MOLDED COLLARS

Have now been before the public for nearly a year atting collars extant.

The upper edge presents a perfect curve, free from the angles noticed in all other collars.

The cravat causes no puckers on the inside of the turn-down collar—they are AS SMOOTH INSIDE AS OUTBIDE—and therefore perfectly free and easy to the neck. The Garotte Collar has a smooth and evenly-finished edge on BOTH SIDES. These Collars are not simply flat pieces of paper cut in the form of a collar, but are MOULDED AND SHAPED TO FIT THE NECK. They are made in "Novelty" (or turn-down style, in eyery half size from 12 to 17 inches, and in "Eu-reka!" (or Garotte,) from 13 to 17 inches, and packed in > sant human beings, from Delaware, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, all mingling in union and harmony, all intent upon one humane action, that of ma rially contributing to the great institution, forms at once a grand, tivid, patriotic scene, indicating that pure love of country, and care for its brave defenders. There are none who feel it more than the pldiers themselves. The daily reports of the Fair will be read by those in camp, or in the hospitals, and brave hearts will be cheered at the details. This Fair, though the last of the first series, is the greatest of them all. The success that has crowned the efforts of the thousands of ladies, gentlemen, children, firms of business men, families at home and

These departments may be considered the right and left wings of the grand Union archway of progress, beauty, and patriotism. Both wings were continually crowded yesterday, mostly, it is supposed, by persons from the respective States. Owing to a disarrangement in our programme, there was omitted from our notice yesterday an item which is here introduced. One of the finest prints in chromo lithography that has ever been submitted to public inspection may be seen in the department appropriated to Delaware. It represents a splendid roos-ter, in the act of crowing lustily over a dead Copperhend that he clutches with one of his feet. A "blue hon" is represented as fiercely picking at the departed reptile, while the broad of little chickens are grouped quite naturally, and seem perfectly

The design was by Mr. Bigot, the painting by Mr. Bispham, and the lithograph and printing by Mr Jersey wing, a splendid set of harness and spurs for general. This harness is up for subscrip tion; the two generals named are Generals Hancock and Meade. There are quite a number of new articles being daily received from different parts of New Jersey, all of which must be seen to be appreciated

The merchants of Baltimore and New York reesenting the tobacco trade of these two cities will isit this gity to-day or to-morrow for the purpose of inspecting our Sanitary Fair, and in reply to an entertainment given some time since by this same body in Baltimore. After inspecting the Fair, they will dine at the restaurant attached to the institu-tion. On Friday they will attend a grand banquet to be given at the Continental by the Philadelphia tobacconists, after which they will take a steamboa trip along the river front, and visit several places of interest. Bird shot, put up in bags of five pounds each, expressly for the Fair, will attract the attention of sportsmen. Stool barrel rilles of imported pattern, vill be examined by those who come from the forest lomains of the interior. There is also an almost endless variety of pocket and table cutlery, scis-sors, pots, pans, coffee-mills, "right and left locks," sent from various manufacturers in different parts of our country and also from Sheffield, England. hat will find purchasers readily. THE HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT This, as we have before noticed, is located near he west end of Union avenue. New things are ally added thereto. The table has for its canopy erve a model of the Satterlee Hospital, an instituion located in West Philadelphia, containing at the resent time 5,000 in mates. A great many curious things will attract attention here, among which are a rebet almanae of 1862, Confederate notes, &c. A model hospital tent, containing wounded or sick soldiers, with nurses in attendance, occupies a place on this stand. It will be presented to the hospital that receives the most votes. Rebel relies are to be seen here, captured by the brave Union sailors and soldiers. The board containing the name "St. Charles," captured from the rebel gunboat bearing this name, has a conspicuous place. Fans and other articles of wood, made by rebel prisoners at Point

Lookout are on this table. They were presented because of the humane manner in which they had been treated by the Sanitary Commission. This is a book of experience of soldiers, and may etches of army and naval life, hardships and pri vitions of prison life, acts of personal daring and hair breaktth escapes. The book is written in a plain, readable style, and decidedly interesting. It ought to be in the hands of everybody. THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

"Have you any children, sir?"

