Lee FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. made the attack and routed the enemy, capturing thirty prisoners, and killing and wounding a large At the meeting of the Bucks Agricultural Association, at Aylesbury, England, on the 21st ult., Mr. Disraeli made a speech, from which we take the following paragraph which refers to America:

Now, Isfort like giving advice, because it is an unnecessary responsibility under any dircumstances—[laughter]—but I could not help saying that I did not entirely agree with him that the high price of wool was mainly occasioned by the civil war in America. The tendency of late has been that all articles of raw material, particularly wool, have been rising in price, and when I look at the fact that mixed fabrics, that make the industry of Yorkshire, are becoming more popular in the market, it is clear that wool is an article of raw produce for which there is a greater demand, and if there had been no civil war you would have had a high price for wool, and it would have been the best wool. [Hear, hear.] With regard to the civil war in America I would rather not say much. But when it broke out I was dining at a table of a similar character—I think in Buckingham. Great anxiety was, and I took the opportunity of saying—being obliged to give my opinion, that that war would be a very long war. The general idea was that it would be a very short war, and the American Minister of State announced it as a war of ninety days. I ventured to say that it would be a long war, because the causes of that war had been for a long time in preparation. I therefore did not believe that it would be a short war, and the causes of this kind lead people to enter into war they must not be confounded with those comparatively small causes which have brought about the generality of European wars in modern times. [Hear, hear.] When nations go to war to war they must not be confounded with those comparatively small causes which have brought about the generality of European wars in modern times. [Hear, hear.] When nations go to war are vast and protound, and it is not to be supposed, when men enter into struggles of that kind, they will throw them aside like children tired of a new toy. The following despatch from General Lee to the Secretary of War was received on Saturday:
HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA,
October 1, 1864.
General Early reports that all of the enemy's cavalry have returned towards Harrisonburg, and that there is now no enemy south of North river.

R. E. Lee.
Herrisonburg is twenty-five miles north of Staunciation, at Aylesbury, England, on the 21st ult., Mr. Disraeli made a speech, from which we take Harrisonburg is twenty-five miles north of Staun-Gen. Early sent the following despatch to Gen. Colston, commanding at Lynchburg, from which it will be seen that the advance of Sheridan has been effectually checked:

HADQUARTERS, Sept. 29, 1864.

Brigadier General R. E. Colston:

If the people of Lynchburg will turn out and defend the city against raiding parties I am now in a condition to arrest the further progress of the enemy's main force.

J. A. EARLY, Lieutenant General.

The Examiner of the 4th says:

Our only news is to the effect that Early holds the enemy steadily at bay. They will never force Brown's Gap, and neither side can now effect much more. A cavalry force of the enemy, two regiments, with artillery, were at Ruskell's Hill, fourteen miles from Gordonsville, and reported advancing Grongia.—The Examiner of the 3d gives the following:

The army correspondent of the Columbus Times writes as follows on the 23d ult:

I advised you to keep on the lookout for an important move. This move has been accomplished, or at least is being accomplished. The army has moved a distance of thirty-five miles to the westward, without the least attempt at molestation on the part of the enemy, principally from the fact that he knew nothing of our change of base, and only discovered it upon last Tuesday.

A lady exile from Atlanta, who came through yesterday, states that Sherman was completely taken aback when the news reached him, and declared that if Hood forced him out of Atlanta he would leave the city in ashes. Yesterday the right of our army, under General Hardee, rested upon West Point Railroad, near Palmetto, and our left, under General Lee, rested near Chattahoochie river, in the direction of Campbellton.

