Great enthusiasm prevailed, and after the different speakers had concluded, the meeting adjourned with hearty cheers for Lincoln, Johnson, Kelly, and the whole ticket THE CITY. POLITICAL. GREAT UNION MEETING IN THE EIGHTH he whole ticket. WARD. SPRECHES BY CHARLES GILPIN, ESQ., HON. JUDGE KAON, MORTON M'MICHAEL, ESQ., AND HON. CHARLES O'NIELL. HOSPITAL VOTE. OHARLES O'NIELL.

A mass meeting of Union citizens of the Eighth ward was held last evening, at Hortleultural Hall, Broad and Walnut streets. The meeting was organized by selecting the following officers:

President—I. Gillingham Fell.

Vice Presidents—A. E. Borle, Caleb Cope, Henry Cohen, Edward Groble, Edward Browning, S. A. Mercer, and Isaac S. Colesberry.

Secretaries—J. R. Dunglison, J. G. Devine, D. M. Hambleton, James H. Castle, and Thomas Hart.

The Eighth ward Glee Club was present, and sang a number of patriotic airs.

The president stated that the object of the meeting was to do everything that was possible to be Majority for Lincoln.....120 REPUBLICAN INVINCIBLES. REPUBLICAN IN THIS DEED.

This active body of young gentlemen have leased National Hall, in Market street, above Twelith, for the campaign. The hall will be opened every day and evening for the usual exercises. The public are invited to the hall. Respectable young men may ioin the club. The president stated that the object of the meeting was to do everything that was possible to be done to forward the election of the Union candidates in the October and November elections. The time was short and the Issues involved were important, especially in a national point of view. Four years ago the people of the United States had by a constitutional majority elected Abraham Lincoln the President of the United States. Some of the Democratic party had refused to recognize President Lincoln as the head of the Government, and the same refusal was virtually persisted in by the Democratic party at the present day, and UNION CAMPAIGN CLUB. The necessary requisite to entitle a returned solin by the Democratic party at the present day, and if the citizens of Philadelphia wished to perpetuate if the citizens of Philadelphia wished to perpetuate the Government and put down rebellion they should vote for Abraham Lincoln.

The following resolutions were then adopted:
WHEREAS, It is both appropriate and important that citizens should entertain and publicly express decided views upon the issues before the people at the present crisis of our nation—

Resolved, Tuat we pledge our strong and steadfast support, through success and at all times, to the Union, the Constitution, and the supremacy of the laws, believing that believe the depend our welfare and security as a free per ple. lieving that hereou depend our welfare and security as a free per pla.

Resolved. That justice, humanity, liberty, and our common welfare demand the most vigorous prosecution of hostilities against traitors in arms, until an honorable and enduring peace is established on an unconditional surrender

Resolved. That while fighting for the Union we rejoice that an man slavery, "the path, motive, guide, origin, and end" of this ungodly rebellion, must fall with treason; that we approve of the emancipation proclamation, the employ ment of negro troops; and we maintain that the safety and welfare of our nation, as well as the moral sense of a Christian age, demand the total eradication of this evil from our soil.

Resolved. That we believe that, through the able civil and military administration of our Government, our war against the monsier rebellion has been a success unparalleled in history, and that the desired peace is near at hand. cess unparameter in is near at hand.

Resolved, That we detest and will forever execrate the party and the men who sympathize with traitors, whose schemes of aggrandizement and promotion by every defeat are thwatted by every victory of our heroic soldiers and sailors battling for Union and liberty therty. Resolved, That it is the duty of loyal patriots to organize and to work with their whole might, that such an overwhelming majority for the Union party may be received in the approaching elections as will forever crush treason in our land, and will plant constisional. Legislative, county, and municipal nomina-tions of the National Union Party, and pledge to them our active and carnest support.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted.
Mr. Charles Glipin was then introduced. He read the letter of General Sherman. He was opread the letter of General Sherman. He was op-posed to reading much to an audience; but when he saw his views expressed in so much better way than he could express them, he did not hesi-tate to read. He had looked upon, read, and watched closely the events of the war in the shape of speeches and of men, but he had never seen anything in the mode of conducting war equal to this. The time for watching hen-roosts has gone by. There were times when men as good as you and I from Pennsylvania were sent as sentries and guards, and generals and colonels were found who changed these sentries, and put men of more leniency to guard the property of rebellious people. The time for leniency had gone, he hoped; the time for barbarity would never come; but he thought the time had come when we should ask citizens of a rebellious country to come North and take the oath of allegiance, or to go South and serve the devil. I do not pretend to say that McOlellan is a coward in the field, but I do say he is a coward so far as the science of war was concerned. He hadn't the courage which was necessary to bring the enemy to abject submission. He had nothing to say for his own views, further than what was contained in the letter of Sherman. He closed by saying, that if they wanted the war and There were times when men as good as you and the closed by saying, that if they wanted the war, and the condition of the army to be in the same position that it was before the last call of President Lincoln, all they had to do was to elect George B. McClellan. Hon. Judge Knox was then introduced. He said!

