BALTIMORE, September 19. If every other great city showed as many and as signal signs of prosperity as Balti more shows at this moment, there need he no fear for the future of this great country. Trade and commerce are active and lively. In every part of the city new buildings are in progress. The suburbs are being rapidly filled up; on Pennsylvania avenue this is particularly noticeable. The Druid Park, far superior to anything of the sort in the Western world, and, in comparison with which, Fairmount Park in Philadelphia, and the Central Park in New York, are mere pigmies, is increasing in beauty, under the admirable municipal management of Governor-elect Swann, Mr. Latrobe the engineer, and other gentlemen. New warehouses and factories are springing up in the business parts of the city—I particularly noticed the tobacco manufactory of Marburg Brothers, near the United States bonded warehouses in South Charles street. The widening of Holliday street, in a direct line from Baltimore street has been commenced, and what used to be a narrow lane is now a splendid thoroughfare, over fifty-nine feet wide, having the Mayor's and other municipal offices on one side, which are faced on the other by the Holiday-street Theatre and Knapp's Institute. There is some talk of one, if not two, afternoon papers. Lastly, there has just been established a direct line of steam packets between Baltimore and Liverpool. All prise, and prosperity. Politically speaking, Baltimore is not quite so satisfactory. It cannot be denied that, when the rebellion broke out, many leadtheir sympathy to the South. As a Slave State, perhaps there was nothing very surprising in this. Wealthy and influential parties in Baltimore gave their sympathy, and a good deal more, to the revolted South. As a general rule, the fair sex were more earnest, more excited, more bitter than the male. It was noticeable, however, that sympathy with the rebels was chiefly expressed by those who claimed, especially, to be "respectable." The working classesthe bone and sinew of the people-were generally true to the Union.

cessity for altering it. The previous Constitution of that State was decidedly of a pro-slavery hue. Some of its enactments were actually absurd. For example, if a slave was sentenced to imprisonment, as a punishment for crime, his owner could come down on the public treasury for one dollar a day, during his captivity, as compensation for the loss of his services. If a slave was hanged, for a capital offence, his owner was entitled to receive the sum of $1500 as his market-value. The new Constitution, sweeping away all the provisions in favor of slave-owners, is a vast improvement upon its predecessor. There are certain disaffected persons, however, who consider that it is unconstitutional-a belief which seems to involve a paradox.

The fact is, it does not suit them. It is too fair, too just, too plain in its provisions. One of these declares that no citizen shall vote at public elections if he declines taking an oath to the effect that he did not, at any time or in any way, give aid or countenance to the rebellion and its satellites. Very many persons who did give this assistance to treason are now quite willing to swear that they did not-such oath placing them upon the list of qualified voters. That simply means that they are willing to pile the Pelion of perjury upon the Ossa of treason. Men who would fight against the Union, or support and aid those who did, would not hesitate to deny, on oath, that they ever were unfaithful citizens. Knowing this, the Unionists are on the lookout for such, and have already succeeded, in very many instances, in producing evidence of their guilt, and preventing their being qualified to vote. This is thankless but very necessary work. The persons in question make no secret of their intention of voting at the approach. ing election for members of the State Legislature, for such candidates only as will pledge themselves to support a bill repealing that part of the amended constitution which provides that the oath in question shall be taken by persons claiming to vote. It is not very likely that many such candidates will be elected. There is great reliance, too, on the loyalty and firmness of Mr. Swann, formerly Mayor of Baltimore, and now Governor elect of Maryland, who will enter upon the discharge of his public duties early in the coming year. He will put his foot down as firmly as need be upon all attempts to whitewash rebels and condone treason. There will be a great muster of Odd Fellows, to-morrow. At least 30,000 are expected, on the presentation to the pub lic of what is called the Wildey Monument, in Broadway, (or Broad street, I am not sure which,) erected at considerable cost. Mr. Wildey, whom it is intended to honor, was an Englishman, who kept a noted beer-shop in Baltimore, and introduced the Independent Order of Odd Fellows into the United States, some forty years ago. The Order, which is highly respectable, has abundantly flourished have anth one respect, at least, other cities might profitably take a lesson from Baltimore. The city railroads are laid down with such remarkable care, that spring vehicles can cross them without sustaining the slightest jar. Look at the iron lines by which, in a criss-cross manner, our own Market street is gridironed, and you will catch my meaning. In Baltimore, the top of the iron flange is on a dead level with the street. but in Philadelphia, the flange is frequently from two to four inches above the street. The paved ways of Baltimore are excellent. The centre of each street is paved with small, flat, and very hard stones, which make a remarkably even and smooth highway, equally good for horses and human beings, and very different from the rugged streets, in other cities, composed of rotund cobble-stones. As a matter of course, I visited the Knapp Institute, very near the Holiday-street Theatre, and exactly opposite the Mayor's office. It is a school upon such a vast scale that from seven to eight hundred pupils receive daily instruction there. Established some twelve years ago, by the able gentleman whose name it bears, it was duly incorporated by the State Legislature last year, and is more flourishing than ever. One of the play-yards is floored with twenty-three thousand hard bricks! Another German institution, and the latest, as well as the most sensational, is the Concordia Club-House, which was formally opened this day week. The Con. cordia Society was established in 1847, for social purposes, and also for the oultivation and practice of the science of music, the couragement of German literature. To obtain membership, one must have been born a German, or be familiar with the language. A year ago the foundation-stone of the Concordia Club-House, in Eutaw WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1865. street, near German, was laid, by Mr Noedel, the president. The building, which s handsome and substantial, is two hundred feet long, and contains every accommodation that a club can desire, including a good restaurant, with a dining-room one nundred feet long, and a wine-cellar in which are already stored some $15,000 worth of he juice of the grape, most of it specially mported by the Club itself. There is Conordia money, too-the usual currency not being received, though metallic tokens representing various sums, are exchangeable or it. Nearly all the furniture is of black walnut, finished in oil. The adornments of the building are in excellent taste. Of course, a reading-room and library form part of the concern. There is a bowling saloon, 90 feet by 30, and a Chinese pagoda on the grounds, placed over an immense refrigerator and ice-house, and intended for an orchestra. Billiard, card, and conversation rooms are also part of the Club. Nearly all the second story is occupied by a noble saloon, which is well adapted for musical, dramatic, and spectacular performances, and will be let out for such purposes. A simple arrangement readily isolates this part of the edifice from the Club, when so used by the public. This saloon, rich in fresco, paintings, medallions, and gilding, is lighted by one great chandelier and fourteen smaller ones. The mammoth chandelier has sixty powerful burners, was made in Baltimore, cost $3,000, weighs 1,800 pounds. is sixteen feet in height and twelve in diameter, and is claimed to be "the largest ever made in this country." One might like to know what Cornelius & Baker would say on that point.

