RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE. Letter from Chestnut Hill.

Caestnut Hill, April 28, 1865. As The Press has always been generous in noticing the improvements of Chestnut Hill, and the political, ilitary, and humanitarian events which have een more or less identified with its history, I take the liberty to-day of sending you a contribu-tion in the interest of the Church. The Presbyterian Church, on our main avenue, of which the Rev. Mr. Owen is pastor, is a neat Gothic editice, with a parsonage to correspond, and was built in 1862. One year ago the debt upon it was 43,200. At the same time the congregation resolved to erect an addition to the parsonage, which, in-cluding the furnishing of it by the lades, was accomplished at a cost of over $3,000. This was paid as soon as the work was completed. Immrdiately afterwards two of our residents proposed as a plan for cancelling the old debt, that they would each give one thousand dollars towards that object if the congregation would raise the balance. This proposition was promptly accorded, the raquisite appears congregation would raise the building. This proposition was promptly accepted, the requisite amount secured, and, on the first of the present month, the entire church-property was freed from debt. The usual contributions of the people to charitable and missionary purposes, during the past year, instead of being retarded by this extra draft upon their liberality, were largely increased. The pastor, Mr. Owen, (who, by the way, is a rother to General Joshua T. Owen,) is a favorite, not only with his large and increasing charge, but with our entire community. His course in the pulpit, and out of it, from the commencement of the war, has been marked with unswerving devotion to the old flag, and the principles of freedom to which the nation has at last been educated by the lessons of civil war. Upon every issue that has arisen since the first rebel gun was fired his trumpet has given forth no "uncertain sound" as to the duty men owe to the Government under which they live Mr. Owen's faithfulness as a pastor has also won for him recognition at the hands of his parishioners in the form of substantial presents, of which the surprise" to which he was subjected by the ren of his Sunday-school, at their celebration in February last, in the form of a beautiful bouquet of lowers, embelished with five $50 greenbacks, is not he has been apprised of an unsolicited increase i his salary of $300, a similar token of appreciation having been extended to him in 1863.

In conclusion: With a church out of debt; a congregation, the nucleus of which represented no less than eight different denominations, now living in the utmost ecclesiastical harmony; choral efficiency that is remarked and praised by all who visit the church; an attractive and comfortable edifice, and a focality equalled by few for its natural beauty and architectural surroundings, I am most happy in extending to any of your readers who may chance to sejourn at Chestnut Hill a cordial welcome to the Presbyterian church.

RECEIVING THE WHITE VEIL .- On Tacsday, 25th st., Miss Mary E. Whelan, a daughter of Wm. E Whelap, Erq., of this city, received the white well at the Convent of the Sisters of Morcy, Broad street and Columbia avenue. Rt. Rev. Bishop Wood performed the coremony, assisted by a considerable number of his clergy, and in the presence of fifty or sixty ladies and gentlemen—relatives and acquaint-ances of the "Postulant." As Sister Mary Augustine this lady now becomes a member of the order of "Sisters of our Lady of Mercy," and is pledged to a state of cellbacy and poverty, and to the works of charity consistent with her sox, and to and especially to the pupils of her own convent.

and interesting services were several of both sexes who had been companions of the Postulant, and enjoyed with her the benefit of intimate friendship. Hereafter they can only meet her upon rare occa-sions, in places where works of mercy are required and performed, or where the eye is turned from the young recipient of high education to the quiet un-UNION MEETINGS.—The Sunday afternoon Union. Meetings at American Mechanics' Hall are growing in interest. Large numbers attend who are not church members, while others, who are in regular membership, lend for presence. To-morrow afternoon Rev. Wm. T. Eva, pastor of one of the largest of our Presbyterian churches in the northern part of our city, will preach the sermon. The Hall will hold about 1,500 persons, and ought to be well filled. At a recent meeting held in this Hall, under the auspices of the Union Meeting Com-mittee, a collection was taken up for the benefit of our sick and wounded soldiers, which amounted to $115 18, which was given to the United States Special Religious Services.—We invite attention to the special services to be held the coming week, commencing with an open-air meeting on Sunday afternoon, on Broad street, near the Academy of Music, and to be continued during the week at Calvary and Tabernacle Churches, and on the subject of personal religion often resorted to in open-air meetings of this kind, and always with The relief from anxiety for the country, the speedy return of peace, and the suppression of all exultation by our national bereavement, has solemnized all minds, and prepared them to consider the all-

