THE "CONSPIRACY" CASES. The final hearing of Mesers. Seidel, Muthart, Reed, and other citizens of Berks county, who, together with Philip Huber, of Lancaster county, were arrested some time since on the grave charge of conspiracy against the Government of the United States, took place on Tuesday before Commissioner Heazlitt, of the U. S. District Court. A full report of the proceeding, copied from The Age, is published in another column. The result of this affair, out of which it was hoped by the prosecutors, a big amount of political capital might be made, is that Messrs. SEIDEL, MUTHART, and REED, after having been subjected to the mortification of an arrest as criminals, and to the inconvenience and expense of three several visits to Philadelphia, are unconditionally discharged, not a particle of evidence having been produced to sustain the accusation against them. On the contrary, one of the chief witnesses for the prosecution, actually testifies that, instead of being sworn to do aught against the Government, he took an oath, administered by Mr. Seidel, "to support the Union and the Constitution, and not to resist the draft!" The testimony against the other parties, taken altogether, does not make out the shadow of a case in sup port of the original charge, although the U. S. District Attorney, for the sake of appearances, has seen fit to have them bound over to take their trial. We shall be much surprised if they are ever tried. The end of this proceeding will, we trust, teach the over-zealous friends of the Administration in this county that the game of attempting to make trailors out of reputable, lawabiding citizens, on the mere statement of hired

General Burnside, having failed to win renown in fighting the real enemies of the Union, is now achieving an unenviable notoriety by attempting to crush, under the heel of military despotism, a few imaginary enemies who appear, to his disordered vision, in the shape of Democratic statesmen and Democratic editors. His persecution of Vallandigham has become matter of history; and now we behold him, in the assumed character of censor of the press, sending a file of soldiers into Chicago, to suppress the of that city. The determined stand taken by the Democrats of Democratic journals will be gone, so far as of Chicago in maintenance of their constitutional right to a free press, appears to have had the desired effect. The President, doubtless at the solicitation of his own party friends, has peremptorily revoked Gen. Burnside's order suppressing the Chicago Times, and on Thursday morning a telegram was despatched by Gen. Burnside, withdrawing his military intruders that they were at liberty to continue the publication of their paper as usual.

HON. HIESTER CLYMER.—The Jeffersonian, published at Brookville, Jefferson county, Pa., comes to us this week with the name of Senator CLY-MER at its head, as the first choice of the Democracy of that county for Governor, accompanied with the following highly complimentary editorial article:

How. HIESTER CLYMER .- We this day place at -head the name of Hon. HIESTER CLY-MER, of Berks county, as a candidate for Governor. We have thought much upon this sub-ject, and while we feel no disposition to under value the ability or popularity of others, we cannot but express our convictions that he is the man for the times. At this time we want more than a stump speaker or politician. We feel that the fate of the nation depends upon the stand Pennsylvania takes this fall. We can not afford to run any risk in the character of the man we select. He must be true to the Commonwealth-true to the Constitution, and true to the Union. He must be fearless, honest, firm, capable and patriotic. Such a man is Hiester Clymer, and such our own people be lieve him to be. We have carefully analyzed neve nim to be. We have stated, and find it as we have stated. In putting his name at our masthead we have but cohord the voice of the people, uninfluenced as yet in this section by those who make a trade of politics.

A leading New-York journal, in its issue of Wednesday last, contained the following scathing criticism upon "the fatal mismanagement" of affairs by the present Administration:

THE MILITARY SITUATION-THE RESPON-SIRILITY. An evening journal of a late date had a dispatch from Washington stating that the President speaking of the military operations on the Mississippi, said, "he expected the best results, but was prepared for the worst." If the worst comes, was prepared for the worst." If the worst comes, we hope he will be prepared to satisfy the country that everything that could have been done to wert it has been done. We note this statement, and refer to it now, in order that the Government may be apprized that the country, if called upon to bear the re-verse that is thus apparently half foreshadowed, will require much information that it does not now possess to convince it that the disaster could now possess to convince it that the disaster could not have been avoided.

