THE POPULAR CLOTHING HOUSE OF PHILA. | ART GALLERY, The Street Cars. RETAIL DRY GOODS. FIRE-PROOF SAFES. MILITARY. To the Editor of The Press:

Sir: I was very much pleased to see the paragraph from a New York paper, in regard to our exterioritonists, published by you a day or two ago. It behooves our citizens to wipe out this foul stain by their marked disapprobation, and not only to refrain from riding in the cars, but use their influence to prevent others, not only until the old rate is restored, but until the exterionists are compelled to extert money from their own treasury (overflowing) to pay their expenses, until the experiment is felt to recoil on themselves.

Although an invalid, I have refused to enter the cars since the exterion began, except to go to the Feir, when the distance required it. I walk fifteen squinces to my business, and when the 'presidents' will sell twenty-five tlekets for ope dollar, which they ought to do, I will become a regular customer.

The streets of our city belong to the people of the city, who have graded and gived them at a great expense, and are superior to any other city. They are to be given up to a parcel of land sharks, but as we money, they must be made a convenience to the people—not an exorbitant tax upon them. The question is now fully at issue—Are the people to have the use of their own streets, or are the Board of Presidents To the Editor of The Press: FALL IN | FALL IN, "E |!"

REFENTANCE AT LEISURE.—The Chicago Tribune says that at a pleture gallery in Kenosha, Wisconsin, the subject of marriage was sportively discussed by a party of young ladies and gentlemen gathered there. Among the gentlemen was a liteutomat of and Illimois cavalry regiment (the 19th), and among the ladies was a Miss M., daughter of one of the oldest settlers. They proposed to get married to see how it would seem. Just then a magistrate came in. Shoulder straps asked the squire if he would marry him. He said yes, if he could find any lady to have him. Miss M.; umped up, and said she would have aim. The justice instructed them to stand up and take hold of hands. The usual questions were asked and answered, and in five minutes they were man and wife. Then came the sorious part of the joke. When the new-made bride found she was really a bride her laugh turned to tears. Her lawful husband wished her to go to his inotel with him, but she fied to her own home. Her parents, nearly distracted, appealed to the justice to undo what he had done; but were informed that the statutes of Wisconsin gave him no authority to separate man and wife. Night came on. The bride was kept at home and the husband forbidden to enter the house. He is determined to have his lawful swife. She and her whole inmily are in great distress. The object of the corporation is to erect two sets of poles and wires, forming a double line, to run by different routes, connecting the cities of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, and all the principal intermediate points, and io establish offices for the reception and transmission of telegraphic messages, and, by connecting with other lines at the main points, to be able to send messages to all parts of the United States and Canadas.

The line is now in course of construction, and contracts have been entered into for the purchase of wire and other materials. None will be used except of the best quality, and it is contemplated to have one get of wires in operation between the main points in less than sixy days, and the other set will be put up and in operation immediately afterwards.

No enterprise now in the market offers equal prospects of profit with that of telegraphing, and the nature of the business proposed to be done by this Company, as its name implies, warrants its stock being recommended to the public as a choice investment.

A careful estimate, based far below the actual capacity, of the number of wires proposed to be employed by this Company shows that, with proper management, it can earn and declare a dividend of 18 to 20 per centper anum.

Books for subscription to the capital stock of this Company will be opened in the city on WEDNESDAY, 39th inst., at the office of Messrs. CHAS, CAMBLOS & CO., 38 South THIRD Street, and ramain open until Sociock on SATURDAY, July 9th, The subscriptions received will be payable in instalments.

It is intended to have the interest divided in the different cities through which the line will pass; therefore but a limited amount of the stock will be officed in each.
