Meyerbeer's Last Opera. Meyerbeer's Last uports.

We find in a London fashionable journal the following facts respecting the last work of the deceased maestro. They will doubtless prove most interesting to our musical readers, for whose benefit we clip them from our English contemporary:

"A great many reports have been circulated on the subject of Meyerbeer's 'Africaine,' and certain alleged additions and alterations in the music attributed to M. Fetis. It is known that "The Control of the subject of M. Fetis. It is known that "The Control of the subject of M. Fetis. It is known that "The Control of the subject of the sub we clip them from our English contemporary:

"A great many reports have been circulated on the subject of Meyerbeer's 'Africaine,' and certain alleged additions and alterations in the music attributed to M. Fetis. It is known that M. Fetis is superintending the production of the work, but he has neither added anything nor taken anything away from the original score. Meyerbeer had not only inshed the opera to the last note, but had set some portions of it in two and even three different ways.
It has been M. Fetis' task to choose between these various readings, and it was not likely that a man of his judgment in matters of art would think of substituting his own music for that of Meyerbeer.
Meyerbeer appears at one time to have entertained some idea of adding a scene of a very novel kind to the last act. The dreams of the African heroine, dying beneath the upas tree, were to have been rendered visible to the bodily eye of the public by means of tableaux represented by dancers, grouped at the back of the stage behind a gauze curtain. No music has been left for this scene, and it is not at allectain that Meyer, if he had lived, would ever have carried out his notion. As it is, the services of the ballet will not be required in the last act. We may here mention that there is little ballet music of any kind in the midst of a triumphal procession. There are twenty-one 'numbers' in the opera, without counting the marches, and even of them are to be brought out either in two or three different keys.
Mile. Bathu's air in the first act, 'Adleu mon doux

The report of the Committee on Grammar, Seconday, and Primary Schools, confirming a number of appointments of teachers, was read and approved. The matter of altering the time of holding the sessions of the schools, which was postponed from the last meeting, was taken up.
Colonel Moore strenuously advocated the change. Colonel Moore strenuously advocated the change.
The best time for mecomplishing work was in the morning. He appealed to business and professional men whether they were as capable of work after dinner as they were the fore; he believed that to add half an hour on the morning session and take it off the nitericon would be beneficial to the intellectual as well as the physical development of the children. They could, after the afternoon sessions in these long days, go into the fields in the country, and by taking open air exercise improve their constitutions.

Mr. Levick moved to amend by retaining 8% to 11%; and altering the afternoon session from 2 to 4%. Colonel Moore. I accept that amendment, Mr. Colonel Midore. I accept that amendment, Mr. Levick, with a great deal of delightfuiness.

An objection, that the rules would require that amendment to its over for one month, was made.

Dr. Nebinger moved to further amend, by making the hours from 2 to 42 and from 2 to 42.

Dr. Nebinger withdrew his motion, and the original motion, as amended by Mr. Levick, was adopted. A motion to put Wilcon's Primary and Larger Speller on the list of text books, passed. Adjourned. and for iourteen years has been parsitysed.

INJURED REPUTATION.

Michael Kiehl was charged with cammitting an assault and battery on Sarah Boller. The latter testified that the uncused broke into her house, called her bad names, shook his hand at her, and fold her she had better leave the place; it was his brother-lip-law's house, and witness rented rooms from him; the reputation of witness had been injured. THE POWDER MAGAZINE.

The barn which is located within a few rods of the powder magazine, near Point Breeze, is a pretty large structure. The confingration of such a building, in close proximity to so much explosive powder stowed in the magazine, might prove destructive to life and property to an indefinite extent. This, of course, must be left to conjecture. If, however, the explosion of four or five tons of powder, at Messrs. Dupont's mills, in the State of Delaware, produced sufficient concussion to shake Philadelphia, and make the town hall at Norristown tremble on its foundation, what would be the probable result if one hundred or two hundred tons should explode in a magazine, built of immense strength, within three miles and a half of Independence Hall? The community was appalled yesterday, when it was announced in The Press that the barn near the powder magazine had been fired. It was not until the publication of the fact that an official announcement was made that Fire Marshal Hlackburn had already made an investigation of the occurrence. With all his genuine tact and ability he has falled to positively accertain how, when, or by whom the match was supplied. His theory is, that this bern was fixed by a prowling thief, who had ignited a number of other barns in different rural sections of the city, extending over an area of from ten to fifteen miles. That follow was convicted in the oriminal court on Monday. The Fire Marshal has had enlarged experience in ferreting out the origin of fires, and his opinion is worthy of great considerion; his theory in the present case may be true, but after all its simply theory, and thus it must remain in the absence of fact. There is no disputing One fact, and that is, early on a recent morning Mr. Davenport, the keeper of the magazine has been left unguarded for some time past is another fact, but it will be some gratification to the public te know that prompt teiorts have been made to prevent intrusion on the premises where the magazine is located. Resaures will proba accusations against her for having them there; with MRS. M. G. BROWN'S ness said she slept down stairs. Verdict not guilty. accusations against her for having taum ture; with the slept down stairs. Verdict not guilty.