We do not hesitate to make this suggestion, when we remember how the first Bull Run fight was lost, and the rebellion set firmly upon its legs, while there were Union soldiers enough to crush the traitors twice over reposing idly on their arms within hearing of the din of that battle; and when we further remember how, on that save field in the following Summer. Pope that same field, in the following Summer, Pope and his gallant army were left to contend for two days against murderous odds, and finally to fall back, while more than thirty thousand men were allowed to remain in sullen if not treacher-ous inaction at and near Alexandria, hardly a ous inaction at and near Alexandria, hardly a day's march from the field that was being made drunk with the blood of their compatriots; and when we remember how, still later, Hooker was permitted ingloriously to reliacquish the field of Chancellorsville to the Rebel enemy, lest (so it is said) his communications with his base of supplies at Acquia Creek should be cut off, although National troops, almost equaling in number the National troops, almost equaling in number the wars unable to attend. National troops, almost equaling in number the whole Rebel army opposed to him, lay scattered and unemployed around his flank and rear, not forty-eight hours' journey from the scene of con-

We shall believe, however, so long as we can that the Government will not again be chargen-ble with such fatal mismanagement. But it is ell that it should bear in mind that there is a limit o all human endurance, even when the suffering flicted by one's most trusted friends. If Grant and his brave army shall be left to be overwhelmed, and the nation be again agonized with the spec-tacle of hetacombs of its children slain to no purpose, the loyal millions will not quail nor abate one jot of their spirit, even in the presence of so great a calamity; but they may feel that it would be no longer a duty to tolerate the men in whom they had confided, and who only day after day have given proof upon proof that they can neithe comprehend nor grapple successfully with the magni tude and the demands of the task before them.

We feel it our duty to tell the President these things. The People believe in the perpetuity of the Republic, but they cannot believe in elernal weakness. They believe in the ultimate triumph of the national cause; but they cannot forever endure a chronic apathy and improvidence, that no experience, however sharp, and no adversity, however appalling, can stimulate or instruct. They demand at least the same foresight, and They demand at least the same foresight and vigor in promoting their cause that its enemies exhibit in assailing it. The time is past for quieting the country under inexcusable disaster with assurances that tedious and long wars and incompetency in waging them are as old as the world itself. With unlimited means, and with powers, civil and military, that are literally despotic, claced in the hands of the President, there ought at his day to be no failures. We trust that the issue at Vicksburg will prove that there will be none, and that there is an end of the system, or no system, which, if longer continued, must waste away and consume, not the enemies of the Republic, BUT THE REPUBLIC ITSELF.

Our Republican readers will hardly credit us when we tell them that this bitter attack upon be Administration appeared in their favorite ournal, the New-York Tribune. But it is even so-from the first word to the last, it is the Tri bune's own; and a severer rebuke of the blunders of the men in power was never uttered. For words not half as caustic and reproving. Vallanpublication of the Times, a Democratic journal digham has been condemned to exile, a Chicago paner has been suppressed by military power. and newspaper offices in various parts of the country have been destroyed by furious mobs. But, as three days have passed, and the Tribune was at once made to Judge Drummond for an has not yet been declared "contraband," or its order to restrain the military authorities; the loffice torn to pieces, we shall venture upon copywrit was granted, but no attention was paid to it | ing the article, trusting that the same forbearat 31 A. M., when nearly all the edition had since that has been shown to the author, will be been worked off, a file of soldiers marched in extended to us. Of this, however, we cannot be and took possession, but departed soon afterward, too sure; for the partizan bias of the present giving notice that if an attempt should be made | professed "no party" Administration is not more plainly exhibited in anything than in the fact be taken. A handbill was at once circulated that while Wendell Phillips and the Tribune may calling for a mass meeting in front of the Times say what they please against Constitution, office at 8 P. M. to take counsel in regard to the | Union, Government, Administration and all else, "infamous and tyrannical order of Gen. Burn- with the most perfect freedom, Vallandigham side." The paper was issued, and the soldiers, and the Democratic press dare not utter a word, in obedience to their threat, took possession of however true, against the Administration alone the office. The meeting was held, and so great without being denounced as traitors, or suffering was the indignation expressed by the people of loss of liberty and property. We are thankful, though, for even this partial toleration of freedom safety of their own organ, the Chicago Tribune, of the press, for if the Republican journals generally will tell the plain truth as boldly as the Tribune does in the above article, the occupation criticism on the conduct of the war is concerned The Tribune article would be a good thing for the pious meditation of our "Loyal Leaguers," who have been striving so zealously for some time past to enforce the monarchical doctrine that "the King can do no wrong," and who congregate nightly to denounce as traitors all who will not say that "whatever is, is right," if Old from the office, and informing the proprietors Abe only does or says it. Suppose they hand it to our quondam friend Dan Dougherty-who is to address them to-night-to read by way either of exordium or peroration to his own speech. Dan could make it tell, for he understands elocution, and knows exactly where to put on the emphasis. Or, if this be asking too much, will our fearless and independent neighbor of the Journal have the kindness to copy it, and for once let its readers know the true state of the case? The fears the Tribune expresses are not visionary, but real. Upon what it bases its hopes. however, that the "eternal weakness" and chronic apathy and improvidence" over which t laments, are to come to an end, we are at a loss to understand. After two long years' sad experience of blundering, and the last blunder almost invariably the worst, can we look for anything short of miraculous power to intervene and reform a system which, by the Tribune's own confession, is becoming "chronic" and "eterual?" What can the people do more than they have done, in support of the war? Nay, can they do as much? They might have the will, but it is no depreciation of their resources and recuperative energies, to say that they have not the means, either in men or money, to aid the Government to the same extent they have done, during the two years that have passed.

