DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION

DURSUANT TO A RESOLUTION ADOPTED The by the Democratic State Central Committee, the Con vention of Delegates, chosen by the Democrats throughou the State, will assemble

AT HARRISBURG.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17th, 1863, At 10 o'clock, A. M., to nominate Candidates for GOVERNOR and JUDES OF THE SUPREME COURT, to be supported by the irlands of the CONSTITUTION and the UNION, at the enand JUDGE OF THE SUFREME COURT, to be supported by the friends of the CONSTITUTION and the UNION, at the en-suing election. The Gouvention will, also, give expression to the senti-ments of the Democrats of the State, who, while their policy would have averted present disasters, will, never-theless, devote the historic patriotism of our great party to rescue the Constitution and the Union—the one, from usar-pation—the other, from final disruption. P. W. HUGHES, Chairwan Democratic State Central Committee, Pottsville, May 26, 1863.

TO DEMOCRATIC EDITORS.

The Democratic editors of the State are respectfully in-vited to attend a meeting at Harrisburg, on Wednesday, the 17th of June. Business of importance will be submitted.

AG A COMMUNICATION in reply to an attack upon our City Policemen, which appeared in last Saturday's Jour-nal, was sent to us on Thursday night, at which time the greater part of the matter in this week's paper was already in type. We are therefore obliged to postpone the publiation of the Communication until next week.

OUR CORRESPONDENT "X," in a communication which will be found on the outside page, produces some further and stronger proof of the "Copperhead" treachery of the Journal and its party leaders during the War with Mexico. It is due to the writer to say that this communication was put in type several weeks ago, but unavoidably laid over to give room to other matters that seemed to require more immediate attention. As the Journal is silent under all these proofs of its former "disloyalty," we are to presume that it stands convicted of the guilt it now so freely charges against others.

ANOTHER LYING DISPATCH.

The following is a literal copy of a dispatch that appeared in the Philadelphis Evening Bulle tin of Saturday last, and in the Sunday Dispatch of the following day :

COPPERHEAD RESISTANCE TO THE ENROLL-MENT IN BERKS COUNTY.

READING, June 6.—The enroller of Brecknock kmanned, Jine 6.—) he entroller of Derections township, Berks county, who is a member of the Society of Friends, and named Joseph Dickerson, was attacked at his residence on Thursday night. The dwelling was much damaged. On Friday he received notice that "his grave had been dug." and on that night three shots were fired at his sites's house. This morning he came to Bead sister's house. This morning he came to Read-ing and resigned his commission. The attack is believed to have originated with the Knights of the Golden Circle

This dispatch is "one more of the same sort" that has been telegraphed from Reading several times during the last few months, with the evident design of calumniating the Democratic citizens of Berks county. Its falsity is proved by the annexed note from Provost Marshal KUPP to the editor of the Adler, which was published on Tuesday last, but up to this time the telegraph Disunion and Civil War in the Camp. The self-elected and only "loyal" Union men of Berks county, held a meeting in the Court House last Saturday, to select delegates to the Pittsburgh Convention. For a "Union meeting," it was the noisiest and most quarrelsome gathering that ever violated the decorum of a Court room. When our reporter entered, he found George J. Eckert, Esq., Chairman of the Repubican County Committee, in the Chair, and half dozen persons on the floor, bawling at the top of their voices, and giving Mr. Eckert a realizing ense of the difficulty of the job before him, which was to call the meeting to order. "The situation" soon became apparent-a President was to be chosen, and Provost Marshal Kupp had nominated Dr. Diller Luther, the Collector of Internal Revenue, while, almost simultaneously, some one else nominated Wm. H. Strickland, Esq., Secretary of the Loyal Leaguers. The fight, there fore, seemed to be between the comfortable and contented ins and the hungry and envious outs ; and it raged fiercely for a time-the confusion of tongues at the tower of Babel could not have been much worse. The war of words began to grow "fast and furious," when our friend Levi B. Smith, Esq , who very prudently occupied a sont outside "the lines," got up and proposed Wm. M. Baird, Esq., "as a compromise." But, compromises are odious just now to our Simon Pure "loyalists"-notwithstanding they still claim to be disciples of the great Compromiser, HENRY CLAY-and so. Mr. Baird's name. instead of bringing peace, only added another sword to the combat. At length, however, hostilities were momentarily suspended, owing to want ofbreath, and Mr. Eckert seized his opportunity to put the question on Dr. Luther's nomination. The ayes had it by a decided majority ; but here a parliamentary question arose. The Leaguers wanted to know what had become of the amend ment proposing Mr. Strickland. and Mr. Smith asked how it was that his amendment to that amendment was not voted on ? Mai, Kupp was surprised to see any opposition to Dr. Lutherhe had nominated him in good faith, and hoped there were to be "no charges of disloyalty here." Maj. Lauman, in a stentorian voice, demanded a decision from the Chairman. "What are you there for," said he, " but to organize this meeting? Dr. Luther's elected, and you know it. Decide it, like a man, or else leave the chair, and we'll put somebody in it that will." Upon this,

