TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1864. The Historical Society of Pennsylvania. This Society, whose proceedings now usually attract a good many visitors, and not unfrequently ladies, held its regular May preeting, last night, in the Hall at the Athenaum. Dr. Benj. H. Coates in the chair. Among the curious and interesting me morials ex hibited was a card of invitation for a tail on Washington's Birth-day, 1776. It was a hazdsomely engraved card, five inches by three, and ram thus;

 THE PRESIDENT'S BIRTH NIGHT. The honor of Major Lewis's company is requested to a BALL, on 22d February, at the Amphitheatre. Samuel Sterett. Nalbro Frazier.

George Harrison, Thomas W. Francis, A George Willing, Admittance at 50 clock. It is worthy of note, in these degenerate times, ctice introduced last winter, both here and in New York, of inviting to dances at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, instead, as in former winters, at 8 r 10 o'clock at night, has authority in the best days of the American Republic, socially, we may add, as well as politically. We hope to see it a permanent fashion for the benefit alike of old and young. We hope, also, that by next winter the new, or, as it turns out to be, the old fashion will be adopted so universally that no lady-hostess will complain, as some last winter had occasion to don that while some of the guests came at 5 o'clock, as invited, others came at 10 or 11 o'clock, as in former winters, and that so, between the two classes, the musicians were kept piping for about ten hours steadily, and she on er feet for a longer time.

The librarian read a long list of donations to the library since the last meeting, among which were several valuable pamphlets. Of these we noticed "A Confession of Faith" of the Quakers: Printed at Philadelphia, by William Bradford, in 1693. There was also exhibited one of the original dia-ries kept by Mason and Dixon, which has the proceedings (signed by themselves) of each day's work performed by these surveyors, while running the celebrated Mason and Dixon's line. This volume has been given to the Sanitary Fair by Ferdiaand J. Dreer, Esq., and will be offered for sale during the Fair. A letter was read by the corresponding secretary rom Mrs. Isabella James, chairman of the Ladies Committee on Relies, &c., concerning the above volume, and was ordered to be placed on the minutes

A letter was read from the Wilmington Institute, stating that a Historical Society for Delaware was about to be inaugurated, and requesting the attend ance at the ceremonies of the Pennsylvania Historia rical Society.

One of the most interesting events of the evening was an announcement, by the Corresponding Secretary, of the lately-ascertained existence of THE FIRST BOOK EVER PRINTED IN PHI-LADELPHIA

A. D. 1685.

Antiquaries here, in New York, and in England have long been in search of an actually existing copy, but while it was known that Mr. William Bradford who introduced printing into the Middle Colonies of British America, and whose two hundredth birthday was celebrated with so much pomp by Trinity Church, New York, of which, in 1703, he was a ves tryman, and by the New York Historical Society. who regard him as belonging to their State—had printed in Philadelphia as early as A. D. 1695, no actual issue from his press had been seen within memory or tradition in these regions. Wr Tones then read a letter from a Philadelphia gentleman in Newport, R. L., apologizing, however, putting before the Society a letter which was obviously written as a private con interest in a historical point of view justified, he thought, the freedom. LETTER FROM THE HON. JOHN WILLIAM NEWPORT, R. I., April 21st, 1864 DEAR SIR: I know the interest with which you pursue every inquiry which concerns either the honor of the press or the honor of Pennsylvania, and am sure you will hear with pleasure of my discovery in this ancient town of the first volume ever ued from the press of the Middle Colonies; a tract printed in our own city in the year 1685. This volume was the subject of some remark by me in New York in May last on the celebration by the Historical Society there of the Bradford Bicer tenary, but I had then never seen it, nor seen any body who had. I knew but little about it. I re body who had. I knew but little about it. I referred to it, however, as follows:

The carliest issue of Bradford's press known to me is an Almanac for the year 1886, produced of course in 1885. One copy alone seems to have survived to this day, and that one has wandered far from the place of its origin. New England boasts its possession. It was called America's Messenger. A certain Samuel Atkyns edited it. Among the remarkable events which were set down opposite to particular days, there was set down opposite to that one on which Mr. Penn assumed the control of things in Pennsylvania, the following entry: "The beginning of Government here by the LORD PENN." This title of courtesy given to their Governor was oftensive to the Provincial Magistracy. Atkyns was summoned before the Council and ordered to blot out the words "Lord Penn." and Bradford was warned "not to print anything but what dered to blot out the words "Lord Penn," and Brad-ford was warned "not to print anything but what shall have lycence from the Council." Behold! a second copy now turns up; I may say most fortunately turns up, since that copy to which I referred when in New York, as still in existence, cannot be found. Within a few years has perished, apparently, to the world forever! The second copy, now discovered, is in the possession of DAVID KING, M. D., of this place-a gentleman not more advantageously known in the walks of medical science than in the departments of literature, me in his hospitable house. It is one of twenty pages duodecimo, well printed, and on paper much better than most which now absorbs the ink of Almanacks. The motives which the editor, ATKYNS, who styles himself 'Student in Mathematicks and Astrology,'-and who in our day of greater titles would have doubtless been 'Professor' in those arts —had to prepare the Kalendar, are stated in a proface written by himself. I make you an extracfrom it on the spot, and while I sit at Dr. King's TO THE READER.