In this saloon, which may be used as a hall-room, a concert hall or an opera house (it has a stage at one end, sixty feet wide and correspondingly deep), nearly one thousand persons can be placed on the floor and three hundred in the galleries. It is calculated that as many as twenty-five hundred persons can be easily accommodated. The drop scene of the stage is a beautiful view of the Bay of Naples, by Mr. A. Weidenbach, an eminent artist resident and settled in Baltimore, who has also painted the scenery. The orchestra can accommodate forty performers. The piano, made by Knabe & Co., Baltimore, cost fifteen hundred dollars.

On Monday this saloon was opened with a vocal and instrumental concert, under the direction of Mr. C. Lenschow-the piece de resistance being Beethoven's overture to "Fidelio," by a picked orchestra of sixty. On Tuesday Brackvogel's German these facts indicate great activity, enterdrama, "Narcissus," was performed—the part of the hero by Mr. Adolphus Meauburt, who managed the German theatre in Philadelphia for a year. On Wednesday ing persons in Maryland thought fit to give | evening there was a brilliant ball, and, on Friday evening, the Concordia Society, with a certain number of invited guests, making a pleasant little party of one thousand, had a magnificent dinner, at which the quality of the wines was very generally tested and praised. The German population in Baltimore is numerous and wealthy. That they should have raised $200,000 to erect what may be called their national club-house does them and wounded. much credit. I do not suppose that it will be more remunerative than our own splen-did Academy of Music; but they have not ward, are Postmaster General Randall, the gone into it for money-making. STATE ITEMS.

-The following proceeding, had on the 6th day of January, 1861, in the Senate of Pennsylvania, we copy from page 6 of the Legislativ Record, 1864, as follows:

Record, 1861, as follows:

GEN. U. S. GRANT AND OTHERS.

Mr. Lowry offered the following resolution:

Resolved by the Senate, that the thanks of the loyal people of Pennsylvania are due and are hereby tendered to General U. S. Grant and the officers and soldiers serving under him, for the series of gallant services and glorious victories resulting in the liberation of the faithful Union people of East Tennessee from a military despotism more galling than ever was that of Great Britain.
On the question,
Will the Senate proceed to a second reading of the resolution?

Will the Senate proceed to a second reading of the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Donovan and Mr. Wallace, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Champneys, Connell, Dunap, Fleming, Graham, Hoge, Hongaholder, Johnson, Lawry, mychniess, Nicholas, Ridgway, Turrell, Wilson, Worthington, and Penny, Speaker—16.