It was supposed that Hood intended to push forward, if possible, to Blue Mountain and establish a base there, and from that point threaten Sherman's rear; but the fact of our army's stopping in its present measure of the set if would set if the GRORGIA.—The Examiner of the 3d gives the fol-pase there, and from that point threaten Sherman's rear; but the fact of our army's stopping in its present position to fortify, would seem to look as if the object of the move was merely to protect our. Alabama and Mississippi lines of communication. I know that our pontoon trains have gone forward to the front, and I hope they are to be used in crossing the river to Blue Mountain or some other point in that direction. and the struggle in America is a war of this kind. I do not look upon the peace demonstrations that we have read in the newspapers, although some have accepted them as proofs that we are nearer a settlement, as anything than mers electioneering devices, and therefore, to bring the point to a practical issue, the result of my, speculation is that I shall cross my Downs with Cotswolds, and I do think that it is a deficiency on the part of the farmers of Bucks—aithough I trust that I shall not be offending some of my constituents—in adhering so dozely to hat direction.

With Forrest to co-operate with our army, I prelict a brilliant fall campaign, notwithstanding the Yankees claim to have one hundred and twenty. thousand men.

The Chattanoga Rebel, which was being published quite successfully at Griffin, has been obliged to pack up and enfer a box car once more. In a recent number it speaks of Sherman's loss at Jonesboro as follows:

An officer of our army who recently went over the ground where the Yankee killed were buried, informs us that he saw not less than six hundred graves. He counted sixty-eight killed in a single regiment, which he was able to distinguish by the marks upon the headboards. Taking the usual average of four wounded to one killed, and we have three thousand as Sherman's loss, instead of the twelve hundred he reports. some of my constituents—in adhering so closely to the old system of merely breeding Downs. ROBERT J. BRECKINRIDER'S rejection of the terms of peace prepared for the country by the conspirators at Chicago, brought down the house in his last speech in Cincinnati. He said: My excellent friend speak of the South as "his erring brethren." But I do not permit men to be my Southern brethren who have tried their very best to cut my throat. [Applause.] I have a brave young son, twenty-one years of age, who has been fighting from the beginning of this war, on our side. He was captured, and they have him now under the fire of the batteries at Charleston. Well, I would cheerfully go there and take his place, but as God is my judge, I would not agree to bring him home by making peace on the terms which these men propose. [Great applause.] Drexel & Co. quote: twelve hundred he reports.

CHARLESTON—THE ANDERSONVILLE PRISON CHARLESTON—THE ANDERSONVILLE PRISON-ERS.—A correspondent of the Augusta Constitu-tionalist, writing from Charleston, says: One would suppose from the heavy fire to which Charleston is subjected that business must neces-sarily be suspended, but such is not the case. There is a thriving business being done, principally, how-ever, in blockade goods, which, notwithstanding the watchfulness of the Yankee blockaders, find their way regularly into this port. THE RICHMOND PAPERS AGAIN PUBLISHED—THE FIGHTING IN THE LATE MOVEMENTS—FEDERAL OCCUPATION OF FORT HARRISON—REPORTS FROM EARLY—ADVICES FROM GEORGIA, MOBILE, city.

There are now in this vicinity about ten thousand of the Andersonville prisoders, who were materially benefited by the change. Some of them have voluntered to perform certain duties, in lieu of which they are to receive clothes and rations, and be exchanged at the earliest moment. They attribute the cause of all their grievances to the Yankee Government, which, by refusing to enter into a fair and The Richmond papers, which were suspended last week during the panic caused by the move-ments of General Grant's army, have resumed publication. Later in the day an assault was actually delivered, which was repulsed. There is at present a number of our men confined in a stockade on Morris Island, within range of the Later in the day an assault was actually delivered, which was repulsed.

We have since learned that the cause of the fallure was a misconstruction of the order fixing the time of assault by one of the division commanders. He ordered his troops to charge the position twenty minutes before the appointed time, and, of course, received the concentrated fire of the enemy. The men displayed great intrapidity, and it is said came near carrying the fort, but were compelled to fall back before the heavy fire.

