SEWING MACHINES.
THE "FLORENCE"—AMERICAN
INVENTORS' GREAT TRIUMPH—THE SEWING MACHINE PERFECTED.—All the objections to other Machines are overcome in the FLORENCE. It makes FOUR DIFFERENT STITCHES with the same ease, and with a little attachment to others make one. Besides, it has the REVERSIBLE FEED MOTION—a uniform, self-regulating tension of thread and no springs, cog wheels, or cams to get out of order. It does ALL KINDS OF FAMILY SEWING, from the heaviest woolens to the most delicate fabrics, with threads of silk, cotton, and linen thread, from No. 20 to 200.
NO OTHER MACHINE does so large a range of work as the FLORENCE.
NO OTHER MACHINE pleases the ladies so well as the FLORENCE.
More than ONE THOUSAND of the FLORENCE have been sold in Philadelphia within the last few months. The FLORENCE is the only PERFECT FAMILY SEWING MACHINE, warranted to give entire satisfaction, or money refunded. Agents in no one who owns a FLORENCE that would sell it at cost.
Call and see its operations, whether you wish to purchase or not. Samples of sewing, with price list, sent free by mail.

The Streets Thronged with Pleasure-Seekers.

Wednesday night the temperature of the weather became very cold; the people felt its severity more keenly from the fact that the change came upon them suddenly. Ice was made to the thickness of an inch during the night. Yesterday morning the day dawned with unusual brightness; the sun looked gladness from the eastern sky; the temperature was mild; and the public having become acclimated, it may be said that the day was to the people at large a brilliant and pleasant one. Scarcely a cloud shrouded the great blue dome of the universe. There was just enough coolness in the atmosphere to impart a healthful glow to cheeks of beauty. The people were astir at an early hour. A gentle breeze from the pure west was just strong enough to enliven the folds of the great American flag that floated from poles and staffs in the residences of our citizens. It was a day of happiness, and during the morning all the churches were thronged. The stores generally were closed, and the great National Sabbath was all that could be required. The hotels and taverns were only partly open, the same as on Sundays; and there was little or no drunkenness visible on the streets. But the sublime source of the day's reasoning was in the afternoon. Under the bracing air, gentalised by the beams of a cloudless sun, our principal thoroughfares, Chestnut street particularly, presented a vast moving throng of people, made the more happy from the fact, no doubt, of having indulged in dinners worthy of the occasion and the day.

At noon the Cadets of Temperance made a parade, and attracted considerable attention, with their banners in the breeze and their music awakening many a harmonious echo.

In the afternoon the places of amusement were densely filled, but all these the National Circus exceeded in point of numbers. A more joyous congregation of ladies and children we never saw. Their eyes glistened with joy, and their hearts pulsated with rapture, at the grand mental feast prepared for them by Mrs. Charles Warner. Thanksgiving Day of 1864 will be an epoch in the history of the lives of four thousand ladies and children, who will long for the time when President Lincoln appoints a similar day. Taking everything into consideration, the day was one that will be long remembered by the one million of inhabitants of the great moral, intellectual, and business metropolis of the United States, popularly known as Philadelphia.

We present to-day extracts from a few sermons delivered yesterday:

LUTHERAN.

REV. E. W. HUTTER.

In the New-street Lutheran Church a numerous and appreciative audience had assembled to listen to a discourse by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Hutter. After appropriate introductory exercises a liberal collection was taken up in behalf of the Christian Commission. The pastor's theme was, "A Vindication of God's Providence." He spoke as follows:

Text—"There be many that say, Who will show us any good?" Psalm iv., 6.

In words seem during the "good old times" of King David, not less than in our own degenerate days, there existed, among the diversities of human kind, a class of men who, happen what would, were ever ready to find fault with the kind or degree of their virtues, 'tis plain contentment was not among the number. With the arrangements, both of earth and heaven, they were perpetually at variance. If it rained, their meadows were always under water. If the sun was shining in his strength, he was always scorching their plants and vegetables. During the summer months they were ever on the verge of suffocation; during the season of winter they were perishing with the cold. No harvest could God send them in which the tares did not preponderate. Their banquet was always "without a wedding garment." Their feast never without a Mordecai. Their path never without a lion—their chamber never without a frog. Their merriment was always broken by evil spirits. They never were, like Diogenes, lantern in hand, traversing the thoroughfares, in high noon, in quest of a somebody or something pure. If the nations which have been, under God, the kind nursing-mother of us all. We all love our country, and have reason to love it. It is the chokefull of pure and undefiled religion. It is the abode of liberty and law. It is the asylum of the down-trodden and oppressed of earth. Here dignity in the magistrate unites with freedom in the citizen, and security and protection to all. Here the humblest son of toil, if he but act his part with fidelity, has the opportunity course perfection. That 'on' earth is a reason of rising to the highest places of distinction. I do not claim for our form of government, of that belongs to Heaven alone. But this I do claim for it, that, more than any other form of government ever devised by man, it approximates to perfection. For even now, torn and tempest tossed, it is the model and centre attraction for all the nations of the earth. Like as some ancient oak, that has survived many a howling wind and storm, proudly overtops every other tree of the forest, so our American system of government, even in the midst of the horrible tempest, rises in majestic splendor, a mundane column, superior to and above any other!

"Tell it not in Gath; publish it not in the streets of Askelon," against such a Government, and against such institutions. Misguided and unchristian leaders of so-called Southern opinion, moved and instigated thereto by their own unpovernable passions, and the suggestions of their master, "the devil," have taken up arms to effect its ruin and overthrow! And this after they had, ever since its organization, enjoyed almost a monopoly of its emoluments and honors! And this, too, against the well-known wishes of large majorities of the people of their own section. Gigantic crime! Unparalleled iniquity! This is my deliberate judgment, that for unmitigated depravity this rebellion has had no parallel since the nailing of our Lord Jesus Christ to the cross. For me it is ever difficult to find words to express my feelings of indignant and disorderly exclamations. Very properly did the General Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in the United States, at its late triennial conventions, unanimously pronounce it "wicked in its inception, unjustifiable in its cause, unnatural in its character, inhumane in its prosecution, oppressive in its nature, and destructive in its results to the highest interests of morality and religion."

Shall it succeed? Yes! when the sky falls! Yes! When sun, moon, and stars cease to shine! Yes! when judgment has fled to brutish beasts, and men have lost their reason! Yes! when vegetation stops, when the rivers cease to empty themselves into the ocean! Yes! when judgment and justice are no longer the habitation of God's Throne. Then. Not before. There is no Sampson in the South strong enough to walk away with the gate posts of our Political Canaan. There is no army of Philistines there numerous enough, valiant enough, to capture the ark of our national covenant. Mark our words. The rebellion will fail—fail utterly, fail ignominiously, fail forever! God has no attribute that is on its side. It is a falsehood written against the very gentleness of it, and, unless its leaders repent of their wickedness, return to their homes, and demean themselves as peaceable and quiet citizens, they will be swept, by God's avenging angel, as chaff is swept by the rude blasts of the tempest and the whirlwind.

The Republic will live! The Union established by the valor and cemented by the blood of our patriotic ancestry will be perpetuated. But one flag will float over this land, from the waters of the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains. To accomodate two or three governments, such as the rebels would establish, our sky is too narrow. There is room for but one, and that one bears upon its folds the holy Stars of freedom, under whose ample folds Washington conquered, and Montgomery and Warren offered up their lives; the flag, dyed on by the heroic blood of Fort Sumpter, but planted by our br
