WAR NEWS!

OFFICIAL DESPATCH OF ADMIRAL DUPONT.

Washington, Feb. 9.
The bearer of official despatches from the fleet off Charleston has arrived. The following is from Rear Admiral Dupont, concerning the rebel attack on our squadron of (hat port: FLAG SHIP WABASH, PORT ROYAL HARBOR,) FLAU SHIP WABASH, PORT ROYAL HARBOR, Edward Con the morning of the 31st ult., during the obscurity of a thick haze, two tron-clad gunboats came out of Charleston by the main ship channel, unperceived by the squadron, and commenced a raid upon the blockading fleet. Most of the latter were of the light class of purchased vessels, two of the heaviest men-of war, the Powhatan and Canandaigus, being at this port coaling and repairing. The Mercedita was the first vessel attacked. Her officers and crew had been particularly watchful during the night, to look out for suspected vessels, and, at three o'clock, had slipped her cable and overhauled a troop stame? slipped her cable and overhauled a troop steamer running for the channel by mistake.

She had returned to her anchorage, and Capt. Stellwagen had gone to his room for a short time, leaving Lieut Commander Abbott on deck, when one of the iron clads suddenly appeared. Her approach was concealed by the lieuter maist of the commander of the commande moist of the atmosphere.

The vessel was immediately hailed and an order given to fire; but the iron clad being close aboard, and lying low in the water, no guns could be brought to bear.

A heavy rifle shell was fired from the anemy, which entered the starboard side of the Mercewhich entered the startogh her condenser, the steam-drum of her port boiler, and exploded against her port side, blowing a hole in its exit some four or five feet square, killing the gunner, and, by the escape of steam, a number of the men, ad rendering her motive power apparently useless.

Unable to use his guns, and being at the mercy Unable to use his guns, and being at the mercy of the enemy, which was lying alongside on his starboard quarter, all further resistance was deemed hopeless by Capt. Stellwagen, and he surrendered. The crew and officers were paroled, though nothing was said of the ship, the executive officer. Lieut. Commander Abbott, having gone on board the enemy's gunboat, and made the arrangement.

The iron-clad, leaving the Mercedita to her fate to sink or not, next engaged the Keystone State, Capt. Leroy, who was also attacked by the other. Their fire was gallantly returned, but a shell exploding in the forehold of this vessel she was set on fire.

rel she was set on fire.

Commander Leroy kept off until it was got un-

Commander Leroy kept off until it was got under, when he swered again for one of the ironclads, ordered full steam on, and determined to try to run her down. The guns had been trained and depressed for a plunging fire at the moment of collision, and the ship had acquired a speed of twelve knots, when a shell or shot from the enemy passed through the steam chest, wholly disabling her boilers and rendering her powerless.

Ten rifle shell struck the Keystone State; two burst on the quarter-deck, but most of them struck the hull, being near and below the water struck the hull, being near and below the water line. In the meantime, the Augusta, Commander Parrot; the Quaker City, Commander Fraily, and the Memphis, Acting Lieutenant Watmough, kept up a fire upon the enemy, diverting their attention from the Keystone State, which was soon after taken in tow by the Memphis, and drawn away from the fire.

The Augusta and Quaker City were both struck in their hulls; the Memphis only in her rigging. The Housatonic, Capt. Taylor, gave chase, and a shot from her struck the pilot house of one of the iron-clads, doing, it is thought, some damage and carrying away one of her flags.

The rebel vessels then passed to the northward receiving the fire of our ships, and took refuge in the Swash channel, behind the shoals.

The only casualties were on the Mercedita and in the Swash channel, behind the shoals.

The only casualties were on the Mercedita and Keystone State. On the Keystone State they are very large. About one fourth of her crew were killed and wounded, and among the former the medical officer of the ship, Assistant Surgeon Jacob H. Gotmold, who was scalted to death, while rendering surgical aid to one of the wounded men. Nine of those who died perished from the escape of steam, when the boilers and steam chimneys were penetrated, and among the wounded the greater number received their injuries from the same cause. juries from the same cause.

As the Mercedita was the only vessel which surrendered, I have directed a court of inquiry to examine into the circumstances of the case, to examine into the circumstances of the case, as well as into the terms under which the surreader was, made. This investigation has been asked for by Captain Stellwagen.

I received this intelligence on Saturday, at 3 P. M., by the Augusta, which ship immediately returned to Charleston.

The Mercedita soon after arrived, and the Reystone State in tow of the Memphis, when the letter was always after a restrict the state of the sta latter vessel was at once sent back to ber station. The James Adger, Commander Patterson, was also turned back as she was coming into Port Royal, and ordered to Charleston; and the Powhatan, through the commendable zeal of Captain Gordon, was got ready by 9 o'clock P. M.

I had the channel and bar buoys lighted, when she passed out safely.

I forward herewith copies of the reports of Capt. Stellwagen, Lieut. Commander Abbott, and Commander Leroy; also, the reports of the casu-alties on board the Mercedita and Keystone On the Mercedita there were four killed and three wounded.

THE CAPTURE OF THE PRINCESS ROYAL. THE CAPTURE OF THE PRINCESS ROYAL.

The following has also been received by the Secretary of the Navy, reporting the capture of the steamer Princess Royal:

FLAC-SHIP WABACH,
Port Royal Harbor, S. C., Jan. 31, 1863.

Sir.: I have the honor to report the capture, on the morning of the 29th inst., of the screw-steamer Princess Royal while attempting to run.

steamer Princess Royal, while attempting to run the blockade into Charleston. The following are After standing in a mile and a half, Lieut.

Commander Quackinbush observed a steamer sliding along the land in the direction of Charleston. He fired two shots at her, when her course was altered towards the beach, and she was run ashore. Two officers and an armed boat's crew were immediately sent to take possession. She proved to be the iron steamer propeller Princess Royal, last from Bermuda, four days out, and laden, as far as he could learn, with rifled guns, respectively.

same, as far as he count teach, with rinest guilt, arms, ammunition, steam engines for the iron-clads, and an assorted cargo.

On taking possession, it was ascertained that the captain, supercargo, pilot, and some of the petty officers and a passenger, had left the ship when she struck, and escaped to the shore, which feet was applet whited by the chief mate, underfact was substantiated by the chief mate, under-supercargo and chief engineer, as well as by see-ing the two missing boats lying on the beach deserted. By the active exertions of Acting Master E. Van Sice and Acting Ensign R. W. Cornell, of the Unadilla, assisted by a boat's crew from the United States steamers Housatonic crew from the United States steamers incusations and Augusta, and the schooners Blunt and America, aided by two of the engineers of the prize, she was got off without sustaining any injurier. There not being sufficient coal on board of the Princess Royal to send her North, she was or-Princess Royal to send her North, she was ordered by the senior officer to this port to obtain a supply. No papers pertaining to ship or cargo were found on board of her at the time, except the shipping articles and a log book. But after her arrival here, Acting Master Van Sice, of the Unadilla (the officer in charge of the prize), discovered, accidentally, in looking over the side, certain papers which had lodged in the tender in the attempt to throw them overboard. These refer principally to the cargo, and, with the papers before mentioned, which were all that were fund on board, will be forwarded to the United States District Judge at Philadelphia.

The under-supercargo Hoxley, the chief mate Shaw, the captain's clerk, (a young man named Hackley, whose father is said to be interested in the cargo,) two of the engineers, and several of the cargo,) two of the engineers, and several of the firemen, go North in the prize. The rest of the crew will be sent the first opportunity. I desire to call the attention of the Department to the fact that in this prize are two complete engines, said to be of great power and intended for
