WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1865.

THIS DAY, THE OBSEQUIES OF THE LATE PRESIDENT, ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

A Ceremonial will take place on this day at Washington, which will be marked by the greatest and most profound grief that any nation has ever felt...

The Obsequies of the late Chief Magistrate of the United States, the victim of a dastardly assassination, will be attended to by thousands who will witness with the solemnity of doing honor to his memory and appeasing their own overwhelming sorrow...

That he had faults we care not to deny. Who is there that can lay claim to complete spotlessness in the eyes of the Almighty? But these faults were errors of judgment that in other men would weigh high as virtues...

These two men stand alone, and we seriously question whether the mournfully stolid character of ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S death will not give him the first place in the great national memory...

Standing now in the presence of his Maker, he will present to his Creator and biographer a human nature that has never before had to which his pre-eminent excellence blinds our eyes...

MURDER WILL OUT.

Public opinion is so strong against the residence of Secretary SEWARD, it is, nevertheless, shrouded with a strange, and, as yet, almost impenetrable mystery...

The manner in which his retreat and that in his association in guilt has been covered and concealed shows that all had been prepared beforehand. There was great danger...

The design, still arguing on what is known must have been not to deprive the country of its constitutionally-elected Head, but to involve other leading officials...

It would be easy to cite examples of rulers who have been murdered. HENRY the Fourth of France was murdered by the fanatic, RAVALLAC, two hundred and fifty years ago...

It is not a secret organization, the object of which was the murder of the aged Mr. WIRTH, and who, before that, committed suicide in his cell. The object of the KNAPPs was to destroy the will of Mr. WIRTH...

The object of the KNAPPs was to destroy the will of Mr. WIRTH, who had devised to the mother of the wife of our city, to whom he bequeathed a legacy of fifteen thousand dollars...

slow him where to strike. The fatal blow is given, from the report of the assassin's death...