Mr. Eckert ventured a Paddy's hint that it was evidently the desire of some persons to break up the meeting in a row, and sat down, declaring his determination to do nothing until order was restored. This brought about a truce, and then a fresh start was made, by putting the question on Mr. Smith's "compromise" proposition first. It was declared carried, after a count of noses, which stood 64 to 46, and Mr. BAIRD accordingly made a brisk forward movement, and became master of the position. He addressed a few conciliatory words to the combatants below, which were effective, for the time being, in bringing them to terms, and the further organization of the meeting was perfected. And now the Bench presented a tableau vivant that was truly sublime, or but one step from it. In the centre, sat Mr. Baird, with the olive branch in his hand (figuratively speaking)-at his right sat Major Kupp and Dr. Luther, serenc and smiling ; on his left sat Major | at Beverly's Ford, on the Rappahannock, is the Sallade and Dr. Griesemer, with a halo of "loyalty" beaming from their countenances; and below, at the Secretaries' desk, was the supplanted champion of the Leaguers, Mr. Strickland, supported by our friend, J. A. Banks, Esq. It was as striking a spectacle of "the lion and the lamb &c," as was ever seen. All that was needed to complete the picture, was the "little child, &c." But, after all, that omission was supplied, unconsciously, by several of the prominent actors.

Dr. Kitchen, of Amity, now moved for the bers of Company G. to wit: appointment of a Committee to report resolutions and delegates. Mr. Eckert opposed this-he was for electing the delegates by the meeting, and foot. therefore he asked for a division of the question. Another sharp skirmish here ensued. Dr. Kitchen led off by declaring himself in favor of the old paths. He said he came of Quaker stock, the principal of the well-known Philadelphia and did not like innovations. If the delegates Banking House of Drexel & Co., was run over a were to be cleeted by the meeting, the city politicians would have things all their own way, and Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. Mr. Drexel out-vote the country ten to one. He was opposed to this sort of business—he wanted peace. but if there was to be a fight, he could do as much fighting as any other Quaker. Mr. Smith here rose to say something, but the Doctor brought him to a halt, by expressing surprise that "his friend, Levi Smith, who used to be with the country, was now on the other side. He has only been six months in the city," said the Doctor, "but he knows all your tricks already." Mr. Smith explained, and protested that the Doctor had misunderstood him. Mr. Strickland boldly proclaimed that he was for innovationsold things had passed away, we were living in the midst of revolution, and should not be afraid to strike out in new paths. Another gentleman cried out that he was opposed to letting "a packed committee" choose the delegates. Let all have a fair chance, and take a vote on them. Here some one wanted to know whether they were "going to let Copperheads vote too ?" At this stage of the skirmishing, Maj. Lauman took the floor, but his voice was drowned amid loud shouts of "question! question !!" and all sorts of noisy demonstrations of opposition. He stood his ground, however, defiantly, and the "language in his eye" said as plain as words: "Go ahead, boys !-let's see who'll get tired first ?' The Major soon had possession of the field, and after asking "what was the use in stirring up a tempest in a teapot," said he had four names to propose for Delegates which would satisfy all sides, and settle the difficulty at once. He sent up a slip of paper to the desk, and the names of Messrs. Geo. J. Eckert, Henry Hartman, Dr. E. E. Griesemer and Dr. Wm. Moore were read off. The question was at once put, and they were unanimously voted the Delegates. The Major, with the air of a conqueror, gave his late assailants one withering glance, and sat down again. cations. The motion for appointing a Committee on Resolutions was then carried. John S. Richards, Esq., who had been a quiet spectator up to this time, here rose, and said that as four gentlemen had been chosen Delegates to whom no objection could be offered, and as it was the general feeling of the party that they should go to Pittsburgh uninstructed, it might be well for the meeting to have an assurance to that effect. He therefore moved that the Delegates go without instructions. leadership to the quiet and retirement of the Major Lauman asked "Who wants to instruct ?" editorial sanctum. and added, "That's the silliest motion I ever heard." Mr. Richards replied that as Major Lauman had done nearly all the talking so far, he thought it was but courteous that some others should be allowed to say a word. He renewed COLUMBIA, MONTOUR, &C., FOR CLYMER .- The his motion in regard to the instructions. Major delegates to the Democratic State Convention Lauman retorted : "The gentleman may talk as from the Representative District composed of the much as he pleases, but he has no business to make such silly motions." Here there was some applause, which seemed to disgust Mr. Richards, who, after another vain effort to obtain a vote on

