ous than a spark falling into the litter of a stable. Numbers of stablemen drink, and some of them are scarcely ever sober, and these bad habits add to the chances of acoident. When closely questioned by the Frie Marshel, it is amasing how they will lie and deceive, and try to keep back the truth; in order to conceal their carciesenses. To check this growing mischief, I would recommend the immediate passage by Councils of an ordinance making it a penalty of five dollars to take an open light of any kind into a stable or barn.

Next to that strange and mysterious process of nature, chemical action, in the production of fires, the most insidious agent is hot ashes. They will retain heat for weeks, and start combusion at the moment least anticipated. Neither an ash box nor an ash barrel is ever safe an instant on one's premiser, especially if placed on a wooden floor or against a frame wall or board partition. Many of the fires, the commencement of which is wrapped in mystery, come from depositing heated ashes in wooden boxes.

There were nine steam boiler explosions within the limits of the consolidated city in 1864, four of which were accompanied by trifling burnings. Two of these explosions—that at the foundry of Merrick & Son, corner of Fifth and Washington strests, on the 6th of April, and the one at the chandeller manufactory of Cornelius & Baker, in Cherry street, above Elgahn, on the morning of the 25th of the same month.

The incorporation by the last Legislature of the Petroleum Storage Company of Philadelphia will, I hope, in time, at least diminish, if it does not altogether prevent, coal-oil fires. About $100,000 of the losses in our city, for 1864, were from the ignition of petroleum and benzine, while the total loss by fires kindled by the torch of the incendiary did not amount to half of that sum.

The injury to houses and goods by the unnecessary use of water is referred to. This mischief has grown to be a grave evil, and there are loud calls for its abatement. A very large per centage of the loss SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR FEBRUARY 15, 1866.

Scores of instances of the folly and shame of wantonly deluging stores, flooding dwellings, converting stairways into foaming cascades and miniature cataracts, overflowing cellars, and swelling gutters to rivulets for the distance of squares, might be enumerated, but 1 do not desire to say a word more than is requisite to arrest that attention which, it is hoped, may lead to reform.

The Fire department of Philadelphia is an intelligent body of men, and they know, without my telling them, that this injudicious management at fires is not only discreditable to the high character they have always maintained among their fellow-citizens, but is actually the greatest drawback to the efficiency and success of their noble calling. For it has been clearly demonstrated that, the greater the number of steamers in service at any one fire, the less execution will each apparatus do. The street mains, in the most favored localities, are incapable of affording the supply of water necessary for the effective working of more than a dozon steamers at one and the same time. Where a larger number are in mill play, the insufficiency of the water supply is soon visible, and a diffinitution in the effective mess of each machine observable at a glance, particularly if there are two or more attachments, or a long line of forcing hose leading from it. Where high buildings are burning, some of the streams cannot reach burning from the water in the second or third stories, besides builty for the reach the second or third stories, besides builty for the reach the second or third stories of steam power at first been more strikingly apparent than at the burning of the steamine candle works of Messars, Grant & Oo, in the Filteenth ward, last spring. Here, when the second or the more favored to the department, going fire-engine MISCELLANEOUS. THE DRAFT. In consequence of the necessary arrangements for the purpose not having been completed, the draft, which was to have taken place yesterday, did not which was to have taken place yesterday, did not come off.

Proyost Marshal General Fry has issued the following order on the subject:

"All Beards of Envolment not busily employed in examining and mustering recruits, are ordered to prepare at once to commence drafting. Report as soon as possible, when ready, so that the order for the draft may issue."

It is to be hoped that extreme measures, so far as this city is concerned, will be delayed for some days. All the demands of the Government heretofore have been promptly met; the wards are now actually engaged in furnishing their quotas; recruiting its going on briskly, an increased number heing mustered in daily, and if a little longer time is allowed, the misery attendant upon a draft will be entirely avoided, as the draft will be unnecessary. PHILADELPHIA DELUGED.

Last evening the streets of Philadelphia were overflowed, and it is quite likely that many cellars came in for a share of the ablution. In quite a number of places we observed the water running through the vault grating in the pavements. The snow of the recent storm on Sunday lay piled up in long pyramids on the streets; the gutters were not cleared of the key obstruction, and consequently the water could not be freely extricted of the lay obstruction, and consequently the water could not be freely extried off.

