IMPORTANT LAWSUIT SETTLED.—The Bidde-ford (Maine) Journal states that the great sowing-machine' suit in the United States Court, be-tween Shaw & Clark, of Biddeford, on one side, and Wheeler & Wilson, 'Grover & Baker, Singer & Co., and Howe on the other, has been fully and finally settled. The Journal says: "The suit was brought by the large companies, who com-bined to prevent the defendants from making and selling sewing machines, which they alleged infringed their patents. The trip, which lasted about eight hours, fully deonstrated her capacities, and resulted in general satisfaction. She obeys her rudder splendidly, and when beyond the Hook was turned completely in about four minutes. The rapidity with which her roadsides can be thrown may be judged from the capacity thus developed tion; but Shaw & Clark in the meantime had ob-tained an interest in an older patent than theirs, and got the Government to extend it for seven years, with claims covering not only machines made by the complainants, but all the sewing machines of any kind now made in the country. This, of course, placed the 'boot on the other leg' at once; the result being that the whole matter has now been settled by Shaw & Clark receiving an interest valued at whole sewing machine business. The old patent spoken of is now considered the most valueable of any in existence, except the rubber patent, as it will country. This is about the first instance which we are aware of where both parties to a lawsuit came out ahead, and shows that strategyles not entirely confined to war." ANOTHER MURDER.
