NEW YORK CITY. (Special Correspondence of The Press.) NEW YORK, NOV. 12, 1864. THE BROOKLYN MYSTERY may now be placed upon the vast list of unavenged and to be unavenged horrors. To the number every year adds. Lives are stabled out, shot out, and drowned out, and, after the usual formula of the coroner's verdict, nothing more is said or thought of these terrible occurrences. The last hope of procuring identification in this particular instance seems to be withdrawn. The remains will be buried from necessity. Photographs still remain, however, and the clothing has been carefully scaled up, with an eye to its preservation in case that it shall hereafter prove valuable to the detectives. On Monday the coroner's investigation will take place. THE IRON-CLAD DICTATOR. It is now positively asserted by those who pretend to be judges in naval matters, that this vessel does not by any means answer the requirements of the service for which she was intended. With six hundred tons of coal on board, her bow is two feet ten inches out of water, while aft she is only two feet out, and amidships only fifteen and a quarter inches.

When her armament, ordnance stores, &c., shall have been placed on board, it is predicted that she will scarcely be above water, it she does not become entirely submerged. In fine, it is claimed that she is useless. Captain Ericsson asserts, on the other hand, that nothing has occurred to subtract from her probable utility. It may be, of course, that the vaticinators are mistaken, but the balance of general opinion would seem to be on their side. What the naval men may think remains to be seen. THE FUNERAL OF THE AUSTRIAN MINISTER, Nicholas, Count De Giorgi, took place yesterday from St. Stephen's Church. The attendance was large, including the foreign representatives now in this city. High mass was celebrated by the Catholic Archbishop, and the usual solemnities of the Church were performed: The Count was a native of Ragurza, Dalmatia. At the time of his decease he had barely reached his fifty fifth year. A GRAND UNION JUBILEE was indulged in last evening at Cooper Institute: its object, the celebration of the grand results of the election. Appropriate addresses were made by Messrs. D. D. Field, J. A. Briggs, Gen. Walbridge. Col. Hawkins, and others; and letters from Gen. Dix, Senator Sumner, and Hon. D. S. Goddidgton read. Gen. Butler was invited to participate, but, while in full sympathy with the objects of the meeting, declined the invitation, lest he should be considered as dabbling in politics.

THE PRIZE STRANER LADY STERLING STRIVED at this port last evening, in tow of her principal captor, the Calypso. She is a jaunty, handsome craft, and now lies anchored off the Battery, where she attracts much attention. She attempted to run out of Wilmington on the night of October 28th, but was promptly headed off and riddled with balls. Her machinery was badly damaged by the wuns of her captors, one of the cylinders being readered utterly useless. Her cargo consists of cotton [By Telegraph.]

SPECIE FOR EUROPE. NEW YORK, Nov. 12 .- The steamers City of Manchester and Germania sailed to-day at noon, taking $1,000,000 in specie for Europe. ARRIVAL OF THE GOLDEN RULE. The steamer Golden Rule, from Greytown on the 5th, brought $32,000 in treasure and 800 passengers, among whom was Hon. John Conness, Senator from California.

A "What is it?"—a very curious sea-monster indeed was taken in the harbor of New Bedford last Friday afternoon. It is new in New Bedford, and its possessors say they will take it to Boston to exhibit it at the National Saliors' Fair new in progress there. The fish, the like of which all the old shipmasters in New Bedford say they nover saw before, weights about four hundred pounds, and is inition feet in length, of which nine feet taper down to a serpent-like tall. It has the mouth of a shark, with two rows of teeth, a fin on the back, and a full eye like a bullock. In color and motion it resembled a serpent in the water, and is believed to be the veritable great sea-serpent snake, whose to be the veritable great sea-serpent snake, whose mysterious visits have periodically created so much excitement alongshore, and which until now has sluded his bafiled pursuers. GER. JOHN WILSON, a well-known citizen of Cali-GEN, JOHN WILSON, a well-known citizen of California who has arrived at San Francisco, from Sonora, Mexico, has with him a few curious relics, which deserve the attention of archeologists. They consist of a human foot, with pieces of the wrapping which encloses a large number of mummics found in a cave in Chiricahin, near the line of Sonora and Chihuahua. The cave is a large one, which the mummites appear to fill to the depth of which the minimites appear to the to the depth of nearly forty feet, and though in the neighborhood, among the Indians, are traditions, extending back some five hundred years, there is nothing that ex-plains the filling of the cave with these bodies, which appear to have been preserved by the presence of a large amount of saltpetre. THE St. Paul Free Press tells us that during the Indian expedition the past summer, our troops discovered large numbers of petrified trees lying upon the surface of the ground, the earth which once surrounded them having sunk away, leaving them exposed. A specimen brought to St. Paul is probably a portion of the trunk of a tamerack tree, is about two feet long, one foot thick, and weighs one hun-dred and seve: ty pounds. The grain of the wood is quite distinct, and pieces can be scaled off. There are also specimens of petrifice leaves, which were found in the same locality. The formation of the leaves remains perfect. They seem to have be-come imbedded in clay and then changed to stone. THE CITY.

