THE PRESS.-PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1865. KEYSTONE VS. OLYMPIC.—These crack clubs played a very spirited game yesterday afternoon, at the grounds Twenty-fith and Jefferson streets. The game was closely con-tested, and, at the fail of the soventh innings, the Olympic was oneahead; but, on the eighth inning, the Keystone players exterted them-selves, and ran up the score some half dozen the other way. The Olympic them took the bat, were put out easily, and without making a run. The score at the close of this inning stood 30 for the Keystone to 24 for the Olympic. The former again took the bat, and had made a half dozen runs, when, darkness coming on, the unpire reluctantly called the game. As usual, Cuthbert, of the Keystone, and G. Wright, of the Olympic, made several very handsome fly catches. The catcher of the olympic, Doughten, made the only home run that was made. The improvement in the play-ing of some of general remark. WAGNER INSTITUTE SABBATH-SCHOOL GATHERING.-ON Saturday afternoon next, at the Wagner Institute, Seventeenth street, above Columbia avenue, will be an occasion of unusual interest. Ten of our largest Sabbath-schools, numbering fifteen hundred pupils, will participate in the inauguration services of the Oxford-street Church, the chapel of which is now being erected at the corner of Broad and Oxford streets. The fol-lowing are the schools invited: First Church, Washington Square; Clinton-street Church, Calvary Church, Olivet, North Broad-street, Tabor, Wharton-street, and Mervine-Street Sunday-school. All of these schools have had their origin, directly or remotely, in the church on Washington square, of which Rev. Albert Barnes is pastor. The exercises will be of a varied and interesting character; among others will be the presentation of a Bible to the generous founder of the institution. The scholars are also invited to visit the museum connected with the institution, containing a large collection of natural curiosities, &c. This will, no doubt, be the chief source of at-traction. was speaking on the question of Louisiana, to the assembled multitude, and was fully aware that many who heard him were strongly aware that many who heard him were strongly of another opinion. He said: I have been shown a letter on this subject, supposed to be an able one, in which the wri-ter expresses regret that my mind has not seemed to be definitely fixed on the question whether the sceeded States, so-called, are in the Union or out of it. It would, perhaps, add astonishment to his regret were he to learn that, since I have found professed Union men endeavoring to make that question, I have purposely forborne any public expression upon it. As appears to me, that question has not been, noryet is, a practically material one, and that any discussion of it, while it thus remains practically immaterial, could have no effect other than the mischlevous one of dividing our friends. As yet, whatever it may here-after become, that question is bad, as the ba-sis of a controversy, and good for nothing at all -a merely pernicious abstraction. We all agree that the seceded States, so-called, are out of their proper practical relation with the Union, and that the sole object of the Go-vernment, divil and military, in regard to those states, is to again get them into that proper practical relation. I believe it is not only pos-sible, but in fact easier to do this without de-ciding, or even considering, whether these States have ever been out of the Union, than with it. Finding themselves safely at home, it would be utterly immaterial whether these states have ever been out of the Union, than with ut. Thinding themselves safely at home, it would be utterly immaterial whether these states have ever been out of the Union in doing the acts necessary to restoring the proper practical relations between these States and the Union, and each forever after inno-cently induge his own opinion whether, in doing the acts, he brought the States from without into the Union, or only gave them proper assistance, they never having been out of it.