The Committee, under the lead of Dr. Kitchen, went out, and Charles Davis, Esq , was called on for a speech. He responded in a "ery havoc and let loose the dogs of war" harangue, in which the Adler and Gazette, and "Copperheads" generally, were admonished in the kind and gentle Christian spirit that it is the blessed mission of the Union Prayer Meetings to foster and dif-The Resolutions, prefaced by a dozen "Whereases," proclaim that it is the purpose of "the loyal citizens of Berks county assembled," to sustain and defend every act of the Administration; that the Government and the Administration are identical, and cannot be separated ; that every way that can be devised to weaken and destroy the insurrectionary powers, is legitimate and proper;" that "we have entire confidence in the honesty and energy of the Administration ;" that "the South has no constitutional rights," &c., &c., &c. The resolutions were dopted by acclamation, and the harmonious gathering of loyal Unionists departed in peace.

-Our reporter has made rather a big thing out of a small meeting, but we give place to his account at the special request of several of the Leaguers, who are apprehensive that, as neighbor Knabb belongs, ex officio, to the office holders' wing, he may be persuaded to depart from his customary impartial course, and give only a onesided history of the meeting.

The Delegates to Pittsburgh are understood to be friendly to Governor CUBTIN.

THE DEFENCE OF THE STATE .-- Looking to the lefence of Pennsylvania against rebel raids, the War Department has created two new military departments in this State, to be called the Department of the Monongahela, comprising the western part of the State, to be under the comnand of Major General Brooks, with his headuarters at Pittsburgh, and the Department of the Susquehanna, comprising the castern part of General Couch, with his headquarters at Chambersburg. These officers have full powers to organize army corps in their respective districts. Major General Couch is expected to issue his général orders to-day, and Governor Curtin will issue a proclamation calling on the people to or ganize at once to defend the Stata. From all this it would appear that the Government is seriously apprehensive of another invasion of Pennsylvania by Lee's army.

s stated that Governor Curtin received a requisition from the War Department, at Washington, for eighteen regiments of volunteers-fifteen o Infantry and three of Cavalry-to be raised be fore the conscription shall have been instituted, and to be accredited to the State of Pennsylvania as part of her quota under the draft, provided the force is organized and mustered into the service of the United States within thirty days. It is objected that the time allowed is too short; that although the number of men, or more, could be raised by volunteering in this State, the work could not be accomplished within the allotted time; and the Governor is now in communication with the national authorities, with a view to having the time extended.

She left her home, ap parently in good health, to visit the family of a friend in with Fifth street, and had scarcely entered the house an coated herself upon a sofa, when she sank down and a nost instantly expired. Mrs. Hause was a daughter of the late John McKnight, Esq , and a lady of the most estimable domestic and social qualities. In every work of kinduces and charity in which woman's heart and wo-man's sympathies and their most congenial employment, she was among the foremost and most assiduous. As a nember of the Reading Benevolent Society, of the Ladies Aid Association, and other kindred enterprises for the su tenance of the poor and the relief of the suffering and distressed, the gentle and truly compassionate impulses of her nature were exhibited in the most beautiful light. She was " never weary in well-doing." The place which he death has made vacant in these Societies cannot easily h supplied; and it will be a long time before the poor of ou city, the children of sorrow and suffering, and the socia circle in which she was so much beloved, will become to conciled to her loss.