It is possible that some ray of divine light may penetrate the heads of our rulers, and show them the way out of the awful muddle into which they have led the nation. We pray that it may be so, was a Brigadier General in the War of 1812, and but we greatly fear that it will not be until the during his absence in the service was elected people, as the Tribune foreshadows, "feel that it is State Senator for the district composed of the no longer their duty to tolerate the men in whom they have confided," and who have proved un-Cashier of the Harrisburg Bank from 1815 to equal to the trust, that the "no-system," which 1832, and afterwards Cashier of the Exchange is wasting away and consuming "the Republic itself." will come to an end. To the decision of bity and honor, and greatly esteemed by the the people at the ballot boxes in 1864, the question must, in that event, be deferred,

TREASON! OR-WHAT IS IT? | MONSTER MASS MEETING! IN PHILADELPHIA.

The People Aroused in Defence of Freedom of Speech, Freedom of the Press, and Trial by Jury!

A great mass meeting of the Democracy of Philadelphia, was held in Independence Square on Monday evening, June 1st, 1863, to protest against the infamous violation of the Constitution which has been perpetrated by the usurped military power of the Administration, in the forcible arrest, mock trial and illegal exile of CLEMENT L. VALLANDIGHAM, a free citizen of the State of Ohio, for no other offence than the exercise of the right of free speech, which belongs to every American. The number present s variously estimated at from 20,000 to 40,000 persons, all animated with a determination to assert their right "peaceably to assemble," and pervaded with a spirit of enthusiasm that found frequent expression in deafening cheers in response to the truths that were fearlessly enunciated in the resolutions and in the speeches of the orators.

We are happy to add that, notwithstanding the threats of interference from the minious of power, the meeting was undisturbed, and passed off with order and decorum.

who were unable to attend.

The following are the resolutions, as unanimously adopted by the meeting:

RESOLUTIONS. Whereas, The people of the United States ave been insulted, and the laws of the land and the principles of human liberty trampled on by ne military arrest, trial, and exile of Clement. Vallandigham. a citizen of Ohio, for words spoken at a public meeting, the seizure of whose person, and the whole subsequent proceedings against whom, ending in his banishment, were not only in violation of the commonest rights of the humblest inhabitant of any free country, but an audacious and flagrant defiance of the Federal Constitution, which declares that "the trial of all singus expent, shall server. Constitution, which declares that the trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury," and which expressly forbids the making of any law "abridging the freedom of speech," which declares that "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, pa-pers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated," and that "no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and par-ticularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized," which de-clares that "no person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger," which declares that or war or puoled canger, which declares that no citizen shall "be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law," and, finally, which declares that "in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been provided which district shall have have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusa tion, to be confronted with the witnesses agains him, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defence."