As a resident of the Floht ward. duced. He said!

As a resident of the Eighth ward, I came here to-night to listen; I had not the remotest idea of saying a word, but I don't want to refuse so kind an invitation. The great point of interest is the Presidential election, but probably the battle is to be fought in October. If Pennsylvania, by her vote in October, shows a decided Union preference the contest is virtually ended. The great question now is—shall we have a Government to conduct? And this question sinks into insignificance all other questions; it is the only question. If the rebellion is successful there is an end of the nationality of America. Talk not to me of reconstruction; it questions; it is the only question. If the rebellion is successful there is an end of the nationality of America. Talk not to me of reconstruction; it cannot be. It lives now, or it dies forever. If there is not determination enough in the people to save the country now, there are none of us now living, or our children's children, who will ever see America what it once was. If the men at home, who have none of the perils of war, refuse to stand by their country now, it may be that the efforts of those who have gone into the field will be of no avail. How do the friends of McClellan expect to save the Union? By an immediate cessation of hostilities. That's the way you propose. The Union party proposes to save the Union by a vigorous prosecution of the war. Is this Union to be preserved by an immediate cessation of hostilities? For what purpose? With a view to a national convention. Have we not every reason to believe that such a plan would not be successful? That plan was adopted with four dissenting voices. And the reason they voted against it was because it was not strong enough for them. Can the Union be saved by a vigorous prosecution of the war? The delegates at the Chicago Convention declared that the war was a iallure. The words were hardly in print before the telegraph wires told us that Sherman had captured Atlanta, and that Farragut had captured the forts guarding Mobile. They know now and they knew that unless a movement was made in the North in favor of the South, the Confederacy was a sailure. Ought this rebellion to be successful or ought it to be overthrown? My belief is that the rebellion can be destroyed by a repetition of the same thing which they say caused it. They tell us it's not true, that they rebelled because Abraham Lincoln was elected President of the United States. By the grace of God let them come back again, because he is re-elected. [Immense applause.] They determined before that they would divide the Democracy, and chat the Republicans should succeed, and they would take that way Charleston. I say doomed city, because I hope that the war will not cease until that city is brought to subjection. I am not ready to say that he only wanted one condition of peace—Union. I want the enforcement of the laws. I want to see the leaders of the rebellion taught a lesson. Our only safety is to compel them to come back, not as victors, but as defeated rebels. They are not to impose conditions upon us. We are to dictate to them. Are we to elevate, to honor these men who have been false to their country? Are we to put in power a man who will be surrounded by a number of men whose opinions he will not be able to resist, and whose opinions are hostile to the country?! He would be compelled from necessity to carry out the views of the men who nominated and helped to elect him. If Abraham Lincoln is elected President of the United States, you have men whose only desire is to destroy the rebellion and save the Union. Let us elect in October the men whom we have nominated. Good men and true, not one of them is, in the least degree, a rebel sympathizer. We will strike terror into the hearts of the Opposition when the result of the October election is known. Then the glorious state of Ohio will follow in our victorious wake. We have already heard from Maine and Vermont. What will then become of the ery for cessation of hestilities? Let us then aid our armies with our votes at the coming election. of the cry for cessation of hestilities? Let us then aid our armies with our votes at the coming election.

