tripped through the "misty mazes" with a freedom and grace that was bewitching, we know, to all make beholders. The occasion was the happiest of the seast-B. gay and festive in all its particulars. The orn-amentation of the house accorded with the gaiety of the participants. The parquet was set with the traited scale from "Joseph in Egypt." The balcony and upper tiers were decorated with red, white, and blue buging, and the national shield was placed at regular intervals around the house. From the private boxes the National and State flags were displayed, and upon the large pillars beating to boxes the exat of arms of Pennsylvania was assigneded.

District Court—Judge Hare.

Add M. Smith vs. Lucas Hirst. This was an action to recover damages for loss alieged to have been sustained by reason of detendant's action as counsel for plaintiff. It was alleged by plaintiff that in 1860 as he held a judgment note for $600, which defendant advised her was good, but subsequently recommended should be substituted for a saier or more valuable security. He suggested a bond and mortgage, and plaintiff, through her son, as her agent, assented, and the mortgage was executed through one Charles R. Nudd, the judgment note being given as part of the consideration. At the time of the transaction plaintiff averred that the defendant represented that he had made the proper searches, and found the property unencumbered, and that it was good marketable real estate. Plaintiff alleged that the mortgage was valueless, as the mortgage had no right, ittle, interest, or estate in the property.

The defence denied, absolutely, the allegations of missepresentatios, and averred that the judgment hote which plaintiff represented as worth $600 was not worth anything; that she knew it to be worthless, and that plaintiff's son, the real owner of the mortgage, as detendant alleges, was fully aware of the nature of the transfer and the value of the mortgage. As the case progressed it became apparent that the title of the mortgage in the land was good. Plaintiff thereupon aufficed a non suit.

Jury out. the boxes the cost of arms of Pennsylvania was assected.

The music reddered by the lively and always well-pleased Eirgérdd was not lacking in excellence or spirit, and in the promenade and ball did itself credit. The members of the regiment were mostly in uniform. There is very little to be said in praise of the outfit of the Reserves, especially as it appears in a ball room. It is more rugged and swisward than pleasing and coespleuous on such an occasion, but the applicay is that it is for war times, for which the suit, they say, is suited. Should the Government require the regiment in the field, they will be ready at a moment's notice, and show no doubt as great an aptness in that sphere as in the one they no signally exhibited themselves on Tuesday evoluing. Pick-pockets in the Cars.
Two well-known pickpockets, one of whom has just served out a term, were arrested on Tuesday night, on the charge of picking the pocket of a Mrs. Miller, in one of the passenger cars on Fourth street, lear Callowhill. The parties were arranged, and gave the fictitions names of George Endridge and William Smith. The evidence developed the following curious circumstances: The prisoners were in the car; Mrs. Miller entered, whereupon one of the defendants put hed her against his scoomplice; this rudeness was observed by a gentleman named white heavy took a seat, and the next moment she missed her pocket book; she charged one of the prisoners with having taken it; he stoutly denied the accusation, and assumed an indignation that seemed to be genuine and not counterfelt. There was contiderable commotion in the car, and the wrangling began to be quite general. In to the hind platform, and very advoitly threw his right arm around under his left, and something cropped. This was unobserved by any one on the car. It so happened that a gentleman named Micconnell saw 'he movement,' and picked the pocket book up. Like a good citizen he ran after the car, and the stolen book, containing a valuable diamond ring and other things, was restored to the owner. The car was stopped at Cherry street, and the two young men were taken into custody by Officer Read. They were ordered to find bail in the sum of 3500 each to answer at court. We learn that another charge is per dmg against them, but it has not yet been publicly investigated. (Before Mr. Alderman Dougherty.)

Larceny of a Watch.

Samuel Lewis, a colored man, was committed yesterday to answer the charge of the larceny of a watch, the property of Hannah Ann Davis. It seems that on Saturday evening last Lewis was at the residence of complainant; the watch was in a room; she absented herself, and after returning discovered the timepiace gona. He was charged with stealing it; he submitted to acreh, but the watch could not be found. On Tuesday night he returned to the house, whereupon one of the women declared that "as he heard a watch ticking in his pooket on Saturday night." He replied that a "colored lady presented the watch to him, and he had gone to see his uncle."

Mrs. Davis went to the pawnshop and found her watch. The accused was committed to answer.