Nays.—Messrs. Beardsdale, Bucher, Clymer, Donovan, Glatz, Hopkins, Kinsley, Lamberton, Latia, McSherry, Montgomery, Reilly, Smith, Stark, Stein, and Wallace—16.

So the question was determined in the negaive. Here stands the name of every Democratic Senator recorded against a vote of thanks to the gallant General Grant, who brought the war to a successful close, Among the noes stands the name of the leader of that same party, William A. Wallace, the chairman of ne Copperhead State Central Committee, who o-day professes such a love for the soldiers. - The True Democrat (York) says: "On our return from the city of Baltimore, on Thursday evening last, we had the pleasure of making the acquaintance and were entertained with the company of Major General John W. Geary, who now resides in New Cumberland, in cumberland county, in this State. General Beary is a native of Westmoreland county, deary is a native of westmore and control and was appointed Governor of Kansas in 1856, by President Franklin Pierce, and continued to act in that capacity until sometime after the inauguration of James Buchanan, when he resigned his position and retired in disgust on account of the corruptions prac-ticed by that old public functionary. General

Geary is one of the marked men of the present generation, and probably has had as nuch experience in civil and military affairs as any other man of his age in the country. Formerly an old-line Democrat, when this rebellion broke out and he saw the course pursued by leaders of that party, he broke loose from it, and declared himself in favor of the war for the Union. Since then he has been allied with the Union party, and his record both in the field and elsewhere is one of which he, his friends, and his country have reason to be proud. We shall have more to say of General Geary hereafter, and would at present simply add, that no man in the State of Pennsylvania is more popular with the masses of the people, or has a stronger hold upon the gratitude of his country, both for his fearless gallantry in the battle-fields of the late rebellion and his devotion to and proud defence of the early liberties of Kansas." The Harrisburg Telegraph says: "We may be mistaken, but, as far as our observation extends through an exchange with Copperhead journals, we believe in no county where an opposition majority prevails, have the Copperheads nominated a soldier for either an office of trust or honor. In countles where these treason sympathizers are hope-lessly in the minority, they have seized the names of gallant soldiers for position on their tickets, but in most cases the heroes repudiate the doubtful honors thus tendered them by the party who was willing to let the soldier family starve rather the profes was absent periling his life defending the just authority of the Government. As a contrast to this hypo-critical action on the part of the Copperhead leaders, we need only state that there is not a Republican county in the State where the soldiers have not received a fair share of the no-minations, while in many districts controlled by Republican majorities, soldiers have been exist—namely, that the soldiers compose the great mass of the Republican party, or that the Republican party is willing to recognize and reward the soldler, without regard to his past political associations." - Col. W. W. H. Davis, the Copperhead can didate for Auditor General, has now resumed full charge of the Doylestown Democrat, a newspaper which he has owned for many years, and which heretofore and now sympa-thizes with the rebels. The peculiar force of the Democrat, since Col. Davis has returned to preside over its columns, consists in asserting that the rebels have not been whipped; that they should be received back to the Union with all their rights restored; that slavery is not and can never be abolished, and that in justice to the rebels, the debt which they incurred in struggling for their "rights" is as legal as the debt which was piled on the peo-ple by the national authorities while waging a crusade on the people of the South, and if the national debt is paid, so also must the debts of the Southern States be liquitated. According to Col. Davis' own theory the triumph of the Copperheads at the ballot-box would be gift of the party. Now, one of two facts must o wipe out all the disgrace of the defeat of the rebels on the battle-field. The Poylestown Democrat takes this position, and W. W. H. Davis is the editor and proprietor of that pestilential sheet. - We find the following in the Pittsburg Despatch: "Rev. Francis Garmint, a minister, was found by the police on Saturday rolling through the streets in a state of gross intoxic cation. They brought the reverend gentleman before His Honor the Mayor, who severely reprimended him for his gross violation of the laws of decency and good order. The prisoner was much overcome by the sad cir-cumstance in which he had placed himself.

