Richardson, New York Tribuse Correspondent.  The most interesting and exciting book ever published, embracing Mr. Richardson's unparalleled experience for four years, travelling through the South in the secret service of the Tribuse, at the outbreak of the war, with our armies and fleets, both East and West, during the first two years of the Rebellion; his thrilling capture; his confinement for twenty months in seven different Rebel prisons; his escape, and almost miraculous journey, by night, of nearly four hundred miles. It will abound in stirring events, and contain more of the fact, incident, and romance of the war than any other work published.  Horace Greeley says:  "A great many books will yet be written concerning this war, in addition to the many already in print; but not once, foller, more veadable account, contess on exercised observation, of the nature, animus, purposes, tendencies, fand instrumentalities of the Slaveholders' Rebeillion than does the unproteending narrative of Mr. Richardson,"  Teachers, ladies, energetic young men, and especially returned and disabled officers and soldiers, in want of profitable employment, will find it peculiarly adapted to their condition.