"Yes, madam, quite an orphan's asylum."

with the evolumntion, " Oh, my darling!"

This lady picked out her little blue-eyed child,

"Have you any canes?" inquired a young gentle. man, who had been taking ico cream in the promenade of the Hortleultural. "Yes, sir; plenty of them."
This visitor made his selection. He had only purneed one a short time before, at the table on Union avenue, where canes, made from the wood at Got tysburg, are sold; price, one dollar each. So we might go on and enumerate, but this is suffilient for an index of the many amusing scenes. The following-named lost children were restored: Master Charles Palmer, returned to mother.

Speech of Andrew Johnson.

[From the Nashville Times, 10th.]
St. Cloud Hotel presented a gay appearance yesterday evening, with its array of national flags and its brilliantly illuminated windows, which were dressed in holiday garb in honor of the Baltimore ticket. The rumor that Governor Johnson would speak there gathered a crowd of several thousand persons in front of the hotel, the whole breadth of the street, from sidewalk to sidewalk, being a solid mass of people, extending from the Presbyterian Church to some distance below-the St. Cloud. The whole affair was entirely impromptu, gotten up on mass of people, extending from the Pressysterian Church to some distance below the St. Cloud. The whole affair was entirely imprompta, gotten up on the spur of the moment; nor did the Governor know that any meeting had gathered until a deputation went and brought him from the Executive Chamber. Governor Johnson was welcomed by three rousing cheers, to which he responded in a speech some three-quarters of an hour in length, which was loudly and frequently interrupted with applause. It was vigorous, bold, and national. The lateness of the hour at which the crowd dispersed forbids our giving a sketch to-day, but we will do so to-morrow. Although the crowd was very large, numbering several thousand persons, it was a model of good order, decorum; and profound attention. The speaker never had a higher compliment paid him in that respect. The regeated and hearty applause which ever and anon rung out on the night bore evidence that the good order of the assembly did not proceed from apathy. It was emphatically a Lincoln and Johnson gathering, rallying like a Macedonian phalanx around the altar of Freedom and Union. The splendid band of the 18th Michigan enlivened the proceedings with magnificent music.

MCCLELLAN AT WEST POINT—DEDICATION OF THE SITE FOR THE BATTLE MONUMENT.—General McClellan will deliver the cration at the dedication of the site for the battle monument to be erected upon "Trophy Point," at West Point, to the memory of the officers and soldiers of the regular army who have fallen in this war. The ceremonies will take place to-day, commencing at 11 o'clock A. M. Brigadier General Robert Anderson has been inlyted to act as marshal. The Executive Committee, in behalf of the officers of the army, invite the attendance of the officers of the narry and the friends of both branches of the service upon the occasion. We may add that the committee are anxious to secure designs for the one which shall be accepted. The plan to which all designs must be accommodated includes a mansoleum for the bodies of such officers as may be interred at West Point, and tablets for each officer of the regular army fallen in the present war, and a general tablet for the onlisted men. Some ten thousand dollars have already been received by the treasurer of the monument find and this expected that the amount will reach

These women and their children, some fitteen hundred or two thousand in number, are wholly supported by the public and private charities of the city. They do not pretend to do any kind of work, and spond all their lime in running from one place where charity is dispensed to another, just as hogs, in the fall of the year, run from one apple tree to another. It we had abundance of food, the support of this worthless class might be passed over in silence; but seding that there is barrely a sufficiency of food in the community to supply our own people—to keep from absolute suffering the wives and children of our soldlers—we should have nothing to give these people. It would not answer, it is true, to let them starve in the streets; but such an event could be easily obviated. We recommend that a census be taken of them, and their number and names ascertained, that they may be sent in a body beyond our lines, having first been supplied with the rations necessary to support them till they could reach some Yankee post. This would be a barsh measure, but one fully justified by our necessities.—Richmond Whity, June 8.

Rebel Proclamations in Kentucky. On the 30th, W. W. Hollis, one of John Morgan's officers, and signing himself "Commander of Confederate Forces," had printed at Henderson, in the office of the Weekly Times, for seoret distribution, the following "proclamation," which was copied from a proof-sheet, and sent to Gov. Morton From a proof-sheet, and sent to Gov. Morton:

PROCLAMATION.

