[Applause.] they have, and rights they shall have, the comit necessary for him to say many things not strictly in keeping with the more rigid requirements of the pulpit service. He felt, he said, at a loss to know where to begin with the many things he had to say, though his discourse certainly showed no embariassment in this respect. He alluded succinctly to the honored history of this church, its venerated dead, the character extent, and influence of the congregation as it exists to day; and his own physical infirmities, and need of their faithful support. He firmly believed that it was God who had first called him to be their pastor. It seemed almost as if he had seen a vision to that effect, and he had not been disobedient to that heavenly vision. On some future occasion he hoped to discourse to them more fully on the pastoral relations. On the present, it was appropriate for him to discourse upon his own duties in his new office among them. Quoting from Paul, where the apostle states his determination to "Know nothing save Christ, and Him crucified," the preacher proceeded to draw a parallel between this paragraph and the circumstances with wilch he found himself surrounded. He was there not to soothe them to adeeper consciousness of their sins. He stood there, he said, as the ambassador of Christ, and they might look upon him as standing in that pulpit in Christ's stead. He was not there to preach polities; but he was bound to raise his voice against all forms of public wrong. Neither was he there to deliver moral lectures, or to hold controversies with men upon this or that theological creed. It mathered little to him whether his hearers yere Baptists or Presbyterians or Mother than the Gospel of the Son of God, "let both him and them be accursed." He hoped that he should have the fullest co operation of his hearers in prosecuting his labors, and that especially they would spare him from unnecessary loss, in which connection he enumerated as improprieties Sunday funerals and visits intended as a mere social pastime. His highest aim would be to root and ground t his claimed and required by all humanity. is juncture a large number of the let Battalion on Campaign Chub, returned veterius, under the mand of Col. The relations of pastor and people were thoroughly reciprocal in this respect.

In conclusion he urged his hearers to have failh in the Church institution itself as a divinely appointed instrumentality. No man could truly believe the confession, "I believe in the Holy Catholic Chronics have believe the confession," Church," &c., unless he believed in a holy particular After the sermon, four verses of the 78th hymn were sung, commencing : "I love thy kingdom, Lord,

A BEAUTIPUL ARTICLE FOR THE TOILET .- Luin's " Floriline" has justly won its way into universal favor. No lady ever persists in its use a week without becoming infatuated with its virtues. It renders the most ordinary and unattractive hair luxuriant and beautiful, and imparts to the wearer the exquisite odor of the finest exotic flowers. THE STOCK OF GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS offered by Mr. George Grant, No. 610 Chestnut street, is the finest in the city, and his celebrated "Prize Medal Shirts," invented by Mr. J. F. Taggart, are unsurpassed by any others in the world, in fit, comfort, and durability. WOMAN'S TIMIDITY .- A quaint writer says : " ] have seen women so delicate that they were afraid to ride for fear of the horse running away; afcaid to sail for fear the boat should overset; and afraid to walk for fear the dow might fall. But I never saw one that was afraid to get married, particularly to a lover who had good taste sufficient to procure his wedding suit at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth. otherwise. They go into convulsive hysteries over the word Union; but let us see what construction is put upon this language by sympathizers more honest than they.

The London Times is in favor of the Chicago Iplatform. The London Post (the organ of the aristouracy of Great Britzin, who looks upon us as upon a viper fanged) declares that the Chicago platform is the plutform for the Union. So with the journals of France. And then, what is more, the rebots them elves daclare that if they can but coathnue this war until the Novomber election the success of the Democratic party will have achieved for them what their arms have been unable to accomplish. These are the certain tests by which to apply the term "Union" employed by them in their platform, and the language also used in the letter of their candidate is his acceptance. Now, fellow-citizens, I would say one word to those who, like myself, belonged at one time to the Democratic party, and who, like me, when those difficulties were precipitated upon us, rose, na we supposed, above the barriers of party, and armyed ourserves under the standards of on country. [Applanes I will be frank with you to-night. You supposed it was pessible to engraft upon ine party creed of that glorious traditionary hody, the instincts and declarations of war. The serious and for midable effolt was made without success. Party discipline rose above love of country, partiolism was at a discount, and the Democratic party, asserting its discipline, was placed upon an unconditional peace policy, and it is for you to determine whether a party dear as it may be to you, arraigning itself against your country, will induce you to follow's, or subscribelto the principles which sustain your country. I know the difficulty of severing parties, but those around me to-night I recognize as men of that stern stuff that could have lived in the tide of those times that made Rome what he was. Are there no men here capable of the effort? Is there no partiotism such as nerved Brutus' arm. I tell you that th

