shoes, byogans, &c., embracing a prine about 1,200 page 2000, years of the sale of the sale for the sal Washington, May 29.—Attorney General Speed has given an elaborate opinion in response to Pre-sident Johnson's letter of the 21st of April last. He argues that the right and power of the President to pardon and to issue any proclamation of amnes-ty are derived from the clauses in the Conwill be open for examination, with catalogues, eq ty are derived from the clauses in the Constitution and the act of Congress, which he quotes. The high and necessary power of extending pardon and annosty can never be rightfully exercised so as to make the President to say to offenders against the law: "I now offer you a free pardon for the past, or at any future day, when you shall, from ballied hopes or after being foiled in dargerous and bloody enterprises, think proper to accopt. I will give you a pardon for the then past." When more have effended against the law their appeal is for mercy, not for justice.

He proceeds to consider the questions propounded by President. Ichnero on the proclamations dated respectively the Sth of December, 1863, and the 28th of March, 1864, commonly called "the amnesty proclamations."

The facts in such cases are accomplished and the the rights arising out of these facts are attached and become rested. The Attorney General, after considering the prepar operation and effect of the two proclamations, comes to the conclusion that another preclamation should be issued. Persons, he says, thould not be invited to take an oath and to comply with terms under which they cannot obtain firm legal rights.

It is especially due to those who have heretofore and would now avail themselves in good faith of the benefits of pardon and ammety that another proclamation should be substituted, covering the now past. Persons who have been constantly engaged in rebellion should know distinctly what they are to do and when and low they are to do it, to ires themselves from publishment in whole or in part, or to reinstate themselves as before the rebellion. Such as have been affected mercily by their treasonable associations abould be absolutely forgiven. Appropriate conditions should be appended to the parton of many; the grace and favor of the Government should now be larre and generous, and the operation and effect of its profered more; should not be left uncertain.

As a measure to aid in the suppression of the rebellion, the lists proclamation has done its full and complete flice. Now one is desired to aid in restoring order and recryability soulds in the rebellions States. Reconstruction is not needed. That word conveys an erromets has The construction of this Government is as periest as human wisdom can make it. The trial to which its power and espacities have bron subjected in this effort at revolution and dismemberment proves with what sake to preserve principles and powers clearly and world disher, and thus have carried us safely through our past trendes. Ours is not a duty to reconstruct or to change. Society in the reball States has not been and is not now, in a normal condition, not in harmony with the principles of our Government. That excitely has rebelled against them, and made war upon the principles and powers of our Government. That excitely has rebelled against them, and made war upon the principles and offended only must be made to feel the extreme rigor of the law, net in a spirit of revenge, but to put the seal of infamy upon their conduct.
