THE CITY. The Thermometer MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE ON LABOR, INCOMES, AND REVENUE.—This committee, the most important, probably, of all the committees of the Sanitary Fair, held allother meeting yesterday afterneon, at the Board of Trade rooms. It was largely attended; the ladies, who appear in great earnest in the matter, were quite in the majority. Air. L. M. Bond presided. The treasurer's report, which was read, showed receipts amounting to allot $7,500 since last meeting. The "one day's revenue" of the Green and Contesstrets Passenger Railway Company to be $1,034.81. The thanks of the committee were tenered to both companies for the effic. A subscription, per Mrs. J. W. Forney, was announced from the Continental Hotel, amounting to $1,000.

THE DRAFT IN NEW JERSEY.—The draft in the First Congressional district of New Jersey, which comprises the counties of Camden, Gloucester, Salem, Cumberland, Atlantic, and Cape May, has commenced in Camden City. The drafting is by townships, and the most northerly town in the county (Stockton) was the first one drawn. The chafted men are required to report within nine days. Those drafted will be exempted on the payment of $300. Int in no case will this amount exempt the party paying it for more than twelve months. The present draft in New Jersey will not be completed until every man enrolled in a township or ward has been drawn, if the quota assigned to it is not first filled. If half the number drafted in a township be exempted for physical disability or other causes, a second draft will be ordered for the balance, and continued a third, fourth, or fifth time, until the quota is filled or enrolment exhausted. The deficiency in the First district, up to the present time, is about one thousand men. The number of men required from the city is said to be thirty-five. The draft is being resumed each day until the whole quota is filled. THE DRAFT IN NEW JERSEY .- The draft THE General Conference of the Metho-THE General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Clurch, now in session in this city, having appointed this (Friday) as a day of fasting and prayer, Divine services will be held in the following churches, at 10½ A. Each service will occupy one hour and a half, and will consist of prayers, singing, addresses, &c.

THE LATE EXPLOSION.—The jury having in charge the investigation of the cause of the recent boiler explosion at the establishment of Mesers. Cornolius & Baker, met on Wednesday afternoon and held a sossion of several hours. They then adjourned to meet on next Thesday afternoon. It is evident that one or two of the "scientifie" gentlemen on the jury are inclined to repudiate the doctrine of electricity as being the cause of most of the steam boiler explosions. Some facts will be demonstrated on this point before long that will essentially explode their theory, that the electrical phenomenon has nothing to do with them. SURGEONS AND NURSES WANTED.—The medical director, at No. 905 Walnut street, has been authorized to contract with competent surgeons for immediate service as follows: Eight for Louisville, Ky., five for Department of the Gulf, two for Department of the South, one for Detroit, Nich., one to accompany an expedition to Oregon, and one for the Department of Washington. A number of male nurses are also required for duty in the army hospitals in this department. Those desirous of securing either of the above positions should make application to the medical director immediately.

THE GAS DEPARTMENT OF PHILADEL-THE GAS DEPARTMENT OF PHILADEL-PHIA.—It has been ascertained, since the new Board of Trustees of the Gas Works came into power, that there is a deficiency of $80.000 in the accounts of the list fiscal year. To meet this deliciency, it is proposed to raise the price of gas. The present trustees find great difficulty in obtaining a contract for a supply of coal for a longer term than thirty days. If the consumers are to be made responsible for the deficiency, as above noticed, the price of gas will probably be fixed at the high rate of three dollars per thousand feet, exclusive of the national income tax. ATLANTIC CITY AND THE GREAT FAIR .-The people of Atlantic City, N. J.; will, we understand, be well represented at the forthcoming Fair for the Sanitary Commission. Mrs. E. Wooton, restlent at that place, has been appointed upon the committee on Labor. Income, and Revenue, and her labors thus far have met with signal success. It is to be hoped that the same may continue until the commencement of the Fair. The residents of the Waity by the 22 per 92 hope yellout, as they

Run Over.—Yesterday afternoon a boy named John Cummings, residing in Orr's court, between Lombard and South streets, was run over by one of Adams' Express Company's cars, on Broad street below Lombard, and seriously injured. He was removed to the hospital, where he died last evening. The coroner will hold an inquest on Saturday. FATAL ACCIDENT.—A little boy named Francis Graham, aged 3 years, fell into a cesspool in the rear of Fourth street below South, about four o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body of the child was not recovered for half an hour; life was extinct. The mother was on a visit with the child to a rela-tion, Mr. Cochran, upon whose premises the acci-dent hamened this great temperance advocate will have one more opportunity of hearing him at Concert Hall, on the 13th instant. The Forgery of Final-Settlement Papers.

The Forgery of Final-Settlement Papers.

Isaac Smith, alias Blanche, and John Welde, alias Otto, had a final hearing yesterday afternoon. The other parties (Mahlon and Patrick and Catharine Dunn) will have a hearing this afternoon. The parties are charged with implication in passing forged settlement papers upon two of the U. S. Paymasters in this city. The narrative of the facts connected therewith were published in The Press on Monday last. The following facts were elicited at the hearing yesterday:

Mr. Taggart, a clork in the office of Paymaster Taggart, identified Smith as the man whom he paid the money on a forged settlement paper; the applicant came to the office in company with another man; he had been at the office several times; I refused to pay him the first time he applied, because I was not satisfied of his identity; I paid him in a day or two after this.

Captain W. B. Lane was called to prove by reference that the settlement-paper upon which defendant drew the money was forged. The captain had telegraphed to Washington and had received from that place certain papers exhibiting the handwriting of the genuine blank: the forged paper, signatures, &c., are entirely different from it. This case here closed, and the defendant was committed. He was comployed for some time in the navy yard as a mechanic.