Mr. Morton McMichael was introduced. He said: This is the first time I have appeared in the Eighth ward. I have come here to night to show you, by my presence, to show you how heartily and sincerely I am with you in the great cause, and, after what my friends, Gilpin and Knox have said, it is needless for me to say much. I am so placed, by the necessities of my professional pursuit, that I hear many things which the great public do not hear, and I can say, from what I know, that Abraham Lincoin will be relected. (Great cheering.) If I thought it could be otherwise, I would hide my head in shame, for I would feel that, instead of it being an honor, it would be a disgrace. We have but one duty to perform; that is, to stand by the flag. We have tried to fulfil that duty. We have had a great many sore afflictions, but we have had nothing to stir us up more than the Chicago Convention. Men calling themselves Americans to assemble and deliberately declare that the war which has accomplished larger results than anything of which history has made record—to declare that this war was a fallure. Oh! that high Heaven would put in every honest hand a whip to lash the backs of the infamous rascals. It is because I feel in my heart of hearts that America can never submit to the disgrace of electing the candidate of that Convention, that I stand here to proclaim that we shall not. Of General McClellan I formed the opinion, at a very early history of his career, that he was not fit for the position he held in the army. So far as his morals are concerned, I know nothing against him. But, he has associated himself with such men as Cox and Vallandigham, and I do not hesitate to say, looking simply to his personal capabilities, that he is not the women, who I understand screamed themselves hoarse the other night groaning the Invincibles, it is not they who are to settle this question of who shall we elect. It is for you to de aid our armies with our votes at the coming elecmitted to answer.

In the Ootober election than you ever were before, he whole world is looking toward the Pennsylvania election. The London Times is out for Mccollan. 1t, like some other English journals, is a considerable in suit offered our flag, at Fort Sumptor the ballot box.

There were a large imber of ladies present. The first speech was invered by Dennis O'Brien, Esq., who alluded to present condition of the country, and discussed it is issues of the present campaign in a general way, Thomas M. Coleman, Esq., also delivered an address on the subject of free speech, in which he said that the Democratic party claimed this as a right, views of that party then they were ready to democratic phase in opposition to the shounce him, and in favor of the suppression of free speech. Mr. Coleman was frequently applauded.

The large reading-room was crowded. Among the auditory, were a large number of ladies. After the opening exercises, which were of a devotional character, there were debates on "honesty as a means of success in business, and temperance." Both of these subjects wore ably discussed. The literary exercises of the evening were agreeably interspersed by vocal and instrumental music. The vocal music was rendered by the choir of the Central Congregational Church. The instrument used was one of Esty & Green's harmoniums, kindly loaned for the occasion by Prof. Bruce. The meeting was of a highly interesting and pleasing character, reminding us of the palmiest days of the Association. The Association is silently doing a good work. It was very evident that a large crowd of disorderly persons collected in and about the Keystone Club headquarters on Saturday evening, and from various threats that were overheard it was considered necessary to hold a force of police in reserve. During the evening there were a number of disorderly scenes in front of the club room. Lient. Henderson, of the Reserve Corps, remonstrated with the disorderlies, and was knocked from behind. Officer Hess was served in the same manner. Another officer had his cost slit to the extent of five inches. It is evident that some one in the crowd had attempted to stab him. HOW POLICE OFFICERS ARE TREATED. [Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.] ALLEGED PICKPOCKET. Dutch Ahern was arraigned at the Central Station yesterday afternoon on the charge of rescuing a pickpocket from Mr. Charles J. Field. The evidence set forth the facts that on Saturday evening Mr. Field had just left the Union League House, and while in the crowd, on the pavement, he felt a strange hand in his pocket; he caught the arm of the fellow who had thus inserted his digits, but at the same moment, the prisoner interfered and rescued him; citizens were called to assist, but the active thief effected his escape; witness held on to Ahern and handed him into the custody of an afficer; there appeared to be several persons on the sidewalk acting in concert with the prisoner; when arrested he did not give the name of Ahern. Another fellow was arrested on suspicion of being the one who thrust his hand into Mr. Field s pocket. He was discharged, Mr. F. not being able to positively identify him. Ahern was committed in default of $1,000 bail to answer. P. M. For Holmesburg, Tacony, Wissonoming, Bridesburg, and Frankford, at 9 A. M. 5, 5, 45, and 8 P. Aug. 8, 1864. A THIEF AND RECEIVER.

A colored man, named Samuel Davis, and James Young, white, were arraigned on the charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods. Davis is known to the police as an old thief, having served out several terms in prison. Young keeps a drinking shoop at the corner of Sixth street and Middle alley. Officer Oharles Fredericks testified that he had arrested a colored man named Dunlap for having stolen goods in his possession, consisting of clothing stolen goods in his possession, consisting of clothing stolen from a store in Reading, Pa.; to the value of $2,300. Had understood that stolen goods had been sent to this city.