Why not take a cold in time, then, and by using at once Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant, which for thirty years has been a standard remedy for all coughs and colds, avoid these dreadful alternatives? WHAT IS MEANT BY DRONCHITIS is an inflammation of the bronchia, or passages which convey air to the lungs. In its earlier stages this edt ei blos e ao blos e belles vleom breast. It usually comes on with a little hoarseness, followed by a moderate cough, with slight feelings of heat or soreness about the throat or chest. If not arrested the cough becomes one of the most prominent symptoms, as well as the most painful and distressing; the inflammation increases in intensity until it finally interferes with the access of air to the lung cells, when the vital powers soon give way. In most of the stages of this disease, Dr. Jayne's Expectorant effects a speedy cure by producing a free and easy expectoration, suppressing the cough and allaying the fever. A fair trial is all II. A full and efficient band present made the neighborhood echo with the soul inspiring tunes of "Rally Round the Flag," "John Brown," and other patriotic airs. The heavy rain prevented an out-door display, and the hall, large as it is, was speedily filled. Thousands could not gain admittance, and were therefore compelled to ratire, from the pettings of the pittless storm. The assemblage was called to order, and Samuel Owens, Esq, was chosen chairman. The principal speech of the evening was delivered by Major Diering, who adverted at considerable length to the rebellion, the rebellion open arms against the constituted authorities, and the sympathizers at home, who delude themselves with the idea that is being bought in preference to all others in use. The reasons for this are at once cogent and numer-

AN EVENT IN THE HISTORY OF THE FIRST

Until yesterday the First Baptist Church of this city, corner of Broad and Arch streets, has been without a regular paster ever since the resignation of the Rev. Mr. Outhbert, in the spring of 18e1. Yesterday morning, according to announcement, the of the Rev. Mr. Cuthbort, in the spring of 1881. Yesterday morning, according to annousement, the Rev. George Dana Boardman, who was elected pastor of this church some months ago, formally entered upon his duty in that capacity. The large church was filled on the occasion, not with standing the inclemency of the morning, and the services throughout were of a highly pleasing and satisfactory character. The latter were opened by the choir in the anthem, "Our Faiher who art in Heaven."

The choir, we may remark, has also been newly constituted, and is now one of the most efficient in Philadelphia. Mr. Michael Oross, the organist, has scarcely a superior in his profession, and Mrs. Behrens, the soprano, Miss. Mary Green, the contralto, Mr. Foley, the tener, and Mr. Dutcher, the bass singer, are equally eminent.

Mr. Boardman is a stop-son to the late celebrated missionary, Rev. Dr. Judson, and was born in Burmah. He is a young man of good, though not extraordinary ability; comes to Philadelphia from one of the largest churches in Rochester, N. Y., with an enviable record, and enters upon the labors of his new field under the most favorable auspicos. Instead of the customary invocatory, the new

The Union arms must triumph over all opposition, for the "Union must and shall be preserved." The grand Union meetings held by Sherman at Atlanta, and Sheridan, who got up Farly on a certain Monday morning, are doing more good to strengthen the glorious cause of perpetuating the Government than anything else.

We might say in this connection that a splendid Union banner was flung to the breeze from a large manufactory on Marshall street, below Girard avenue, on Saturday afternoon.
