THE CITY. POLITICAL. EXTRA ASSESSMENT. On to morrow, Thursday, and Friday, the assessors will be in session, at the usual places, for the purpose of placing upon the lists such names as have been omitted. All citizens should see that they are properly assessed. THE SOLDIERS' VOTE. The counting of the vote of the soldiers is still continued at the office of the Prothonotary of the Courts of Common Pleas. Yesterday the vote stood: MILITARY. COLONEL THOMAS' REGIMENT. A meeting of military and civic friends of Col. Thomas' Regiment assembled last evening, at the National Union Club House, to make arrangements to give the regiment a grand reception on the return home. There was no business done, because it could not be ascertained when the regiment would arrive. The meeting adjourned to assemble again at the call of the chairman, RECRUITING. MISCELLANEOUS. CORONER'S INQUEST—CASE OF JOHN V. WIL-LIAMS. Coroner Taylor yesterday held an inquest in the case of John H. Williams, who came to his death from the effects of a stab inflicted at a tayern kept by Antonio Cheneghino, at the corner of Eighth and Christian streets, on Saturday, 15th inst. The by Antonio Cheneghino, at the corner of Eighth and Christian streets, on Saturday, 15th inst. The evidence adduced yesterday is contained in the testimony of John A. Hunt, a private of the 182d Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, and is as follows:
The deceased and I boarded together, at 16il Bedford street. Last Saturday week I went to his bedford street. Last Saturday week I went to his bedford street. Last Saturday week I went to his bedford street. Last Saturday week I went to his bedford street. We went out and drank four or five times. He drank blackberry brandy; he had the dysentery. We got to the tavern, at Eighth and Christian streets, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Antonio, the proprietor, was behind the bar. I called him one side and asked him to loan me a dollar. He said he hadn't it, and I asked him to trust me for the drinks. He said he would. I had a drink, but deceased refused to drink. We were going out, when Antonio's wife got up and spoke to him in Italian. I didn't understand it. Mr. Williams, the deceased, thought she was talking about him, and he and Antonio had some words. Williams said he could whip any man like Antonio, and then he made a blow at Antonio across the bar. Antonio told me to take him out. Mr. Williams made another strike at Antonio not to shoot. Williams then came back into the room, when Joe Bego, who was stiting ihere, got up and took hold of Williams by the collar; I told Joe not to cut him; I didn't see any knife, but I was afraid he might have one; he aiterwards did pull out a knife and made two blows at Williams, and stabbed him: him; I didn't see any knife, but I was afraid he might have one; he atterwards did pull out a knife and made two blows at Williams, and stabbed him; I saw the stab inflicted; Williams came to me and told me he was stabbed; I told him to go to Nebinger's; I asked Officer Miller to arrest Begeo; he said he couldn't do so without a warrant; I don't think Williams was tight; I saw Joe run toward the back door; I saw Williams afterwards at the drug store; he afterwards walked home.

Joe Begeo, who, according to the above testimony Joe Begoo, who, according to the above testimony, indicted the stabs, is still at large. Several witnesses were not present at the hearing yesterday, and the case was continued to Thursday next, at 4 NARROW ESCAPE. Charles Herriman fell into the Delaware, at Walnut-street wharf, about two o'clock, Sunday morning. He was rescued from drowning by some of the Harbor Police. THE POLICE. [Before Mr. Mayor Henry. ] THE GIFT CONCERT. Mayor Henry gave his decision, yesterday after-noon, in the case of the Gift Concert enterprise. The defendant was bound over in the sum of $2,200 the defendant was bound over in the sum of $2,200 to answer the charges.

The Mayor, in binding the case over to court, said that, in reference to the charge of violating the law prohibiting lotteries in this State, that it is in evidence that the defendant has opened a place of business on Chestnut street, where tickets are sold admitting to concerts. It has been shown that the buyer of a ticket is entitled to draw from a box such envelope as he may easually take hold of and there buyer of a ticket is entitled to draw from a box such envelope as he may casually take hold of, and thereupon receive an article corresponding to the specification upon the card found in such envelope. Whilst such transactions may not be included under the appellation of "a lottery," as it is technically known, it nevertheless provides for the distribution of property by lot among others than the owners of such property, and the lot or card which determines the distribution of property is a device in the nature of a lottery ticket, purchased by the same price that is given for the ticket of admission to the concert.

