THE PRESS.-PHILADELPHIA. MONDAY. JULY 18. 1864.

PERSONAL.

- Some interesting particulars have been received of the death of Adjutant Henry W. Hall, of the 51st Illinois. The regiment led an assaulting party in the attack on Konesaw Mountain, on the 27th ult. Young Hall was at the head of the regiment, cheering the men on, when he fell, a few feet from the breastworks, hit by nearly a dozen bullets. On the subsequent recovery of the body, under a flag of truce, the officer in command of the robel force paid a strong tribute to the courage of the Adjutant. He said it seemed hard to kill so brave a fellow, but he was too dangerous a man to allow him to advance any further. This officer was very courteous, nised to return the Adjutant's sword if it could be found, and behaved every way like an honorable

-A number of Chinamon had an "affair of honor" in this city, on Saturday ovening lasi, and they had it all to thomselves. A dispute occurring relative to money matters, they locked themselves in the room where they happened to be assembled, and went at the work of annihilating each other with a vigor and determination worthy of the cause. Huge knives and iron bars were the weapons used. One man was killed outright, and soveral others were badly wounded. John Chinamen scem ite know how to settle little business and personal differences quite as well as white people.-

Californian. - Daniel S. Dickinson was orator of the day at Oswego on the Fourth, and in the ovening of the day a scaled envelope, containing $100, was handed to him as an acknowledgment of his highly satis-factory effort, but Mr. D. handed it back, with the request that a committee of ladies should distribute it among the poorest families of absont soldiers from that villago. - The St. Louis Union tells about a young lady belonging to a Secossion family who, now aged 18, has been in a state of slamber since her fourth year. She wakens but twice in twenty-four hours, remains nwake for seven minutes, converses and eats, and again drops asleep. Hor face and hands are described like the heroines in an old ballad, as "lily white." The case is a good one to describe to the marines, or to the psychologists. —Paris correspondents chronicle the death, at the Cherbourg Hospital, of the brave fellow, Gowan, who had his thigh crushed while serving one of the big guns of the Kearsage. At the dinner given by our Minister at Parls to Captain Winslow, the surgeon of the Kcarsurge gave as account of the bravery and fortitude shown by this gallant Yankee tar, and the company at once subscribed a handsome sum to build him a monument-the surgoon charging himself with carrying out the testre of the donors. — The late King of Wurtembarg was the oldest sovereign in Europe. He was brother-in-law of Jorome Bonaparte, and consequently an uncle of Prince Napoleon and the Princess Mathilde. Prince Napoleon and the Princess Mathilde.

Philadelphia all know of the organization. In the carly part of last week, when people began to think there was some danger from robel invasion, all eyes were turned to the blonry Guards. Demands came from all quarters at once upon Mayor Heory. The Guards were wanted here, there, and everywhere, but the Mayor concluded their presence was equally desirable for Philadelphia. This demand for the Henry Guards shows the importance of military organization. If we had more such bodies as the Guards, the people would of course feel more se-cure. CENTRAL RAILROAD. cure. IECRUITING. There was no advancement in the number of en-listments on Saturday compared with Friday. These who did enlist were substantial men and not boys, as was the case several days previous. The regiments forming will, when completed, be an henor to the eity. Several are nearing their com-pletion, and will, no doubt, depart from the eity during the present week. The Oity Treasurer paid over $51,000 was for one-hundredi-days men. This includes Hastings' battery, which was mentioned in

It will be seen from the ubove list of those who have been justly indicted and punished for a viola-tion of the liquor license laws, that it comprises but a small number of these against whom true bills of indictment were returned by the Grand Jury whose labors have just closed. Of course the District Ar-torney, when he stated to the court on Friday that he had no other business ready to be presented to a jury during the present torm, did not overlook the fact that these indictments are still pending, and it is doubles his intention to call them up for trial at the beginning of or perhaps during the first week of the August term, when but fittle new business will be ready, and have them tried. All who have violated the liquor license laws should be coavicted and punished, and if this is done, the Grand Jury of the next. June term will not be called upon to find three hundred indictments against delinquent liquor sellers.
