A CARD.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1865. We can take no notice of anonymous commu nications. We do not return rejected manuscript Woluntary correspondence is solicited from all parts of the world, and especially from our different military and naval departments. When used, it will be paid for.

THE WAR PRESS AND SUPPLEMENT—AN IMMENSE AND INVALUABLE PAPER. THE WAR PRESS for the week ending October 14th is now ready, and may be had at our counter. It is already the largest weekly paper in the country, but, in order to keep up fully with the demands of the times, we this week add to its eight royal pages a supplement of two, making sixty columns of reading matter in all. But few advertisements are admitted into the WAR Press, so that in the sixty columns there is ample scope for a careful digest of every occurrence in the daily life of the world, at home and abroad. Nothing is unnoticed, nothing unrecorded, so that at the smallest possible outlay the reader can put himself in communication with all mankind, and become aware of their feelings, thoughts, acts and intentions. Among other matters, this number presents a full phonographic report of the proceedings of the Episcopal Convention since the first day of its session up to and inclusive of Wednesday last; latest returns of the elections in this State, Iowa and Ohio; an interesting diary of the journey of our "Travelling Correspondent" an end be Neptero, oranies ; editoriole ou "Occasional;" Washington news; full local, telegraphic and general news, together with light reading-stories, poetry, etc. Nowhere in this country or in Europe can there be found a weekly paper which approaches so near to the proper idea of a newspaper as the WAR PRESS. Those who once read it will continue to seek for it.

THE LAST BUCHANAN PLATFORM.

It will not be uninteresting to the readers of THE PRESS to know that the Old Public Functionary, otherwise J. B .- favorably remembered as ex-President Buchananis still living, less hale and hearty, about a mile from Lancaster. There is a tranquil consciousness of duty done in "the favorite son of Pennsylvania"-an easy bearing, as if waiting for a well-deserved reward, that would do justice to that eminent philanthropist, R. BARNWELL RHETT, who was kicked or escorted out of General Howard's Freedmen's Bureau a few days ago; or that placid Sir Harcourt Courtley, JAMES M. Mason, now in Paris, embalmed in the best Bourbon. Wonderful is the complacency and effrontery of the veteran criminals who fed and fostered the hideous doctrines of Secession; but none are equalled by the cold and frosty ex-President. He has filled his hours of retirement, not as HENRY the Fifth promised he would do, if God sent him victory in the battle of St. Crispin, with deeds of penitence and reparation, but with acts of vindication of himself, and vengeance upon his political foes. After pledging himself to make ample amends for all that had been wrongfully done by others, SHAKS-PEARE's king concludes his earnest petition

"More will I do: Though all that I can do is nothing worth Since that my penitence comes after all,

Not so J. B. Like the celebrated Joseph Bagstock, in Dombey & Son, probably the most selfish character ever DICKENS drew, he is "Tough, sir, tough, sir, and devilish sly," and quite as conscious of his own importance as if he did not fill the most dishonored page in our civil history. The leader of the Democratic politicians who traduced Andrew Johnson while he was branding treason in the Senate and sustaining the strongest measures to put down the rebellion, our J. B. became a warm advocate of President Johnson. In the recent election, which was to have been so overwhelming a rebuke of "the radicals," and so handsome an introductory to the surrender of the Government to the same hands that almost surrendered it to the rebels in 1861, he was undoubtedly a "very active, though secret, participant. All his immediate supporters were alert and fertile of expedients. Judge Black, his Attorney General (and Secretary of State after the retirement of General Cass), was the appointed leader of the Copperheads; and his organ, the Lancaster Intelligencer, was crowded with strong appeals against Stevens and the Radicals. It is not difficult to trace where the stimulating influence of these agencies is to be found. As a fair specimen of the Where is Market!

