The Invalids of an Army, To the Editor of The Press: SIR: What shall be done for the Invalids ?- the disabled, the deformed, the footless, handless, arm-less, and otherwise mutilated invalids, who survive the terrible havoc of this stupendons, this monstrou rebellion ? Our hospital provisions will meet the emergencie incident to their sick and suffering condition imme diately consequent upon the active strife of the bat. tle-field. But when medical and surgical skill have done their utmost, and reilr quish the patient to the humanitarian, how shall he and his fellow-suffering soldier be rendered capable of helping themselves-that is, to procure some added comforts beyond the absolute necessaries of life, which the "Pension absolute hecessaries of ine, which the "Pension system" will but barely supply. Our nation has been brought to the very brink of dissolution by miscreant ingrates. Hope often took wing, and despair as oft her place, on this wildering cone of dismay and woe! Yet the loyal soldier of the "Stars and Stripes," impelled by his patriotic pense of duty would "fight on, fight ever"-leaving the issues of the struggle in the hands of Him who was fulfilling his own designs in permitting the reat carnage. When the smoke of the battle-field is wafted away -when the sick and wounded are separated from the dying and the dead-the dead, whenever possi-ble, receiving solemn burial, and the dying soothed with the cup of water, assured that the last word shall be sacredly carried to his mourning relatives -the sick encouraged and relieved, and the wounded conveyed in gentle ambulances to the nearest hospi tal, to find there awaiting him all the kind offices of generous and self-devoted nurses, till by skill and generous and solid wounds are healed then it becomes the solemn duty of those for whom, and for whose, all this has been suffered and endured to make him hereafter as comfortable as it is possible to render him, ever keeping in view his characteris-tic, manly sense of personal independence or self-What measures should be adapted to this end ? Let us consider that almost every pursuit of life is represented by the national soldiery. It will not is represented by the hatohal soldiery. It will not be difficult to bring all those of the same or similar occupations into one or more organizations, to be conducted under such rules and regulations as they may themselves adopt for their mutual benefit. The patronage of the Government should always be first due to these associations, and it would never be considered by loyal citizens just to enter into sharp competition with them. They should be re-garded as the children of the nation, which they had helped to save by such personal sacrifices as their forlorn condition indicates. These institutions, being judiciously located, would eventually become self sustaining, and relieve the Pension Bureau to a great extent. Colonized by themselves, surrounded by their families and connexions, they would be saved much of the irksomeness inseparable from the consciousness of losing any of our natural fair proportions when viewed by the world—a world who might no know, or care to know, in what a noble cause they. had thus suffered. The Defalcation at the Commercial Bank. To the Edilor of The Press: Sin : I hope you will do the Commercial Bank the justice to correct the errors in the article, in re-Intion to that institution, that appeared in your pa-per of the 3d instant. After mentioning the dis-appearance of the teller on Monday last, it says: "The Board of Directors met and declared their semi-annual dividend." This was not so. The Board had met to make the preparatory examina-tion. The dividends are never declared until the morning of the next day (Tuesday.) The proposed dividend, however, had been spoken of and agreed upon. [Be it remembered that nearly the whole amount abstracted by the teller was taken on the day the Diabstracted by the teller was taken on the asy ine Di-rectors met.] The article further says: "The festive board usual on such occasions was spread with the good things of life, including champagne, hock, and the other etceteras, calculated to encourage sociality, and make life gay and happy." This is entirely incorrect. No one acquainted with the gentlemen composing the present Board of Directors will believe they would permit the money of the bank to be wasted in such expensive enter-tainments. The refreshments furnished on such ns have always been plain and unexpense occasions have always been plan and unexpensive; no such luxnies as champagne, hock, &c. The remaining part of the article is fair and just, as will be seen by reference to the official notice in your advertising columns of to-day. S will vertising columns of the second secon