BREGUED BRETHERN: We are prompted by feelings of warm affection and deep sympathy to address works of condulence to you at this time of your nation's sadness and sorrow. Your land is this day full of mourning and ismentation, for the hand of the Lord has been laid heavily upon you. One to whom all eyes have been turned for more than four years as holding in his hands, under God, the destinies of your nation, and the welfare of militons, has suddenly falien—not crushed down by the accumulated cares, anxieties, and arduous duties of his high poetition as chief ruley of a mighty nation, but stricken down by the Gruel hand of a brutai assessim. At the time we write, militons are assembling in earthly temples, on this solemn funeral day, lated cares, anxieties, and arduous duties of his high position as oblef ruler of a mighty nation, but stricken down by the druel hand of a-brutai assassin. At the time we write, militons are assembling in earthly temples, on this solamn funeral day, to drop the mourner's tear, pour forth their humble confessions, earnest supplications, tender beseehings, and fervent prayers to the All-sufficient God, that in the day of their nation's calsamity He would be merciful unto them. Let us, though dwelling in another land, and belonging to another nation, foro the sympathetic tear with you who mourn the loss of jour great and good President, Abraham Lincoln. Your less we feel is, to no small extent, our own loss, and that of the world at large. As we think of the agony of the heart stricken widow, and the unutterable grief of the father-less, our prayers ascend on their behalf that the God of grace may plentifully pour the baim of consolation into their wounded hearts; and as we think of you as a people, so long sufficied with the terrible scourge of war—you, who just as the dreadful slaughter of the battle field was disappearing before the extended olive-branch of pease, just as the she shrill blasts of the trumpet of war were giving place to sweet songs of rejuicing, have been suddenly plunged into the depth of grief, your oup of yog dashed to the ground, your songs of triumph interrupted by tears, lamentations, and wallings—we would with you draw nigh to the throne of grace, that by the power and mercy of God your nation's loss may yet become the nation's gain, turough the inestimable blessings of freedom, peace, and a well-ordered Government, being more firmly established and more fully enjoyed.

And shall your bereaved nation lift up its cries in the single heart, and this night of grief, and tears and mourning, shall the God of all the earth, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, not regard our united supplications? As the Lord liveth. He will surely hear, and this night of grief, and tears and mourning, shall be

METHODIST.—During the past year the Methodist churches in the Boston (Mass) district have dis-charged not less than $108 000 of debts, and those in the Worcester district have now but $8,000 indebts edness left. In Boston, the Church-street church has raised $19,000 for its current expenses and the AFRICA.—The Gospels of Mark, Luke, and John Artica.—The Guspeis of Mark, Luke, and John in the Gaboon language, in a revised translation, have been printed at the Missian Station, and are waiting to be bound in this country before distribution. ON SUNDAY last, between thirty and forty persons, including an unusually large proportion of men, were received into the membership of the Green Hill Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, under the pastoral care of Rev. The Committee with 15,000 members, and 15,000 members while, nevertheless, a large number of them are in heart and life possessors of its powers and its hopes. In the monarchial couptries of Europs, England not excepted, every officer of the Government is expected to be a subscriber to the national creed, if not a communicant in the established Church. The American idea is, independent thought and responsibility in matters of simple religious duty. Very few statesmen, assured that to make a profession of religion is to devote ourself to a life in accordance with Christ's requirements, think it honest or consistent to avow themselves "followers" of Christ. Hence an unusual number make a profession of religion in advanced life; led to its vows by the ripened convictions of mature years. The cases of Gen. Jackson, Henry Clay, and others of like spirit, will be remembered.

Our attention has been called to this peculiar sanctity attached by each men to the Christian profession, in reading the notice given in several religious journals of the baptism of the Hon. Amos Kendali is said to have remarked, "Though for many years I have endeavored to live the life of an upright man, I have felt that my life was a standing opposition to Christianity."

Another important religious character of American statesmen is observed in the fact that so large a number of our able statesmen seem drawn, as if by religious convictions, to select as companions for life women of eminent piety. Those familiar with the eminent men gathered at Washington under several late Executive Administrations, will naturally recall many instances illustrating this statement. The announcement of the death of Mrs. Dodge, wife of Hon. Henry Dodge, former Governor of, and aftorward

It will be an evil day indeed for our nation when Christian principle ceases to be the possession, though it be not the profession, of our men in high places of trust. That respect for Christian institutions which has always marked the leading minds so prominent in all our history as a people, from Washington's day down, is the main pillar of support on which rests the security of our civil institutions.— Washington paper.

THE FASTEST LADY IN PARIS.—The Parisian correspondent of the Montreal Herald tells us that the Princess Metternich, one of the ugliest and wittlest women of the day, with a passion for eccentricities of every kind, and going everywhere, even into the least proper places, though invastably accompanied by her husband, is always inventing some new piece of witty nonsense, or contriving some new piece of extravagance. Her great delight at the present time is to sing all the songs of the famous Theress. She has taken fifteen lessons of the popular diva Cafe Alcazar, and fisters herself that she surpasses her teacher in her own peculiar brio.

