The minute sub-division of the famous Murray series of guide-books has its accompanying disadvantages. The traveller is compelled to procure a library not small or light, and at almost every frontier line he must change his book. What is needed is some general work which shall answer the ordinary exigencies of a brief continental excursion. This want is supplied in the work before us, which has been corrected and reissaed annually for the last three years. The publishers have taken special pains to make it the most correct and useful volume of the kind published. The author, who resides in Europe the greater portion of his time, has, during the last year, rewritten the greater portion of the work, adding and correcting up to July of the present year, which is said to be two years later than any and would may consent to transact the business without charge; for which deposits duplicate certificates will be issued to the depositors by the officer of the Custom Department (to make to order) No. 18. As a work of reference, and as an intelligible guide for the tourist, this Hand-Book is superior to any published in America or Europe. In it is noted every improvement in railways, stage-coaches, &c., that are likely to be employed in making the general four. The Hand-Book is an avunul, and therefore, unlike the guide-books of Europe, contains all the latest information necessary for the enlightenment of the public. Its information is historical, topographical, and descriptive. To the text is added a railroad map, corrected up to 1564, and a map embracing colored routes of travel in the countries named. J. W. BRADLEY'S $40,000,000. PATENTED DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIRTS. PATENTED DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIETS.

This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most elastic, flexible, and durable spring ever used, enabling the wearer, in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibility, to place and fold the skirt when in use as easily and with the same convenience as a silk or muslin dress. It entirely obviates and silences the only objection to hoop skirts, viz: the anneyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, or in any crowded place, from the difficulty of contracting them to occupying a small space. This entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the skirt the usual full and symmetrical form, and is the lightest and most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade, or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. They are the best quality in every part, and by far the lightest, most durable, comfortable, and economical skirt made. Merchants will be supplied as above, and ladies in most first-class retail stores in this city and throughout the different States.

Colonel in charge First Divisiou.

Quartermaster General's Office. [From the Home Journal.]

We have in this goodly volume (the third book of the series) a work of great merit and of rare value, not only to the tourist as a compass to guide him in his travels (givir g. as it does, all the principal hotels, resorts, railroads, &c., &c., of every place of interest), but to the student as a book of reference in relation to subjects of the last historical importance. Much time and labor have evidently been devoted to its preparation, and great research bestowed upon its compilation. The author has travelled for those who have not, made himself the guide of those who are travellers by anticipation, and acts as a good recorder for both. He has seen much on the surface of the earth "beyond the oceans," wields an easy pen for sketching what he has seen, and relates, in a pleasing manner, many interesting facts concerning prominent people, places of note, &c. It would require much space to say all we think of this volume. The book is timely, and the general ability with which it is presented is sufficient to account for the value attached to it by that class of persons for whose special use it has been prepared. After a thorough inspection of its pages we are of the opinion that the "Hand-Book" will be found an absolute state qua non by all persons visiting the Old World.