And Whereas, if the words uttered by Mr.

which expression could be given, they would form not the slightest pretext nor afford the least palliation for the monstrous crime which in his person has been committed against the liberties

AND WHEREAS, In fact and according to the well established, long descended and commenda-ble habit in these United States of free discus-sion of political questions, what he untered was neither in itself unbecoming nor was it an abuse of the freedom of speech, nor would the speaker in any manner have been liable to punishment for it according to the severest code administered in the courts of justice;

AND WHEREAS, The measures of authority must be subject to the freest discussion, for discussion is nothing if not free, and if men's mouths may be appeal only to project and figure newer may be opened only to praise and flatter power, and are to be closed when power is offended, dis-cussion is but a name, and liberty is a shadow; AND WHEREAS. This abuse of authority is just tified under the plea of a military necessity—which is no justification, for the same plea would equally justify any indignity which could be offered keeping of one man;

AND WHEREAS, if military necessity can invade public enemy; whose people are true and faithful to the Constitution, and whose justice was quietly and unobstructedly administered till military power expelled it, this same necessity may march on, and, coming into Pennsylvania and other States of the Union reduce us to a vassal-age infinitely more intolerable than that against which we revolted when we declared our indeendence the 4th July, 1776; therefore

Resolved, 1. That the arrest and banishment of Mr. Vallandigham is a violence to which the ople of the United States will not and ought

2. That the remedy for it is in the ballot-box. at the coming and now rapidly approaching elec-tion, when, by the votes of an outraged people, State authority will be restored to the hands of the Democratic party, who will use their power, thus quietly and constitutionally obtained, to protect State rights, to rebuke and check Federal viduals, and commence the reconstruction of

3. That as it is, if not our firm belief, at least our strong suspicion, that the design of the au-thorities at Washington, is, by military aggres-sion, to provoke a popular outbreak, and thus to furnish to themselves an apology for further in-vasion of our liberties, and, if possible, to enable them to encumber us in the exercise of our electhem to encumber us in the exercise of our elec-tive franchise, we exhort our fellow-citizens everywhere to patience and to that forbearance and noble calmness which becomes a people who, knowing their rights, know, also, the means for their peaceful vindication.

4. That, there being no such punishment known to the laws of the United States as that of exile, it-is the sense of this meeting that it is the right of Mr. Vallandigham, and it will be the like right of Mr. Vallandigham, and it will be the like righ of any other citizen upon whom there should b attempted to be inflicted by like tyranny a like unlawful and infamous punishment, to return forthwith, notwithstanding his muck sentence, to the State of which he is a citizen, and there re-sume his place among those who are laboring for the regeneration of the Constitution and the reonstruction of the Union.

5. That in the letter of the Hon. Horatic Seymour, of New York, to the late public meeting of the Democratic citizens of Albany, condemning the proceedings of the Administration against Mr. Vallaudigham, we recognize the tone and language of a statesman, and the spirit of a man worthy to be, at a great orisis, the Chief Magis-trate of a great State.

6. That as it is only to the ballot box we can look for permanent relief, and as we deem it to be altogether incredible and impossible that when called to cast their votes, the citizens of Pennsylvania, of whatever party, should not find themselves, by such monstrous events as have been passing before their eyes, moved in patritic and just indignation to drive from Penusylvania politicians who stand in the way of our asserting the freedom of our persons and the rights of our State, we will, therefore, wait with Confidence the October election to give to the Democratic party—the party of conservatism as well as freedom—a Governor and both houses of the Legislature; and whom we expect to bring in by such overwhelming majorities as may be reasonably reckoned on, when the question comes fairly up between liberty and the Constitution on the one side, and on the other the most ignominious oppression.

al picture of the Union as it came from the hands of its llustrions founders; contrasted it, in the height of its ower and prosperity, with what the foul spirit of section al hate had made it; and, by a train of forcible reasoning leduced from the experience of the past, proved that in the preservation intact of the Democratic party, and the triamph of its principles, rested our only hope of the restors. tion of that once perfect, benign and successful system of human government. The address was highly creditable, both in matter and style, to its author, and drew forth many expressions of the approval of the audience.

