most care to provide against the recurrence of similar disasters. The very necessities of the Government are, we trust, a sufficient guarantee of its cordial sympathy

In the South serious delays and difficulties will obstruct a renewal of former productiveness. The ravages of war, the destruction of a large proportion of its ablebodied white population, and the havoc of devouring armies, have been succeeded by a sudden change in its whole system of labor. Society is disorganized, and time is required to put its new industrial machinery in working order. We do not doubt that. eventually, temporary evils will be remedied, and that the blessings which have attended Free Labor everywhere else, will be youchsafed to our Southern States. But meanwhile, our enterprising men should avail themselves of favorable chances for promoting their own interests and increasing the national wealth by becoming useful, practical agents in the great work of reconstruction. For cotton, rice, sugar, and tobacco, there is an unceasing demand, and a certain reward awaits all who can supply our own and foreign markets with those valuable staples.

A sufficiently large portion of our people have a natural taste and genius for commerce, to render it doubtful whether much farther assistance is needed in that department of industry. Great as is our internal and domestic trade, we rarely lack agents to conduct and direct it. But, when we do, they are promptly supplied by the large number of foreign traders and merchants who emigrate to our shores.

Our manufactures are most apt to languish and suffer from sudden political changes ; but, as is natural, their depression almost inevitably entails great loss upon farmers and merchants-reducing the prices of the former and threatening with bankruptcy the latter. A reliable system of protection, that would be founded upon such a solid and enduring basis as would inspire universal confidence, and render it certain that a fair chance would be given to do all our own work on our own soil that can be well done here, would make this, in less than half a century, by far the greatest manufacturing country in the world, and thus ensure prosperity to all our other interests. Much has already been done. We have passed the preliminary stages of skilled industry. We have demonstrated our power in arts as well as in arms. No nation equals us in inventive genius, or in natural advantages for the production of all kinds of manufactures of iron, steel, cotton, and wool. We have learned most of the secrets of European manufacturers, and have taught them how to make steamboats, telegraphs, reaping machines, and lightning-presses. It requires but a very superficial view of a few of our cotton or woollen mills, machine shops, foundries, forges, and furnaces, to satisfy the most incredulous of the wondrous skill of American artisans. All they need is a fair chance, to outstrip the boasted establishments of the Old World in every department. The treasures of our mines are literally inexhaustible, and we are learning to make them more productive than those of any other country. Heaven has blessed us with deposits of coal and iron of boundless and one

The judges having taken their places in the ou-pols of the hotel, No. 2 Engine, of Flushing, came into poetitor at the liberty pole, one hundred and situy-incesteet in height, and at precisely halt-past three the signal was given to man the brakes. The "boys" went bravely to work, when, after succeed-ing in throwing a stream one hundred and forty-eight feet high, their engine was disabled from fur-ther duty, and they were forced to reitre from the field. The "Twos," therefore, gracefully gave up their position to the Neptune Engine, of Jamaics. This dompany has long claimed the paim, and sfter a few minutes of preparation the Jamaics intrakes forced a stream of the liberty cap surmounting the pole-a distance of one hundred and feweraty-line feet. In the mean time an engineer from the Esst-ern district had offered a bet to a member of the Astoris Company, and in settling its terms, they quarteled over them. The house tops were crowed with men, while the women ar.d obliden songht refuge in cellars. This state of things lasted for some two hours, when the rait commended to fall in torrents, and seemed to col the passions of the infuriated rioters, and buildren meres suffered the most severe injuries. The wound-ed brought excellent spirits. There is a key to the enigma ; Madame ZERO was a jealous wife. who ingeniously had contrived a little plot to try her husband's fidelity. He recognized the billet-doux as having been written by her, resolved to pay her off in her own coin, had her taken up, under special arrangement with his friend of the police office, for an attempt to disturb his conjugal happiness, and thus delighted his wife, and quietly avenged himself at the same time. SCRIDE would have turned this little incident into a charming vaudeville, and ALEXANDER DUMAS might have spun it ont into one of his eternal romances. It could have happened, if it ever did happen, scarcely anywhere but in Paris.