By the time they returned to the cover of the works from which they started, the other column rushed forward at the precise minute prescribed in the order for the assault, and soon encountered the same destructive fire which had repelled the other column. The men seemed animated by a determination to recover the lost position at all hazards, and at one time it was believed that, unsupported as they were, they would succeed in expelling the enemy from the peak, but the fire poured into their ranks at length compelled them to recoll, and finally to fall back to their original line. There seems to be ne doubt that the fort could have been retaken had the forces assigned to the duty acted in concert, as it was designed they should:

The Yankees will, no deubt, [greatly magnify the fallure of this attempt to retake the fort; and we shall not be surprised at reading in their newspapers the announcement that? the rebels were repulsed with the loss of two thousand shen;" but the fact is, that in both assaults we did not lose more than four hundred men, killed and wounded.—Examiner, Oct. 3. guns of our batteries. No fighting has occurred since our last issue. Both are working, and both throw occasional shells ever the working parties. That was the cannonading heard in the city yesterday. The Yankees are strengthening Battery Harrison, the Confederates having straightened their lines so as to leave Battery Harrison entirely out of their system of fortifications. She will be dressed in her uniform. Mr. John T. Donnelly, Jr., (formerly treasurer of the Walnut street Theatre), has been selected to per-fect the processory arrangements. The Negro Troors.—It is well ascertained from examination of the fields of the late conflicts that the enemy has suffered immense loss. Some 500 dead negroes lie in front of Fort Gilmer. A colored barber, well known in Fredericksburg, and an ex-barkeeper of this town, named Jim Cook, are said to be among them. This is possible only on the supposition that the fellow was caught upon his arrival in the North and whisked off to the ranks. The enemy certainly forced the front rank of negroes forward in the charge. The runaways were shot in numbers by the rear file of whites, in full view of our troops. By this means they drove the panic-stricken crowds right on our guns. Twenty-five dead negroes were counted in the ditch of Fort Gilmer. Many of the muskets taken from the negro dead were found to be discharged, and they were so wild in their firing that it is not believed that any of our men were hit by their shooting.

We learn from an official source that our whole loss in all the fighting on this side of the river since its commencement on Thursday morning will come under nine hundred—and this includes the whole number of killed, wounded, and captured—all missing from the muster-roll on any account.—Examinar, Oct. 3. rectile ancessary art in another column, to which we are desired to call attention, relative to holding - National Fair at Boston, appeals at once to the patriotism of the public. GRANT'S STRATEGY.—Several unauthenticated GRANT'S STRATEGY.—Several unauthenticated reports were in circulation last night.

The first, and most "important if true," is that the heavy force of the enemy lately brought over to this (north) side of the river, whose attacks have occupied so much attention within the last few days, are now rushing back to the south side, without, however, abandoning Battery Harrison. If true, it will not be the first time that Grant has performed this trick. It is, in fact, his single trick—his sole manouvre—a demonstration on the north side to make Lee weaken himself on the Petersburg lines, and then a sudden dash to the left flank—always to the left.