RECEPTION OF COL. J. A. MATHEWS.

GRAND PARADE OF THE 128TH REGIMENT. Presentation of Horse, Accourrements, &

The reception of Col. JOSEPH A. MATHEWS, on Tuesday last, by the officers and men of the Regiment lately under his command, was one of the most imposing military pageants that ever occurred in this city. Our citizene generally turned out to witness it, and thousands of peoole came from the country with the same intent. The six Reading Companies met at their respective places of ren-dezvous at the appointed hour, and, between 10 and 11 o'clock, marched into East Penn Square, where they formed into line, to await the arrival of their conrades from Bucks and Lehigh. Col. MATHEWS, accompanied by Brigadier Geneal Knipp, arrived in the morning train from Harrisburg, and were received at the depot by Mayor Hover, Lieut. Col. Smith, and the Committee appointed for that purpose, who accompanied them, in carriages, to the Mansion House. As they drove sloug the line of sol-diers in the square, they were greeted with tremendous shouts of applause, which were taken up and repeated by he assembled citizens as the distinguished guests entere the Hotel. After a short interval, the Mayor appeared upon the balcony, with Col. MATHEWS, and introduced im to the crowd below, who again gave him welcome I loud and prolonged huzzes. During the morning the Hotel was througed with visitors, who came to pay their respects to the favorite commander of the gallant 128th, and his no ess popular superior officer, Gen. Knips.

Owing to a detention of the cars, the soldiers from Doyles town and Allentown did not arrive at the appointed time and the presentation ceremonies were therefore delayed until afternoou. At 10 clock, the whole Regiment re-asembled, with their arms and all the accoutrements o war, and were marched into the centre plaza, where they were drawn up in a hollow square. The Orderty S geants were then detailed to wait upon the Colonel and escort him into the square, where the horse, richly ca-parisoned in the splendid saddle and equipments heretofore described, together with the case containing the other gifts—Sword, Sword-Belt, Sash, Pistols, Field Glass, Spurs, -were in waiting. Col. Mathews, accompanied by Gen. Knirs, soon appeared, and were received with voc ferous cheering. When silence was restored, the presenta-tion took place. The gifts were presented to the folonel by Quartermaster-Sergeant George S. Kerper, in the fol-

Col. Mathews .- I have the honor to repre resent the enlisted men of your command on an occasion that fills the hearts of all with feelings of joy. From the time we left the battle field of Antictam up to the 31st day of October, we were resting behind a cloud, everything appeared to be working against us. We wanted some one to lead us from our downward course and guide us on into the path we should pursue. A stranger, you were placed at the head of our Regiment; we found you a man we could love, honor and take a pride in obeying. Discipline and good order were the results of your teachings. To show that we have appreciated your efforts in our behalf we now ask you to accept as a slight token of our love to you as our commander, friend and preserver, that steed, fully equipped, and those implements of wor, chief among them is the instrument our fathers ured to free us from the fanges of a tyrant and established the blessings of liberty we now enjoy. We can truly say,

The Sword had the foundation lay'd;

The Pen on this foundation lay'd;

It grew, and mighty was its sway,

Until the Sword in slumber lay.

Its power was aroused in 1812. Still later in the war with Mexico. Since then it has been slumbering in its scabbard until the Spring of 1861. It is now unsheathed to quell a traitorous fue—a foe whose object is to rend the bonds established by the blood of our forefathers and active the cruiding hand of Red. It is slowly tablished by the blood of our forefathers and sealed by the guiding hand of God, It is slowly but surely waking from the effects of a long, presperous and peaceful life, and when fully aroused under the flag of the free, it will dazzle the eyes of traitors and place them beyond the power of man. From the first call of the President, as a soldier you became one of its champions; you have risen step by step until you have gained your present position by merit alone.

The many happy hours we have spent while in your others are now drawing to a close. The

The many happy hours we have spent while in your charge are now drawing to a close. The memory of the past will remain with us. We will feel that we have lost a dear and well tried friend, and though we decided to finish our term of enlistment before we would consent to serve another, it is the sincere wish of all who are able to return to accept no other title than VOLUNTEER and no other commander than COLONEL MATHEWS. We trust the wish may be granted, and with you at our head we may see the closing act of this infernal rebellion and the restoration of our glorious Union on the basis laid down by our forefathers.