White Millers.

After our usual season of devouring worms, wo are now having a sort of resurrection of them. The white meths or millers may be seen flying about by hundreds where the worms were making their ravages some two or three weeks since. They are more active in the night than in the day-time. It is with them the season of apparent enjoyment and egg-laying. There is no evidence that they eat anything, but rather subsist upon what was caten in the worm state. As these creatures have become a subject of geneal interest to the people of this city, it may be well for all persons to understand their nature and As soon as the millers appear they at once commence their business for the year to come. They are hardly on the wing three days before they have made a deposit of eggs, which will increase their number many-fold. These eggs are placed by the female miller upon the under side of the small around in profusion branches or twigs of the tree, in clusters varying from fifty to one hundred. These can be discovered

Lady Emma won the match after three heats, the stal-lion taking the first, and the mare the two subse-quert one, when, it being palpable to all that the stallion had not the slightest chance of winning, he was withdrawn, and Lady Emme declared the winner, thus scoring two important victories within sit days—the first over General Butler, and the one op Tuesday over what has been universally con-sidered the insteat trotting hars the world over produced. only by a practiced eye, and, as they resemble the bark of the tree, would hardly be noticed at all, unless one was in search of them. These eggs are of a irm and pearl-like texture, and are glued so firmly to the wood as to secure them for the winter. As soon as the spring opens, and the tender leaves begin to appear, the worms, in size so small as hardly to be discovered by the naked eye, will begin to ope-rate. In three or four days they can easily be seen, and in the course of two weeks will become the disgusting measuring worm, so annoying to every-body. After feeding on the tree from ten o twelve days the worm is faily developed, and wraps itself in a small leaf, where it remains in the ryfalls state from five to seven days, and then sppears in its present form. Now, it is a question as to how the city can get rid of this vermin. It seems certain that the trouble will increase rather than diminish. But little, if snything, can be done to destroy the eggs. In the first place, it is very difficult to discover them, and wagons,

BILLIARDS-TER LARGEST RUN ON RECORD Yesterday, at the billiard room of Oharles J. Cuy-ier, was made the largest rau of billiards ever re-corded. It was made by Mr. Frederick G. Britton, a fine amateur player of this oty. He commenced a friendly game with another gentleman, and after making a run of thirty-five points, got the two red halls in the corner, and made the unpreoedentod number of seven thousand seven hundred and fifteen points. The largest run horectore recorded was six thousand one hundred and fifty points. It was made by a geriteman in Louisville, Kentucky, a few weeks sgo. The run made yesterday by Mr. Britton was upon a full extorn table, and compied four hours and twenty-five minutes. The balls were out of their position in the corner six times during the piny, but by the expert manipulation of the player were forced back. There was not a "foul" stroke made in the run, and the counting only ceased by the balls becoming "troze." This remarkable run shows extraordinary nerve and the thuot delicay of touch in striking the balls.-Cleveland Herald. abated than that we have already recommend When the worms appear they can be easily shaken off the tree, especially early in the morning, when they are in a somewhat torpid state. But if the people will not do this, the city authorities should resort either to penalties or rewards to ure the evil. We think rewards might do better. It would be a good employment for the boys to gather them up, and if the city would offer a premium of about twenty-live cents a quart, there would no doubt be a large number of boys ready to undertake the business. If the worms are all destroyed there will be no millers; if no millers, then no eggs; and no eggs, of course, no worms for the coming year. It is to be hoped that this subject will receive some attention, for it is not only the annoyance that we suffer from the insect, but the evil hat must result in gradually destroying all those of touch in striking the bails .- Cleveland Herald. trees which are attacked by them, and which are th an ornament and a luxury to the city.