BOP EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN SYNOD .- The veuerable Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania, which the State, to be under the command of Major was organized one hundred and sixteen years ago, held h annual session in St. John's Church, Reading, o on Trinity Sunday, May 31st, and adjourned on Thursday night, June 4th, at 1 o'clock. About 150 clergymen an lay representatives were in attendance. The Synod wa organized on Monday morning, the 1st inst., by the elect tion of the following officers; President-Rev. C. W. Schaeffer, D. D., of Germantown Secretaries-Rev. B. M. Schmucker and S. K. Brobst. Tressure-New F. A. M. Keller, of Reading. The business of the Synod was conducted with entir harmony of feeling and action. Among the most impo tant measures that received attention, was the adoption series of resolutions looking to a union of the Old Syno f Pennsylvania with the East Pennsylvania Synod. Thes esolutions, which were thoroughly and amicably discus sed, embody a number of fundamental principles which will serve as a basis of union between the two bodies, and it is confidently believed that this much desired result will on he consummated.

INFORMATION WANTED .- A young lad who ave his name as Thomas Leonard, from Harrisburg, cam to the rolling mill of Messrs. Wm. Mclivain & Sons, in this city, on the night of the 29th of May, laid himself down by the furnace and slept until morning. After he awoke, Mr. G. W. Armstrong, who happened to see him, took him to his house and gave him his breakfast. He complained o being very ill immediately after eating, and was given a bed by Mr. Armstrong, who has very benevolently kept him and provided for him eversince. The attending phy-sician pronounces him dangerously ill, and any information that will lead to the discovery of his relatives or friends should be forwarded to Mr. Armstrong, South Seventh street, Reading, immediately. The lad says he is 14 years of age, and that his father has been dead three years.

that sent the lie shroad has not condescended to retract it. We think it is about time for the people who are thus defamed, to demand the author of these dispatches. Who writes them ? and who pays for them? Messages purporting to communicate news are not private, but public property, and somebody should be held responsible for them. The telegraph line to Philadelphia, as is well known, is under the control of the Reading Railroad Company. Will the officers of this Company, after the fact has been thus publicly brought to their notice, continue to allow the wires to be used for the transmission of base partizan falsehoods under the disguise of news? Or have they, themselves, become so blinded by political prejudice, that they cannot see the injustice of the thing ?

HEADQUARTEES OF PROVOST MARSHAL,] Elents District, Pa., Reading June 8, 1863.

Brecknock township. Mr. Dickinson was at my office on Saturday morning, made his report, but did not offer his resignation. The enrollment for Breeknock is being completed, as well as all the other townships of the county, and the en-tire enrollment will be finished in a few days.

Very Respectfully, Your Obedient Servant, HENRY S. KUPP, Provost Marshal.

WOUNDED .- We regret to see the name of Lieut. CHARLES MCKNIGHT LEOSEE, of the 2d U. S. Cavalry, in the list of officers severely wounded in the Cavalry fight of Tuesday between the forces of Generals Pleasanton and Stuart, on the Rappahannock. One account represents him as having received a gunshot wound in the right side, and another account reports him as wounded in the breast. He is now at the Seminary Hospital, Georgetown.

Lieut. LEOSEE is the eldest son of the late Capt. Thomas S. Leoser, who served with dis tinction as Captain of Company A, 2d Pennsylvania Volunteers, in the War with Mexico. He is a graduate of West Point, and a soldier by education and choice. During the three months' campaign of 1861, he was an acting Major of Volunteers, and after the death of Ellsworth, was placed in command of the New-York Fire Zouaves, which he held until that Regiment was disbanded. Since then, he has been on active service in the division of the Regular Army to which he properly belongs. He is an accomplished officer and a brave soldier, and we sincerely hope that his wound may not prove mortal.

The train upon which he was a passenger was nearing Nineteenth street, and had almost ceased motion, when Mr. Drexel attempted to jump off. In so doing, he fell under the cars. The wheels passed over his left foot, and, diagonally, over his left thigh, which was horribly crushed. He was conveyed to his residence, No. 1900 Rittenhouse Square, where he died, shortly after ten o'clock the same evening, from the effects of the injuries he received. He was 71 years of age.

OHIO STATE CONVENTION. --- VALLANDIGHAM NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR.-The Democratic State Convention of Ohio met at Columbus on Thursday, and was largely attended. Ex-Governor MEDILL presided. CLEMENT L. VALLANDIGHAM was nominated as Governor on the first ballot, receiving 448 of the 461 votes, and Ex-Senator GEORGE E. PUGH, for Lieutenant Governor, by acclamation. Resolutions were adopted denouncing the arrest of Mr. Vallandigham, and appointing a committee to demand his return.