Yesterday morning snow and hall commenced to fall, and for several hours the white falkes predominated, and came down almost stratgat, as there was little or no wind at the time. About 3 o'clock the rain succeeded, and up to a late hour last evening it came down freely. Between the deluge and the melting snow the streets were turned into so many fords. At some of the crossings an enterprising individual might have made many a currency note, if he had had as small skiff to ferry the people over, at an early hour in the evening. We do not remember any time when the water was so deep in the streets. Even at Fourth and Obestrut streets—pretty high ground—the water was sixteen inches deep; at Sixth and Walnut streets it was still deeper. At Third and South streets, Fourth and South streets, the water early in the evening was almost even with the cellar doorways of dwelling-houses, and bid fair to make basements untenable. We did not hear of any damage done by the deluge, although the foundations of many houses must have been pretty well soaked. It may be possible that the heavy rain unloosed the toy fetters that have locked the mountain streams in the subrace of winter, and that terrible, aweeping, devastating freshets may ensue within the present twenty-four hours. In the year 1837, in the latter part of February, there was a similar condition of the "face of creation." A freshet took place, and the water in the Schuyikili rose, in some parts, to the height of twenty or twenty-five fe PHILADELPHIA DELUGED. Witness recumed, I have inspected to the Argorithm weeks.
Question, Since or before the examination at the Arsenal?
Witness. Is that admitted?
Judge Advocate. Yes, sir.
Witness. Since the examination at the Arsenal.
I am a citizen of the United States.
Question. When and where did you take out your REPORT OF FIRE MARSHAL BLACKBURN. REPORT OF FIRE MARSHAL BLACKBURN. Fire Marshal Blackburn has presented his report for the past year to Mayor Henry. From it we glean as follows:

The memory of the oldest chronicler of fires runs back to no period in the history of such events when they were so frequent, as well as so destructive, as during the year 1864. In both the Old and New World the fire-fiend held a demoniac carnival, reveiing in conflagrations and explosions. In America, the occurrence of fires last year was of remarkable frequency, and many of the conflagrations were unusually disastrous. The losses were enormous and entirely unprecedented. From statistics collected from the most reliable records, the total preserver, will be dreaded as a destroyer of property.

The Chief Engineer already finds himself embarrassed by this overgrowth of the steam arm of the department. The weapon is getting unwieldy, and difficult to control.

A volunteer fire department, whatever may be its advantages, and however proud its past record, is an irresponsible bedy. Perfect discipline in such an association cannot be expected. Whether the system is any longer adapted to the wants of a great metropolis like Philadelphia, is a question which I had rather refrain from discussing in this report. The expression of my own opinion I prefer to reserve for a future communication. There is now an Paners?

From the foot of Bercias street at 6 A. M. and 2 P. M. collected from the most reliable records, the total loss by burning in the United States is estimated at not less than $60,000,000. In the Northern States alone, during the month of July, which was memorable for ravages by fire sverywhere, property was consumed to the amount of upwards of $5,000,000, much of which comprised the most important Grovernment works and storehouses, together with valuable private manufacturing and business establishments. was a soldier. Mr. Brewster. Then you are not a citizen? Judge Advocate. That is a question of law. The Judge Advocate asked the court to adjourn at an our which would enable him to visit the city of New serve for a future communication. There is now an effort being made in New York to change the volunteer system to a paid fire department. Our City Fathers, guided by public sentiment, will doubtless give to the subject such consideration as its importance demands. The Judge Advocate asked the court to adjourn at an hour which would enable him to visit the city of New York.

The court adjourned till noon to-day. Yesterday morning, about three o'clock, fire broke out in a double three-storied frame dwelling, Nos. 931 and 933 south Tenth street. No. 931 was occupied by Conrad Ryan, and was considerably damaged. No. 933 was occupied by Peter Barker. The whole upper portion of the building was consumed, and much damage was done by water. The premises were owned by Mr. Patrick Sweeney. The fire was the work of an inoendiarry, who reached the premises through a back alley, tore off some weather-boarding near a window on the lower floor, and then stuffed in rags saturated with coal oil. The loss will reach $1,000. No insurance. vornment works and storehouses, together with valuable private manufacturing and business establishments.

These deplorable calamities are clearly attributable to two causes. First, the demoralized condition of society, growing out of the sad war that unhappily afflicts the land, engendered a spirit of diabolical incendiarism which, in a number of localities, accomplished an immense amount of mischief. Second, a severe and long-protracted summer drought. For sixty days, between the latter part of May and latter part of July, there fell only two inches and a-haif of rain, while the rays of the sun were intensely hot, and there was a constant prevalence of westerly winds. Everything combustible, by this extreme aridity of the atmosphere, reached so high a degree of inflammability, that the slightest spark sufficed to kindle a fire that was sure to spread with the rapidity of lightning and the fury of the whirlwind.