CAMP WILLIAM PENN.

Camp William Penp, the rendezvous for colored soldiers, at Cheiten Hills, so beautifully situated, so elegantly and substantially completed in every particular, is about to be abandoned. A full description of this camp appeared in The Peers about eighteen months ago, when it was completed. The cott of the buildings exceeded sixty thousand dollars. They will probably be sold at public sale in a short time. The 24th Regiment United States Colored Troops, which is the only one now stationed at this camp, have received marching orders, and will probably leave for the seat of war next Wodnesday. Photographic plotures of the camp, the regiment, the post headquarters, the officers of the post, and the regimental officers, were made yesterday by fir. Williad. The camp was visited by a large number of citizens yesterday, as it became generally known that the regiment would remain but a lew days. The number of visitors will no doubt increase as the time for their departure draws near. Colonel Wagner has much cause for congratulating himself for the success which has attended his labors in promoting good order and health throughout the camp. He has also done much in recruiting colored troops, the 24th Regiment having been almost entirely recruited under his immediate throughout the camp. Vesterday morning a company of twenty-five gentlemen, officers and stockholders of a gold and silver mining company of Nevada, started from this city, after having partaken of a sumptuous entertainment at the residence of Dr. James MacNichols. The party were preceded by a full band, and followed by a long train of relatives and friends to the Pennsylvalis depot. Each of the explorers was armed with Allon's celebrated sixteen-shooter or repeating rifie, and also a brace of revolvers. These gentlemen represent various branches of mechanic arts and edence, such as assayers, engineers, blacksmiths, and carpenters. They took with them the latest improved mining engines, and other apparatus necessary for the business of excavating mines of gold and silver. They have eleven teams, containing in all fity-four mules. We well remember the first party that started for the gold region of California, in 1849, and shortly after that event many of the citizens of Philadelphia followed after them. Perhaps others of the present time may follow the Nevada adventurers. The following are the names of the party: Colonel T. G. Moorenead, Prevident; Dr. James MacNichol, Treasurer; Geo. W. McPherran, Secretary; Messrs. J. W. Thore, R. Steele, Theo. Steele, Richard Yerkes, Robert Yerkes, Henry T. Young, James E. Young, Thomas Subers, S. H. McPherran, M. S. McPherran, S. C. McPherran, J. HUMANE INVENTION.

Sometime since the Passenger Railway Companies offered a premium to any person who could produce an invention to prevent cars from running over any individual who might be unfortunate enough to fall in advance of or from the front platform of an approaching car. Genius was at once self-taxed, and yesterday ashoe, with a spiral spring, was arranged in front of a wheel of a car on the Fifth and Sixth street road. A man who was on the Shenandesh, at the storming of Fort Fisher, and who has an interest in the invention, placed himself on the rail track at Fifth and Chestnut street; the car came along, and he was turned aside. He repeated this several times in the presence of bystanders. We are not prepared to say that this was a full test, but we feel quite sure that a boy who was recently run over on one of the roads would have escaped injury had the whoels been covered by such an invention. It certainly is worth great consideration, on the Score of humanity. ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

This ancient charitable incorporation, of which Charles Mecalester, Esq. is president, waiked in the funeral procession, on this day week, their assigned place being next after the Society of the Cincinnati. The members assembled at their president's residence, 1016 Spruce streat, where they put on the badge of the Society, to which was added the "red, white, and blue," of our national fiss, with crape, and thence proceeded in a body, headed by Mr. Measlester, with Mr. D. McOlammon and Mr. George Young (the vice presidents,) to their assigned place on Broad street.

FOUND DROWNED.

Coroner-Taylor held an inquest yesterday on the body of a man that had evidently been in the water for a long time. His height was five feet nine inches, black whiskers and moustache, black coat and parts, low shoes, check and red fiannel shirts, and muslin drawers. The body was removed to the tist churches, containing 18,000 communicants. In Massachusetts, at that time, there were 90 churches and 8,000 members. Twonty years later New York contained 600 churches and more than 60,000 communicants, while Massachusetts advanced to 100 churches with 20,000 members. Coming down to the present time, New York shows an aggregate of 826 churches with 30,000 members, and Massachusetts has reached 262 churches with 35,000 members. David Davis, aged about forty years, died yester day morning from the effects of an over dose of lau-canum, which was taken on the previous evening The decessed resided on Oxford street, below Main Frankford, and leaves a family. He was formerly a stage-driver, and was well known in Frankford.