The Worker is ground in favor of negro testimony:

"We trust that the wise course of the Provisional favor of negres the right to testify in the courts of law, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action on the faut, will set the key-note to all action on this faut, will set the key-note to all action o sly," and quite as conscious of his own imis to be found. As a fair specimen of the doctrines asserted by the friends of the ex-President, we have been furnished by a friend at Lancaster with the following circular, printed on the back of the envelope in which the so-called Democratic ticket was enclosed and sent to the voters of Lancaster county: TO WHITE MEN! Enclosed you will find a Democratic ticket. Enclosed you will find a Democratic ticket. You should vote it for the following reasons; Because the candidates on this ticket are pledged to sustain the Restoration policy of Fresident Johnson, while their opponents support the radical plans of Thaddeus Stevens.

Because they are in favor of lightening the burdens of the working man by taxing all citizens according to their wealth.

Because they favor a return to a specie currency, and a reduction of the high price of flour, meat, groceries, dry goods, coal, and all the necessaries of life, which are kept up by an inflated paper currency, to the great injury of the working classes.

Because they favor economy in the adminisof the working classes.

Because they favor economy in the administration of the Government, the abolition of the Freedmen's Bureau, the dismissal of all useless officials, and a speedy reduction of the army to a peace standard, whereby more than one hundred million dollars a year would be samed.

Because they are pledged not to allow negroes to vote, to hold office, to sit on juries, or to associate on terms of equality with white men.

Because the Democratic party has boldly denounced negro suffrage and negro equality, while the Republican party has endorsed it. Remember, the New York Tribune 88ys; "If negro suffrage be not an issue in Pennsylvania, we know not what is." And no republican paper in Lancaster has dared to deny it.

This is the White Man's vicket. Vote it! Vote early! And 866 that your neighbor does 80.

This last Buchanan platform will serve the double purpose of showing how low even intelligent men will sink for the sake of office, and how deliberately these Copperhead leaders insult and misunderstand the American people. Mark!

The proffered support of the restoration policy of President Johnson comes from those who not only ignored but opposed the Constitutional amendment for the abolition of slavery, and all the other explicit conditions to restoration set forth by ANDREW JOHNSON in his interviews with the rebel

The promise to "lighten the burdens of the working men," by taxing the national securities-for that is what is meant, and only that—is based upon the intention to repudiate a solemn contract between the Government and the bondholders, in consequence of a solemn offer duly made by the one and accepted by the other. It is natural that the sympathizers with traitors should also be repudiators.

The promise to return specie payments and to reduced prices a well made by a party that would have it us without any currency, as they have a constituted in the constitution of the const opposition to our splendid financial system started by Buchanan, and followed and maintained by his followers.

The proposition to abolish the Freedmen's ureau comes with capital grace from the men who offer to sustain President Jonnson's Restoration policy, of which the Freedmen's Bureau is a chief and an import-

The denunciation of the negroes exercising any civil rights is aptly set off and exposed by the formal demand of the New York World of yesterday, in favor of negroes as witnesses in our courts of justice.

Is it any wonder that the "white men" of Lancaster county indignantly turned from a platform so shameless as this? We reproduce it now only to show that J. B. "still lives," and that it will not be his fault if he does not bury the Democratic party as deep as he would have buried his country, if he had not been stopped in mid career by Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee. York World of yesterday, in favor of ne-

SOLDIÈRS VS. COPPERHEADS. The Democratic leaders have tried everything but a public atonement for their sins and that must come if they would have any honest place in history. They will certainly not, we predict, place any further trust in the soldiers. One would suppose that their investment in General McCLET. LAN was sufficient, but they stubbornrefused to be convinced. On Tuesday last their soldier candidates led them into the most fatal ambuscades in the States of Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Iowa. It is true, the Union men had soldiers to command them too; but it is noteworthy that even in counties where the Democrats seduced the soldiers to accept their nominations, and where the Union tickets (as in Philadelphia) were almost wholly composed of civilians, the majorities against the so-called Democratic tickets were heavier than usual. The inference is irresistible that "the boys in blue" cannot be coaxed into the Copperhead camp; and that the attempt to seduce them by putting their own friends at the head of the copper column, only angers them by reminding them of the rebel trick of getting into Union breastworks by stealing and wearing Union uniforms. We greatly fear that Geneeral SLOCUM, who is running in New York as a Democratic candidate for a State office, is about to pay the same penalty for lending himself to the Copperheads that befell Colonel Davis in this State, and General Morgan in Ohio. The New York Times thus anticipates the General's fate: GEN. SLOCUM AND THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.— The Syracuse Journal reproduces the follow-ing extract from a letter written by General Slocum in 1861. It runs thus:

"CAMP FRANKLIN, Va., October 26, 1861. "If I were at home I should most cordially State and county tickets, for I have yet to learn what good reason any Republican can have for deserting either his principles or his party. As this is the only manner in which I can assist you this fall, I am very glad of the opportunity to contribute the amount inclosed."