The total number of fires during the past year in this city was 394. Of this number 346 were accidental; 45 the work of incendiaries, and 3 of unknown origin. The following were the causes of the accidental fires: Sparks on shingle roofs, 43; carelersness, 34; fireworks, 30; children playing with matches, 29; lights, 27; stoyes, 28; furnaces, 18; spontaneous combustion, 17; defective flues, 16; foul chimneys, 13; amoking, 9; gas explosions, 8; sparks from burning buildings, 7; drying apparatus, 6; heat of steam boilers, 6; hot sehes, 6; sparks from steam fire engines, 6; bonfires, 6; jight kinding, 5; rockless construction, 3; stills, 3; burglars, 3; sparks from locomotives, 2; bursting of vitrol carboys, 2; ovens, 2; clear stumps in wooden spittoons filled with sawdust, 2; kilns, 2; mice, 2; vagrants, 2; steampipe, 1.

It may be stated with some degree of certainty that Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield, an old couple, and a daughter twenty-three years of age, who occupled one of the houses in the burnt district, perished in the finemes during the great conflagration in the Second ward on the morning of the 5th inst. It is supposed that not one of them escaped from the house, but were burnt to death in it, and their remains, falling into the heated ruins, were entirely destroyed. The same may be said as te the remains of the two Misses Ware. Thus we have reduced to what may be considered certain the perishing of ten human beings on that sad, eventful morning five charred bodies having been recovered, and five lost to sight.

INVESTIGATION COMMUTEE FOR THE RE-INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE FOR THE RE-INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE FOR THE RELIEF OF SUFFERERS.

The investigating committee, appointed to investigate the claims of the sufferers by the recent confiagration, are in session daily at the House of Industry, in Catharine street, south, side, between Seventh and Eighth. It is the especial business of this committee to hear the statements of claimants for any portion of the general fund contributed voluntarily by citizens for their relief. It is suggested that unworthy persons may apply for relief. If this should be the case, any knowledge of such persons should be communicated to the committee at the earliest moment. Temporary relief has already been afforded, but the committee will probably make their report this evening.

LIBEL SUIT AGAINST THE PUBLISHERS OF THE nres were caused by lunatics, and more than half of the fires were the work of thoughtless and mischievous juveniles.

The principal fires of the year were the burning of the drug mil of Thomas & Co., in New Market street, near Germantown avenue, on the morning of the 14th of Januery; the candle works of Grant & Co., corner of Twenty-third and Hamilton streets, on the afternoon of the 20th of April; the coal-oil distillery of Crew & Brother, corner of Twenty-third and Arch streets, on the 18th of May; Nixon's paper mill, Manayank, Twenty first ward, on the evening of the 20th of July; Simons' wagon works, Second and Cumberland streets, on the evening of the 20th of July; Simons' magon works, Second and Cumberland streets, on the cyoning of the 29d of the same month; Solms' mill, Manayanyan, on the morning of the 20th of September; and the berosene oil refinery of Carr & O'Neill, corner of Twenty-second and Washington streets, on the evening of the 19th of December.

These ares swallowed up property to the value of $600,000, or nearly two-third of the whole annual loss. A quarter of a million of this sum was lost by the demolition of the U.S. National Wagon Works, an etablishment which, with its spacious buildings, extersive machinery, and immense piles of valuable lumber, covered an area of five acres. The burning of this mammont manufactory was one of the flercest and most terrific conflagrations ever beheld, the spectacle it presented being at once grand and awful held, the spectacle it presented being at once grand and awful

The other destructive fires of the year were the burning of G. W. Wootten's coal oil lamp store, in Second street, above Chestmut, on the afternoon of the 16th of February; the coopering establishment of John S. Curby, and adjoining buildings, on Penn and Larkin streets, on the morning of the 18th of the same month; Pettit's mill, corner of Ninth and Wallace streets, on the morning of the 2th of March; Carr's umbrella frame manufactory, corner of Twelith and Willow streets, on the afternoon of the 24th of May; the Summeri block of stores, Water street, above Arch, on the morning of the 2d of June; Reeves' bedstead factory, St. John street, above Willow, on the morning of the 1st of July; Flack's fruit preserving yaults, Landing avenue, on the morning of the 5th of the same month; Brown's shoddy mill, Moore street, near Second, on the aftermoon of the 4th of September; Williams' venitian blind manufactory, and adjoining establishments, Sixth street, above Market, on the morning of the 20th of November. noon of the 4th of September; Williams venitian blind manufactory, and adjoining establishments, Sixth street, above Market, on the morning of the 20th of November.