While Grant was sending a column of twenty five thousand on Fort Harrison, he was making a similar movement to the west of the Weldon road. There, too, he took a small advanced outwork, and pushed forward his column. But here, as at Fort Gilmer, he was strenuously met and defeated with yet heavier loss. Besides his killed and wounded, which can be estimated only, General Hill and Hampton give the official information that they have secured nine hundred prisoners, including five colonels. We are indebted to the Express for the following particulars of the late operations before Petersburg:
On Friday an entire corps of infantry, well supplied with artillery, fell upon our works on Mr. William Peebles' farm, Squirrel Level road, a mile and a half west of the enemy's original lines, and, by force of numbers, succeeded, after a sharp engagement, in dislodging our troops. Fort McRae, and a portion of the line of breastworks adjacent to it, fell into their hands, with one piece of artillery and a few prisoners. A brief halt was made, but the Yankees scon advanced again, in the direction of the Boydton plank road. They swarmed over Boissean's, Pegram's, Bosswell's and Jones' farms, but were struck on the latter by our forces and checked in their career. Battle was here joined, and the confident enemy—meeting more than his match—was forced back in the direction of the captured works, with severe loss in killed, wounded, and missing. BOOTS AND SHOES.—There has been no improvement in the shoe market since last review; in fact, the demand has gradually decreased until the market nearly represents the usual quietude of a mid-summer trade. There are a few buyers in town, but they have generally little heart to buy to any extent. The general jobbers are, of course, nearly idle. Some few houses have heavy stocks and must be large losers unless business, ralliers and prices improve. But the major part of the trade are lightly stocked, and there are no appearances of forced sales or a crowded market. The manufacturers are selling small bids to keep assortments in the hands of their cuttomers, but are generally curtailing productions. In regard to prices very little can be said, for without actual sales to base quotations, it is impossible to be definite. Goods can doubtless be bought cheaper than last week or in any pravious week for months. quiet, '' as the telegraph announced. That fact is taken as indicative of inability to move, notwithstanding the assurances upon all sides that our army was never in a better condition for sighting, or more anxious to achieve further victories. Gold subsequently fell to 199, at which it closed, it being evident that the Bull clique were not backed by anything warranting their assumption of military disasters. Government loans were generally better; the 'Sis improved %, and the 5-20s sold up to 102, an advance of 1, though they subsequently declined to 1011. State and city loans were somewhat firmer; Reading sold at First Board up to 62%, and advance of 1% on the closing price of the previous day. At 4% o'clock it sold down to 61. Boston Boot and Shoe Market, Oct. 6. Boston Root and Shoe Market, Oct. 6.

The Reporter says there is no animation observable in the boot and shoe market, and the present quiet bids fair to be unbroken until after the November elections. Manufacturers are engaged on orders to a limited extent, but very few goods are made up unless the market for them is insured beforehand. Prices of stock and findings are lower, and bid fair to fall off still more, but manufacturers claim that they cannot lower the prices of shoes, as they never got a living profit at the high prices. This is a matter, however, which they must settle with buyers, but our impression is that this has been a fairly remunerative year for the shoe trade. Army work is brisk on orders for the western department, but not much doing for New York and Philizdelphia.

The total shipments of boots and shoes by rail and sea, for the past week have been 7,672 cases. Of this number 7,111 cases heve been sen by rail as follows: 2,688 to New York and Pennsylvania; 1,232 to the Southern States. The clearances from the Gustom House have been 661 cases. FOR SALE.—A HIGHLY PRODUCTIVE AND VALUABLE FARM situated in New Castle county, Delaware, about two and a half miles below Delaware City, and % of a mile above Port Penn, on the river Delaware containing some Three Hundred and Ninety Acres, about one half of which is meadow of first quality, the balance upland; soil excellent, in a high state of cultivation, and no waste or unpreductive land in the tract!

As a dairy and grain producing farm (acre for acre) it has no superior in that justly celebrated agricultural county of New Castle, Delaware. There have been from fifty to sixty cows kept upon it for many years past, uniformly yielding a large profit? The annual product of wheat for years past has been from twelve to eighteen hundred bushels. Corn, in 1868, five thousand bushels, and notwithstanding an unprecedented drought has prevailed in this section the present year it is confidently believed that over four thousand bushels of corn will be garnered! in addition to which selded a most luxuriant and heavy crop! Much profit is annually desirable the farm may advantageously be divided into three farms, one of which would be very desirable and valuable as a truck farm! The improvements, which are fair and in good condition; consist of a large brick dwelling, barn, large wagon and store house, corn cribs, ice house, a fine dairy with tenant house, and other necessary buildings. Lime or manures can be landed on the premises. The locality is healthy, convenient to schools and churches, and in the centre of a thrifty and intelligent community. Price one hundred and thirty ($130) dollars per acre. A large portion of the purchase money may remain on the property. Any further information may be obtained by application to FOR SALE.-A HIGHLY PRO LEGAL. ISTATE OF ELIZABETH BARRY, DEGEASED.