tion, but in extenuation of his conduct stated that he was on his way to Brownsville, and meeting some old friends they persuaded him to drink. Not being accustomed to the use of liquor it overcame him. He was discharged n a promise to leave the city immediately."
—Speaking of John S. Mann, the Union nominee from Tioga and Potter for the Legislature, the Tioga Acitator says: He is one of the ablest men in Pennsylvania, and has stood by his stand for free soil and free men with a firmness not often equalled, and never excelled. He will re-present North Pennsylvania as it has been ldom represented, and the Legislature will have no abler and truer member than John S - The 78th Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers arrived at Harrisburg on Sunday morning. NEW JERSEY ITEMS. - We are glad to see that our Union friends in New Jersey are striving with a will, which cannot but prevail, to wrest their State out of the hands of the Copperheads. The canvass has commenced in earnest; every village and town is being visited, and the people are being enlightened as to the issues involved. The Copperhead dodge of nominating a soldier (?) for Governor will not take. If General Runyon ever did any good while he was in the threeonths service it is all obliterated by the hostility he has since manifested towards the lovernment in its efforts to crush the rebellion. He was not a whit behind his fellow-Copperheads in throwing obstacles in the way of the arms of his country, and now he is to pay the penalty. The soldiers, whom they thought to captivate by classing him as one of their number, have seen through their designs, and are organizing clubs in all parts of the State to assist in the election of their friend Marcus L. DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION .-On Sunday night hundreds of men, women, and children congregated in the vicinity of the up-town churches, intent upon satisfying a morbid curiosity. About forty persons went over from Hoboken, among them a self-constituted committee of church members, to inves-gate the mystery. There were also persons present from New York and other localities, who listened to all sorts of stories told by the knowing ones, and they went away no wiser than they came. The whole matter or "mystery" has, however, been solved by a party of young men who discovered that the origination of the horri-ble sounds was a watch-dog who had by some means crept into the church, and not being able to get out, set up unearthly yells nightly l on a chain which he dragged after him and this gave rise to the theory in some per

ST. LOUIS COUNCILMEN.—The Gommittee of Arrangements appointed by the Select and Common Councils to appropriately receive the Councilmen of St. Louis upon their arrival in Philadelphia, assembled in Select Council chamber at five o'clock yesterday afternoon. A special telegram was received from Pittsburg that the distinguished gentlemen from St. Louis would leave that city at nine o'clock last evening. They will probably arrive at the depot in West Philadelphia at noon to-day, from which place they will be escorted to the Girard House.

We understand that Commodore Hull, atour navy-yard, has placed a first-class steamer at the disposal of the committee, in order that the party may obtain a view of the city front, its shipping, navy, &c., and by which they may pay a visit to the gas-works, at Point Breeze, on the Schuylkill.

It is likely the visitors will remain in Philadelphia until Saturday. They will probably visit New York and Boston, and perhaps Battmore, before returning to their far Western home.

COLLISION ON THE DELAWARE RIVER. Collision on the Delaware River.—
On Monday morning last a scene of considerable excitement occurred on the Delaware river, not far from Burlington. It appears that, about half-past seven o'clock on the morning in question, the ferry-boat William L. Dayton, which plies between the above point and Bristol, while crossing from Burlington was run into by the steamer Trenton, which is in the service of the Camden and Amboy Railrohd Company. A thick fog being over the river at the time, the pilots could see but a short distance. The Dayton was proceeding cautiously, and was still near the Jersey shore, when the Trenton struck her on the starboard bow, crushing the guard and demolishing the ladies' cabin. About twenty passengers were on board, but no one was injured, although there was no little excitement. The Trenton was not damaged, and continued on her way to this city.

The Hospital.—Yesterday morning The Hostital.—Yesterday morning william Henry Brotherhead, about nine years old, son of William Brotherhead, residing at 911 Locust street, was run over by a wagon in Ninth street, near Locust, and had his thigh

Robert McFarland, twenty-two years of age, had his foot badly lacerated, at Twenty-third and Coates street, last evening, by a coal car running over it. DIVING FOR LEAD.—A party of divers are now at Atlantic City engaged in raising lead from a vessel which was sunk below the inlet about nineteen years ago. A considerable quantity of the lead has been recovered at different times. The wreck is now covered with some eighteen inches of sand, and of course there will be considerable trouble in Young Men's Christian Association. Last evening a social gathering of the members and friends of the Young Men's Christian Association took place at their new hall, lately dedicated. A large number of persons were present, the majority being ladies. Prayer was offered, and a number of choruses and authems sung, after which there was a general mingling of the assemblage in social conversation. The meeting broke up soon after ten o'clock, every one highly pleased with the evening's enjoyment.

It was in evidence that several pawn-tickets were found on the prisoners, by means of which goods were recovered which were identified by parties as having been stolen from them. A lady identified a caba, found in the possession of the accused, as her property, which, together with some jewelry and money, had been stolen from her. The accused were held for trial. [Before Mr. Alderman Fitch.] ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Jeremiah Crowley has been arrested on a charge of assault and battery. It seems that about two o'clock this morning, as Mr. Frederick Wagner, in company with his wife, were passing along Columbia avenue, on their way home from a ball, they were attacked and assaulted by three men. The police came up and the cowardly assailants fied. Pursuit was made and one was captured. He was held in $500 ball to answer. (Before Mr. Alderman Tittermary.)