ABOUT A WAGON, HOESE, AND WIFE.

Wim. Geyer, Wim. Koff, and Geo. Witmeyer, were charged with mallolous mischief.

Martin Berger testified that three persons came and took his wagon out of a shed, and pushed it in a pond, breaking the cover; it cost fitteen dollars to pull the wagon up hill again; it was cold weather, and no one wanted to go into the pond; his wile, a horse, and some spades, got the wagon out. On cross-examination the witness said: I seed nutting of this; my wife did not spend any money to get the wagon out; she treated the people.

Bertha Berger sworn.—I saw the wagon taken out at two o'clock in the morning; I went and told my man, and then I threatened to lick the men; I had not been drinking that night.—I have, witnesses for that; there was a party two doors from us, and these men were there.

Frederick Kramer testified to hearing a nise outside, and seeing the wagon thrown into the mach. The defence called witnesses as to character, and to prove that the wagon was not injured. Verdict not guilty, but to pay the costs.

OCCURRED IN CHERRY TIME.

Joseph McGurr was charged with stealing $4.

Mrs. Sarah P. Worrall testified that the money was stolen from her stall in market, a plece of the drawer had been broken while she was not in market; the boy had been seen in market, nearly every market day, hunting around under the stalls, saying he was looking for marbles; this occurred in cherry time, 1863; the father of the boy wanted to settle the case for $5, but witness thought the boy had stolen more than $25 from her, and refused to settle it. No. 410 ARCH Sirest, Philadelphia; No. 16 BOND Street. New York; No. 18 PEMBERTON Square, Boston; and No. 42 West MORUMERT Street, Baltimore settle it.

The father of the boy testified that Mrs. Worrall said she could not recognize the boy, and agreed to said she could not recognize the boy, and agreed to settle the case for $10.

Verdict, not guilty. READ THE FOLLOWING REMARKABLE CERTIFI-Verdict, not guilty.

SERIOUS ASSAULT.

Caroline Brueck was charged with committing an assault and battery on an aged wousn named Aunis Cleveland. The latter testified that she went to defendant's tavern to look for her son; she came from behind the bar, asked what she wanted, and threw her off the step, breaking her leg. Two boys corroborated the testimony of the old lady.

Dr. Barr testified to attending the prosecutrix, and finding both bones of her leg broken.

The defence was that the old lady was intunicated, and fell on the slippery pavement. Verdict guilty. Sentence deferred.

Oxford, January 20, 1886.

MRS. M. G. BROWN-Madam: —I have been to the city several times, but had not time to call. I have got entirely well, and under God I owe it to you. My right ear I have not heard any with for a number of years. I can now hear some with it. My left ear, the hearing left it just after harvest; in this way: I took a distinces in my head, so I could not work, accompanied with a ringing noise in my ear. I was so bad that I could not hear without they would halloo at the top of their voices. I first got a precipitor from a physician, which consisted of almond oil and something else (I can'ttell what). I also tried almond oil alone, but it did me no good; then I got some Homosopathle medicine, but with the same effect. I then tried oid women's cures by the score; still no benefit; I went to Philadelphia, put myself under the care of a celebrated Aurist; he bored at my ears with instruments, and run others up my nostriir, for five weeks, and ended by cheating me out of seventy five dollars ($70), as that was all the benefit I received from him. I then saw one of your advertisements; I got the Metaphysical Discovery, used not more than half of it, and have recovered my hearing, which I had lost for years

I remain yours, truly. THOMAS B DICKEY.