Officer Taggart testified that he went to Young's house, and asked him if he had received a box of goods from Adams' Expres; he replied in the negative, and said nothing of the kind ever came to his place, nor did he expect any. The officer proceeded to the office of Adams' Express Company, and taking the driver with him, went back to Young's. The latter was identified at once as the man who had received from him a box of goods; he was therefore taken into custody. This box contained goods stolen in Pennsylvania; the fact is, that a roving band of well-known thieves have been operating in various parts of the State for some time. Officer Levytestified to recovering a number of articles at Young's house, consisting of cloth, cassimere, alpaca, mousdelaine. The latter piece the wife of Young said she bought in Eighth street, but could not tell the location of the store. She said she gave 60 cents per yard for it. The fact is, it is very common stuff, and not worth this price. There were some pieces found at Davis' house, in-Barclay street. A THIEF AND RECEIVER. Aug. 8, 1864. "No, sir."

The two women were now examined as to the assault and battery committed upon them. They were crossing Chestnut street and Fifth, having with them a coach containing a little child. The prisoner struck the one who had hold of the handle of the coach. The other woman asked him what he did that for, whereupon he struck her a blow. A police officer took him into custody.

The magistrate asked him what he had to say?
The prisoner replied, that he thought he had a right to do as he pleased in a free country; he had net yet become a citizen, and supposed that he could speak as he pleased and do as he pleased.

The Alderman replied, that was an abuse of the privilege of freedom, and could not be tolerated.
Officer Benkert was now called to the stand. He testified that, on Saturday night, while the Union Campaign Club was passing along Walnut street, in front of the Continental Theatre, the prisoner was one of a crowd of disorderlies on the sidewalk groaning and shouting, and inciting to riot; he was dressed the same then as he is now.

Officer Dale testified to the same effect as Mr. Benkert. The prisoner was required to enter ball in the sum of $600 to answer each charge of assault and battery, and $600 to answer the charge of inciting to riot on Saturday night. I. ast evening, a beautiful fine, bearing the names of the Cordesion. About 80 o'clock, a large and enclusiastic crowd of the friends of Lincoln and Johnson assembled. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Jas. Brearley, Jr., of the Twentieth ward, who, after a selected as president, who thanked the meeting for the honor conferred upon him, and indulged in some very pleasing and patriotic remarks. He was ber of boys had a fight near Mount Vernon street and Eleventh, about some barrels, to be used about election times. During the melec it is alleged that the prisoner fired a pistol, the contents of which took effect in the face of a lad. The accused was held to await a further hearing. ROAD.—This great line traverses the Northern and Northwest counties of Pennsylvania to the city of Erie, Northwest counties of Pennsylvania to the city of Erie, on Lake Erie.

It has been leased by the PENNSYLNANIA RAIL-ROAD COMPANY, and, under their auspices is being rapidly opened throughout its entire length.

It is now in use for passenger and Freight business from Harrisburg to St. Mary's (216 miles), on the Eastern Division, and from Sheffield to Erie (78 miles) on the Western Division. Conrt of Oyer and Terminer and Quar-ter Sessions—Judges Thompson and Allison. The trial of homicide cases was to have commenced yesterday, but Judge Ludlow being still indisposed and unable to attend, and because of applications for continuance, in behalf of several of the defendants, all the cases were continued until the next term. cations for continuance, in behalf of several of the defendants, all the cases were continued until the next term.

The cases thus continued were as follows: Barbara Haifner, charged with infanticide, alleged to have been committed May 30th, 1864; Charles Bumbaugh, charged with the killing of John Graves, June 4th, 1864; Edwin Walton, a police officer, charged with the killing, by shooting with a pistol, of Jacob N. Mayberry, July 3d, 1864; Mary Ann Stine, alias Crawford, charged with infanticide, committed June 25th, 1864; Samuel Woodside, charged with killing Morris Penderville, May 28th, 1864; and the case of Wum A. Maguire, alias Mitchell, for the killing of Maggie Baer, at the Continental Theatre, on the 2d of April, 1864, by shooting her with a pistol.

Some of the above cases were continued generally for the term, but others of them only until next week, on Monday of which the October term begins. The case of Maguire, alias Mitchell, is assigned for Monday, and will be called up, and will doubtless be tried on that day.

The above cases, as we have stated, were continued indisposition of Judge Ludlow, who, though unwell at the beginning of the August term, in his anxiety to dispose of the business, persisted ir holding court until he precipitated the attack which has since confined him to the house. Nearly all the cases upon the table of the District Attorney, except homicide cases, were, however, tried before this occurred, and they will not suffer by the delay of a week or two:

Judge Allison discharged the jurors from further attendance during the term, and the court adjourned till Friday. nxpress Train.