Win. Kane and James Hagan were arrested on Monday night, on suspicion of having been engaged in a highway robbery. The allegation is that as a man named Lochry was passing in the neighborhood of Seventh and Baker streets, he was knocked down by the accused and robbed of his watch and chain. Yesterlay morning they were committed to answer. BURGLARIOUS ATTEMPT. On Monday night, the dwelling of Mr. James Henry, No. 1204 Austin street, was robbed by burglars, who forced open the front window shutters while the family were absent. Mr. Henry returned about 11 o'clock, when the burglars fied, without obtaining any plunder. (Before Mr. Alderman Butler.) Vesterday morning Patrick Cronan and Sarah Cronan were arraigned, charged with keeping a disorderly house at Water and Dock streets. They were held to answer the charge, Seven women, found in the house, were placed under bonds to keep the peace.

[Before Mr. Alderman Swift.] Two men, giving the names of Joseph Sewell and William Wilson, were arrested, about half past six o'clock yesterday morning, at Ninth and Chestaut streets, charged with lighting on the street and assaulting Officer Culp. It is alleged that a party of men, among whom were the accused, got into a quarrel at the above locality, and when Officer Culp attempted to interfere, the prisoners, it is averred, turned upon him and beat him. They were held to bail. [Before Mr. Alderman Jones.]

Suppose Mr. Alderman Jones.

Supposed Prize Fighter.

An Englishman, named James Turner, has been arrested on suspicion of having been about to engage as principal in a prize fight with another man of the same name. He was held in $1,500 bail to keep the peace and be of good behavior.

THE COURTS. Court of Quarter Sessions - Ron. James R. Ludlow, Associate Justice. CWilliam B. Mann, Esq., District Attorney. I
THE CITY COMMISSIONERS' CASE.
THE CITY COMMISSIONERS' CASE.
The case of John Given and Philip Hamilton,
City Commissioners, charged with conspiracy, was resumed. The examination of witnesses for the prosecution was continued.
Stephen Coulter, sworn.—I am in the Recorder of Deeds' office, and have charge of the books in which miscellaneous papers are recorded; I made search for an oath of the board of revision, from 1882 to July, 1895, but no such oath is recorded that I could find.
Cross-examined.—Matthias Myers requested me to make Search; I have been in the office over four years; I cannot find any oath recorded for 1882, 483, 64 or 455.
Manuel N. Phillips sworn.—I am in the receiver's office and have charge of the assessment book of the Fitteenth ward; I have the assessment of the property of Thomas J.
Price, Hiram Miller, and C. C. Haffelinger; I can't say when the additional valuations were made; there are two thousand dollars additional assessments on the property of Hiram Miller (now Bishop Simpson's), and also on laffelinger; the tax on Bishop Simpson's property was paid on the 10th of the second month, without the addition being added; it was paid on the original assessment; Mr.
Haffelinger's taxes were paid in the same way in March; Mr. Price's taxes have not been paid on the improvement.
Cross-examined.—Mr. Shaw said he made one of the additions; Mr. Shaw is chief clerk of the commissioners.
Charles O'Neill sworn.—I am the receiver of [William B. Mann, Esq., District Attorney.] commissioners.

Charles O'Neill sworn.—I am the receiver of taxes; I was in the commissioner's office when Mr. Price made complaint; Mr. Given took the responsibility.

Cross-examined.—By Mr. Cassidy. Mr. Given is one of your bondsmen, is he not?

Witness. He is supposed to be.

Mr. Cassidy. For what amount,

Question. Was the assessment on your taxes changed?
Objected to and sustained.
Mr. Price wanted to show that difficulties had occurred between the witness and Mr. Given, and then the assessment was changed. It was desirable to show the animus.
Mr. Cassidy. Well, by-plays come in after swhile. We want the jury to hear testimony only. The court sustained the objection. Mr. Price said he wanted to exa Mr. Price said he wanted to examine Mr. Myers, and would then close his case.
Mr. Dougherty opened the case, saying he would be able to establish, in the most Mr. Price said he wanted to examine Mr. Myers, and would then close his case.

Mr. Dougherty opened the case, saying he would be able to establish, in the most triumphant manner, the innocence of the defendants. The superintendence of the assessments was all conducted in the office of the City Commissioners. There was a triennia assessment which lasted for three years, unless the property was burned down or improvements were made upon it. Take, for instance, the case of the owner of a vacant lot. If a palatial residence should be erected on the lot before the expiration of the triennial assessment, of course the assessor would assess the property. In order to get at the real personal wealth of a man a printed circular is served upon him containing certain interrogatorics to which he is expected to reply. A list is made out by the assessor and returned to the commissioners. Then the board of revision meets and compares the books with those of the previous year. It sometimes happens that by a clerical mistake a property valued at $35,000 is put down at $3,500. Indeed, the property at Ninth and Sansom streets, known as the Bazaar, had been entirely overlooked by the assessor, and it was not discovered until the comparisons were made. When the board of appeals meet they have the power to make additions or reductions, as the case may be. It is sometimes necessary that they should visit the premises, to see if the proper tax has been placed upon them.

