THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Full Report of the First Day's Proceedings.

NAMES OF THE DELEGATES PRESENT.

Eloquent Sermon by the Bishop of Montreal.

The twenty-eighth General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States commenced its twelfth session in the Lakes Church, yesterday. This is, without exception, the most important session in the history of the Church. The great work of ecclesiastical reorganization is one which, though likely to end in the happiest results, still requires all the energy and ability of the most able minds, and is one in which the public attention seems to be thoroughly engrossed.

of the diocese. It is a very important session, and the delegates present are of high caliber. The Bishop of Montreal delivered an eloquent sermon, which was well received by the assembly. The proceedings of the convention are being followed with great interest by the public.

The Bishop of Montreal, in his sermon, addressed the assembly on the subject of ecclesiastical reorganization. He emphasized the need for unity and cooperation among the various branches of the Church. His words were met with great attention and approval.

The convention is expected to continue for several more days. The delegates are expected to arrive in the city in large numbers. The atmosphere is one of serious deliberation and high purpose.

The Bishop of Montreal's sermon was a powerful one, and it is expected that it will have a lasting impact on the members of the Church. The convention is a landmark event in the history of the Episcopal Church in America.

The convention is expected to conclude with a series of resolutions and recommendations. The delegates are expected to return to their respective dioceses with a renewed sense of purpose and commitment.

The convention is a testament to the strength and resilience of the Episcopal Church. It is a time of great challenge and opportunity, and the delegates are rising to the occasion with courage and determination.

The convention is a significant event in the life of the Church, and it is one that will be remembered for many years to come. The delegates are expected to bring back with them a wealth of ideas and inspiration.