After a careful consideration of the 52d, 53d, and 5th sections of the act of Assembly of March 31. 54th sections of the act of Assembly of March 31, 1800, I entertain no doubt that this de'endant has caused to be sold devices in the nature of lottery tickets. The Mayor required $2,000 on this charge, and $200 to answer for giving a concert without a [Before Mr. Alderman Carter. ] Annie Woodruff and Ellen Meyers were arraigned yesterday, on the charge of robbery. It is alleged they decoyed a young man into Trout street (Pine alley), and robbed him of all the money he had. The defendants were committed to answer. [Before Mr. Alderman Beitler.] A MAN DRUGGED, ROBBED, AND SHIPPED. Charles Stewart, the proprietor of the Crystal House, on Almond street, was arraigned at the Central Station, yesterday afternoon, on a charge, or perhaps series of charges, growing out of the following circumstances. The facts of the case are as follow: ing circumstances. The facts of the case are as follow:

Joseph Briggs, sworn.—I am a native of Mercersburg, Franklin county, Pennsylvania; I arrived in this city, from Washington, D. C., on Friday morning last, at 4 o'clock; my intention was to enlist in the army; I desired to serve in the cavalry service; while I was standing near the hotel door at Walnutstreet wharf this man (defendant) came up to me, and we engaged in conversation; he found out my purpose; I told him that I wished to enlist in New Jercey, and he replied that they were not doing much in that State, and said that he could have me enlisted in the cavalry service in the State of Pennsylvania; after a little more conversation we started in company down town, and, on the way, we took a couple of drinks; finally we reached his house, and the defendant then asked me if I had my breakfast; I told him yes; he then asked me to take a drink with him, which I did; I had on a pair of rubber pants, which he said I had better take off and leave them at the house; I did so, and we started, as I supposed, to the enlisting office; when we reached about two squares from the house I became entirely insensible, and did not know anything until about three o'clock in the afternoon of the same day; when I awoke from my state of insensibility I found myself on board of a know anything until about three o'clock in the afternoon of the same day; when I awoke from my state of insensibility I found myself on board of a vessel; I was in the hold; I asked a sailor where we were going, and he said to the West Indies; I asked what the vessel was loaded with; he replied lumber; of course, I did not know how I got on board the vessel; I knew that my family's interest would suffer, and I made up my mind to escape from the vessel that night; I was weak and very hungry, and laid myself down in a bunk on the larboard side, and when dark came I slipped a board under my arm, and. self down in a bunk on the larboard side, and when dark came I slipped a board under my arm, and, getting down between the bow and the bowsprit, got into the river and swam ashore; I did not know where I was at the time; I was still laboring under the effects of my previous insensibility; I reached the shore, when a couple of gentlemen took charge of me; when I met defendant in the morning I had four cr five five-dollar bills in my pocket and about five dollars in smaller currency; I had from $25 to $30; when I awoke in the afternoon on the vessel I had no money at all, but I found in one of my pockets a knife and a spoon; how they came there I do not know; I never saw them before; there was also a printed card in my pocket.

On the cross-examination, the witness said that the last he saw of Stewart, the defendant, was about two squares from his house; the witness then became inscnsible.

Wm. H. Hodgson vs. Wm. Millward, U. S. Mar. THE WHST CHESTER JEFFERSONIAN NEWSPAPER

CASE AGAIN.

Wm. H. Hodgson vs. Wm. Millward, U. S. Mar. shal. This is an action to recover damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff by reason of the selzure of the presses, type, paper, and other printing material used in the publication of the newspaper known as the Jeffersonian, published at West Chester, in this State. The selzure was made on the 23d of August, 1861, by the Marshal's deputies, Messrs. Jenkins and Schuyler. The office was closed and plaintiff alleges that he was deprived of the use of his property, and thereby compelled to suspend the issue of his paper until the 14th of. October, 1861, to his great loss and damage, for which he now seeks to recover. The authority for the selzure, and upon which the defendant relies as his defence, was a warrant issued by the then U. S. District. Attorney, George A. Coffey, Esd, who claimed to have issued the same by direction of the Secretary of War at Washington.

The osse was tried before Chief Justice Lowrie in the Supreme Court at Nisi Prius, in February last, and was prosecuted to judgment, but subsequently, under the provision of the act of Congress of March 3d, 1863, entitled "An act relating to habeas corpus cases, and for other purposes," the record of the proceedings in the Nisi Prius was removed into this court, where yesterday it came up for trial, de novo.