Mr. Dougherty read from Purdon's Digest, to show that the commissioners had the power to increase or decrease the assessment.

Mr. Price. That refers to the country. Mr. Cassidy. No, sir; that is the law of Philadelphia to-day.

Mr. Cassidy. No, sir; that is the law of Philadelphia to-day.

Mr. Cassidy. No, sir; that is the law of Philadelphia to-day.

Mr. Price that refers to the contry. Mr. Price, although he called for it four or five times, in accordance with the printed circular. The City Commissioners having a knowledge that Mr. Price had been receiving at the ra

Mr. Price. Never mind that, sir. John Williamson, sworn.—I know Mr. Given. Question. Was the assessment on your taxes the change could be made on the receiver's books.

When Mr. Price made a disturbance about the additions, he was told by the commissioners to go make affiderit that he did not own $15,000 worth of personal property, and the allowance would be made. This Mr. Price refused to do, and when we want to put the question to Mr. Price as to what he does own, his counsel objects. The debt of Philadelphia, now forty-five millions, must be paid by taxation, and certainly men of large contracts, constantly drawing money from the treasury, should be the first to pay their assessments.

When Mr. Given attempted to prevent Mr. Price from obtaining three prices for articles furnished to the city, then Mr. Price attempted to defeat him for nomination and re-election. He supposed Mr. Hamilton would assist him in this, but when Mr. H. told the truth, then Mr. Price had him arrested.

Mr. Dougherty asked that his clients be acquitted, and the costs be put on Mr. T. W. Price, the prosecutor.

quitted, and the costs be put on Mr. T. W. Price, the prosecutor.

David Creamer sworn.—I am a builder, and live at 1113 Brown street; I know the house of Mr. Price, and examined it within two weeks; I have been in business about 21 years; I know about real estate in that neighborhood.

Question. What would the property of Thos. W. Price's, situated in Mount Vernon street, bring at a sale!

Objected to, as the assessors were not on trial. Objected to, as the assessors were not on trial.

Ar. Cassidy wanted to show the value of the property, so as to show that no malice was intended in making the addition.

The court admitted the testimony, as the question was not whether the defendants did right or wrong, but whether they acted from corrupt and malicious motives.

Witness resumed.—I think a just value of the property would be from $14,000 to $16,000; I know a gentleman who will give $14,000 for it now. now.
Cross-examined.—Did not examine Bishop Simpson's property; if it is as large as Mr.
Price's, it is worth as much.
Hiram Miller sworn.—I am a builder, and than $8,000; I made improvements on it for Mr. Price, and think, after they were completed, the house was worth $12,000; I think the improvements cost $3,000 to $3,500; there was a single back building to the house when Mr. Price purchased it, and a double back building was erected subsequently; the house is furnished in very good style; a piano is there, and very handsome carpets; don't recollect if there are mirrors or paintings there. there.

Cross-examined.—Did you see pots, kettles and pans?

Witness. I visit a great many houses, but don't generally notice the furniture; the alteration to Bishop Simpson's house did not cost one-third of what Mr. Price's did; he has made alterations since, and his house is worth fully as much, if not more than Mr. Price's; his house is forty feet front, and Mr. Price's; his house is forty feet front, and Mr. Price's; his house is forty feet front, and Mr. Price's; his house is forty feet front, and Mr. Price's; his house is forty feet front, and Mr. Price's; his house is forty feet front, and Mr. Price's; his house is many doubt is had as to its value; the commissioners visited Mr. Price's house; I was with them; I was in Eighteenth street, and they went up the alley; I went there the mart deviate and handow fix I want there the mart deviate and handow fix I want there the mart deviate and handow fix I would be not it; all additions are put in red ink, so as to distinguish the assessment, gave great labor to the commissioners; there are over two thousand warrants for election officers, and all the papers have to be prepared for them.

Mr. Price objected to this as irrelevant. If it was continued he thoughthe could show the commissioners had plenty of time for frolicking.

Mr. Cassidy. I hope they had, sir. there. Cross-examined.—Did you see pots, kettles

Mr. Price objected to this as irrelevanu. It is was continued he thought he could show the commissioners had plenty of time for frolicking.

Mr. Cassidy. I hope they had, sir.

Mr. Dougherty wanted to show that the laborious duttes had compelled the commissioners to put off the examination of property.

Judge Ludlow. Well, I think, gentlemen, this has gone far enough.

Witness resumed.—Question. Do you know of the board of revision sitting?

Mr. Price. The court has directed that the record of the board would show whether they had met.

The court decided the point well taken.