Perhaps General Slocum will tell us in his next speech, if his owners and exhibitors permit him to make another, "what good reason any Republican can have for deserting either his principles or his party" in 1865 that did not hold good in 1861?

EXCUSES FOR DEFEAT. It is amusing to notice the manner in which the Opposition have received the tidings of defeat in the city of Newark, New Jersey. Impressed with the belief that their State was sufficiently disloyal to follow the course laid out by their leaders. the Democrats never presumed that any portion of their Commonwealth, wherein they had heretofore achieved success, would desert them in the hour of need. Party dissensions, failure to deposit their ballots, and other reasons are given; but the most ludicrous of all is the one seriously offered by the New York Express, that several nundred of their voters were absent in New York, attending a temperance celebration. It is well thus to prepare for the crushing defeat which promises to reward the exertions of the gallant Union speakers who for some weeks have been addressing the citizens of New Jersey; and we would suggest that preliminary steps be immediately taken for the convening, on the day the State officers are to be elected, of temperance or other gatherings in adjoining States. Thus prepared with an excuse. the annoyance and mortification of the rank and file at the result of the election will be considerably lessened.

"THE WORLD MOVES ALREADY!" After every defeat the Democratic leaders promise repentance. We are not therefore surprised that the World should show some signs of improvement, now that the recent Union triumphs prefigure the sure overthrow of its party in New York. The World of yesterday begins by taking own people turn you out, how can I take you oround in favor of negro testimony:

WHERE IS JUAREZ!

There is direct news from Mexico to the last day of September. At that time it was believed in the city of Mexico that JUAREZ had crossed the Rio Grande, at El Paso, to Franklin, en route to Santa Fé, and this was the practical end of his prolonged, and, we must say, gallant resistance to the socalled Empire. Mr. Narano, the Mexican Consul at New York, who contradicted our Mexican correspondent's statement, that JUANEZ had retired to Texas, may have something to say on this corroboration of it

JOHN VAN BUREN has again become the sure Jonah of the Copperheads. He never joins a party without sinking it; and now, after remaining perdu for some months, he reappears, and throws his dead weight into their frail craft, as if he knew he would carry them down. He staid just long enough with the Unionists. Had he remained with them much longer he would have killed that party too.

vived journal, the Wilmington (N. C.) Dispatch The Dispatch suspended publication upon the arrival of our troops in that city, and reappeared upon the 9th of this month. To give an idea of its proposed course, we make the an idea of its proposed course, we make the annexed extract from its salutatory:

"When, in 1861, North Carolina determined in convention that she would assume a position of hostility to the General Government, and appealed to her sons to maintain that decision, then her decision was ours. We responded to that call promptly and willingly; and the services which were rendered as soldiers of our State and of the Confederate army were cheerfully, zealously, and conscientiously performed. We have no regrets to express at this. But, while being Southerners and North Carolinians who are true, very true, to the good old State, as well as to the section in which we reside, we have furthermore renewed our allegiance to the Government of the United States; we are loyal citizens, and the oath which we have taken we will faithfully abide by."

EDITORIAL LETTER.