Kentuckians: I am once more among you, and ask you if these is any spark of patriotism yet burning in your bosoms, to raily to the standard of those who dare defend their homes. I will equip you immediately on application, if you need assistance. I once more appeal to you to throw off the burdens imposed upon you by the tyrant of tyrants, and once more, before men, and last, I appeal to the ladies of our State, whose instincts are always noble, to send their husbonds, brothers, and sweethearts to do battle for freedom's cause. W. W. Hollis, Commanding Confederate Forces.

On the next day he addressed the following letter to the editor of the Times, which was also copied from a "proof" and sent to the Governor with the proclamation:

Henderson, May 31.

THREE CENTS.

HENDERSON, May 31.

To the Weekly News, Henderson:

DEAR EDITORS: You will please give this a place n your columns.
Landerstand that my men are to have no quarter Landerstand that my men are to have no quarter shown them, but, if captured, will be immediately put to death. I now wish to state to the public that I have no desire to fight under the black flag, but if the Yankees set that mode of warfare, I will be compelled to accept it. It is well known that Morgan has captured more prisoners than any other command, and it is well known that they have always been well treated. I am of that command, and we can fight to suit their hand.

W. W. Hollis,

Commanding Conféderate Porces.

OUR NATIONAL TICKET.-The National Union Convention, which met at Baltimore on Tuesday week, nominated Abraham Lincoln for President, and for Vice President, Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee—a ticket which was first proposed by the Cambria Tribune, and which has been floating from our mast-head for the past three months. We now nail it to the mast, and advance under it to certain victory.—Johnstown Tribune.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Bids for the new six per cent. loan of $75,000,000 will be opened to-day, at Washington—the money to be paid by the successful bidders, one-third on the 20th, one-third on the 25th, and the balance on the 30th. The bonds will bear interest from the 1st of July, and the interest from the date of the payment to the 1st of July will be adjusted according to the preprint on sold on will be adjusted according to the premium on gold on the lst of July. The result of the bidding is everywhere looked forward to with the ulmost anxiety. We have reason to believe that the offers from this city have been ery numerous, and at rates not much below those at which the bonds are now selling upon the market. Private individuals are represented through Jay Cooke & Co., who had agreed to embody among their own bids those of smaller bidders, thus saving to the latter a good deal of trouble, and insuring to the Government a larger number of bids, for it is well known that the red tape necessary in these matters often deters private enter Money is plenty everywhere, and the best possible employment to be found for it is afforded by the Government bonds. Though our national debt is large and steadily increasing, yet the burden will be comparatively light, owing to the fact that the interest and principal will be paid chiefly to our own people instead of being sent abroad. With just and wisely-framed tax and tariff bills, there is no doubt that an annual revenue of three to four hundred millions could be provided, and this would speedily stop all currency depreciation, and put our finances on a sound basis once more.

The stock market was quite dull yesterday. Very little was done in either State, city, or Government s: the latter were rather weak with a slight downward tendency; the seven-thirties were steady at 100, but the five-twenties, which sold at 106 early in the day, fell off subsequently to 105%; State sixes, War Loan, steady at 107%, and the coupon fives at 103%; new City sixes were rather lower, selling at 106%; Penn-sylvania Railroad chattel scrip sold at 95; Camden and Amboy sixes of 1970 at 111%, and Huntingdon and Broad Top at 100: Reading was weak, opening at 70%, and acpling at 10%; heading was wear, opening at 10%; heading afterwards down to 70; Pennsylvania Railroad opened at 71½, and closed at 71½; Beaver Meadow was steady at 56; North Penna. Railroad at 33½; Catawissa preferred fell off to 42½; Elmira sold at 54½. In canals there was very little said; Morris advanced to 87, but Susquehanna declined to 21; the sixes were steady at 66. Fulton Coal Co. was sold at Sk, a decline of k, and eton, which was the only other coal compan offered, sold at 80. Green and Coa'es-street Passenger Railroad fluctuated between 40 and 40%. Mechanics Bank sold at 28%, and North American Insurance Co. at