Witness resumed.—The duplicates were out, being made when I visited the place.

Cross-examined.—I visited the property in January, and the duplicates were returned late in the month.

Question. Was it before the court granted an injunction?

Mr. Cassidy. The court has already decided that is not admissible, and I am resolved you shall not get in anything here except according to law.

The court asked if there was any event by which he could fix the time of the visit.

The Witness. None I can recollect.

The court decided that the witness might be asked if any case of littigation would fix the time of the visit.

Witness resumed.—I heard of a case of littigation, but can't say if it was in December, January, or February; I can't answer whether it was before or artier the litigation that I went up to Mr. Price's; on the first visit very many properties were looked at; on the second visit I only went to Mr. Price's; the assessments were put up on some of the property in that block. Witness here reterred to a book, and said he was mistaken as to the block; do not know which property was put up first, that of Price's, Haffeldinger's, or Simpsons'; the book was in the hands of the receiver when the two last were put up; I did not see any of them put on the book; the memorandum was made of all the properties by the commissioners at the same time.

Examination direct.—The commissioners visited all the properties in one day; they went through the Wolbert's bond also?

Objected to, and subsequently withdrawn.
Witness resumed.—I have heim Mr. Price is on the bond of both Mr. Wolbert and O'Neill, but he is not on my bond.
Harvey sworn.—I am errand boy in the City Commissioners' office, and was present when Mr. Price came to the office in the first part of February. The evidence of this witness was substantially the same as that of Mr. Dickson. No cross-examination.
Mr. Wolfingh sworn.—I represents the control of the same as the control of the same Mr. Wolfinch sworn.-I remember takin Mr. Wolfinch sworn.—I remember taking the City Commissioners to the Fifteenth ward; took Mr. Given, Mr. Shaw, Mr. Hamilton; went first to Eighth and Brown; then to Eighteenth and Mt. Vernon, and then to Twentieth and Ridge road; the commissioners got out of the carriage; it was about the 20th of January; so the boss says it is in his books; I was out other days pretty much all over the city.

Cross-examined.—I say it was the 20th of January, because it is on the boss' books.

Examination direct.—Mr. Greene is my employer. loyer. Henry T. Reese sworn.—I am messenger in Henry T. Reese sworn.—I am messenger in the City Commissioners's office; the duplicates of the Fifteenth ward, I think, were returned to our office on the last day of January; I was pursent when additions of that and other wards were made; Messrs. Hamilton, Given, Dickson, Shaw, Charnley and myself were present; I think the additions were made on the last day of January, and before the duplicates were returned; the additions were made in red ink, and made by direction of the commissioners; I think it is in accordance with the practice of the commissioners for the last four or five years; the additions were made from a memorandum they had; they were not all made in one day, as there was not time to have done so; they all got in about the last of January.

Cross examined.—The receiver of taxes commenced to collect taxes on the 1st of February in all the wards.

George M. Hill sworn.—I was formerly a commissioner of Philadelphia; served three years, and had six months of time cut off by consolidation; I was a member of the board of revision, created by the act of consolidation; I have heard the statements of witnesses here as to the way additions are made; it is the same way we did it; all the additions were made in red ink; my colleagues were Adam Much and J. L. Smith, commissioners; Dr. Morton, city treasurer, and J. L. Coleman, receiver.

To the court.—Alterations were frequently Morton, city treasurer, and J. L. Coleman, re-ceiver.
To the court.—Alterations were frequently made by the commissioners alone. Cross-examined.—We kept a record on slips; complaint was made in one instance that a property was assessed the same as thatadjoing, while it was much inferior; one property was one hundred feet deep and the other only fitty feet; the former had a four-story factory and the latter a shed.
Mr. Price. Then you granted our allowance. fifty feet; the former had a four-story factory and the latter a shed.

Mr. Price. Then you granted our allowance of Witness. We gave an allowance on one and raised a little on the other; Mr. Coleman was with me, the other commissioner being sick; the memorandum of this was entered by the commissioners and Mr. Coleman; whenever we found that errors or mistakes had been made we, the commissioners, invariably made corrections; I always went to Mr. Coleman, because he was an older man than I, was.

Cross-examined.—I acted under consolidation two years; the passage of the act consolidation two years; the passage of the act consolidation two years; the passage of the act consolidated me out of eight hundred and seventy dollars; when we found property had not been properly assessed we had no hesitation in correcting it; when back buildings were added we increased the assessment. we increased the assessment.

Judge Dudlow. Did you not know that the law says the changes should be made trienlaw says the changes should be made triennially!