To the Reader.

I having sojourned in & through several places, not only in this province but likewise in Maryland & elsewhore, & the people generally complaining that they searcely knew how the time passed nor that they hardly knew the Day of Rest or Lord's Day, when it was,—for want of a Diary or Day-Book which we call an Almanack * * * I say hearing this general complaint from such abundance of Inhabitants which are lere, I was, really troubled; and did design according to that small knowledge which I had, to pleasure these my countrymen, with that which they wanted; although it be not completed in that method which I did intend it should be. * * * * Beside the table of Kings &c I had thoughts to have incerted a figure of the moon's eclipse; a small draught of the form of this city, & a Table to find the hour of the day, by the shadow of a staff; but we not having tools to carve them in that form that I would have them; nor time to calculate the other, I pass it for this year, & not only promise it in the next, but likewise several more particular motes & observations which shall not only be useful to this Provinces on both sides. In the meantime accept this, my mite; being my ability to serve you in what I may or sun,—while I am 10th Month

Our old friend Braddorn, too, looms up largely through the mist of centuries, as indeed he always does wherever in the visions of our early press we see him at all. We here have an account by the ery man himself (how little he thought that you and I should ever see it!) of the introduction of printing into the vast region which now constitutes the Middle States! It bears incontestible evidence any one familiar with his style of writing will seeof having come from his own pen. It reads thus:

Among the items of interest in the Almanack is a CHRONOLOGY. Mr. Atkyns, however, like a wise nan, keeps on this side of the Flood, which he fixes as a starting point—thus: The flood of Noah, 8979 years" (before the Almanack.) "The building of London, 2793 years" ditto.

Like a good Englishman, however, he puts the building of London seveal vears before

The building of Solomon's Temple, 2702" ditto. And, of course, before The building of Rome, 2438" It was in this "Chronology' that he and placed 4 The beginning of government here by the Lord Penn,"
5 ditto. And a "visum corporis" of Dr. King's copy

And a "vieum colough, Bradford did actually "blot out" the words "Lord Penn." A three em quad, well inked from the ball, is stamped over both the words, which in Dr. King's copy are wholly illegible; and in the Errata we are told, "By rongs on of our making so much haste, some faults have son of our making so much missed, some multi nave escaped the press. The most material take as followeth... In the Chronology read, 'The beginning of government here by William Penn, Proprietor and Governor, 6 years.'?" The title of the Almanack, which I give you as a bibliographical and historic record, runs as follows: KALENDARIUM PENNSILVANIENSE, AMERICA'S MESSENGER,

To the Editor of The Press:

To the Editor of The Press:

Sir: The movement of the ladies of our city and country towards dispensing with all goods of foreign production has much to recommend it to the approval and favor of the truly patriotic women of the land. If, instead of promenading our fashionable thoroughtares drossed in feroign gow-gaws, they would adopt some befitting costume signifying the lave of country in the wearer, rather than the love of display, so apparent in much that mosts our eye daily, our fair friends would do more towards retaining the admiration they seem to seek for in the profuse adornment of their persons. A few years since, one of the most favorite styles of dress worn during mild weather, was a gray gronadine, plain, simple, beautiful. Now, let us test the patriotism of our ladies who are engaging with so much zeal in behalf of our country. Let us see what self-denial you can use, and whether you are willing to lay by your "silks, satins, and jewelry," for a little while only, until our country is at peace, and her brave defenders cease to shed their blood for her.

Yours, respectfully,

What the Birds Said: BY JOHN G. WHITTIER. The birds, against the April wind, Flew northward, singing as they flow; They sang, "The land we leave behind Has swords for corn-blades blood for d O wild-birds, flying from the South, What saw and heard ye, gazing down? We saw the mortar's upturned mouth, The sickened camp, the blazing town! 'Beneath the bivouac's starry lamps,
We saw your march-worn children die:
In shrouds of moss, in cypress swamps,
We saw your dead uncoffleed lie, "We heard the starving prisoner's sighs; And saw, from line and trench, your sone Follow our flight with home-sick eyes Beyond the battery's smoking guns." And heard and saw ye only wrong And pain,'' I cried, ''O wing-worn floc≿s?' 'We heard,'' they sang, ''the Freedman's sor The crash of Slavery's brokon locks! 'We saw, from new, uprising States, The Treason-nursing mischief spurn'd, "O'er dusky faces, seamed and old, And hands horn-hard with unpaid toil, With hose in every rustling fold, Wo saw your star-droppt flag uncoil. 'And, struggling up through sounds accursed; A grateful murmur clomb the air, A whisper scarcely heard at first, It filled the listening heavens with prayer, "And sweet and far, as from a star, Replied a voice which shall not cease, Till, drowning all the noise of war, It sings the blessed songs of peace!"

So to me, in a doubtful day Of chill and slowly-greening Spring, Low stooping from the cloudy gray, The wild birds sang or seemed to sing.

They vanished in the misty air,
The song went with them in their flight;
But lo! they left the suasof fair,
And in the evening there was light.
