and will present, no doubt, a sad and interesting scene. They will be conducted by the Rev. Mr.
Gellaudet, of New York, who has been telegraphed to for that purpose, and every effort will be made to render the occasion one not only of deep solemnity, but an impressive tribute of respect to the memory of the departed.

Mr. Newsam died on Sunday morning at 40°clock, at the "Living Home," near Wilmington, Delaware, after a lingering illness of several years, resuiting from an attack of paralysis. His history was a remarkable one, and in the practice of his pursuit (lithography) he had no superior in this country. He was celebrated for his numerous likenesses of distinguished members of various Cabinets, which, for truthfulness and finish, are equal to any productions of the kind ever prepared. In the dramatic line, his portraits of distinguished histrionists have ever been regarded with admiration for their accuracy and superior finish. As a copylst, he has been pronounced fauttless. At the establishment of Mr. Duval he was the principal artist. The superb productions of his pencil equalled the finast of the French artists, and the latter are well known to have no superior in tone and artistic finish.

Several of his magnificent crayon-drawings and lithographic preductions now adorn the halls of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at, the corner of Pine and Broad streets, and are exhibited with commendatle pride by the managers of that benevolent institu-DISSOLUTION -NOTICE IS HERE Worth at present market value...... pson, Bobert Toland, William Stevenson, Hampton L. Carson, Marshall Hill, J. The scene, during the preaching, reminds one more of a view in the Catholic countries of Europe than of an American church. A square platform has been erected at the intersection of the nave and transept, on which is a reading desk and a large crucifix. From this platform the various sermons and instructions are delivered, the position of the stage being such as to place the preacher in the centre of his auditors. As early as half past o'clock yesterday morning a large number of worshippers were already assembled, and at 6 o'clock preaching was commenced, and continued at intervals through the day and evening. The clothing store of Messrs. Kahn & Hass, on Market street, above Flith, was robbed on the night of the 8th inst. to the amount of about $3,000 worth of coats, pants, and vest. A young man named Satterthwaite, who had been employed in the store for several months, disappeared on the morning of the robbery. Mr. Kahn learned that he had enlisted in New York. He proceeded to that city, and finally found the fugitive, who had enlisted in the navy under the assumed name of Walter Ryan. Mr. K. charged him with the robbery. The suspected young man stoutly denied it, but finally, being hard pressed, acknowledged the crime, and gave the names of two young men as the parties who were implicated in the robbery, and said that the goods were taken to a house in Jersey. The two yourg men alleged to have been implicated were arrested, but it is believed they are entirely innocent. The house in Jersey was visited by the police, and it was found to be tenanted by a highly respectable family, the head of which was surprised when the officers made known the object of their visit. It is evident that Satterthwaits told a wholesale falsehood. As he is enlisted in the United States navy, some time will elapse before he can be brought to this city, under the rules and regulations of the department of the navy. The case was continued until such time as he could be present. Detective Taggert, who examined the store, is firmly of the opinion that no force had been used to enter it. The only force work observable about the premises was the prying of a lock on the inside of a gate in the rear of the store. MYSTERIOUS ROBBERY ON MARKET STREET. The frauds alleged to have been committed are said to be supendous. Considering that the recent election was not one of a mere political party, but one in which the Union, the life of the country, was at stake, makes the outrage more heinous than any election fraud ever committed among the benighted, immoral, whisky-drinking society that infests some portions of that section of the city.

The next attempt will be to walve a trial, and, if this should succeed, then the whole affair will be added to the hidden mysteries of Philadelphia. The defendants deserve a speedy trial, and speedy justice, while the witnesses are at hand. In fee. [D. C; D., '64, 40. Debt, $200. Dolman.]