THE SUWANEE. This new iron-clad, lately constructed at Chaster. is expected to arrive at our navy yard in the course of a few days.

THE NESHAMONY.

This gunboat is nearly completed, and workmen are now engaged in putting the cribbing down to extend the ways for sixty feet, in order to launch her. Part of her machinery, however, will be placed on board before she is ushered into the briny flood, there to battle with the waves and winds, and to bat THE NEPTUNE. This cruising vessel is now on the dry-dock at the navy yard, undergoing repairs. She carries an armament of eleven guns, and it is expected will be ready for sailing in about a week.

THE STEAMER BERMUDA. The United States supply steamer Bermuda will not leave the navy yard until to morrow, the order for her earlier salling having been countermanded by the Navy Beautynant. by the Navy Department.

MILITARY.

THE OFFICERS OF COLORED TROOPS. Alonzo H. The records of the school show that one of its graduates has been killed in battle and eight wounded since entering the service. Several of these officers displayed great gallantry in the fight before Petersburg on July 30 the time of the unfortunate fight over the exploded mins. Their bravery at other battles since has frequently been the theme of the eulogy of army correspondents. ANOTHER COLORED REGIMENT.

The War Department has authorized the Supervisory Committee to organize another regiment of colored troops. This organization is to be composed of colored volunteers of one, two, and three years. It will be designated as the 24th United States Colored Troops.

SHOCKING CALAMITY ON THE RIVER DE-LAWARE - THE YACHT LILY CAPSIZED-LAWARE—THE YACHT LILY CAPSIZED—FOULT PERRSONS SUPPOSED TO BE LOST.
On Saturday afternoon, about four o'clock, the fine yacht schooner Lily, under command of Capt. Walter P. Foster, started down the river Delaware, on her way to the Chesapeake bay, on a gumnling excursion. There were on board the craft eleven persons all told; three of them were drowned, a fourth person is missing. Horace Jones, of New York, was drowned. He was an extensive horse dealer and well known throughout New York and Canada. A Mr. Hergersheimer, of New York, was also drowned. A Mr. Stokes, whose first name we also drowned. A Mr. Stokes, whose first name we could not learn, is missing. He is supposed to be drowned. A negro boy was drowned. Name not aftertained. Among the party on board were Ira-Fayne, negro minstrel, John E. Neal, H. Door, Wm. Payne, negro minstrel, John E. Neal, H. Doer, Wm. Duffly, and two other gentiemen besides the steward. The yacht was sailing very cleverly along the wostern channel off Billingsport, N. J., about fourteen miles below the city. The wind was blowing pretty fresh, and the sails were considerably shortened. Mr. Foster, one of the most expert navigators, had the helm, and everybody on the yacht fell perfectly safe. The pight was very dark, and the rain fell interrents. In a moment, without any warning what ever, a tremendous equall, partaking of the nature of a whirlwind, struck the vessel. The helmsman tried to lul' the yacht into the wind, and she came up until the jib fluttered, but just at this moment another eddying gust, more powerful than the other, struck the sails, and the vessel capsized. The riverwas very rough.

was very rough.

As the party had started on a somewhat extensive As the party had started on a somewhat extensive gunning or ducking excursion to the waters of the Chesapeake, every preparation had been made for the comfort and convenience of the party. Several skiffs were on board, and it was to these the hapless men clung with iron grasp, the waves breaking over them and filling the Irall skiffs. Mr. Stokes had hold of a skiff. He was heard to say that he could hold on no longer. A wave dashed over him the next moment, and he was, among the missing. The survivors were blown to Tinicum Island, where they remained in an exhausted state nearly all night. It was only by the greatest energy that the most exhausted of them recovered. The first arrival in the city of any of the survivors did not take place until late yesterday afternoon, when the news of the calamity was first afternoon, when the news of the calamity was first made known publicly. All sorts of rumors pre-walled as to the extent of lives lost, some reports estimating the 'os as many as eleven. Efforts will be made to day to bring the yacht to the city. The occurrence is a sad one. It was one of those accidents beyond human skill or power to ayert. THE CATHEDRAL OF SS. PETER AND PAUL-THE OPENING.

THE OPENING.

The preparations for the opening of the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul, next Sunday, have nearly all been completed, and as the edifice itself is a grand one—one of the most beautiful piles of architecture in the country—it is proposed to make the ceremonies similarly grand. The music of the opening services will be rendered by an immense choir, which will sing, if we are not misinformed, without the accompaniment of an organ—the grand organ having not yet been obtained. The interior of the edifice is so extensive that if the organ now in use in the chapel adjoining were placed in the loft, its strains, now so resonant, would dwindle, writing in a comparative sense, into semething like the pipings strains, now so resonant, would be strained as comparative sense, into something like the pipings a comparative sense, into something like the pipings of a cornet. All the prominent singers in the various Catholic choirs in the city are engaged, and will, we bolieve, be directed by B. C. Cross. Without doubt singers of other denominations will be included in this orchestra. It is expected nearly all the Archbishops and Bishops of the Catholic Church the Archbishops and Bishops of the Cathonic Charcoll the North, and porhaps in Canada, will be present, together with a great delegation of the clergy, The pastors of the churches of this city, in order to allow their congregations to attend the ceremony, have dispensed with ten-and-a-half-o'clock service. The opening will be an era in the history of the Church in America. Church in America.

