By A. D. Richardson, New York Tribune Correspondent.
The most interesting and exciting book ever published, embracing Mr. Richardson's unparalleled experience for four years, trayelling through the South in the sceret service of the Tribune, at the outbreak of the war, with our armics and fleets, both East and West, during the first two years of the Rebellion; his thrilling capture; his confinement for twenty months in seven different Rebel prisons; his escape, and almost miraculous journey, by night, of nearly four hundred miles. It will abound in stirring avents, and contain more of the fact, incident, and romance of the war than any other work published.

Teachers, ladies, energetic young men, and especially returned and disabled officers and soldiers, in want of profitable employment, will find it peculiarly adapted to their condition. We have agentially fadapted to their condition. We have agentially four gapplicant.