From the Daily Washington Chronicle. PRILADELPHIA, October 11, 1865. The yesterday's collapse of the so-called Democracy becomes every hour more disastrous and complete. The surrender of Lee, if more graceful than that of the sympathizers here, was not more overwhelming and conclusive. By a happy coincidence, General Grant reached Ponnsylvania in time to as-sume the moral command of the National Union party, and a victory greeted his pre-sence, only less glorious than that which re-warded his leadership of the National Union warded his teadership if the National Villon army itself. That wordless warrior, whose sword is so eloquent that his tongue need not speak his "proud fortune," saw for himself that his battles had not been fought in value and that, commingled with the gratitude that preserves and canonizes his immortal deeds, is a tenacious resolve on the part of the people to watch over, protect, and preserve the blessings he has rescued. As I sat near this stient man of many campaigns, I could not help resulting the large resolve. calling the language of his venerable father Jesse Grant, at the great Union meeting in Jesse Grant, at the great Union meeting in Ohio a few days age. The old man said, and the young man heard him say:

"We have just passed through a severe conflict—a gigantic rebellion, a cruel, bloody, savage, and wicked civil war—a war that is a disgrace to civilization. But how did you get out! When the country was assailed by rebels, its flag fired mon, your friends set forth; they sacrificed the comforts of domestic life, the happiness of their firesides; they put on the army blue, took the death-dealing musket, and slung knapsack and blanket, and went forth determined to crush the rebels and put down rebellion. They did put them down, crushed the rebellion, and subdued the traitors to the Union; and now they are on their marrow-bones seeking pardon, and your friends have returned home to your hearths and hearts.
"Now there is a greet duty resting youn you have returned home to your hearths and hearts.

"Now there is a great duty resting upon you. The fight is transferred to the ballot. It is your duty now to vote down the miserable Coppenhead faction. It is said we have conquered a peace. This is true; it is not a petty, patched-up, Copperhead-Democratic peace; it is one obtained by the sword, and the young est child is not living who will see the sword again raised against the Government. It is your duty, as patriotic citizens of Brown county, not to allow this old Copperhead, Lecompton faction to be galvanized into life on the pretence that it is the only party that can save the country, I don't know how that or the dog is good for the bite."

These words, spoken for Ohio, have a special These words, spoken for Ohio, have a special significance for Pennsylvania on this almost summer October morning of triumph. And none feel them more keenly than the leaders of the so-called Democracy. They had many advantages in the canvass—at least what they thought ware advantages or of the ware advantages. advantages in the canvass—at least what they thought were advantages—and they used them with a wicked industry. How many parts they acted! They were workingmen, soldiers, and negro-haters; and they played on these several strings with an energy that showed, if not their sincerity, at least their anxiety for office. But their favorite theme, indeed their "last hope," was devotion to Andrew Johnson and his policy. Their candidates sermonized with incessant declamation on this text, and their claquers applauded them to the echo. Judge Black, Richard Vaux, Hiester Clymer, and Hon. John L. Dawson were unusually active and persuasive in making the worse appear the persuasive in making the worse appear the better reason. But in vain. The people look-ed, listened, laughed, and voted them down. Not inappropriately, the Democratic candidate for Mayor of this city is a worthy gentleman named Fox; and his name was a fair symbol of the manœuvres of the leaders I have alluded to. Very crafty and very agreeable they were to President Johnson. Oh, they had always been his friends; and now they would protect him from the ugly radical wolves that sought to get into his happy household and feed upon his corpse. "They were Democrats of the old school"—they were "opposed to negro suffrage"—they did not believe the insurgent States could be carried out of the Union; and if he would only take them by the hand and clothe them with his confidence, they would run the machine of government, and save him all further trouble. "There was a story aflost," they said, "that they were the same men who had slandered his public and befouled his private character for four years; but this was a foul slander, their names having been used by a set of Copperhead scamps, who were now very justly tabooed by all decent men." Very foxy, devilish sly, they were. But in vain. The people among whom they lived and labored knew them, and repudiated them with unut-terable contempt. If the President had formally decided that the Copperhead claim to his favor should be referred to "the jury of the vicinage," he could not have had fairer verdict on the sincerity of the protesta tions that have been laid at his feet by design ing politicians. He can now say to them with exquisite justice: "Gentlemen, the tribung you selected having pronounced you unfit for trust or trial, I abide by the decree. If your Pennsylvania in yesterday's election. They fought the battle on the construction which he has repeatedly given to his own policy of re-