Any information in regard to the boy should be left at the Mayor's office. A HEAVY BLOW. On Saturday evening a heavy full of rain, accompanied by a high wind, came suddenly upon the city. The only damage known to have been done, was the blowing down of the scaffolding around the steeple of St. Alphonsus' church, corner Fourth and Reed streets. A passenger car at the time was considerably injured. HOSPITAL ITEM.

Yesterday afternoon Ann Feeney, forty years of age, fell, at Water and Spruce streets, and broke her leg. She was taken to the hospital. THE POLICE.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE. About a week since an estimable lady arrived in Philadelphia in search of her husband, who had mysteriously disappeared from his residence, in another city. He was looked upon as a highly honorable and honest man, and disappearing so saddenly from his family and friends, the greatest honorable and nonset man, and disappearing so suddenly from his family and friends, the greatest anxiety was manifested in consequence, it being feared that some evil had befallen him. The lady called upon the chief of police, and he endeavored to trace her husband. It was known that he had drawn several thousand dollars on the morning of the day he disappeared. That he had come to Philadelphia was probable. The chief of police finally tracked him to a hetel, by means of the registry book. Upon inquiry being made, his valise, containing two bank books, and several letters written to him on the subject of finances, were found in the possession of the clerk. The wife opened the valise, and examined well the contents. The letters afforded some clue of the missing man. The gentlemen whose signatures were appended to the epistles were waited upon, and, to the astonishment of all concerned, the letters were pronouced forgeries. Other facts came to light, and it was pretty well ascertained that the missing individual was deeply in debt to quite a number of friends. The forged letters, however, indicate that his friends were the victims of misplaced confidence. The conclusions the chief arrived at, were frankly stated to the afflicted wife, who, sad because of the developments, returned with an almost broken heart to her home. This is one of the many cases of mysterious disappearances happening almost every.

OCTOBER 24, 1864. ALTERED CURRENCY NOTE.

A five-cent currency note altered to fifty cents was passed upon one of the passenger railway companies on Saturday. The "bogue" note was exhibited at the Central Station yesterday afternoon BURGLARY AND ROBBERY.

The store and dwelling of Mr. Meyers, on Second street, near Almond, were forcibly entered at an early hour yesterday morning, and robbed of property to the value of $400 Among the articles taken were four watches and five or six pistols. The thieves effected an entrance through a rear window, a "jimmy," which was left by the thieves, having been used for prying open the shutter. From the appearance of things in the store it is believed the despoilers were frightened, and suddenly vacated the premises.

THE COURTS. In the District Court in banc, and in the Common Pleas, Judge Allison, the ordinary motion lists only were up. In the latter court the case of Gilbert vs. Gilbert, a libel for divorce, being tried before a jury, went over from Friday until to-day, when the trial will proceed.

Court of Quarter Sessions-Judge Thomp-Saturday having been assigned for the hearing of desertion cases prosecuted under the auspices of the Board of Guardians of the Poor, through their solicitor, Thomas K. Finletter, Esq., no other business was transacted. These cases come before the court generally in the form of applications for orders to compel delinquent husbands who may have deserted their wives and families to make some provision for their support. Occasionally some of these cases present interesting, and always painful, phases of domestic discord, traceable in nine instances out of ten to whisky. One such was heard on Saturday. A woman, who it seems has been married for about eight years, applied for an order of court to compel her husband to contribute something to the support of herself and child, a handsome boy of some seven years old. They separated about six years ago, in Richmond, Va, where they were then living, he having, in a fit of intoxication, to which he was accustomed, threatened to kill her. She had him arrested and imprisoned, and leaving him in Richmond, returned to Philadelinkie where her relations to the support of herself and child, a handsome boy of some seven years old. kill her. She had him arrested and imprisoned, and leaving him in Richmond, returned to Philadelphia, where her relatives resided, and has since remained here. He, when released, also returned, and since then the parties have made two or three spasmodic efforts to live together, but always with the same resuit, the bottle getting the better of him, and ending in threats and demonstrations of personal violence against her. About fourteen months since he enlisted in the army, receiving a bounty of $250, the greater part of which he deposited, leaving nothing for the maintenance of his wife or child. He came back a short time since on a furlough of twenty days, and stopped with his wife, who received him kindly, and treated him well, but in a day or two he renewed his old course. Forbearance having, in her opinion, ceased to be a virtue, she made complaint against him.

Judge Thompson said that it was evident the man liked whisky better than hig family, and made an order requiring the defendant to pay two dollars a week towards the support of his wife and child.
