I have suffered with an eruption of the skin. When first attacked I was troubled with an itch-ing all over my body; in the course of two or three weeks there appeared several hard red blotches on each wrist and on my feet. The same kind of blotches came on my right arm, and then rapidly Spread over my whole body; and finally I was, my face excepted, one entire rash from, my head to my feet. The disease assumed other forms, so severe that it seemed atmost impossible to endure it. The remedies used would give relief for a few moments only. I had the most eminent phy-sicians in our vicinity to attend me, who pro-nounced the eruption to be Sait Rheum. I was given up as incurable, and still remained in the-situation, which I have described, when I com-monneed the use of Jayne's Alterative and Sanative Pills, and they effected all that could be desired.