The number of arrests for the year, on the charges of arson, attempted arson, and suspicion of arson, was forty-seven. Among the convictions in the Oriminal Court were the cases of two female domestics, one white and the other colored, who robbed the houses where they were employed and thou set fire to them to destroy the evidence of their guilt. There was only one clearly ascertained incendiary fire, perpetrated for the purpose of defrauding underwriters. The moral effects of the wholesome examples made of this class of offenders by the vigilance and perseverance of the fire detective branch of the police has exceeded my expectations.

Fires from sparks on shingle roofs were unusually numerous, particularly in the warm season. The cause was readily ascertained. The high price of fuel necessitated hundreds of poor people to gather from work-hops, lumber-yards, ship-houses, new buildings, weeks of old or burnt properties, and wherever else the stuff was to be had, all kinds of refuse materials, such as shavings, chips, wood-out-tings, decayed lumber, &c., and this trash was substituted altegether for doals, coke, and cordwood to bell the 'tex-kettle, or cook a hurtled meal. In the summer months nearly all these fires happened about the hour of either breakfast, dinner, or supper. Defective and dirty chimneys likewise swelled the list of roof fires. In Philadelphia, chimney sweeping has well nigh become a thing of the past. As to defects in the flacs, arising from faulty masonry and other causes, they are 80 common that it is really surprising to me that scores of houses are not bournt, where one takes fire. There is hardly a squaffe of dwellings in the only, excepting blocks of recent erection, in which cannot be discovered some chimney in an unsafe condition. A stringent statute or ordinance, compelling owners of houses to keep the chimners clean a For MILLVILLE, BRIDGETON, SALEM, and all ignormation the witness declined.

Bags of them are not only filthy and greasy, but recking with disease. Much of the waste also now in the market is foul in the extreme, and often stored when damp. The weather, too, last summer and fall was peculiarly favorable to the singular chemical action that causes natural lightien.

E. The number of fires from ludiers in the hands of children is s. Ill large, but it is to be hoped that the advanced rates for these hazardous playthings may hereafter fead to greater care being taken of them, and that the accedients they so frequently occasion may diminish accordingly.

Examinations into the facts and circumstances attending the fires that are continually breaking out in stables, and now and then reasting alive poor dumb leasts; have claimed a good deal of my time and attention, and, from the testimony obtained, the corclusion arrived at is, that in many cases of these mishaps, the harm is not done by incendiaries, sis is generally supposed, but by careless men and reckless boys, with matches, pipes, cigars, and open lights. Instead of secure lanterns, which ough is laways to be carried in stablis and lots where there is hay and straw, it is no uncommon thing to use kerosenet and finid Jamps and tallow caudies. A porter bottle is a convenient substitule for a candelestick and sometimes the candle is stack against the wall. A shield over a lamp is deemed a useless precaution. Nothing could be more treacher. OIL AND FARMING LANDS FOR The world-wide reputation which these Chimneys have acquired is due to their acknowledged superiority or all others. This superiority is derived from three sources: The undersigned has 4.000 acres of land in Wetzel county, West Virginia, for sale. This land is rich and lies well for farming purposes. It is also well located for Oil, as oil has been discovered in all directions around it. Most of the lands in the vicinity are either bought up or Isased for Oil purposes. This land will be sold all in one parcel or in separate tracts to suit purchasers. have acquired is due to their acknowledged superiority over all others. This superiority is derived from three sources:

1st. Being fifty per cent, heavier than the common Chimney, they may be handled with much less care.

2d. The oval ahape is an adaptation to the flat fame, the Chimney being at all points the same distance from the heat, so that the danger of eracking by unequal expansion is avoided.

3d. The material of which these Chimneys are manufactured is unequalled by any other glass as a rapid conductor of heat; and, practically, it is found that the combination renders them almost entirely free from liability to destruction by the heat of the flame. Hence the obstacle in the way of the universal use of Carbon Oil, found in the unreasonable expense for Chimneys, has been met and removed by the introduction of DITHEIDGE'S FIRE. PROOF CHIMNEYS.

The pepularity of these Chimneys has induced some maprincipled persons to make use of our name and trademarks, and their reputation has been partially impaired by the worthlesaness of spurious Chimneys sold as ours. Parties who have been annoyed with the cracking of some glass Chimneys would do well to call and try the XX Flint,

We have appointed Messrs. PERRINE & DETDEN, No. 102 South SEGOND Street, Sole Agents for our Chimneys in Philadelphia, from whom they can be obtained in any quantity, at manufacturer's prices, with the addition of freight.