Mr. Cassidy. We propose to argue that at any time before your honor.
Judge Ludlow. You will have to argue it a long while, I fear. Fortunately, however, a new law changes the formation of the old board, and that will probably relieve the case of much difficulty.
Mr. Cassidy now requested Mr. Price to call
Mr. Myers, so as to close his case.
Mr. Price said he would not call Mr. Myers.
Mr. Dougherty. Then we will.

Mr. Price said he would not call Mr. Myers. Mr. Dougherly. Then we will. Mr. Myers was sent for, and on coming into court, Mr. Phillips said a witness had already proven what was expected of Mr. Myers, and they would not call him. Mr. Dougherty. Very well, we will hold you to it in the argument. The defence recalled Mr. Shaw. Question. How much did the commissioners, sitting as a board of revision, increase the taxation. objected to.

Mr. Dougherty said it was not only the property of Bishop Simpson and Mr. Price, but property all over the city had been increased, and he would show that $50,000 had been put in property all over the city had been increased, and he would show that $50,000 had been put in the treasury thereby.

The court sustained the objection.

Mr. Cassidy, said it would be an item of interest to show that the defendant had no malice against the citizens of the whole county, they having increased the assessment throughout the county.

The court limited the question to alterations made within a week.

Witness resumed. In that one visit that day to the Fifteenth ward the books show an increase of real estate of $85,175, and personal property, $14,100.

Cross examined.—In some squares property was put up $200 or $600 a house; on the same day a whole square of houses were put up; that is, the commissioners increased the assessors' valuation; on Coates street, between Nineteenth and Twentieth, a whole row of houses were put up $1,000 a pleee; they were $1,500, and they made them $2,500; the principal increase in the Fifteenth ward was in the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Tenth precincts, amounting to $03,600; in the first, Second, Third, Fourth, and Ninth precincts the increase was $21,575.

To the Court.—The books stand now as they did on the first of February, when I took charge of them.

Examination direct.—They have not been tampered with that I know of, I have no cause to suppose they have; I never make crasures or scratches on the books; Mr. Haffelfinger should have an allowance, because his property is not on the assessor's book, but it is on the duplicate.

Robert Clinton sworn.—I am one of the assessors of the Twentieth ward; I assessed some property in a land association that Mr. Price is connected with; I should judge he is the principal owner.

Question. Had you a conversation with Mr. Given, relative to the assessment of Mr. Price's property.

Given, relative to the assessment of Mr. Price's property.
Objected to.
Mr. Cassidy said he offered to show that the assessor called on Mr. Given and said he thought the assessment was too low on Mr. Price's property in the Second ward, but Mr. Given would not allow it, saying there were no improvements, and he thought the valuation fair.
The court overruled the question tion fair.

The court overruled the question.
Mr. Cassidy. We now close this case on the part of the defendants.

The prosecution called James Barratt, who was sworn. It was offered to show that the witness was present when Mr. Shaw visited Mr. Price's house, so as to fix the time.

Mr. Cassidy said that Mr. Shaw had not identified this witness at all.

The court decided it would be rebutting testimony if Mr. Shaw was contradicted as to the time. me. Witness resumed.—I met Mr. Shaw and Mr.

Price in the early part of February.

Cross-examined.—I am not related to Mr.

Price; I listened to Mr. Shaw's testimony, and tound he was so much in error that I went and told Mr. Price; I recollect the occurrence, because Mr. Price and I were conversing about a visit to Rev. Mr. Bartine's when Mr. Shaw ware Up it trees readers the ware with the manner of the state of the st ame up; it was snowing when we met him; t was about the 3d or 4th of the month; I keep Mr. Cassidy. Let us have it.

Mr. Cassidy. Let us have it.
Mr. Dougherty. Oh, pull it out!
Witness hesitated somewhat, but now examined his diary, and said the date was the 2d of February; I really have not the honor to be related to Mr. Price, nor have I money transactions with him.
Examination direct.—The witness read to the jury, from his diary, "February 3d, 1865, called on Rev. Dr. Bartine, with Rev. Mr. Neal." Cross-examined.—I referred to my diary when I heard Mr. Shaw's testimony, and saw the date. when I heard Mr. Shaw's testimony, and saw the date.

Mr. Doughorty: Please refer to your diary and see if you have entries of the other visit to Dr. Bartine's.

The witness. Yes, sir, I have it. "Called upon Dr. Bartine January 25th; found he was out."

Mr. Price offered a copy of the injunction record, which the court overruled.

Mr. Cassidy offered the book of the cabdiver, to show the visit of Mr. Shaw was on the 20th of January. No objection was made.

Mr. Cassidy also offered in evidence the receipt of Charles O'Netll, Receiver of Taxes, dated January 31st, 1865, for the tax duplicates.

All the evidence was now closed, and the court adjourned. The argument of counsel court adjourned. The argument of will commence this morning. AUCTION SALES. A UCTION NOTICE.