TEN-FORTY BONDS. These Bonds are issued under the Act of Congress of March 8th, 1864, which provides that in lieu of so much of the loan authorized by the Act of March 34, 1863, to which this is supplementary, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to borrow from time to time, on the credit of the United States, not exceeding TWO HUN-DRED MILLION DOLLARS, during the current fiscal year, and to prepare and issue therefor Coupon and Registered Bonds of the United States; and all Bonds issued under this Act shall be EXEMPT FROM TAXATION by or under any State or municipal authority. Subscriptions to these Bonds are received in United States notes. or noise of Mational Banks. They are TO BE RE-DEEMED IN COIN, at the pleasure of the Government at any period not less than ten nor more than forty years from their date, and until their redemption FIVE PER CENT. INTEREST WILL BE PAID, IN COIN, on necded for the reclamation of such miserable wrecks of humanity.

Among the cases yesterday before Magistrate White was a specimen of a man who had seen better days. One eye was badly disfigured; his clothing lattered; his matted heir covered with a shecking bad hat; in fact, his shivering form atood like a dilapidated monument to the power of bad whisky. Bonds of not over one hundred dollars annually, and on all other Bonds semi-annually.

The interest is payable on the first days of March and September in each year. The semi-annual Coupons are payable at those dates, and the annual Coupons on the 50 and 100 dollar Bonds are payable on the first of March. "What is your name?" said the magistrate,
"John Smith, sir."
"Drunk again, John, are you?"
"No, sir, Pm not the other Smith."
"You were here before me the other morning,"
"Yes, sir, but I'm not drunk again, sir."
"How can you stand there and say so?"
"Yer honor, its the same drunk, I assure you."
The magistrate smiled. Subscribers will receive either Registered or Coupon Bonds, as they may prefer. Registered Bonds are recorded on the books of the U. S. Treasurer, and can be transferred only on the owner's order. Coupon Bonds are payable to bearer, and are more convenient for commercial uses. Registered Bonds will be issued of the denominations of Fifty Dollars ($50), One Hundred Dollars ($100), Five "From a blow."
"How?"
"I was splitting wood."
"Yes, you were splitting wood; you poor, miserable drunkard. You have been before me a dozen of times; you have promised to reform; you are unable to tell the difference between using and abusing liquor. Besides this, such viliainous stuff as you drink is sending you with railroad speed to perdition. You are sacrificing your very soul. Every glass of the whisky you drink has a devil's imp in it. John, it is liquefied damnation that you drink. You are an outcast, a decent person would recoil from you with loathing contempt. It would give me pleasure to send you to a house of correction, if there was an institution of this kind, but, as it is, I'll send you below as a vagrant, for thirty days, where you ought to be left, and not let out, as is too often the case, before that length of time."

The remarks of the megistrate were decidedly to the point, cannelly truthful, and, through the medium Hundred Dollars ($500), One Thousand Dollars ($1,000), Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000), and Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000); and Coupon Bonds of the denominations of Fifty Dollars ($50). One Hundred Dollars ($100), Five Hundred Dollars ($500), and One Thousand Dollars ($1,000). Subscribers to this loan will have the option of having their Bonds draw interest from March 1st, by paying the accrued interest in coin (or in United States notes, or the notes of National Banks, adding fifty per cent, for premium), or receive them drawing interest from the date of subscription and deposit.

As these Bonds are exempt from municipal or State taxation, their value is increased from one to three per cont, per annum, according to the rate of tax levies in various parts of the country. At the present rate of premium on gold they pay over eight iper cent. interest in currency, and are of equal convenience as a permanent or temporary investment. It is believed that no securities offer so great inducements to lenders as the various descriptions of U.S. Bonds In all other forms of indebtedness the faith or abilliy of private parties, or stock companies, or separate communities, only is pledged for payment. While for the debts of the United States the whole property of the country is holden to secure the payment of both principal and interest in coin. These Bonds may be subscribed for in sums from $50 up to may magnitude, on the same terms, and are thus made equally available to the smallest lender and the largest capitalist. They can be converted into money at any moment, and the holder will have the benefit of the The fact that all cuties on imports are payable in specie, furnishes a fund for like payment of interest on all Government Bonds largely in excess of the wants of the treasury for this purpose.