These gifts speak for themselves. They express the united sentiment of the enlisted men of your command. I present them as inscribed to Coionel command. I present them as inscribed to Colonel Joseph A. Matthews, from the enlisted men of the 128th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers.

To which Colonel Mathews made response as Soldiers of the 128th-If, in my efforts to discharge the duties incumbent upon me as your commanding officer, I have so far succeeded as to commanding officer, I have so far succeeded as win your approval and commendation, my miss win jour approval and commendation, my mission to you is fally realized; and if anything was wanting heretefore to prove that I had your respect, your esteem, and your confidence, this act of presenting me with these beautiful, costly and valuations of the second of t senting me with these beautiful, costly and valuable gifts, amply supplies that want.

Accept then, Soldiers, of my most sincere thanks and gratitude, not only for these testimonials, but for that respect with which you received me, a stranger, into your Regiment, for that kindness which you have ever shown me, and for that confidence you seem to have reposed in me. In my nuence you seem to have reposed in me. In my life time I have not been the recipient of see many kindnesses from the hands of men, as since I entered this Regiment; and I am now halted to inquire wherein I have ever merited them? It was accident, I imagine, rather than martis. accident, I imagine, rather than merit, that placed me at your head; but if I were to say that I did me at your need; but if I were to say that I did not rejoice on rather than deplore that accident, I would belie every sentiment of my heart I assumed the duties thus assigned me by my superior officers, and His Excellency, the Governor, at your solicitation, with a just interest and pride; and after having labored as zealously as I knew how, to discharge them fearlessly and impartially, I am gratified to hear that yeu, my own soldiers, give after having labored as zealously as I knew how, to discharge them fearlessly and impartially, Iam gratified to hear that yeu, my own solders, give me your approval.

I can assure you that I have no higher ambition among men, than to be the Colonel of stock a Regiment as the 128th has proven itself to be. Not for the starry passant of the brave and gallant little General here, with whom we served, would I have exchanged the Eagle you and he so generously gave me. It was my most ardent wish to have marched you as a Regiment, proudly back to the bosoms of your friends and families, but the fates of war have ruled it otherwise. I trust, however, I may not be too late in saying, to the citizens here assembled, that you have not only proven good soldiers, but worthy sons, husbands, brothers, and lovers, of a free and generous people.

Many of our original number are not here. Some sleep the sleep of death upon the plains of Antotam; others lie mouldering in their graves upon the bills of Stafford; others, again, from wounds and from disease, are suffering, as soldiers only can suffer, while you and I return to our homes, and the bleesings of a peaceful and quiet life, to exply the comforts and luxuries our calling as soldiers had so long deprived us of.

Your deportment throughout your term of service has been of the most exemplary character, whether in the camp or on the battle-field; and I am proud in being able to say that you left your companions in arms with a good record, many regrets, and a general wish for your speedy resurn. Our associations have been of a most friendly oharacter, and our parting will be among many regrets. When I return to my own home, and exhibit these testimonals to my friends and neighbors, I much mistake their character, it they do not rejoice to see so humble a son of Mifflin county thus honored by the sturdy-hearted and brawny-handed soldiery of her sister counties. No matter what my further was collective body or as individuals, they are yours to cou mand.

The presentation being over, the Colonel mounted his horse, and took command of the Regiment, which marched over the route previously designated, and then ou and men, together with a number of invited guests, were entertained by Mr. Lauer with a bountiful supply of his excellent beer. After thus refreshing themselves, the Regiment made a dress parade in the Park, and were re viewed by Gen. Knipe. They then returned into the city, and were dismissed in Penn square. All along the route of the parade, flags were displayed and at various points garlands of evergreens and flowers were suspended across the streets. The spectacle presented by the troops, when drawn up in centre square, sur rounded by a vast throng of people, all eager to catch a glimpse of the ceremonies, added to the subsequent parade of the Regiment, in full battle array, wastruly grand, and will be long remembered by all who witnessed In the evening, the Officers of the 123th gave a banque the Colonel at the Mineral Spring, a brief account of which we subjoin, from the Daily Times:

THE SUPPER AT THE SPRINGS.
The Supper in bonor of Col. Mathews, by the officers of the 128th, took place at the Mineral Spring, on Tuesday evening, at 9 o'clock. Lieut. Colonel Smith, Major Dyer, Adjutant Gentzler, and all the commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the Regiment, were present. Mayor Hover sat at the head of the table, and among the invited guests, were Brig. Gen. Knipe, Dr. Getty, of the U. S. Army, Sheriff Boas, J. H. Zieg-THE SUPPER AT THE SPRINGS.

ler, and Mr. Garret, of Harrieburg, J. McManus, Eq., C. B. McKnight, Esq., F. Lauer, Esq., Mr. Prizer, of the Bucks County Intelligencer, the members of the piess of Reading, and others. The supper was served in the excellent style for which Mis Roland is so justly distinguished, and all seemed to enjoy it with a hearty appetite. The first tosst was given by the Mayor, to Col. MATHEWS, who made a brief but happy reply, and closed by proposing "The City of Reading and its hospitable people," to which the Mayor appropriately responded. A toast to "The Press" was answered by Mr. Gatz, of the Gazette; and one to "Bucks county and her Volunteers," by Mr. Prizer, of the Doylestown Intelligencer. Speeches were also made, appropriate to the occasion, by General Knipe, Lt. Col. Smith, Messrs McManus, Lauer, and others. The entertainment was a handsome one, in all respects, and passed off pleasantly to all who participated.

COL. MATHEWS AT ALLENTOWN.-Col. Mathews visited Allentown on Wednesday, in company with Gen. Knipe, Lieut. Col. Smith, and several other officers of the 123th. He was escorted into the town by the two Lebigh Companies of his Regiment. The escort balted in front of the Allen House, where the Colonel was welcomed in an eloquent and patriotic speech by Robert E. Wright, Esq., to which he made a feeling reply. Gen. Knipe and Col. Smith then made a few remarks, and the military were dismissed. The Colonel and his officers were treated to a dinner at the Allen House. They returned to this city on Thursday morning, and spent the day socially with their friends. They left for Doylestown yesterday morning.

[COMMUNICATED.] We hear very loud complaint by many of our leading citizens on account of the alleged inefficiency of the city police. Among other things, we are informed, that the lessee of the very attractive gardens of Mr. Frederick Laner, at the corner of Third and Chestaut streets, has been compelled to discontinue the music of the band, with which he heretofore gratified the public, in consequence of the disorderly conduct of rowdies who assemble at this and other places of public resort, and commit depredations in utter defiance of the police. It is high time that a better state of things were inaugurated. We are also informed, that at the reception given to the 128th Regiment on Tuesday at Mr. Laner's Park, in North Third street, although strict orders were given to the police to close the gates after the admission of the Regiment, a crowd of disorderly persons were permitted to enter, and thefts and depredation f every description were committed by them.

FOUND DEAD .- John Hoffman, of Oley township, aged 34 years, was found dead in a field on the 8th of last month, where, to all appearance, his body had lain for three or four weeks. The cause of his death is not

Dr. G. H. Markley—Dear Sir: For many years I was the victim of Dyspepsia in its most aggravated form; my system having become so much deranged and debilitated, that I was unable to perform any kind of labor. I had resorted to the best doctors within reach, without relief. I used some of the man popular remedies of the day, but nume of them did me any good. My sufferings cannot be described in words. I was then living at Hopewell, Chaster county, and in 1867, as a last resort, I commenced the use of your medicines. They soon afforded me relief from the most painful symptoms which I had scarcely hoped to obtain; and in a surprisingly short time I wascompletely restored to health, and I have enjoyed the best of health ever since—not a symptom of my old complain resulating. Since then, I have always kept your medicines in my family, and would not be without them upyn any consideration, as they have never failed to do what you chim for them.

This is but one of the many testimonials daily recalved in praise of this great medicine. For asis by June 6-tf] Druggiels, No. 63 West Penn Ex. Resing-Wanted—Correspondence.
