THE MAMMOTH FAIR AT THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The arrangements for the great fair to be held within the gilded walls of this palatial building, at the corner of Broad and Locust streets, for the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, are progressing finely. The fair will open on the 23d inst.

Among other things, it is proposed to print a daily journal, which shall be a model in every respect. The subscription price will be $1.50. A committee of gentlemen who have had much newspaper experience will superintend the publication. The paper will be of medium size, handsomely printed, and no effort will be spared to make it the most interesting of the kind ever published. Distinguished literary ladies and gentlemen have consented to contribute to its columns. The articles will be generally short, full of variety, which is conceded to be the spice of life.

It is already understood, from articles published in The Press, that the Home is a chartered institution, duly inaugurated several years since. Although it is located in Philadelphia, its benefactions are not limited by State boundaries. Its doors are freely opened to every deserving soldier and sailor of the Republic who seeks admission.

The management contemplate an Industrial Department in the institution, in which the inmates who are able to work at their trades may find employment, and thus be relieved from the position of mere dependents on public charity. It contemplates also a department where children of those who have dued in the service will be tenderly protected and carefully educated and prepared for suitable vocations. The orphan children, whose fathers have fallen in our great struggle, are also specially entitled to the public favor and protection. Let us provide a home worthy of their acceptance, and worthy of a people whose property they have secured, whose Government they have saved, and whose hearts they have fladdened by their splendid achievements. On the 4th of March, 1863, at Nashville, Major General Grant received telegraph orders to report in person at Washington. Congress had passed an act authorizing the appointment of a Lieutenant General to command the armies of the United States, and the President had nominated General Grant for the appointment. Before starting on his journey, Grant seized his pen, and in the very moment of his greatest elevation, filled with generosity toward those others, to whose exertions he modestly chose to aspribe his own deserved reward, hastily wrote these touching lines:

"DEAESHERMAN: The bill reviving the grade of Lieutenant General in the army has become a law, and my name has been sent to the Senate for the place. I now receive orders to report to Washington immediately in person, which indicates a confirmation, or a likelihood of confirmation.

These companies may be expected to arrive at different times on Saturday night, and some of them on the day following. The various presents intended for them are numerous as they are beautiful and appropriate, as momentoes of the greatest parade of firemen. The amount of money required to get up such a demonstration is immense, and as it flows through and for the benefit of the working classes it must be the means of doing good to a great-number of operatives. It is estimated that half a milion of dollars will change hands through the medium of the firemen's parade. Money, like the blood in the human system, should circulate, in order to do good. Yesterday the grand contest at cricket, between the Philadelphian Club, of this city, and the St. George's Club, of New York, was mished, the Philadelphians winning. The game was closely contested throughout. The excitement has been very great since it was announced that these clubs, the first in the United States, were to play, and decide between them which should be the champion club of the North American continent.

Feeling has run high upon the subject, and many of the frienda of the clubs were ready to stake large amounts of money on the success of their favorite organizations. Bets were freely offered and as freely taken, and a considerable amount of money must have changed hands. The result, however, has been no Surprise, except to the New Yorkers and their friends, who thought that nothing good could come out of what they were pleased to term a village. They have been fairly and honorably beaten in two games, and Philadelphia may now pride herself upon being first not only in base bull but in cricket also.

The game closed on Wednesday with a score of 79 to 57, the Philadelphians taking the highest number. Yesterday Messrs. Hatfield and Mumferd opened the game, with Messrs. Barclay and George Wright as bowlers. Mr. Mumford was soon deprived of his bat, and was followed by Mr. Gibbes with Harry Wright as bowlers, dropped the bat. Mr. S. Wright followed and was caught out, but not until the score of the St. George had been considerably increased. Kendall followed and scored 10, when he was put out by Large. Harry Wright followed, making a score of 43, and was succeeded by Mr. Megrath, who finished with 5, making the total score of the New Yorkers 91.

Notwithstanding all this the Philadelphians were confident of victory, and went to their work in splendid style. The gentlemen from the Metropolis were jubilant, and fully relied on taking their own ball and another one to Gotham, but they soon found out that their hopes were vain.

Statement of Rev. H. A. Reid, of Beaver Dam, Wisconsin.—I have long been an enthusiast, if not an expert, among the sewing machines. My wife is also practically familiar and experienced with the leading machines. I have made critical examinations and severe tests, particularly investigating all mechanical points, principle, character of stitch, and general practicability of twelve different machines claiming to be "first-class," and I am entirely satisfied that the "Willox & Gibbs" is so far above all others in practical worth, that it is willowed a rived. The complication of delicate machinery, so common in other machinery, seems to be wholly eliminated in the Willox & Gibbs, and it will live to see other "first-class" machines forgotten. Mrs. Reid says it is certainly the best beyond comparison. The rotating hook, as applied to the Willox & Gibbs Machine, is the beauty and perfection of simplicity itself, and I have nothing more to expect or ask.

HOYT & BRO., CANINE SAGACITY.—A short time ago, while a gentleman of our acquaintance was gunning in the lower part of the city, in company with a friend having a small spaniel with him, the dog, while endeavoring to jump over a well, miscalculated the distance and fell in. The surface of the water was about seven feet below the top of the well. The dog swam around until nearly exhausted, and our friend thought that he was about to lose a valuable animal, when the other gentleman noticed that he was making frequent but vain attempts to catch a twig that hung a short distance down the well. This suggested to him the idea of making the animal's sagacity the means of saving his life. The handkerchiefs and neckties of both parties were instantly called into requisition and tied together. A small knot was made at one end, which was let down to the dog, when he immediately setzed it in his mouth and holding on with grim tenacity was drawn out of the water and landed safely on terra firma. His pleasure was extreme, and he testified it as only a dog can. He wagged his tail until it was impossible to count the vibrations, so rapid were they, and he shook himself until the water flew off in every direction. And so was a dog's life saved by his sagacity. ASSEMBLY BUILDINGS, scenic and other effects being increased by the performances of a full and excellent corps TENTH AND CHESTNUT STREETS. de ballet.