JOR, JONES, President. JOR, JONES, President. COMMERCIAL NATIONAL BANK, PHNNSYLVANIA, May 4, 1865. POLITICAL MELODY.—There exists, or rather ex-isted, in the ancient town of Narbonne an old choral society, whose banner was decorated with the arms of the town and fire gold medials. If was suddouly discovered by the sub-Prefect that this musical as-societion had not the formal authorization of the police, and it was called upon by that functionary to take out a regular license. It applied for the license through the Mayor, who received the follow-ing arswer from the sub-Prefect: "MONSILVE LE MAIRE: You have transmitted to there, the object of which is to obtain a legal per-mission for the meetings of the choral scolety called the Orpheoms of Narbonne. The demand has been submitted to me by the Prefect of the Aude, who informs me in his despatch of the lith of February that the authorization solicited cannot be accorded. "Receive, &c., PEGEIN, Sub-Prefect." Prople were at first unable to make out what could be the reason of its suppression, particularly as similar scoleties, were fycierated inforther incose of the same department. The mystery was soon oleared up. Mf. of his Majesty's Government by relusing to base the redress in his own hands. This is not the proper place to speak of the diplo-matic action which followed, built may be said, as an answer to much misstatement, that the repre-sentation was confined to the facts, and that ex-planations and reparation have been accepted. The manner of proceeding will be left to the judgment of candid and enlightered men when the cor-respondence should be allowed to speak for fisself. Thins have been taken to excite prejudice against the United States in this matter, by stirring the em-bers of a much regretted incident at Balia. The authors of this injustice conceal from view with characteristic interation which was promptly and honorably made, by disavowing and apologising for the repretendie and the frazi-lian flag. It is not expected that journals which have been so quick and eager to distort and misrepressart the facts which are here presented, and whose unworthy vocation it is to infiame the bad passions of a kin-dred people, will in any way correct the errors that they have culpably circulated far and wide. But this "plain, unvarianted take", will serve, at least, to inform these whose good opinion and good will the people of the United States have cherished through a prolonged period of sad strift, and which they respect too much to be willing to forfoit by any omission of candor. Jakes E. Harver, United States Minister. LISBON, Aprill 14, 1865. they respect too much to be while to be one of any omission of candor. JAMS E. HARVER, LISUOR, April 14, 1865. Deration of Life. The average duration of life of man in civilized social is about thirty-three and a third yesite. This is called a generation, making three in a century. But there are certain localities and certain commu-nities of people where this average is considerably extended. The mountaincer lives longer than the lowlander; the farmer than the atliannest. "The worked shall not live out half his days?" is the an-noncement of Divinity. The philosophy of this is found in the fact that the moral character has a strong power over the physical; a power much more controling than is generally imagined. The true man conducts himself in the light of fible precepts; is temperate in all things; is "job vo anger;" and on his grave is written: "He went about doing good." It is said of the eminest Quaker philanthropits, Joseph John Gurney, that the isbor and pains he took to go and see personally the ob-jects of his contemplated charities, so that aone of them should be unworthly bestowed, was of itself almost the labor of one man, and he attended to his immense banking business/bestue; in fact he dil too much, and died at sixty. The average length of human life, of all donurities, at this so of the world is about twenty-sight years. One-quarter of all who die do not reach the sage of sever; one-half die ba-for ereaching geventeen; and yet its average life of differents." In Great Britain and Ireland, in 1850, was nearly fifty-six years, just double the average life of other people. Surely this is a strong induce-ment for all to practice for themselves, and to inoul-cate it upon their children day y day, that simpli-city of habit, that questness of dimenand y day day. The same serving to be, that life should be fire times the length of the period of growt is a lises, the general observation is, that the longer persons are growing, the longer dray an undred years; that law seeming to be, that life shoul LISBON, April 14, 1865. J. R. R. The Russian Pestilence.

The Russian Pestilence. A long "cfficial report" on the Russian epidemic has just been received from St. Petersburg. It is in answer to a sories of seven questions put by the English Ambassador to the Russian Administra-tion. The general tendency of the report is to show that the epidemic is merely a form of the old re-lapsing fever, involving contagion to a certain ex-tent, and difficult to treat. The mortality had been considerable, but was greatly decreasing. The pumber of cases admitted fuc the hospitals during February, 1865, was twice as large as that of the patients in February, 1864. The mortality also was much greater. A Herlin correspondent says that news from St. Petersburg represent the state of the olity to be getting worse and worse. The number of coffins daily, or rather mightly, carrisd away, already exceeds 160, and the malady, instead of being confined to the lower classes. Is spreading in the upper ranks of society also. This is mortality to note that all this alarming intelligence does not come from direct information obtained on the spot. Mir, Simon, the medical officer of the Privy Coun-cit, has reported to Lord Granville the result of the fitcial inquiries made respecting the epidemic in Russia, and the disease which prevails in North Germany. With respect to the former, he says: "As regards St. Petersburg, the epidemic prevail ire in that city consists of two forms of fever, known in this country as relapsing fever and typhnas. Of pices. There are still some runs visible at Massia, besides the trenches of the Roman General Sitva, who besieged the place. From the surveys taign by Lieutenant Vignes, if appears that the Dear Soh is of an ovoid form, with this narrower end towards the south. It is as miles long, and its greatest breadth does not exceed 12. ...The density of the waters of this inland saw varies between 1,160 and 1,200-that of pure water being 1000. The larger figure repre-sents the density at the bottom, which shows that the waters of the affluents do not descend to the lower strats. It will be observed that the President's order only re-moves the military restrictions, and expressly ex-cepts such restrictions as are imposed by the acts of Congress, and regulations in pursuance thereof, prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury. The President has not declared that the insurrection in the States named has coased or been suppressed, and commercial intercourse with those districts cannot be carried on except by permit from the Secretary of the Treasury. Nay 24. NEGRO SUFFRACES.-The Express, opposing ne-gro sniftsge, says: "Equality and fraternity ine-vitably lead to amalgamation." Geness not. There-are more negroes in Ganada or in New England than there ever were in Mobile or Natohes, under slavery, while in Ganada and in most of New Eng-land blacks and whites are perfectly equal before the law; yet, nothing can be surer than that amal-gamation was far more common in Mobile and Natchez than in Ganada or New England. Blacks and whites are allike in the eye of the law in Jamat-ca, which was a slave colony forty years ago; yet, amaigamation is not so frequent there to day as it was in 1825. The Express has got its facts wrong end foremost. It is slavary, not freedom, that riots in amalgamation.-New York Tribune.

ADOW NOW TO PARTIENTS CASH BOX ON TO get ALEM ON again, which last is not always so easy." A PAYMARTER'S CASH BOX OF THE TIME OF CONSTANTINE.—A lot of treasure trove has turned up in French Alsatia, at the little village of End, which was long since ascertained to have been the site of the ancient town of Helvetus, and of a Ro-man camp. Under a slight covering of earth some farm laborers have just found a mouldering coffer containing no less than seventy five hundred bronze colms from the mint of the Emperor Constantine, the great ruler of the empires of the East and West. It is supposed that this was the military chest of the Eighth Roman Legion, known to have been quar-tered at this poot, not long before the middle of the fourth century, in order to keep in oheck the vast German tribe of the Alemanni. The legion had evidently made a retrograde move forsome strategio reason; but, confident of resuming its position, the apostate, who marched thither from Paris to drive back the intruder from the Gallis side of the intro-All traces of the cash box were, of course, lost with the destruction of the like is de of the river.