The case of Jogin Welde, alias John Otto, is, or rather the money was lorged. The captain had telegraphed to Washington and had received from that place certain papers exhibiting the handwriting of the genuine blank: the forged paper, signatures, &c., are entirely different from it. This case here closed, and the defendant was committed. He was employed for some time in the navy yard as a mechanic.

The case of John Welde, alias John Otto, is, or rather was, a police officer of the city, residing at 1020 Anita street, in the First ward. He appeared in his uniform, though minus his star. This emblem was taken from him by Chief Franklin at the time of his arrest. The following evidence was elicited in his case:

Horace 6. O. Ramborser, a cierk at the office of Paymaster Riche, was called to the stand. He identified the defendant as the nam who drew the money on the final settlement paper, writing as his signature the name of an the later paper, which he paid in the money; this was on the later paper, which he paid in the money; the same and identified. The witness further settled that he had an impression that he saw the defendent paper which he saw the defendent of the day; the papers he returned soldier: there was a short growth of har veceived the money; he had not a cavalry coat; which had not been shaved for a week or ten days; not a very strong beard; I next saw him on the 28th of April, the day of the first hearing; upon looking at the papers he presented, I asked him why he was not paid at $t$. Louis on the day he received his discharge the reprised that he did not use it until late in the day and was anxious to get hone; he said he had been in service in New Mexico; I did not point out Mahlein for him at the first hearing; I saw the defendant for the first time down stairs in this building on the 28th of April, after he had received the money; at the time he received his pay there were other soldiers in the room; I did not notice whether he came by himself or not; I suspected this pay there were their soldiers in the room; I did not notice whether he came by John Weber was committed yesterday to answer the charge of robbing Police officer McAfee of a watch. It is alleged that the defendant is a repairer of watches, and goes from house to house in search of time-pieces, to put them in good order. He was probably under the impression that such a transaction was simply a breach of pression that such a transaction was simply a hirust, for which there was no legal penalty. vised penal code makes the offence felony. Joseph Hewitt, the driver of a wagon, was arraigned yesterday on the charge of assault and battery upon a little child by running over it with his wagon. The accused was committed to await the result of the injuries to the little one. In the language of the coroner's jury, had the driver been more careful, the affair might have been avoided. Missing Coats.

A man who had taken out reven coats to make, from the establishment of G. W. Reed & Co., was arraigned yesterday on the charge of the larceny of two of them. It is alleged that he only returned five coats. He was held for a further hearing. Reminiscence of a Murderer. Reminiscence of a murgerer.

Robert Louden, of St. Louis, was recently tried by a military commission as a spy and for other military crimes. He was found guilty, and sentenced to be hung. Louden is a Philadelphian, in the year 1850 he was charged with having committed the murder of Robert McGary, of this city. He fled, but Detective L. H.

IMPORTANT DECISION FOR SHIPPERS OF COAL OIL FROM PITTSECRE VIA THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD FOR NEW YORN.

Twells vs. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Certificate from Nisi Prius. In his opinion Judge Strong states the question in this case thus: "The substantial question in this case is whether the defendants may rightfully demand from the complainant higher rates for transporting over their railroad coal oil consigned to him at Philadelphia, and received by them for cartrage at Pittsburg, than they demand of shippers generally from the same place of louding to the same place of delivery, merely because the complainant intends to send the oil afterwards to New York. Does the place of final destination, if beyond the terminus of defendants road, justify an increase of the charge made in the complainant intends to send the oil afterwards to New York. Does the place of the charge to the rate, established for similar frequency in the railroad of the defendants is wholly within this State; that it does not extend beyond Philadelphia eastward, not westward beyond Pittsburg. It is also to be noted that the oil delivered to the defendants at Pittsburg for carriage, and upon which the charges complained of are made, is a domestic product of the State; and as such, is entitled to the spirit of the protection (if not to its letter) extended by the commutation tonnage ax of 1861 to domestic products. If transported from Pittsburg to any Eastern market, it must pass over the road of the defendants. It has no other available route.

rind of the defendants. It has no other available road of the decendants. It has no other available road.

The judge here enters into a discussion of the questions raised, in the course of which several decided cases, when the same crinciples of law were involved, are the course of the same and the same with the rule of the defendants of which the complainant complains is unreasonable, and such as they have no legal right to enforce. The apology set up for it is not sufficient. That the imposition of higher rates for carrying the complainant's oil to Philadelphia, because it is afterwards to be forwarded in some way to New York, is necessary, to prevent his having an advantage in the New York market over those who employ the defendants to transport all the way, or over those who send oil from Pittsburg to New York with through bills of lading, is a matter outside of their control. It has no proper relation to them as carriers. of their control. It has no proper relation to them as carriers.

"An injunction will therefore be issued, according to the prayer of the bill, and an account will be decreed of the excess over the usual or ordinary rates of freight heretofore paid by the complainant to the defendants, and the amount found by such account to have been paid in excess of the ordinary rates of charge for transportation from Pittsburg to Philadelphia will be decreed to be paid to the complainant, together with interest and the costs. The account is not to include anything more than such excessive charges and interest. Let a decree be prepared accordingly.

The Southwark Railroad Company vs. The City of Philadelphia. In Equity. Motion for a special injunction to prevent the removal of the railroad upon Broad street, between Olive and South streets, under an ordinance of the city approved the 18th of May, 1832.

After giving a history of the railroad from its construction, in 1833, and the varied legislation in relation thereto since that time to the present, Judge Agnew closes as follows: "Upon the whole, therefore, we perceive no ground in law upon which the complainants can compel the city to maintain a railroad in existence which, from the passage of the ordinance to abandon it, we must presume to be no longer justifiable, but to be against her welfare. The facts stated and proved clearly create no ground for an equitable estoppel. The special injunction is, therefore, refused."
